Giving in?

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at https://archiveofourown.org/works/42603048.

Rating:	Explicit
Archive Warning:	Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings
Categories:	F/F, F/M
Fandoms:	Miraculous Ladybug, GabeNath - Fandom
Relationships:	Gabriel Agreste | Papillon | Hawk Moth/Nathalie Sancoeur, Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir/Marinette Dupain-Cheng | Ladybug
Characters:	Gabriel Agreste | Papillon | Hawk Moth, Nathalie Sancoeur, Le Gorille | Adrien Agreste's Bodyguard, Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir, Marinette Dupain-Cheng | Ladybug
Additional Tags:	gabenath, gabriel x nathalie - Freeform, Hawkmoth, Mayura - Freeform, Sentimonster, senti-gabriel, Peacock Miraculous, Butterfly Miraculous, Rabbit Miraculous, Monarch - Freeform
Language:	English
Stats:	Published: 2022-10-24 Updated: 2022-12-24 Words: 27,387 Chapters: 20/?

Giving in?

by inchen1100101

Summary

What if an akumatized villain creates a fluid, which makes the women, who got into contact, get into some kind of heat, wanting to find a mate to procreate with. Gripping at the oldest part in our brain, where beside the essential needs, like eating and drinking are anchored, the magic turns the woman, as well as the man in her close into less more than beasts, hormone and pheromone controlled and not even caring who their partner might be.

When Nathalie is soaked in said liquid, Gabriel locks them both inside the mansion, not even Adrien allowed in, to keep her safe and protect her from any harm.

But what will happen, once Gabriel becomes aware, that he isn't as much in control of himself, as he might have thought?

Chapter 1: Akumatization

"Fly away my little akuma and give new passion to this heartbroken man!", Hawkmoth exclaimed with an evil laugh, while he watched the purple butterfly rise up and through the shutting window, into the Parisian sky.

A moment later, he made contact to the middle aged man, who had been dumped by his wife, because despite everything they had tried, she still wasn't pregnant and she somehow had begun to blame him for that. Now she eventually had decided, to try with a new partner, leaving him all alone at their apartment, which he had just lovingly decorated, to seduce her and make tender love to her for hours, for once trying to completely forget about creating a new life, schedules for their sexual intercourse, special diets and vitamins, as well as several herbal teas and globuli to increase his sperm count and agility.

But when she had gotten home, she had just said, in a snide, contemptuous tone:

"Stop that, Bernard! I just made a decision and this certainly won't change my mind. I want to get a divorce and finally find a real man, who can fulfil 'all' my desires and get me pregnant by doing that!"

She was making fun of the issues he recently had developed, when they were about to have sexual contact, meaning his member many times grew soft in the middle of it, as he was just under too much pressure all of the time.

"Procreator! You have been humiliated by the person, you adored the most. I can give you the ability, to not just make her crawl at your feet, but also to live up to her expectations. In every situation! All I want in exchange, are the miraculous of Ladybug and Cat Noir!", he spoke telepathically to the desperate man.

"Thank you for giving me the chance to show my virility and get my wife back!", Bernard gushed out.

His appearance changed and he was quickly turned into a grotesque version of an ancient greek God, his torso having grown immense pecs and abs, his hair now more than shoulder long, looking as if he was standing in a constant breeze, his intimates only barely covered by a skirt like, white band, that was wrapped around his hips. He was carrying a jug, similar to the one, Dionysos was usually shown with, just that his didn't contain wine, but some kind of aphrodisiac liquid, which would bring a woman into a mood, similar to an animal in heat, destined to have her urges pleased and create a new life at the same time.

While being in a state like this, the female's body would at the same time send out an abnormally increased amount of pheromones, making every male, close enough to smell her, immediately become attracted and over the edge aroused, desperate to be the one to 'mate' with her.

Hawkmoth now had a sudden idea, to cause a bit of a jealousy drama and make the whole act precede faster, by sending his assistant to the place, the villain was headed for, dressed in one of his latest creations, making 'Procreator's' leaving wife a little envious.

Calling her with his tablet, he gave her strict instructions on what to wear and how to walk and talk.

"And Nathalie, you need to hurry. Yet try to keep a certain distance!", he finished his orders.

"Yes, Sir!", she croaked.

Then she rushed towards the dress, that was placed in a locked up room among several others, which were a little more, let's call it, provocative. She had seen them all of course, but never even dared to think about wearing one of them, least of all to a public place.

But Nathalie Sancoeur was used to following Gabriel Agreste's orders and directions and so she of course obeyed.

Keeping the connection, even when the assistant placed the device on a small table, while she was changing, she heard Hawkmoth speak again:

"Procreator! Those heroes want to stop you from achieving your goal, from fulfilling your one and only destiny! They will try to keep you apart from the woman you love and covet. If they succeed, they will take away your new powers and you will never feel loved by your woman again!"

"I am done!", Nathalie said quietly, gathering the supervillain's attention.

Hawkmoth nodded, then said:

"I can only see a little part of you, but I can tell, you're looking just as intriguing and alluring, as you need to. Hurry now, take the limousine. When you arrive, pretend to attend one of the photoshoots, we wouldn't want to show up in Nadja Chamack's news tonight, because of Gabriel Agreste's assistant being seen in a very revealing and suggestive dress, becoming the target of the villain's wife's jealousy!"

She blushed deeply, hearing him talk about her like 'that', but still left the room and rushed outside, grunting to the bodyguard, who stared at her openly:

"Mr Agreste ordered me to wear this and you to drive me to the Grand Paris hotel as fast as you can make it!"

He flinched and jumped, then quickly sat down in his seat, while Nathalie took place in the back. She did a couple of very deep and slow breaths, trying to get ready, to get out of the car and walk into the most exclusive hotel in all Paris, looking the way she did. To be honest, she felt like a hooker or at least a stripper.

Just a few minutes later, she could already see the villain in his ridiculous outfit, approaching a woman his age, threatening her to better not leave him.

Nathalie sighed and pushed the door open and stepped outside, hesitating for the split of a second, while wondering, why this dress fit her like a second skin, then walked towards the entrance of the establishment with seductively swaying hips, getting right between the arguing couple by doing so.

She could hear people gasp in awe and bewilderment, yet only a few sounds of disgust. Gabriel knew, how to do a proper clothing, no matter how lewd it was supposed to be.

"Well, Corinne", Procreator said with an evil grin, "if you don't want me, then maybe this gorgeous lady does. Wouldn't you, Miss?"

He looked her up and down, his eyes darkening, his breath becoming rigid, the arousal visible in his face, almost making Hawkmoth, who was watching the whole scenario through the inner connection with his akuma, react and stop him. But then Nathalie remembered, what he had told her to say and with a slight rasp in her voice, she almost moaned:

"Well, I am on my way to take some pictures, so I sadly can't, but let me just tell you, that at least 'I' would be in your league and not far below, like....'her'!"

Gabriel had been certain, that would flatter his villain and enrage the wife, yet it was just the other way round, when he heard the woman, who stood behind Nathalie start to laugh and shout:

"Believe me, Miss, you're lucky, you are busy already, because you would just be disappointed by size and talent!", she faced her akumatized husband now, "what is this supposed to be? A pathetic attempt, to make me jealous? This is the personal assistant of Gabriel Agreste, obviously wearing one of his more daring creations. Why on earth would she want anything to do with you? How did you get her to play the role in your little game? Did you roll into a ball and cry, like you do when you cum?"

Corinne now spat at his face and missed it by less than an inch.

If he had been able to foresee Procreator's next move, Hawkmoth would have immediately removed the akuma. But he was just as oblivious and not aware of the danger, when the villain screamed in anger and poured out a huge amount of liquid from his jug over both women and a few who were just passing by, watching the happenings.

Ladybug and Cat Noir, who had just figured out, how to use her lucky charm, could dodge the fluid in the very last second, but by that, the red, polka dotted trident, they had been wanting to catch the villains waving mane with, like twirling spaghetti around a fork, got into contact with Cat Noir's hand and immediately turned into dust, as he had already called for his 'cataclysm'.

"What? No!", Ladybug gasped and Chat just groaned and buried his face in his hands.

Procreator now grinned at them.

"You, both! Give me your miraculous, before I make both women mine, as soon as the potion starts to work! It will take a couple of hours to unleash its full power!", he threatened.

Gabriel couldn't breathe and he couldn't move.

He had wanted the miraculous, had expected to be defeated once more even. But he had never even thought, he could endanger Nathalie like this. Finally he managed to make a move with his staff and took the akuma's powers away, making the man turn back into his human self.

With trembling fingers the designer dialed his assistant's number, hoping by releasing the butterfly, he had undone the damage, the villain had caused, too.

"Nathalie, I am sorry, but you need to come back in an instant. Are you still....?"

He tried to see, if she was still soaked with the strange fluid and sighed in despair. She was.

"I-I am on m-my way, S-S-Sir!", she stuttered, "though I have no idea, what I am covered with. I don't want you to get affected by whatever it does too!"

Gabriel closed his eyes and took a deep breath. Then he said:

"Nooroo, dark wings fall!", before speaking to her very softly now, "just get into the car and back here. I'll inform you about the consequences on the way!"

Chapter 2: The plan

When Nathalie arrived back at the Agreste mansion, she had begun to feel a little warm, but she wasn't caring about that right now. All the young woman could think of right now, were the things, her employer and sometimes almost close friend, had told her about the liquid, she had been hit with.

This 'potion', as the akumatized had called it, which would affect her body for at least forty eight hours, would not only make her become horny and try to make every male, she came across, mate with her. It also would have her ovulating after about twenty four hours, the released hormones only increasing her carnal and primal arousal. On top of that, it would let every inch of her skin produce tons of those pheromones, which were supposed to attract potent and strong, healthy males, to mate with her.

She had blushed deeply, when he really had used the word mate. But even after he had explained and apologized, in case, he might have insulted her, her heated cheeks wouldn't get any cooler since then.

Now she stepped into the cool atrium and saw her boss wait for her on the half-landing of the staircase, not looking towards the entrance yet but at the portrait of his late wife. When he heard the heavy doors fall shut, he hesitantly turned around, anxious, that the liquid's effect was already starting to work.

But, even though he would never admit to it, the moment his eyes fell onto her delicate figure, scantily covered by the low cut, short dress, he knew, it wasn't any ancient magic, which made him covet her. It was the woman herself, her demeanor, her attitude, her kind, warm smile, when she thought, nobody was watching, her stubbornness and determination, her way to selflessly put others first.

And of course her well proportioned curves, the full, round breasts, the porcelain skin, which he longed to touch, her subtle, feminine smell, a mixture of the fruity shampoo, she used and her very own scent.

Clearing his throat audibly, he then spoke in a quiet, almost docile tone:

"Before you come any closer, Nathalie, please let me tell you, that you look astonishing in that dress. I wanted you to know, before you come too close, to think I was already affected by anything and didn't mean it. You are a beautiful, enticing woman!"

Nathalie tried to not stare at him wide eyed, and forced her mouth to stay shut. She was afraid, her chin might drop and she would make a fool of herself in front of the man, she secretly loved.

Then she stammered:

"Well.....this.....you.....I mean, I .....don't know.....what.....I .....uhm thank you, Sir!"

Gabriel sighed quietly, then asked:

"How are you feeling? Any signs or symptoms of the fluid's influence?"

The assistant shrugged.

"I am feeling a little warm and it's getting worse, but otherwise, I feel perfectly normal!", she told him calmly.

He nodded and began walking down the stairs, to instantly address the bodyguard, who was just entering the mansion as well.

"You!", he bellowed, "get back to school and take care, that nothing happens to my son. When he is finished with his fencing practice, he is allowed to stay at his friend's place, Nino was his name, I think, for the next three days! Did you understand me?"

The tall, broad man nodded with a grunt. Yet he kept gazing at Nathalie, his glare wandering along her figure, until the designer had seen enough and now even yelled:

"Out! Now! Nobody is allowed to enter through this door until I say so! It will be your responsibility, to keep every male person away from the premises, do you hear me?"

The 'gorilla' winced and nodded, then rapidly threw the door open and ran to his car, getting out of it, after he made it through the iron gate and locked it not only with a code, but by hand with a rusty old key too.

Now the woman's jaw had dropped and she watched him lock the two winged, wooden entrance door as well, then gave her a beaming smile, which made her feel dizzy for a short moment.

"Come", he offered and gently placed a hand on the small of her back, "let's go inside and have some coffee, while we speak!"

She nodded, while she could constantly feel the burning heat, his hand emanated on her skin, even through the thin fabric of the dress, and let him nudge her into one of the arm chairs in her bedroom. Then he sat down in another and gave her an intense look.

"We urgently have to come up with a plan, Nathalie", he almost whispered.

"Why's that?", she asked antsily, "I thought, I would just lock myself up in here for the next days and when it's over, I will come out again and everything will be fine, right?"

"I am afraid, that won't work, dear!", he sighed, placing his hand on top of hers.

Nathalie noticed and froze, unable to move, she just glanced down and towards it.

"W-W-Why wouldn't it?", she wondered.

"Well, because you wouldn't stay put, once you're feeling the full effects. You would try to go outside and find someone to...."

He stopped, not daring to look into her face, when she finished for him:

"Mate with!"

He scoffed, but not in a snide way, but rather desperate.

"I am still sorry for the word, but that's what the man called it, when he thought of all the things, his 'potion' would be able to do! I", he cleared his throat, then went on, "will try to stay with you over those days, take care, that you won't get hurt or worse, by running blindly into the traffic or fall from some bridge. Driven only by desire, the idiot named it."

Gabriel now narrowed his eyes, as he remembered something else. But it wasn't time to think about that yet. He would tell her, when she would reach that state, in which nothing else would be helping.

But Nathalie knew him well.

"What else, Gabriel?", she queried, making him tense, when she used his name. She hadn't done that for ages.

"Fine", he gave in, then tried to bring order into his thoughts, to not make her feel worse, "this stuff will get you into a mental state, in which you won't be able to focus on anything but, well, your own pleasure, until you managed to...uhm....get off!"

"Get off what?", she asked, not having understood, what he had tried to express more innocently.

"G-Get yourself off, have an ..... find your.....well.....release!"

"Oh!", she gasped, her eyes fluttering closed, as she tried to capture the meaning of this, "that's going to be a problem!"

She felt him tense, his hand closing around hers, squeezing almost painfully.

"I am scared to ask, but as it's the only way, of keeping you mentally stable, why's that going to be a problem?"

Nathalie shook her head vigorously.

"I can't talk about that right now. Let's leave it for when it's really necessary to address, otherwise, we just forget, what I said, okay?"

He looked pensive, a little worried even, when he calmly agreed.

"Okay, but you should really start to trust me, Nathalie. We won't make it through these couple of days, without trusting each other. I will be here, when you loose control, to take over. Can you let me take over the control, Nathalie?"

His voice was hoarse now and he had begun to caress her hand with his thumb.

The assistant gulped heavily but nodded.

"I'll try!", she squeaked.

Chapter 3: Bittersweet Temptations

"You said something about c-coffee!", Nathalie suddenly exclaimed and jumped to her feet, pulling her hand out of his clasp and fleeing the situation to hurry towards the door, that led into the hallway, when she heard him speak, his voice deeper and more imperious than usual:

"Nathalie, wait!"

She stopped in her movements, the tone making her legs feel weak and her mind become submissive and docile. The completely overwhelmed and very confused woman slowly turned to face him, expecting him to still sit in his chair, but then she gasped, seeing him now right in front of her.

"I'm sorry, if I made you feel uncomfortable!", Gabriel now whispered softly, coming very close to her ear, as he did.

She loved his smell, when he was so near, her body quickly reacting and she felt the urge to close the last space in between them and press her front strongly against his firm chest, maybe rubbing a little bit up and down, seeing how he would react....

That was, when she made a run for it, shouting back at him, as she entered the bathroom:

"I need to get that stuff off of me, I'll be right back!"

The designer let out a shaky breath.

"Just take your time, love!", he muttered unconsciously to himself, as he opened the door and entered the hallway, intending to go downstairs and make that coffee for her.

He returned with two mugs, when she just entered the large bedroom from the other side, a towel wrapped around her head, another around her middle, giving a subtle peek at the round of her breasts, while ending at her thighs, barely keeping her intimates covered.

She blushed, the moment she saw him, as she had heard him leave and thought he would be gone for longer.

"S-Sorry, I forgot to take fresh clothes with me! I'll hurry to....damn..."

She cussed, as she felt the towel slip and barely caught it before it fell. Holding it shut in the middle, she now had of course pulled the soft fabric together, so not only her bosom was showing more, but he knew, if he would lower his gaze just a tiny bit, he would be able to look directly at her mount of venus.

"Fuck!", Gabriel hissed, not intending for her to hear him, but her sudden jolt made him aware, that she did. He couldn't get rid of the question, which had just popped up in his mind.

How did she look 'there'? Was her hair long or short, trimmed or shaved, which colour would it have? Did it shimmer just as purple in the sunlight, as did her long hair, with the pink strand, which she usually wore in a tight bun?

The designer kept his eyes locked at the gap between her breasts, trying to think of anything else, than what he wanted to do right now, asking for her consent, to take that towel away and have a look.

He could barely breathe by now, being too scared, she would notice, how much the mere thought of looking at that particular spot, aroused him.

She was feeling it too. And she could now smell him from the other end of the room. Closing her eyes and inhaling deeply to calm herself, she had suddenly stopped and her eyes had widened, when she became aware of that.

With her voice trembling, Nathalie pleaded:

"Would you be so kind and take a shower too? I know, it sounds odd, but I can smell you from here and..."

"Sorry, I have been a little stressed!", he apologized, while sniffing his armpits and was about to turn around, when he heard her groan and stopped. "Nathalie, are you alright?"

She nodded, then gestured him to just place the coffee on the table.

"I didn't mean it like that!", she hummed seductively, wanting to slap herself at the very second.

"Oh....well.....I will go and take care of that issue very quickly, okay?", he suggested, only seeing her cheeks blush even more, while she seemed to struggle with her inner turmoil.

"You can as well do that here!", she gushed out, just as he reached for the handle of the door.

Gabriel froze, hearing her begging for him to stay. This wasn't a question, but the pure, subconscious need to keep him close.

"Oh God, I am so pathetic!", she ranted over herself, as she dropped to the floor and buried her face in her hands.

He could hardly control himself, when he saw the towel slip and rushed over to cover her again. Nathalie, now a little more in control of herself again, after feeling so embarrassed, sniffled and wiped her eyes, before she whispered:

"Thank you!"

"You don't have to thank me and you don't have to feel embarrassed. It's not your fault, Nathalie, it's mine! I should have never sent you there! Just come and get up from the ground! Here, I'll help you!"

A new wave of his scent washed over her, when she felt him grab around her through her armpits and hold on to her back, while pulling her to her feet, instantaneously both knew, that he had made a mistake with that.

She was hot! Literally! As if she was burning up. He could feel her heat through all his layers of clothes and couldn't completely restrain the very silent moan.

Her reaction came immediately, as her arms snaked around him, her hands delicately brushing into his styled hair, her body trying to push into his. He just let her for a moment, while he tried to find a last bit of self control somewhere inside of him and eventually he managed to make her sit down on the edge of her mattress.

He sounded an octave higher than he normally did, when he questioned her sternly:

"I think, now is the perfect moment, to tell me, what's your issue with finding your release is, love. Because this", he made a gesture between them, "is just the beginning!"

Seeing her eyes widen even more, he felt bad and quickly hugged her small figure.

"Don't!", she squeezed through gritted teeth, "you're only making it worse, when you're touching my bare skin!"

"So we're going to talk then?", he hummed, right now begging inside, that she would refuse and just take a hold of his hair again.

"You better go shower first!", she snarled at him, trying to keep herself lucid.

Gabriel gulped and nodded, then hummed:

"I'll go get fresh clothes, but I'll be back in the wink of an eye! And then, we really should have that talk! Please put some clothes on, my dear!"

He wasn't planning to and didn't think about it either, when he bent down and placed a kiss on her cheek.

Nathalie sucked in the air audibly, as she felt his lips on her hot skin, making the spot not only heat up even more, but also start to throb with each of her quickening heartbeats. Before she could stop herself, the woman had turned her head and pressed her lips onto his, while she clang on to his neck, to pull herself to her feet with that.

Chapter 4: Control

Gabriel Agreste felt his beautiful and naked! assistant's lips on his own and all he wanted to do, was to give in to the tempting woman and fuck her senseless. But knowing, that it was all caused by the substance and the following overly high production of all sorts of things, that would turn every man into a brainless caveman, only driven by the rousing scent of the woman before him, he slowly grabbed her hands and pulled them from the back of his neck.

With quite some effort he parted their lips and pressed her hands to his chest, to then hold her taut and lean his forehead against hers.

"I am so sorry!", he mumbled, "I didn't mean to make this even worse for you. I didn't even notice, what I was doing. But I won't take advantage of you like that!"

He thought for a moment, then added:

"Well, at least, I will try!"

Nathalie could feel tears burn in her eyes, while she was taking deep breaths to calm herself down. Though she knew, that he was just trying to not take advantage, she still felt rejected. There was this small thought, which kept crawling back into her thinking, reminding her, that he was still in love with his wife and trying to get those miraculous, to bring her back to life.

He had been trying for so long already, had missed so many chances, to eventually move on and be there for his son again.

Well, he had taken that one chance, maybe the only one, he had ever had, yet he didn't even know about that one. And it was because of herself, that he didn't. When he had eventually gotten hold of the rabbit miraculous again, not only his, but Nathalie's health had been that bad, that he had given it to her and told her to not care about him, but just go back to the moment, when she used the peacock miraculous for the first time and keep herself from doing so.

Of course she had obeyed his order, well almost, cause she had only intervened right before they would have captured the little old man, not knowing, that she would save both their lives by doing that. Strangely she still had every memory about the things, she had prevented to happen, while Gabriel could only remember the day, when the guardian had been able to escape them.

The assistant could even recall the deciphered grimoire and had therefore been able, to repair the peacock miraculous, but being aware of what the future held for Gabriel, if he became Monarch one day, she had kept that a secret.

He had been really sweet, when he took care of her, after she had been Mayura for the last time, so her broken body could eventually heal. He had even stayed in her room for the nights, watching out for her, helping her with every issue, that came up. But then for some reason, he suddenly had become more distant again and had focused back on reviving Emilie.

Nathalie wasn't even sure, if he was aware about her feelings for him or if he had just thought, she was so loyal and devoted to her employers, that she had been willing to help him get her back.

Gabriel had noticed the glistening in her eyes by now and nudged her carefully backwards and into a sitting position again.

"I'm sorry too!", she whimpered, feeling him pull away from her.

He sighed, while cupping her face with his right hand.

"I'll be quick, Nathalie, I promise. Just try to relax, yeah? I know, that sounds totally stupid, but..."

He sighed again, turning to leave.

"Please get dressed, alright?"

"Okay!", she whispered, watching him leave, then covered her face in her hands to muffle her sobs. Shaking her head to try and get a clear thought, she forced back the tears and quickly put on the black pyjama, she had worn back then, when Gabriel had been staying with her.

Though she could imagine, that he would like her usual nightwear much more, as she mostly just slept in a top and her panties, the young woman pushed that thought aside and sat back on the mattress, to hear him enter just a moment later.

"You were quick", she tried to start a casual conversation.

The tall man smiled lovingly and nodded.

"I promised you to be. How are you feeling? Anything new?"

She gave him a disbelieving glare, then she literally felt her hormones kick in and heard her voice change, when she seductively hissed:

"Why don't you come a little closer and figure it out?"

Nathalie scooted backwards, getting further onto her bed, deliberately moving in a way, that her shirt, which was only shut by a satin belt, slowly slipped open and started to reveal her full, well formed breasts.

Gabriel gulped heavily, yet couldn't avert his gaze.

"Nathalie, please, try to calm down, while I take that shower, alright?", he croaked and stumbled into her bathroom, slamming the door shut behind him.

He took a couple of deep breaths, then crossed the room and turned the water on, letting it get to a pleasant temperature, while he got out of his clothes.

He felt his body relax, when the cool water touched his skin, then he noticed, that he hadn't brought any shower gel or stuff and took a look around, to pick one of Nathalie's a moment later.

There were at least four different ones, as well as two sorts of shampoo and in a desperate attempt to smell as neutral and not attractive as possible he chose the fruity ones from both.

He hurried to rinse the foam off and tried himself off with one of the large towels, that hung over the tub to slip into his boxer briefs and his own pyjama, a similar one as hers, just his had a buttoned up shirt.

Without a hairdryer and his styling products, he didn't even try to get his hair into its usual place, but just combed it back to keep it out of his face. Then he stepped back into Nathalie's room, giving her a careful glance, but rinsing of his very own scent seemed to really have helped and she looked flustered from before.

"Can I sit next to you or should I keep my distance?", he asked softly, making her smile lightly and say:

"I think it's safe to come closer, thank you for showering. Whatever cologne you're wearing, they should really put a warning for those effects on the bottle!", she joked, making him frown.

"I don't actually wear anything like that, Nathalie, because I tend to get headaches, when I do. I...", he let out the air audibly, when he noticed, what he had just said.

Nathalie groaned:

"Great! So it is your very own scent, that's causing me to..... just shoot me or something!"

She closed her eyes and let herself fall back onto the pillow, grunting in frustration.

The designer smiled and patted her shoulder, then got comfortable next to her, yet staying on his side of the bed, keeping a free space between them.

"Actually, men send out their own pheromones when they get into a certain state of..... a...rou....sal!", he watched her from the corner of his eyes, as he admitted to that.

But instead feeling better, the young woman scoffed.

"Don't lie to me Gabriel! I am not even sure, that you are affected at all! It's nice that you try, but..."

He felt hurt and angry at her right now. And he showed it, by turning towards her, almost closing the space in between them completely, his eyes narrowed and shouted:

"Why would I be lying, Nathalie? I am the one, who brought you into this situation and I really want to be there for you to help you through this! But to do so, I must keep myself under control, so I won't do anything, you wouldn't want me to do, if you were in your right mind. And I am very certain, that you would never have kissed me, without being under the influence of this substance. It's similar to drugging somehow, so they won't fight back and don't remember. It's wrong and you know that. But believe me, if I tell you, that you wouldn't need to send out any kind of odour, to make me find you attractive, because you are!"

He had worked himself up so much while speaking, that his head was red and his hair was falling down the sides, while he had propped himself up on one arm and was halfway hovering above her, his face only a whisk away from hers, his laboured breath brushing along her skin, making the assistant squeeze her eyes shut and inhale very deeply, while she grabbed on to the duvet underneath her, to not reach out for him this very second.

"Gabriel, please!", she whimpered, making him stop and give her a puzzled look. Then he noticed the state, she was in and immediately calmed down. "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to yell at you. Are you alright? Please don't be scared anymore, my dear Nathalie, I won't do that again!"

He had obviously misinterpreted her expression and cupped her face now very gently, stroking the soft skin of her cheek with his thumb.

Chapter 5: Slipping through my fingers

Feeling him touching her so tenderly, while he was still so close to her, made the woman open her mouth and take quick, shaking breaths.

Only now did Gabriel notice, that he hadn't made her fear him, as he had first thought, but she had rather become aroused again by him showing that dominant behaviour. And then it was him, who could smell her, not like he had before liked her very own scent, but now he could tell a difference in her odour and at the same moment he wanted to be the one, who would be making her his mate, spill his fluids inside of her over and over again, until he could be certain, that she was carrying his child in her soon growing belly.

"Holy shit, woman, you look so incredibly hot and tempting, when you're breathing like that. How I wish, I could just do what I want to do to you!", he breathed into her ear, his lips gently brushing along the cartilage.

Nathalie instantly held her breath and bit her lower lip, softly at first, then a little stronger, while she unconsciously arched her back and urged her crotch against his, then inhaled sharply through her nose, as she could feel the aroused man's hard reaction to her.

Her last hold was gone with that and she let go of the comforter to lay her arms around his shoulders, her hands not just brushing in, but taking a firm hold of his hair, while she was urging him down to her.

"Please", she begged, when she felt his resistance, "just....just a small kiss! I can feel, that you want that too!"

Gabriel groaned, his mouth still at her ear, making her whimper from the vibration on her skin.

"I can't, Nathalie, I won't! You're not yourself, it would be.... oh shit!"

One of the worked up woman's hands began to stroke his jaw, while the other increased the strength, she was pulling him towards her with, at the same time grinding her intimates on his erection, to soon let out a couple of soft, yet desperate moans.

He inhaled deeply, trying to pull back a little further, humming:

"I can feel all control slipping through my fingers, love, if you make sounds like that! Just imagining, how good it would feel, to touch you, kiss you everywhere. How I would love to thrust into your warm, wet..."

He let out a moan himself now, as he just imagined himself, being squeezed by her tightening walls, while she would scream his name with a deep, husky voice and in that moment he just let go of his restraint and pressed his mouth firmly onto hers, feeling his stomach drop, which made adrenaline pump through his veins, putting him into a rush and he boldly took a hold around her waist and pulled her towards him, then placed one hand on the back of her thigh, lifting it around him, so his painfully throbbing erection would push hard against her opening.

Despite both being dressed in their satin pyjamas the sensation overwhelmed them and while his right hand held his weight, the other was already sliding under her shirt and tore it open, making her shudder, as his fingers brushed along her hypersensitive skin.

"Oh damn it, Nathalie, I.... I'm really sorry..... I just can't..... please, can I touch you? I need you to tell me that at least, before I feel like I was..... violating you!", he whispered desperately into the crook of her neck.

"It's not violating, when I am here, begging you to touch me, wherever you like!"

That was all he needed, when he started to suck on her neck, while his hand slowly stroked along her sides, then upwards, missing her nipples by just a bit, following the curve of her breast to circle the other one and back to where he began.

"Gabriel, please, I need you to.....to touch me again..... and like here!", Nathalie pleaded frustratedly and then placed his hand right on her chest.

"What's the hurry love? Don't you want to enjoy this special treat?", he spoke with a deep voice along her throat, while barely cupping her full breast, giving it a light squeeze, which already made her squirm.

He chuckled lightly against the skin on her collarbone, as he felt her do that, to then kiss further down and eventually give her a tiny break from the agonizing wait for him to do that, and suck her areola gently into his mouth.

"Oh yes, Gabriel, that's so good! I beg you, make me feel good! I need you to make me cum, the way only you can do!", she cried out, making him immediately pause and stare into her face.

"What do you mean by, the way only I can make you feel?", he pryed.

The aroused female arched her back in agony, as she groaned loudly:

"I'll explain later, please, don't stop now, I....I can't get there without you!"

Despite still being intrigued, he could not not give in to her desperate pleading and took a firm hold of her, to roll onto his back, making her straddle him.

"That's much better, love!", he cooed, as he cupped each breast with one hand now, skillfully working his fingers into the soft flesh, kneading and squeezing, then pushing them upwards. He took his time, before he even brushed along one of her warts and the second, he finally did that, she cried out and pressed herself into his touch, while she was rubbing her little sensitive nub through her damp pyjama pants along his crotch.

It was the man now, who arched his back, pushing his upper body upwards, to suck on her nipples, first the right, then the left, then he nudged both her boobs so close together, that he could suck and lick over both areolas.

Nathalie had started to moan, then went back to her cute little whimpers, depending on how he treated her right now and he felt very close to release into his pants, when she quickened her moves and pushed down stronger onto his hard on.

Gabriel let himself fall back again, taking a firm grasp at her hips, as he did and met her intimates with a hard thrust of his pelvis, while his hands were pulling her down on him.

"Oh fuck, that's it! Please don't stop now! Oh God, yes, I ....oh yes Gabriel, I ..... I'm oh fuck! Please, cum with me, I want to imagine you spilling your fluids deep inside of me, want to feel you.....oh yes, oh holy shit, that's it, I...."

And then she couldn't speak anymore but was only screaming in sweet torture until the final sensation released her, just as she felt the man's impressive member twitch underneath her and with a last cry, she let her head drop onto his chest, panting heavily.

"That was bloody amazing!", she hummed contently into the crook of his neck, then propped herself up on her elbows, to kiss him very lovingly onto the lips,, "before I feel too flustered, thank you for that, Gabriel!"

He sighed, as he held her tightly to his chest.

"Anytime, love, anytime!"

Chapter 6: Confessions

She had taken a quick shower and was now wearing some shorts instead of her pyjama pants as they had been soaked and she had just put them into the laundry basket.

Gabriel was sitting in one of the armchairs, giving her a curious stare.

"I'm sorry!", he muttered, as he watched her dry her hair, "I really wasn't planning on abusing the situation you're in like that, Nathalie!"

"What? You actually managed to get me back into a state, in which I can think about more than what would be the quickest way to seduce you! So, we're good! Maybe I should tell you a little more about my actual predicament!", she said sheepishly.

The man nodded, still feeling guilty that he had let himself go so far.

Nathalie took a deep breath, as she sat down in the other chair.

"You asked me, why I said it's going to be a problem, to, well, get myself to have an, you know, orgasm", she began, to be interrupted by the man, smirking at her, as he said:

"I wouldn't say, you had much of an issue earlier!"

She blushed, but held his gaze.

"Well, I wasn't trying on my own, right?", she sighed, then looked to the floor. "I said it's going to be a problem, because I once began to imagine my next 'perfect' relationship and...uhm... that was when I started to have certain feelings for someone, yet he loved another woman and so I might have created a Sentimonster back then, to do exactly, what you said would keep me mentally stable, find my release!"

"Well, my dear Nathalie, I can just tell you, that despite you, feeling embarrassed, I don't judge you, as there is nothing wrong with that. You just wanted to feel as if he was with you sometimes and like that, your wish was fulfilled without endangering the man's relationship. Does said man have a family?"

She nodded.

"He has a son!"

"See, by doing what you did, you kept his son from getting hurt. You really must stop thinking, that you aren't worthy of anyone's love. If there was a Sentimonster, who was able to give you just that, I am happy for you!", the designer scolded her, yet with a loving smile and a squeeze of her hand.

"If only it was that simple, Gabriel! At some point I had become so dependent on him, that I wasn't sure, if I could function again, if I released him from his existence. And well, as it turned out, after he was gone, I couldn't get myself there anymore! God, I am so pathetic. I even tried to hook up with two guys, I met in a bar, but they weren't even getting close! Isn't that a wonderful life? Not only longing to be loved, but also can't even have an orgasm anymore, when it's not with that one person!", she gushed out desperately, then buried her face in her hands, sobbing vigorously.

The concerned man quickly rushed over to sit on her armrest and pull her into a tight embrace.

"Shush, love, don't cry! You'll see, everything will turn out for the better. At least the things happening today were good for one thing, Nathalie. You were able to find release, right? Maybe it was because of that substance, you were hit with, but now you know, that you can't feel like this with only this particular man!", he soothed, kissing the top of her head very gently.

His words though only made her cry harder, leaving the man wondering, when he all of a sudden recalled a moment from less than half an hour ago, when she was straddling him, begging him to make her cum the way, only he could do. And then he eventually understood.

But what he couldn't quite capture was, that it didn't bother him, but rather the opposite, he very much liked that thought and he out of nowhere noticed, that he had been in love with her too for quite some time now, just his loyalty to his dead wife had been too strong for him to see.

"You still love that man, right?", he asked carefully.

She didn't answer but he could feel her tilt her head up and down and began to beam widely.

"What's his name? Maybe you could speak with him and find closure or make him see, what an amazing, beautiful and incredible woman you are!", he suggested, making her wince and look at him.

"I-I c-can't tell you his name!", she gasped, pouting at his smile, "do you like to see me hurting?"

"That's not what I am happy about, love. Allow me one more question. If this man would stand in front of you, asking you to forgive him, for not seeing you all this time and instead dwelling in the past, sulking in front of his dead wife's coffin. Would you believe him, when he told you, how stupid he had been, to not even notice, how he felt, until some unforeseen liquid forced them to eventually face the tension in between them and made him see, that he loved you with all his heart? Could you even get yourself to give him a chance to make up for his mistakes, after hurting you so very much?", he muttered excitedly, keeping his eyes locked with hers.

Nathalie's face paled instantly and she got to her feet and brought some distance between them.

"Stop that! I thought, taking a shower after being able to think again, would help for some time, but you're obviously starting to sense something again, because I can tell, that this is not you speaking, but rather your dick, trying to lure me into his seductive spiderweb!", she spat at her employer, who looked at her in shock.

"Nathalie, I would never..."

"Don't!", she yelled, tears streaming down her cheeks, as she slowly began to walk backwards to get out of his reach.

He had stood up from the armrest and was following her and she was lucky, that he did, as she just a moment later tripped over one of her large trunks and would have hurt herself badly on the hard, wooden floor, if Gabriel hadn't caught her just in time.

Trembling he hugged her tightly, while he whispered into her ear:

"You haven't given me an answer yet, dear. I swear to you, it's not my dick talking, it's just me and I am asking you, to let me love you and eventually be able to forgive me and try to love me back!"

She sighed, looking deeply into his greyish-blue orbs, trying to figure out, if he was lying, then replied shyly:

"Tell me all those things again, when those forty eight hours are over. If you still feel this way then, damn it, how did you even figure it out?"

"You were saying things like the way only you can do, earlier, darling. So it was kinda obvious, even for someone like me! Let's just sit and talk calmly again. Or would you rather lay down and get some rest? How are you feeling right now, by the way?"

"Almost normal. A little itchy maybe, but I am also exhausted. Sleeping sounds utterly good! At least I won't notice any magically caused sexual urges, while I'm asleep!", she said cynically.

Grinning he responded:

"That's what you said. Come, just get comfortable! What's wrong, Nathalie?"

She groaned in annoyance, then shook her head.

"I can't believe that. I felt totally okay until you told me to get comfortable and out of nowhere, I feel the need, to tell you to stay with me! I'm sorry, just go, I'll get along!", she explained with once more reddened cheeks.

But the designer just began to grin mischievously and with a quick move he had picked her up bridal style and placed her on the mattress, lying next to her, pulling her back towards his chest and keeping her in a tied grip.

"I never even wanted to leave, dear!", he cooed and placed a gentle kiss on her temple.

Chapter 7: More Secrets

"Are you sure about that? What if it was getting worse again, while we're asleep?", Nathalie asked, as she lied stiffly in front of him, trying to not move at all, afraid she could trigger something by doing so.

"It will get worse anyway, dear. No matter if you're awake or asleep. But as long as you are, there is a chance, that it will take longer, until it's starting to affect us both again, right?", Gabriel hummed soothingly, "and now try to relax a little bit please. You can't be feeling comfortable like that!"

She sighed, then did as she was told, leaning back against him, relishing in the safety his embrace made her feel.

"May I ask you something, Gabriel?", she muttered, having just remembered something from the earlier day.

"Of course, dear, what is it?", he hummed against her neck, making her shiver.

"The dress, you asked me to wear today, why did it fit me perfectly? Emilie and I never had the same measurements and you always make your first draft of any new design with hers. So what went wrong with this one?", the assistant's voice was a little hoarse and she almost feared the answer.

The man behind her chuckled softly. Then he kissed the back of her head as he calmly explained:

"Now that you've mentioned it, I think my subconscious has been far ahead of me, knowing, who I wanted to see in my future creations and", he paused and leaned his forehead against hers, inhaling the scent of her hair deeply, "in my future life!"

She didn't even try to hide, that his words and actions affected her and pressed her body against his, while taking his hand, which was holding her around the waist, into her own to just hold it ot her chest.

"Stop doing things like that, please. It's doing things to me and I....", Nathalie sighed and turned her head a little, to look at her boss.

"Yeah I get that! I'm sorry. Maybe we should give sleep another chance?", Gabriel suggested and she agreed with a yawn.

"Sounds good!"

Gabriel woke up again, when he felt the woman in his arms stir and opened his eyes to see, that it was already dark outside. Lifting up his head to take a glance at the alarm clock, noticing, that it was only half past nine in the evening.

"Are you alright?", he asked, when he heard her cry, yet at the same time could feel the heat, her body was emanating again.

"I'm sorry!", she just hissed.

"Why are you sorry, love?", he tried to sound calm, but his senses were already heightened and he could once again smell her mesmerizing scents, especially her arousal.

"Because I have been trying to ignore it and hold it back, but....", her breathing quickened, "I can't do that much longer and I am sure, I will try to get you into it again! And I also can feel, that no matter how hard I'll try, what...what we did before....won't be enough!", Nathalie told him, her voice showed the disgust, she felt for herself, for not being able to hold up her usual demeanor.

She was turning around to face him now and he gulped heavily, as she rubbed her arse and hip along his crotch very slowly. Not daring to look into his face, Nathalie kept staring past him, her hands though seemed to have a life of their own and slipped under his shirt, to stroke along his stomach, up to his chest, her fingers gently massaging the well toned muscles, making her intimates cringe and start to hurt a little, a certain sign of her beginning arousal.

She inhaled very deeply, while she squeezed her thighs together, in urgent need for some friction at that little nub.

Gabriel had closed his eyes, when her soft, small hands had started to caress him and was still keeping them shut, trying to focus on not giving in to the temptation to just pull down those incredibly hot looking shorts and ravish her right here. But the longer he let her stroke his torso, the faster he felt his mind become clouded and only one thought was still clear to him. To make this woman his as fast and as often as he could.

"Can you hear me love? You need to hold back for a little longer, alright? I promise you, to do whatever you want me to, but please, let's try to..."

Being interrupted by her fingers slipping under the hem of his pants, to then slowly pull them down from his hips, he held his breath, then felt her scoot downwards and automatically lifted his hips, so she could get them further.

"Fuck!", he hissed, as he became aware, what she was about to do and even if he had tried, he wouldn't have been fast enough to stop her, when she took a hold of his already hardening member and cupped her lips over the tip.

"Oh God, Nathalie, what are you.....oh damn it, how....you're doing that so good, just the way I like it.....you're making me....oh yes, darling just.....Nathalie I'm going to....ohhh yeah!", he moaned.

She stopped when he was just about to spill his fluids into her throat, to scoot upwards to him and make him lay on his back, while the assistant crawled on top of him, straddling him and he could immediately feel her dripping wet folds rub along his erection.

"When did you get rid of your panties?", he asked with a seductive voice, as he grabbed her by her arse and pressed her down on his staff.

"Mh, I like that!", Nathalie mewled.

"Yeah? Tell me what else you like, love!", he groaned, when she started to move up and down on him.

Her eyes darkened, when he finally opened his and looked directly at her. With a lewd smile she grabbed his hand and placed it on her mount of venus, to then tell him:

"I always liked it a lot, when you rubbed my clit with your thumb, while you were fucking me. Just the way you like it, when...well, as you are ashamed of anyone knowing, I will just keep it to myself, until then!", she moaned into his ear, then swiftly slipped one hand in between them and guided his length into her core, crying out the moment she felt him stretch her so completely.

"Oh God, yes!"

Gabriel watched her in awe, when she started to move up and down, letting his member almost slip out, to then take all of him in again and again, her head thrown backwards, her mouth open and her eyes shut, while her cries of pleasure were increasing.

He had been so aroused, after she had had him in her mouth, that he could already feel himself getting close to his release again and suddenly remembered, what he had been wanting to do, when she had surprised him and taken his pants of. Asking if she had a condom somewhere, so they wouldn't both regret, what they couldn't prevent. That they would end up having sex with each other.

Now he knew, he needed to react soon, forcing himself to fight every single cell in his body, that told him to cum inside of her, to make her have his baby. So he focused more on the woman's pleasure, rubbed that little nub between his thumb and index finger, until he felt her walls tighten and heard her scream in that low voice again.

He made a few more thrusts, then used all his strength and lifted her off of him, rolling her to her back, while he could feel his erection twitch and saw the whitish ejaculate stain her belly and breasts.

"Why?", she cried out in agony, still not having found her very own release and so he did the one thing, he could think of, he placed himself between her legs and started to suck on her little nerve bundle very gently, while his tongue kept pushing against it and by that brought her over the edge before she even knew, what happened.

"You", she gushed out panting, "you don't do that usually. You never before...."

He paled, figuring out what she was referring to.

"How did you know? And how did you know, how I like it, when I'm in your mouth? And the other thing?", he asked, his voice trembling.

"Well, you told me! Well, Senti-Gabriel told me, but, as I wanted the real deal, I created him to..."

"To be me! To have every memory and knowledge, I have. And my likes and dislikes!", he scoffed but looked at her with fascination, "I am still not judging you, rather envying your brains. I never even thought of that!"

He blushed a little, when he asked:

"So, uhm, I figure, you liked my first attempt to use my mouth down there?"

She beamed at him, as she made him lie next to her and hold her in his arms, then told him quietly:

"It wasn't so much, what you were doing, but that you chose to do something for me, you always refused to before! Though you hit the right spot as well!"

Chapter 8: Cooking

Gabriel jolted up from the bed, looking frantically around, wondering:

"When did I fall asleep? And where....Nathalie? Nathalie, are you in the bathroom?"

He listened for a moment, but nobody answered him, so he carefully peeked inside, to find it empty as well. Rushing into the hallway, he called her name in panic again, his primal urge to protect her and keep her for only himself making him already fear, that she had been so disappointed, after he pulled out in time, that she would be looking, somewhere outside the safety of the mansion, for another mate.

"Nathalie!" he now yelled into the echoing stairwell, hearing her answer come from downstairs and so he quickly rushed down there, calling out:

"Where are you?"

Her voice came from the kitchen and the moment he pushed the door open and entered, he started to grin lecherously.

She was standing in front of the stove, steering some scrambled eggs, still completely naked, yet freshly showered, her wet hair still hanging in shimmering strands over her shoulders.

"Good morning!", she cheered, "how was your sleep?"

He shook his head with a blissful smile and replied:

"I woke up a little unpleasantly, but I feel well rested. How was yours?"

"The most wonderful and restful sleep, I've had in a while!", Nathalie told him happily.

"You are aware, that you're completely naked, right?", the man now teasingly questioned, when she scoffed and mocked him:

"Well, have a look at yourself!"

He did and blushed deeply.

"Well, I....I was scared, because you weren't there and...and...", he inhaled deeply, "....don't mind, I just hurried to find you!"

"Don't mind what, Gabriel?", she pryed giving him an intense glare.

"It's nothing. Just my imagination. I thought, you had left to find someone more....well, you know!", he mumbled.

"More? Oh, you mean, because you were so considerate to not fulfill the actual purpose of this liquid and get me pregnant? First of all, thank you for that and second, those forty eight hours aren't by far over yet, so we both will need a lot of strength, to fight this urge. What are you doing, by the way?", she had noticed him staring at her body and all of a sudden felt self conscious.

Her blushing cheeks and her accusatory question didn't stop him from what he was doing and so he kept looking her up and down, while he informed her:

"I am just enjoying the view, Nathalie. Maybe you have had your time, to check me out already, but I think, I have quite some things to catch up on, isn't that so? And before you get angry or sad or start to think, I am making fun of you, I am not. I just think you're a beautiful, sexy woman and I really love to look at you. And this isn't caused by any potion or hormonal outburst, it's the truth! I can prove that to you, if you want to!"

She giggled, as she turned off the stove and placed the eggs together with some baguette on two plates, setting them on the counter and hinted him to sit on the stool beside her, to have some breakfast.

"Bon appetit!", she whispered nervously, because he was so close now and they were still both naked.

"Thank you Nathalie, it looks delicious. Enjoy yours too!"

"What did you mean by, 'I can prove that to you', by the way?", she asked shyly.

Grinning he looked at her with a wink and said playfully:

"Well, we could make a couple of pictures, blur your face and post them online, asking people what they think. I bet, you will get a million likes at the very least!"

"Oh my God, I could never! Imagine someone finding out, Gabriel!", she exclaimed, almost tossing her plate to the floor, with her sudden turn towards him.

"Well, you just have to believe me then!", he winked.

"Urgh!", the young woman grunted, "I would love to, but...!"

"But what, love?", he whispered, as he grabbed her around the waist and pulled her into his lap.

"G-Gabriel, what.... Can we please finish our breakfast? You will just trigger another increase of whatever substance and put us into the next unavoidable situation!", she ranted, but he didn't let go of her.

"Just relax, darling. I really start to like those situations and it's not, as if you hadn't done things like that with me before! Don't give me that look, I am just kidding!"

He let her slowly down on her seat again, then said:

"Just eat, Nathalie, I won't do anything else, to make you feel uncomfortable. I swear!", he turned back to his food with a smirk, "you know, I still keep wondering, why you are cooking naked. You know about that little kink of mine too, right?"

The assistant shrugged, then nodded with a sheepish smile.

"I had the crazy idea, to see, how you would react, when you're not high on pheromones and it's mostly just you and me, without too much influence. I am saying 'without too much', because you, running down here without your clothes, proved my theory correct, that it's not only me, who has been reduced to primal urges, but all of this has caused you to act all protective and probably even aggressive towards other males, as you almost attacked the poor bodyguard yesterday", she looked a little sad right now, as she turned her head to make eye contact, "but it seems, as if you were already a little intoxicated from being in the same room!"

The designer sighed:

"Why can't you just believe me, that I really meant, what I said? I was about to stop that guy, when he was looking at you, as if you were his prey and I immediately stopped him, after he had poured....I just wished, I had seen that coming. But I have been distracted by the way he was checking you out. Though I was certain, that I was just concerned, I must admit, that I was rather, well.....jealous. As stupid as it sounds, but though I thought, that I wanted to be with Emilie instead of you, I didn't want another man to have you either. And now, I am not certain, which part of my brain is causing it, but I want you to be close to me all of the time and I don't want you to even speak to any other man ever again!"

That made his assistant laugh.

"You sound like a caveman, Gabriel. Which is strange, because I am feeling quite normal right now, but I love to see you act like this! But I am rather certain, that at least part of this is caused by whatever my scent causes in your body. I need you to keep this behaviour under control though, because it triggered my attraction to you yesterday and I really would love to keep myself in control!", she now earnestly pleaded and he agreed.

"I will try! Though I might have a very different idea about triggering you! If.....I mean..... ugh, just forget, that I said anything at all. I.... God, I am so sorry for.....making all of this...even harder for you! I just wanted to suggest, to be faster than your hormones and.....well, wouldn't you stay in control, if we both were doing it voluntarily?", Gabriel was deep red by now and breathing heavily.

The young woman now stared at him open mouthed, then shook her head and ate the last bits from her plate, before taking both to the sink.

"Come with me!", she whispered timidly and held out her hand.

The designer furrowed his brows, but followed her anyway.

She pulled him into her room and then further into the bathroom.

"Go shower! I am certain, that you still have too much of whatever I am radiating on you and that's what's causing your behaviour!", she said and nudged him towards the faucet.

"Don't go too far, love! I am sure, that this won't change anything!"

She sighed, but agreed.

"Fine, I'll stay here and wait till your done!"

It took less than five minutes until he walked out of the steaming glass booth and reached for a towel to dry himself off.

"Better?", Nathalie asked him, trying to sound unbothered.

"Much", he hummed, "because now I won't be all sweaty and smelly, when I ask you the same question. And I am not asking you to sleep with me!", he whispered the next word: "Yet!"

"So you're saying, you just want to know, hypothetical, if I would feel as if I was still under control, if we wouldn't wait until we can't hold back any longer, right? Most likely, yes! But that doesn't mean..."

She couldn't go on. Gabriel noticed her being about to just scream in frustration and quickly closed the gap between them, pulling her into his arms and rubbing her back.

"If you don't mind the question, why do you struggle with not being in control so very much?"

"Because at some moments in my life, it was all I had. The control over my feelings, my emotions, even my body to a certain point. If I let go of it, I am showing weakness and that makes me vulnerable. So I can't have that happening!", she shouted and tried to push him away.

"Please, love, don't do that! You don't want me to cause another pheromone outbreak, if I have to order you to stop, right? Just let me comfort you, please!", he begged.

Chapter 9: Emotional

"Gabriel, I can't, I....just let go of me, please!", she almost sobbed now.

"I'll let go, if you finally believe me and start to trust me! Do you think, you can do that?"

Gabriel was desperate. Holding her soft and warm, still naked body so close, made him remember, what they did last night and he hoped, that the situation wouldn't get any worse, but he also recalled the akumatized's thoughts about the liquid and knew, that after the first twenty four hours, she would really be in a heat, similar to a cat or a dog, her body controlled by one thing only, to mate and procreate by doing so. And that's why he needed her to believe and trust him. Just in case, he wouldn't be able to stop, before he released inside of her, the next time.

Nathalie nodded and he loosened his grip, but kept her in his arms.

"Can you just believe me, when I say, that I love you and therefore want to be with you?", he asked her once more. "Come on, love, at least give me the chance to prove it to you!"

"What is it, that you aren't telling me, Gabriel?", Nathalie now asked, "because you want too urgently prove to me, that you are not in control of anything but yourself!", the woman asked him now.

Gabriel sighed deeply, then nodded.

"Can I please do something very important first? Can I just kiss you?", he pleaded and hesitantly his loved one gave in.

Smiling lovingly, he cupped her cheek with his right hand, while his left was on her lower back, holding her gently against him. And then he leant in and placed his lips tenderly on hers, one short peck, then another, and one more, to cup her lower lip in between his right after, feeling her slowly reciprocate the soft caressing.

They parted their lips without one of them trying to deepen it and even Nathalie was smiling now.

"That was....nice!", she slowly admitted and trustfully nuzzled her face into his chest.

"Yeah!", he agreed, "very! Come on, you're getting cold. Let me wrap you into your blanket, okay?"

They left the bathroom together and the designer grabbed a blanket from her closet, so she would get a little bit warmer, as she really seemed to feel cold and rubbed her arms with her hands.

"Thank you!", Nathalie sighed contently.

To overcome the sudden awkwardness, Gabriel carefully asked:

"When did you get hurt so very much, that you started to keep all emotions locked up so deep inside of you, Nathalie? I know, it's most likely something you don't like to talk about, but...."

Pulling the soft layer tighter around her shoulders, the sat down on the rim of her bed and sighed, then patted the space beside her.

"Can you imagine, being born with the name Sancoeur, which is bad enough for a child, once the other kids figure out the meaning of it and start making fun of her. Now think about the child's parents, being even crueler and calling her Nathalie Sancoeur, meaning somehow: born without a heart. I could have overcome this, if there hadn't been the other issue, that my parents were very old fashioned and strict and didn't let me out very often. And even if they did, I was always dressed like an old spinster. A pair of cotton pants, a blouse in a bright colour, always buttoned up to the top button, flat slippers in black or grey and of course, at least a vest over the blouse, so nobody would be able to see my underwear! Don't get me wrong, I had kind and loving parents, but sending me to school like that, quickly turned me into an outsider. You see this?", she pointed at the pink strand on the left side of her head, "I did this, when I was eighteen. Finally being old enough to go with the others on the field trip just before our graduation, I made a friend in the little village in England, where we were staying. Though she was already twenty four, we got along very well and when she suggested to dye my hair, well, I am still having it, right?"

Gabriel now smirked and asked her teasingly:

"Did you have a crush on her?"

Blushing the young woman shrugged.

"I don't know! I never had any friends, Gabriel. I never thought about it that way. I was just happy, to have girl talks and all the stuff, I missed out on. We stayed in contact after I came back home, I started university and did trips to learn more about the things I studied, while she fell in love and got married. Then she suddenly called me after years of just sending texts and asked me to work for her and her husband. And just like that, I helped the two of you find those damn jewels and caused the only friend, I ever had, to die!", she finally finished, tears brimming her eyes.

Gabriel laid to fingers on her jaw, to make her look at him, then brushed the loose hair, especially the pink strand from her face behind her ear, croaking:

"You have this because of Emilie? I..."

He wiped his eyes with the back of his hand, then gently laid his hand on the side of her neck, his thumb caressing her cheek, when he pulled her closer and started to kiss her to give them both the comfort, they needed right now.

With a deep sigh, they parted after some time, Nathalie looking at his face now, summoning:

"Well, if you add to all those things, that I was wearing glasses and didn't look like a female until I was almost sixteen, you can imagine, that I got hurt many times and built a wall around every single feeling, didn't even allow myself to feel anything! So, humour me! What is it, you haven't told me about my actual situation?"

"Well, just a small thing, I forgot to mention, yet nothing you didn't know at all. I've told you, that your state will become worse, I just recalled a detail, meaning, that you would after those first twenty four hours start to.....well, how do I say.....get into some kind of heat, like....", he broke off, looking at her with concern.

"Like a dog? Or more like a cat? I would prefer the cat-style, because dogs, well, I'm not really into the connecting and not being able to part for up to an hour!", she said cynically, but a small smile tugged at the corners of her mouth.

The designer gave her a puzzled look.

"Did you just joke about it? Really?", he blurted out.

Nathalie though laughed now.

"Well, as I can't change anything at the situation itself, I can as well cope by making fun of it, right?", she mused.

Gabriel shook his head, then grabbed her hands and made her fall backwards, pinning her arms to the mattress, to hover above her very closely, his eyes making contact with hers, when he whispered:

"I really love you, Nathalie. Especially when you're like that. And as you're just now still in control of your urges, would you like me to spoil you a little bit?"

"What? You...oh Gabriel, please stop that. You are going to make it worse, if you do something I like. Last night, I even had to keep myself from thinking about the things, you could do. I really like, what you're doing, but...."

He smiled and stopped his attacks at her neck, but placed a soft kiss on the tip of her nose.

"Okay, I understand. I just thought you would like to see me, coveting you without any magic too!"

"Oh, I like to see that! Very much even. Just...", she took a deep breath.

"I know, you don't want to feel the way, you did, before you have to, if you can avoid it, right?"

"Right!"

Chapter 10: Let Me Keep You

"So if I summon up the things you told me yesterday and just now, this 'heat' will start with the ovulation and will last until? Obviously longer then to the moment, I get to, you know, orgasm, correct?", Nathalie now wondered anxiously.

"I didn't even make that connection, dear, but you appear to be right about that!", Gabriel replied shortly, "but that reminds me, I was going to ask you for a condom yesterday, when you....", he closed his eyes, inhaling deeply, feeling a sudden urge from the mere memory.

"Oh, uhm, let me have a look! Usually I have a package in....yes, there they are!"

She pulled an opened package out of a drawer, handing it to Gabriel. Opening the lid, he gazed inside, then said:

"Well, let's hope those will do!"

"Huh?", she asked and took a closer look, seeing that there were only two left in the package.

"Crap! I really thought there were more! Oh no, wait! I....fuck, how do I explain that to you.... Well, I had some serious talk with Adrien about those things, when he started seeing Kagami and we put some into his schoolbag, his sports bag and his wallet, so even if he wasn't at that point then, he would be prepared if he got there. Even more funny, that he has all three with him, so we couldn't even sneak some out of his room!", Nathalie hesitantly told him, not sure, how he would react to the possibility of his son, having sexual relationships at all.

But Gabriel Agreste, though having sulked in his self pity and despair for so long, wasn't the bad guy, he pretended to be and hearing that his son was making his first experiences made him rather proud then angry and so he chuckled:

"Kagami was when he was fourteen, he's almost seventeen now! Wasn't he getting closer to Marinette Dupain-Cheng lately? If so, then he most likely will use them soon, if he hasn't already! Even I could tell, that the girl had the crush of the century on him. And she managed to make him fall for her, despite his crush on Ladybug. Don't give me that look, I am not that blind. He had pictures of her on his phone and hidden everywhere in his room!"

"Ugh! I feel so old, when I just remember, how tiny he was, when he was a baby. And so ugly, the first couple of days until his skin wasn't all crumply anymore!", Nathalie now giggled, "I was in love, the second I saw him!"

"Yeah, we were really scared, his face would stay like that!", Gabriel confessed, that looked at the woman with a longing glare.

"Oh, oh! Don't look at me like that, Gabriel, please! It's....", she sucked the air in very audibly and shut her eyes, then gulped, "it's starting to affect me. Damn it, it's getting warm under that blanket. I...I think....it's.... I feel like taking a cold shower very fast!", she gushed out and jumped to her feet, letting the blanket fall to the floor to then run into the bathroom.

The designer looked shocked, but he had also caught a bit of her scent and that had caused a sudden reaction down below and so he slowly followed her, watching as she turned on the water, as cold as possible to then step underneath it.

"God, that's better!", he could hear her sigh, yet to him it sounded very seductive and he carefully sneaked closer, opening the glass door a little, without her noticing, as her eyes were shut, while she let the shower rain on her head, to reach for the button and turned the water to a normal temperature, to then, just as she wanted to see, why it had stopped cooling her down, he stepped inside and laid his arms around her from behind.

Pressing her firmly against him, he let out a loud groan, when his erection pressed against the small of her back.

Nathalie instantly began to whimper as she felt his hard member and got on the tips of her toes, while her hand reached behind her, to guide his length between her thighs. Just as eager to get there, the strongly aroused man bent his knees a little, then felt his swollen penis slip between her folds, being covered with her arousal as he did.

"Damn it, woman, that's....", he moaned against the back of her neck, making her shiver and at the same time move along his staff, to soon hear his breathing get rigid and he reached around the smaller woman, to cup her breasts in his hands, his fingers dexterously attending to her erect nipples.

"Oh yes Gabriel just take me right here! I need to feel you really deep inside! I want you to fill me up with your fluids, make me take it all, until I scream your name! Please make me feel better!", she cried out at him, making the man groan, his arousal getting even stronger and he could feel his erection grow a little more.

"I would love to, darling, but we agreed that we wouldn't want to get you pregnant, right?", he panted, yet giving in to the pleading and gently thrusted his length into her tight opening.

"Oh fuck! You're so, damn it, you feel so amazing, the way you're squeezing my.....hell yes, sweetheart, keep moving like that!"

"I need you deeper, Gabriel, please, I want to feel all of you!", Nathalie whimpered desperately and he could feel the urge to give in to whatever she asked for, so he pulled back for a moment, then lifted her up and carried her to her bed, making her kneel before him, her head on the mattress, her arse up in the air.

Seeing her like this, he remembered her taste and instead of giving her what she asked for right away, he got down on his knees himself and buried his face between her folds, his tongue licking over her little nub.

"Oh fuck, what are you....."

And then she was only moaning, her pelvis twitching, whenever he made changed his position, giving her new pleasuring sensations and right as he began to tease her entrance with his thumb, she arched her back, convulsing against his mouth while her voice became deep and hoarse once again.

"Please!", she begged, "I need to feel you, want to take in all of this big, hard cock! Just fuck me real good, Gabriel!"

Chapter 11: Interlude Or How To Tame A Ladybug

"Marinette? What's going on? You seem to be a little off today!", Adrien whispered, as he sat next to her on the chaise longue, both as usual snuggled into each other, trying to watch a movie together, but the teenage girl was squirming and fidgeting all of a sudden.

Now she shrugged, answering quietly:

"I don't know, I feel a little weird. When we took off into different directions this morning, after the akuma was released, I quickly detransformed, as there were still so many people everywhere and I didn't feel like answering a lot of question today. And then, all Marinette-like, I slipped in that strange fluid and fell right into it. That's why I was back in school so much later than you, I came home to change. Did you hear him say, what he was about to cause with this potion-like stuff?"

The young man had paled and was staring at her.

"Earth to Adrien! Hello Kitty! HEY YOU! BOYFRIEND!", she yelled and shook him, making him eventually react and stutter:

"Ma-Ma-Marinette! W-Why didn't you t-t-tell me? This stuf is b-b-bad, r-really bad!", he inhaled deeply, "how much of it did you get onto your skin?"

"I-I d-don't know! A lot! I m-mean, it's me! You should be used to my clumsiness by now and be aware, that I landed in the middle of the largest puddle!", she groaned, then buried her face in the crook of his neck in embarrassment.

Adrien tried to breathe very flatly, her closeness all of a sudden making him feel strange, when he heard her sniffle and look up into his green eyes.

"You still haven't told me about the fluid. What did it do to me?"

"I could hear him talk to himself shortly before Nathalie arrived at the hotel and this potion, it makes you like.....you remember that movie about the different mating rituals in animals around the globe? Well, uhm, if I got it right, I imagine it like a bitch in heat, making the male dogs go crazy from just her scent, while she tries to find the strongest and most potent male and get him to, well, mate with her. The stuff will also have the woman, who came into contact, ovulate after twenty four hours, to then worsen her state, until she eventually reached her goal. And one more thing, the only way, to keep her lucid, is to.....I can't say that, princess. And I shouldn't be here at all, if you really came into contact!", he informed her with a trembling voice.

Then he jumped to his feet and was about to grab his bag, telling her:

"I should go to Nino's, as my father had ordered! This is..."

He stopped, when he took a look at her face.

"Adrien, I can't be alone, if you're right about this. My parents aren't home and if you're correct, there would be nobody to hold me back, if I decided to find a male somewhere on the street, right? You know, that I have never done 'that'! What if I run into some pervert?", she rambled and the boy instantaneously felt guilty and scolded himself:

"Damn it, I am such an idiot. I should have thought about that. All I wanted, was to not be with you, so I wouldn't do anything, you are not ready for, just because we're both under the influence of some lunatic's idea on how to save his marriage. Of course I'll stay with you. The man said, it would take a couple of hours until it would be fully working!"

"Oh, really?", she wondered blushing deeply, as she did.

"Marinette? Are you alright?", he reached for her hand and pulled her closer, being hit by her new and mesmerizing scent immediately.

The girl had noticed the change in his demeanor and asked him now:

"Now you get, what I meant, right? Why are you grinning so dumbly? This isn't funny, Adrien!"

He shook his head and explained:

"It's not that. But Nathalie got soaked in this stuff from head to toe and if falling into a puddle of it, causes this", he pointed at her and him, "then I am very certain, that they finally admit their feelings for each other!"

"Not to forget the little sibling, they will create!", the girl now joked then stopped talking and turned pale, before shouting, "holy fucking shit! That's what will happen to every woman who got hit, right? We urgently must keep us both under control, Adrien!"

He stared at her, watched her freak out, then nodded.

"Yeah, you're right, just....."

"Just what?", she pryed.

"I, well, whatever is happening to your body, it's having some affect on me. I mean, you smell like heaven right now, even more than usually. And I am sure, if we start kissing and do the things, we did last time, I....", he was breathing heavily and his eyes had darkened.

Marinette knew, that she wasn't ready to lose her virginity, but when she saw him looking at her like that.

"Adrien, please stop! I-I, you're getting me all....."

She was fanning some air too her chest by moving her shirt quickly back and forth.

"Not helping, M'lady!", the aroused teenager told her, as he watched her do that.

She groaned and let herself fall back onto the sofa, laying one arm over her face.

"Maybe we should call Alya to stay with you!", he suggested, but Marinette shook her head vigorously.

"No way! She would be recording everything and make a report on the Ladyblog, of course without my name, but still....", the girl whined.

"Yeah, you're right. Bad thought! What about Rose or Juleka? Actually, similar issue. You think, they would react, as they are both into women?", he wondered.

"Urgh! ADRIEN! That's so homophobic to even ask that! Makes me curious, but bad thoughts! Maybe you could call Nathalie and ask her, how she is doing and if she knows anything more, than us!", Marinette now suggested and the young man instantly took out his phone, calling the woman's number.

"She doesn't answer! Nathalie always answers!", he said anxiously.

His girlfriend though giggled.

"Relax, kitty! Maybe she and your dad are just in the middle of 'something' and don't hear the phone right now!", she mused and made him laugh.

"Yeah, maybe! That doesn't help us though, to figure out, how to at least keep us from...you know....or you trying to find someone else and get hurt! I will send her a message, saying, that we saw on some video material, how she got hit and that you fell into a puddle of the stuff. Hopefully she can tell us something to get through this!"

He had sent this message in the early evening, before the fluid had started to fully work its effects on the young woman. When Nathalie eventually came down from the frustration, of Gabriel pulling out of her for the second time, after he had followed her into the shower, she took a look and paled, showing the text to the just waking man.

"Shit, that's bad!" he gushed out, then grabbed the phone and instantaneously called his son.

"Yes, Nathalie!", he heard him cry out and knew, something was very wrong.

"It's me, Adrien. How are you doing? Is the girl okay?"

Adrien sighed in relief, hearing his father's voice.

"I had to lock her inside the bathroom, because she wouldn't stay in the house, after I had tried to lock me in there. Like this, I can at least be sure, that nothing will happen to her! But I have no idea, what to do now, as she really is trying to break the door open and I am scared, she might hurt herself! Do you know, what to do, father?", he begged, hearing a deep sigh come from the speaker.

About ten minutes later the young man knocked at the bathroom door and called out:

"Marinette? Please, listen and stop freaking out, I will come into the room and help you feel better, okay!"

He could hear her cry from outside and slowly opened the door, seeing her naked on the tiled floor, her hair a mess, hugging herself with both arms.

"I-I've tried to....make myself feel better, but it only helped until around midnight. Now I....", she gasped, as her heated up ladyparts came into contact with the cool floor, giving her a short relief of the agonizing sensation.

"Just follow me, Marinette. And promise me, to not try to run off again. I swear to you, I will do my best to help you! My father told me about....about..."

He swallowed hard.

"To make you think rationally again, you must find your pleasure, meaning you must have..... or-orgasms to keep you lucid!", he barely more than whispered, but the hoarse sound made the girl look at him and press herself against him, making the young man, now that she was so close and he could smell and feel her, groan and grab her harshly around the waist.

"Oh God yes!", she moaned and he grabbed her butt even harder, pulling her strongly against his quickly growing erection.

"Damn it, I have no idea, how to keep myself under any kind of control. Please, princess, just calm down a little, so I can make you feel good, without loosing it.

Marinette's face became stubborn and she rasped into his ear:

"But I need you to fuck me, Adrien! I need you to fuck me and make me feel good. And then I need to feel you, pouring all your semen into my depth, giving me, what I am pining for! Can you do that, Kitty? Will you try to fill me with your cum?"

They were standing inside of her room now and with a growl he picked her up by grabbing her thighs and carried her towards the ladder, which led up to her bed, pushing her back against it, while he was grinding his length through his pants against her folds, hearing her instantly cry out his name:

"ADRIEN, oh yes!"

"I need you to climb up there, Marinette. I want to take my time and not to take you for the first time like this!", he breathed against the skin of her neck, to then start sucking and kissing right at the spot, hearing her whimper, but somehow she obeyed and crawled on all fours backwards up the steep steps.

There she laid down on her back, her head resting on the cat pillow, where she waited for him to get up there too, then whispered seductively, while opening her legs wide for him:

"You know, I can't get rid of the idea, that if you did transform into Cat Noir, your tongue might be as callous as a real cat's!"

Biting her lower lip, she squirmed a little on the mattress from the mere thought of that and heard him wheeze.

"Oh fuck, you're making me take you right here and without hesitation!"

"Good!", the worked up woman cried out, "that's just what I need!"

"Fuck!", he hissed, as he crawled on top of her, willing to do, whatever she asked him to.

Chapter 12: Desperate Desire

"How long?", Nathalie asked, after Gabriel had finished the call with his son.

"How long, what?", he wondered with a loving smile.

"How long do we have, until we will lose all control and just start jumping each other? The way, you were looking at me earlier, I don't exactly know, what you were thinking, but, I could tell, that it had something to do with Adrien and...", the woman explained and he nodded with an understanding expression.

"I guess it's part of the whole situation, love. But not just that! When you were talking about how much you loved Adrien the very second, you first saw him, I just imagined, how it would be, if...", he took a deep breath, as he grabbed her hand, "I imagined you, holding our child and that set me off. I am not sure though, if it was because of the fluid or because of how I feel for you, Nathalie. I..."

He sighed and shook his head, turning onto his back and staring at the ceiling.

"I'm scared!", was all the woman replied.

Gabriel turned his head to look at her.

"Of what, love? Of having to face the situation, that I really am in love with you or of this whole thing really leading to any consequences?", he asked her carefully.

Nathalie groaned:

"I haven't even thought about any consequences! My thinking has been reduced to the primal part, even if I am feeling almost normal, I am driven by the urge to procreate. I know, that there is a chance, that I end up being pregnant after this, but right now, I can't consider this rationally. But I am very glad, that you still try. Thank you, Gabriel!"

He beamed at her, asking:

"What were you scared of then?"

"Of this being over and you, realizing, that all you felt was only caused by this potion and our hormones and that I will be alone again afterwards. And I imagined, how pathetic I will feel, when you remember the things, I confessed to you, about the Sentimonster, I created and....oh God, I can't even imagine, how bad that will feel!"

Now the man chuckled.

"You have no reason to be afraid, love, I won't change my mind about how I feel. When was the last time, you've been Mayura? Or let me say it like this, does the miraculous affect you much, if you are only transformed, without using your powers?", he asked with a mischievous smirk.

"G-Gabriel! Are you saying, you would want me to transform into Mayura to..."

"To fulfill one of my very secret phantasies and let Mayura seduce me? If while I'm Hawkmoth or myself, I don't care, but it's one of the things, I have imagined over the last years, when I.....took care of my needs!"

She gulped.

"Though I have to admit, that those phantasies aren't completely new to me, I..... it's too much! I just want to....I need to get through this and then hopefully be able to go on with the pathetic life I have, to somehow be able to help you reach your goal!"

"Nathalie, my dear Nathalie! I haven't told you, that I love you to take it back after this is over!"

He turned completely towards her and cupped her cheek.

"As soon as we're all in control again, I will tell Adrien the truth and we will have a real funeral this time and eventually let Emilie rest in peace! And now, let's just enjoy the time until we're only driven by our primal urges and stay close, cuddle and talk, alright? And to your information, I think, there are about two hours left until the first twenty four hours are over and you'll be....ovulating. And one more thing, darling! I will try to use one of those condoms or pull out in time, but I would also be willing to face the consequences of having a baby with you in a couple of months. But that's something, we should talk about once we're both in our normal mind again. I just wanted you to know, I am here with you and I won't back out afterwards. I really do love you, Nath!"

Tears were brimming her eyes, when she, instead of answering, leaned in and started to kiss him with love and passion.

"Thank you for saying that, though I still think, you'll change your mind. I think, I start feeling a little....you know. So uhm, maybe you could....."

She didn't look at Gabriel, feeling ashamed for coming on to him again.

"Don't feel bad, love! Let me just.... Nathalie? Let's try and take our time, okay? I want to seduce you and show you, what you mean to me instead of just...you know! Wouldn't you like that too?", he hummed right beside her ear, making her shiver in anticipation.

"I would like that, but...please don't be mad, if I reach the point, where I just need you to....", she rasped, making the man shudder this time.

"I get it, love! Just one word and I will change my tactic and just fuck you into the mattress, if that's what you need. But for now...let me just start here with a soft..."

He pecked the side of her neck with his lips, his tongue gently grazing the skin and could instantly hear her whimper, while her body pressed towards him.

He focused on the soft skin in front of him, trailed light kisses along her collarbone and between her breasts, then further down to her stomach and back up to entangle her into a passionate kiss, before he included his hands and started to caress her sides, then circled her areolas, without touching the already erect nipples.

"G-Gabriel, please, don't torture me!", she gasped and he smirked.

"Oh come on! The anticipation itself is worth half of it, love!"

"Oh yeah? Imagine I would be so close to do that thing, you don't like to talk about and then I would only draw circles around it! How'd you like it?", she mocked him.

"Well, darling, you haven't told me yet, if you just took a good guess or if you really know about this particular thing, so....oh fuck, you! Oh damn it, Nathalie, you're making me spill everything right on top of you, if you go on like this!", he moaned just a couple of seconds later, when the woman had taken both his testicles into her hand, to squeeze them firmly, while she was putting some pressure onto his after with one finger, yet without penetrating, just letting him feel the threat to do so, the way, Senti-Gabriel had taught her.

Chapter 13: The Last Restraint

"Do you believe me now?", she hummed hoarsely into his ear, while she rolled them both over and straddled him, soon impaling herself on his throbbing erection.

"Oh God yes!", they cried out at the same time, then the young woman began to move in a quick pace, her hips circling, while she bopped up an down, her breasts moving in the same rhythm, making Gabriel feel as if he was about to spill his fluids in just a few seconds.

Grabbing Nathalie's hips, he slowed her down, then laid both arms around her, to pull her into a devouring kiss, their lower halves still grinding on the others, his member still buried deep inside her core.

"Oh fuck, Gabriel, I need you to do as you promised. I need you to fuck me into this mattress until I can feel you cum deep inside of me and this time you better don't pull out or I'll get very angry!", she hissed threateningly into his ear.

The designer gulped, yet still tried to focus on holding back, when he again felt her hand between his thighs, her fingers grabbing his balls and starting to massage them with a firm grasp, sometimes even pulling strongly and he could feel that very last resistance in him resolve and evaporate into nothingness.

Without letting go of her, he flipped them over again, now being between her legs and just as she had wanted him to do, he started to move fast and almost violently, her wrists pressed deep into the cushion, her legs spread widely for him, so he could fuck her as hard as she needed him to.

Feeling very close to her release, Nathalie pushed up to meet his thrusts with her pelvis, take him in even deeper, until she could feel him start to twitch and at the same moment felt him pull back.

But this time she wasn't willing to let him and wrapped both her legs around his waist, holding him so very deep inside her core, as she felt her walls tightening around his length and heard him cry out her name in an agonizing pleasure.

"Oh my Nathalie, I am so sorry, but I need to let go, I can't.....oh yes, oh God yes, you feel so good, I need to fill you, need to cum inside....oh shit yes!"

And finally, after both being completely under the control of their hormones, she felt him twitch at the deepest spot, felt him release his fluids into her very depth and at the same time her own orgasm overwhelmed her completely and she cried out in pleasure, while she dug her fingers into Gabriel's back, her nails leaving deep scratches.

The man winced from the sensation, yet became even more aroused and instead of feeling his penis shrink, it stayed big and hard and he quickly pulled out to turn Nathalie around and pulled her butt up a little, so he could enter her from his sperm and her own wetness dripping vagina from behind, making the woman underneath him cry out in utter bliss.

"Oh yes, fuck me hard again! I need you to cum inside me over and over again! Oh yes, right there!"

He groaned in a guttural voice, as he heard her words, his mind now overflooded by the one thought, getting the woman before him pregnant with his child, planting his seed inside her womb, making her his forever.

"Oh fuck, Nath, I love you so much! I want you and I need you! I want you to have my children, want you to grow big with my offspring, want to fill you up with everything I have!", he cried out in desperate satisfaction until his penis began to jolt inside of her, pumped another large gush of semen into her wet cave, to soon hear the female scream out her own lingering release while her pelvis rocked convulsively against him, taking him in a little deeper with every thrust.

When they eventually collapsed, his still hardened member buried deep inside her core, he rolled them both to their sides, pressing her firmly against his chest, while he started to move slowly inside of her again.

"Oh yes, Gabriel, that's it! I can feel your cum dripping out of me! You need to fill me up again, so it will finally stay inside, where I need it. Oh holy shit, yes!", she moaned, sounding as if she was almost asleep.

He was tired and exhausted too, but his inner voice told him to continue and pour his liquid into her again and again, until he could be certain, she would be carrying his offspring and only his.

So he soon quickened his pace, thrusted fast and hard into her cunt, hearing her groan from the mixture of pleasure and being sore by now, yet she still moved with him, her hands taking a hold of his buttocks to pull him in deeper, feeling him pulsate inside of her again very soon, felt another portion of semen being pumped into her depth.

They drifted off into a light and dreamless sleep right afterwards, his member still fully grown inside of her, to wake up less than an hour later, by a new agonizing arousal.

"Oh God, I can't go again!", Nathalie groaned, but her lower half was already moving, making quick strokes along his hardened member, taking him in as deep as she could, when she felt his arms wrap around her middle and hold her taut, stopping her from moving completely.

"Nathalie, stop! I can tell, that you're hurting. Just hold still! I am already so close, it will be enough to feel your release, just let me help you, okay?", he whispered seductively and then started to rub her clit very softly, yet with a constant pressure, hearing her cry out only seconds later and his own orgasm collided with hers, both screaming out in pleasure.

Eventually he felt his penis shrink and let out a long breath.

Nathalie winced, when she felt him pull out, but then he could hear her sigh deeply as well.

"That was...", he began, not knowing, how to continue.

"Yeah, that was....", the exhausted and sore woman agreed, before she turned on her back with another groan.

"How about taking a nice, hot bath? As soon as your hormone controlled body allows you to get up, of course!", Gabriel suggested with a smirk, then pecked her lips very softly.

"That sounds incredibly good!", she hummed and turned towards him, yet not without another grunt.

Placing a hand on the man's cheek, she started to kiss him very lovingly.

"Thank you for that! Though I am very sure, we will regret everything at the same time tomorrow, right now, I feel the urge to thank you for giving me exactly what I need!", she then cooed.

Gabriel smiled at her and sighed, before reciprocating her kiss:

"I am very certain, that I won't regret anything, my love!"

Chapter 14: Another Interlude Or A Kitty In The Morning

"Ugh, what happened?", was all, Adrien could mutter, when he opened his eyes.

"Huh?", Marinette groaned and slowly turned in his arms to face him, "they should warn people of how exhausting and draining, having sex can be! That would keep a lot more people from even trying then the fear of getting pregnant! I feel worse than I did after Hero's Day!"

The teenage boy chuckled:

"I don't feel that bad, but I get, what you mean! How are you feeling now? Still like yesterday?"

The girl shrugged.

"I'm not sure!", she replied, "but I still have the urge to climb on top of you, despite everything feeling sore and bruised! I still keep wondering, how you managed to use one of the condoms every time! And why you have so many on you!"

He turned scarlet red and rubbed the back of his neck.

"That's...uhm.....somehow a coincidence! When I was seeing Kagami, Nathalie was a little concerned about, what could happen and gave me two for my wallet, and three for my school as well as my sports bag! And...well, I have all those things with me, so.....!"

Marinette giggled, then snuggled closer against him.

"Actually, though my whole body is telling me differently and wanting me to order you, to not use them, how many have you left?", she whispered huskily.

Adrien cleared his throat sheepishly, then uttered:

"Let me take a look! One, two, three....oh and four!"

Now they were both blushing, imagining, that despite they had wanted to wait to take that step, they had done 'it' four times in one night!

Kissing her lips very tenderly, the young man then whispered remorsefully:

"I am very sorry! I should have done better and kept myself under control! Still it was hard enough, to get those things in between in time, when you were fully coming on to me!"

"Oh Adrien, stop saying things like that! Alya told me, her first time hurt like shit! I have to admit, even if it hurt, I didn't notice, I was just too.....you know! And I really, really would like it, if you started over! Only if you wanted that too, of course!"

He sucked the air in sharply, as he rolled her onto her back and started to kiss along her soft skin of her neck and her collar, then further down to her pink, erect nipples, soon continuing his way along her toned stomach to the heated spot between her thighs, hearing the young woman already moan from the mere thought of, what he was about to do.

The inexperienced, young man bent down to cup his lips over the little nub, he had found at some point last night and had quickly learned, that he could make her scream his name only short time after he started sucking and licking.

And that was, what was happening just now. He had barely started to tend to that little bundle of nerves, when he felt her fluids again covering his chin and her hips rocking against his mouth.

"Oh Adrien!", Marinette cried out, the second, she felt her release wash over her and dug her hands into his hair, pulling him deeper into her folds, until she urged against him with a last, relieving:

"AAAAAH!"

Grunting the boy kissed up her belly and between her breasts, devouring her mouth with his own, then let himself fall on his back next to her, his erection standing upright, the throbbing of the large amount of blood, which made it harden, almost unbearably painful.

Closing his eyes, he tried to focus on getting his arousal under control, when he felt his girlfriend's hand hesitantly take a hold of his member, followed by her mouth softly cupping his glans, to then take him even deeper into her mouth, making him moan loudly.

As he did, he thrusted upwards and into her throat, hearing a surprised sound come from the girl. Yet she didn't, as he had already expected and dreaded, get angry or pull back, but the sudden jolt of his hips and the feeling of having all control of him, made her become even more aroused herself and she closed her eyes and quickened her strokes with her mouth along his length, moaning with a desperate longing, soon feeling him twitch deep at the back of her mouth.

"M-Marinette, I-I....oh crap, I am about to.....oh shit, please I can't....."

She felt her intimates painfully cringe from just hearing him moan and cry and her own fluids were now running down her legs, when she started to suck even stronger than she did before, soon tasting the salty, warm liquid on her tongue and quickly swallowed as much as she could, yet a little bit still ran out of the corner of her mouth.

Adrien finally was able to open his eyes and look at her, seeing his ejaculate running down her chin and just pulled her onto him and started to kiss her savagely, before he held her steady and reached for another condom to roll over his still hardened member.

He had barely managed to do that, when he felt the young woman lower herself onto his length, taking him in completely and in an instant began to move bouncily up and down, her arousal covering his balls and stomach, and just a few minutes later, he felt as if he was exploding deep inside of her.

"Oh God, Marinette, I love what you're doing!", he roared.

"Yes my Kitty! Keep fucking me, I need to feel you so deep inside! Just don't stop, my big, hard Chat!"

He grabbed her hips and pulled her roughly against his own, making her come down hard onto him, until he could hear her crying in a high pitched tone, while she convulsively bent over backwards, to feel him even deeper than she already did.

"Holy fucking shit!", Marinette panted, when they were both lying on their back after that, trying to catch their breaths.

Adrien turned his head and beamed at her widely.

"I love you, Marinette!", he whispered softly.

"I love you, Adrien!", she sighed with quickly blushing cheeks.

After intertwining their hands, they both drifted off to sleep again.

Chapter 15: Sudden Realisation

"Good morning, my love!", Gabriel cooed as soon as he felt Nathalie move in his arms.

"Good morning!", she hummed hoarsely, "what's with my voice?"

He smirked, as he softly pecked her lips.

"Remember the screams last night? Maybe they were a little too much for your vocal cords. Would you like some coffee?", the still from the love overwhelmed man carefully asked.

"Mhm!", she nodded and turned onto her back.

"I'll be right back!", Gabriel whispered and slipped out of the bed, to then make his way downstairs and into the kitchen.

When he returned about ten minutes later, Nathalie gave him a puzzled look.

"What time is it?", she questioned.

"I don't know, let me have a look! Uhm.... it's exactly 10 o'clock in the morning now, my dear, why?", the designer replied.

The still naked woman furrowed her brows, then mumbled:

"Well, I feel completely normal again! Wasn't that stuff supposed to last for about fourty eight hours? And the very most over the last twenty four? Which won't be over until three hours from now! So, why aren't we still jumping each other? Not that I wouldn't very much appreciate the little break, I can't get rid of the feeling, that something's up!"

Gabriel placed her mug beside her on the night stand, then walked around the bed and set down his own. Slipping under the duvet with her, he laid an arm around her and pulled her taut, then made her face him, by cupping her cheek.

"I don't know and I don't care right now. All I do know is, that I still feel the same for you, as I did over the last two days. I love you very much, Nathalie Sancoeur!", he cooed.

Then he leaned in and kissed her with love and passion, noticing himself, that he felt nothing more, than the usual sensation, he had felt before, when he had kissed her between the influences of the fluid.

"I get, what you mean. I still feel very attracted and would still like to.....you know.....but I am able to control it and continue to talk and enjoy having coffee in bed with you. Maybe we calculated the timespan wrong? Are you sure about the time that has passed?"

"Very!", she confirmed and sighed, "let's just drink that coffee as long as it lasts!"

They did that in silence until a couple of minutes later they both gasped at the same time.

Turning their heads and staring at one another, their eyes widened, both tried desperately to find their voice again.

It was the man, who managed it first:

"If the main intention of that fluid was, to cause a pregnancy, then it most likely would stop affecting us as soon as...."

"...as the purpose was fulfilled!", Nathalie finished his sentence with an anxiously trembling voice. "Do you think, that's what made it stop?"

He couldn't help but beam at her widely, when he asked:

"Well, if it was, would it really be something bad? I mean...", he pulled her closer again, laying one hand around her waist, while the other cupped her face, "....wouldn't it be the best possible proof of how very much we are in love? I told you, that I won't regret anything today and I don't!"

He was now slowly stroking along her side to her lower belly, leaving his hand there, only his thumb rubbing gently up and down.

"Wouldn't you like to start a real family with me and Adrien? I know, that Emilie asked you to be a mother to him and you were over all those years. But wouldn't you want to have a child of your own, of the two of us, as well?"

He tried to read her emotions from her face, but the usually so controlled and reserved woman was obviously completely flabbergasted by his words and he could see tears brimming in her eyes.

"Nathalie? Are you alright? Say something, please, anything!"

The assistant shook her head, her breathing rigid, as if she was having a panic attack. And then Gabriel noticed, that exactly that was about to happen, she was really panicking from the mere idea.

In his despair, he grabbed her around her back and pulled her towards him completely, then kissed her strongly onto her lips, until he could feel her tremble turn into vigorous sobs and pulled back, to kiss her closed eyes and cheeks, kissing the tears away very tenderly, before he held her firmly to his chest and just waited for her to calm down.

With a loving smile the infatuated man looked at her, when she eventually dared to face him.

Wiping the remaining tears away with his thumbs, he leaned in and kissed her again. A very soft and passionate kiss. His arms still gently rocking her, waiting for her to speak.

"I-I...y-y-you....", she shook her head and wanted to bury her face in the crook of his neck, when Gabriel placed two fingers under her chin and stopped her.

"Talk to me, darling! Tell me, what's wrong?!"

Nathalie chuckled bitterly.

"This is just too easy! I am sure, you will regret this, as soon, as the potion stops working. It certainly still does, just in a different way. What if it makes you say all those things now? What if this is all just another dream? What if...."

He had smashed his lips back onto hers, rolling the crying woman onto her back and took a hold of her wrists, to hold them together above her head with one hand, so he would be able to use the other, slip between her thighs, taking a sharp breath, when he felt the fresh arousal and his very own reaction down below to it.

Sucking nimbly at her areolas, he began to circle her little, sensitive nub, before he guided his member into her core, hearing a short hiss of pain, then the cute little whimper, he had begun to love over those last two days, signaling him, that she liked what he did.

Taking his time, Gabriel moved inside of her, slowly at first, then a little faster, all the time looking into her eyes, watching her every reaction, his hand let go of her wrists, so he could cup her face in both his palms, kissing her over and over again, while keeping their eyes connected until he could feel her move with him, meet him in midair, her whimpers turning into moans, while she arched her back at the beginning of her release.

The aroused man swallowed her scream, when she came and gently bit into her lower lip, making her moan again and her hips jolt up and against his own, to quickly feel his own orgasm and his fluids being spread inside her tight depth once more.

"Will you now believe me, when I tell you, that I love you so very much?", the heavily breathing man hummed and bent down to kiss her again.

Nathalie kissed him back with tears in her eyes, then nodded and whispered:

"I do believe you, but the whole situation still scares the shit out of me!"

Chapter 16: Drained Couples

"Why is that, love? Have you never even thought about children of your own? Or are you afraid, that your body would still be affected from back when you were wearing the broken peacock miraculous? You can tell me, you know!"

She all of a sudden started to sob vigorously, before she told him the complete story of how he had sent her back in time and ordered her, to at least safe herself. How she had only partly obeyed and waited, until she had been able to safe both their lives, though she had even offered to save Emilie's too. When she had finished, she watched him closely, scared, that he would get angry on her, would even tell her to leave his premises right away, but to her astonishment, he didn't.

Not even when she informed him, that she had been able to fix the peacock miraculous. He simply took her into his arms and held her tightly to his chest, then, without a word, he scooted to the edge of the bed and pulled her with him, then lifted her up bridal style and carried her into the bathroom.

"Shower or bath?", Gabriel questioned softly, gazing at her lovingly.

"Bath please! I am too exhausted to stay on my feet longer than necessary!"

He narrowed his eyes and gave her a concerned look. But again the man kept quiet and simply tilted his head to show his consent. Then he sat her down on the toilet lid and went over to the bath tub, to turn on the water at a pleasant temperature.

Nathalie was a nervous wreck by now. His silence scared her, as she wasn't even able to read anything from his face. While they both watched the water fill up the oversized bassin, she only began to feel worse and eventually almost yelled at him:

"Can you just talk to me? I told you something like that and you just take me to have a bath with you? Why? Are you going to drown me?"

He broke into a guffaw. It took him several minutes until he could get it together and by then their bath was already finished.

"Oh my dear Nathalie! You are really something! Even if I sent you there and you still disobeyed me, you did it to safe my life and Adrien's future. I don't care about the peacock miraculous anymore! It killed my wife and it almost killed you! It's about time, that I stop wishing for a magical solution and face reality. Though I never wanted to admit it, I've made my peace with Emilie's death quite some time ago. And that's all thanks to you, my love! So please, just come into that nice and cozy, warm water with me, so we both can relax for some time, okay? I am very certain, once our son and his girlfriend come to their senses too, they will be very much drained themselves and probably come here to rest, before the girl's parents notice, what they did over the last two days. They were already lucky, that they weren't home! I'm not mad at you, if I am feeling anything about the things you told me, then it's happiness and I love you even more for trying to protect us all. And now come!", he soothingly spoke to then hold out both hands and pull her to her feet.

Sliding his hands around her from behind, the very moment they had sat down in the huge tub, Gabriel sitting at her back, he gently stroked along her flat and well toned stomach.

"I can't wait, to see your belly grow, darling!", he rasped into her ear, making her shudder.

"Please don't! I still need some time to get used to the thought, Gabriel!", she begged, making him smile.

"Well, my love, let me ask you again: what is it, you're so very much scared of?"

"I am thirty seven years old, Gabriel. I have never even tried to get pregnant before and as far as I know, from the age of thirty, it's getting more complicated with every year that passes by. So what if something was about to happen? What if the baby would have any deficits? What if I wasn't healthy enough to make it until the very end and the child would have to be delivered early, because of me being a failure?", she sobbed.

The designer tightened his grip around her, pulled her stronger to his chest, then whispered:

"First of all, stop thinking of the worst! Second, we're in Paris, there are thousands of specialists, hospitals, private practices and whatever you might need! Why don't you just try to relax and just imagine a healthy, beautiful baby, growing inside the womb of the most beautiful, young woman, I have ever laid eyes on? Try to think positive, my dear! And now, why don't you just lean back and relax?"

Nathalie took a deep breath, then nodded.

"I'll try!"

It was later in the afternoon, when Adrien and Marinette arrived at the mansion, both visibly exhausted and both walking as if they were sore.

"I hope, it's okay, if we spend a couple of days here? We don't want Marinette's parents to get angry and as you know anyway.... I mean, we certainly won't even try to, you know for quite some time! Marinette already went up into my room, I just wanted to ask for your permission. Where's father?", Adrien rambled, after he had knocked at the door to Nathalie's room and after her consent, entered.

"He just went into his own bedroom, to get dressed properly. Are you both alright? I almost dread, to ask, what happened. But I have to, because if you and the girl did, well....you know and she got..."

The boy interrupted her quickly:

"We did, though I still feel a little bad for taking advantage, though I couldn't help it, but I at least managed to use the condoms, you gave me back then! Thank you for those, by the way, Nath. They really came in handy!"

She nodded with reddened cheeks.

"Yeah, good thing, you had them!", came Gabriel's voice from behind them, "and I am very proud of you for being able to use them. I....well, that's nothing to discuss with you right now! You look as if you needed quite some sleep too, so go and get your rest. Tell Marinette, she's always welcome! And Adrien?"

"Yes father?", he replied with a beaming smile, after hearing the man talk to him as if he was an adult.

"I am sure, I don't have to ask, but her parents know, that she's spending the night here, right?"

"Yeah, they do! Her father didn't agree, but her mum gave her permission and told Mr Dupain, if he kept acting as old fashioned as he did right now, he would turn into his dad! That made him give in immediately. Luckily we were just talking over the phone, if he had seen us, when we called them..."

He blushed even more and giggled sheepishly.

Gabriel laid an arm around his son's shoulders and grinned.

"I get it, now go and take care of your woman!"

Chapter 17: Denial

"I think, this strange liquid did not fulfill it's purpose after all, Gabriel! I feel totally normal and not in the slightest, as if I had gotten pregnant. It's been a little more than two weeks by now and though my period didn't start yet, I don't feel any different at all!", Nathalie informed him in the evening, after they had just gone to bed and were about to turn off the lights.

The designer though quirked an eyebrow.

"So you usually get up twice at night, to empty your bladder? And those...", he propped himself up on one hand, to hover above her and cup one of her breasts, "...have grown at least one size over those two weeks, because you're still going through puberty or something?", he mused.

"What? I mean, I drank a lot of herbal tea, because you took away my coffee, so..... And my breasts, well, their size also depends on my weight and figure and as I lost a few pounds due to our daily, or should I say nightly, activities, they may just appear larger. But it would be rather kind of you, to not squeeze them so hard!", Nathalie lamented.

Gabriel just scoffed.

!I am barely touching you, love! Now come again with your arguments! I am pretty sure, you're just in denial!"

"B-B-But...."

He shut her up with a kiss, then laid back down and pulled her into his arms.

"Just try to get some sleep now, we can discuss this further in the morning!"

The assistant inhaled deeply, then nodded.

"Fine, but you'll see, that I am right!", she rambled.

Gabriel just pulled her a little tauter and nuzzled his face into the crook of her neck.

"Please, I am really tired and not in the mood for that right now!", she whined.

The man, who was spooning her, chuckled:

"I was just trying to get comfortable, darling. I love you, Nathalie, sleep well!"

"Hm, love you too!", she hummed to soon slip into a deep sleep.

They woke up early in the morning, to the alarm clock on Gabriel's nightstand going off. After that first weekend, they had both moved into his bedroom together and only kept Nathalie's room as library and guest room.

"Urgh", the man groaned grumpily, "why do I have to get up anyway? I am rich, I should only be working, if I wanted to!"

"Just stop lamenting and shut this thing off! I feel as if I haven't slept at all!", Nathalie, who usually was a morning person, scolded him.

Gabriel quickly hit the button on the top with his palm, then bent over his new life partner and wanted to kiss her, when she pushed him back.

"What's wrong, darling?", he asked her with a puzzled face.

"Morning breath!", Nathalie uttered through gritted teeth.

"Oh, uhm, sorry for that, but you didn't complain about that before, my dear!", he said sheepishly and turned around, so he wouldn't breathe at her any longer, when she answered:

"I'm sorry, honey! I never had that issue before, but right now, I would have liked to puke the moment, you came too close. I am so, so sorry for....oh damn it...."

Without speaking any further, she jumped to her feet and rushed into the bathroom, slamming the door shut, her mouth covered with both hands.

Though he felt slightly worried, Gabriel also began to smirk, when he followed her and knelt down beside the woman, who was emptying her stomach contents into the toilet.

After being able to stop and cleaning herself up, they both did their mouth hygiene routine, the still not completely well feeling female suddenly ranting:

"Why are you grinning so dumbly, Gabriel?"

His smile even widened, when he grabbed her carefully around her waist and pulled her closer.

"Because, my love, I am very certain, that you were wrong last night and are indeed a teeny, tiny bit pregnant!"

He chuckled, when he felt her tense and kissed her lips very softly.

"Don't get scared again, Nath. We've talked about that. You know, how I feel about having a baby with you! Just stop doubting my feelings! And stop thinking about the things, which might go wrong! Let's just try to be happy about it, both of us, yeah?", he cooed, then kissed the anxious woman again.

She sighed, when she felt his lips on her own and kissed him back eagerly.

"It's still scaring me a lot, Gabriel! What if we screw up everything?", sighing again, Nathalie leaned her head trustfully against his shoulder.

"Why don't we just get one of those home tests and if that is positive, I'll take you to a doctor to have everything checked and examined, that could possibly happen, alright? Just try to be happy and look forward to becoming a mum for the second time. Don't give me that look, you know, what I mean!", the man soothingly hummed into her ear.

"O-Okay!", she stammered.

After they had changed into their usual attire, Gabriel took a firm hold around Nathalie's waist, guiding her down the stairs and into the kitchen, to then have her take a seat on one of the stools, while he started to make breakfast for them all, asking:

"What would the two of you like to eat?"

She shrugged and was about to stand up again, replying, "I will go and ask Adrien, when I wake im up", to be stopped by the caring man, telling her:

"I will do that myself, I was asking, what you and our baby would like to eat!"

He smirked mischievously, when she tossed a napkin after him.

"Would you please stop doing that? I feel nervous enough as it is already!"

"Why would you be nervous, Nath?", Adrien asked with a yawn, as he and Marinette entered the kitchen too, "good morning, to you two, by the way!"

"Three!", Gabriel corrected him, making the younger couple gasp.

"G-Gabriel!", Nathalie shouted, then took a deep breath and muttered, "we don't really know that yet, do we?"

The designer sighed and nodded, but Adrien and Marinette were instantaneously excited and started questioning:

"So, father, you think, you and Nath are going to have a baby? That would be so great!"

He had grabbed the assistant's hand as he spoke and squeezed it gently, making her start to tremble, while a few tears slipped her eyes and ran down her cheeks.

Trying to not let anyone see, she quickly turned away, not aware, that she was now facing Gabriel, who rushed towards her and hugged her tightly.

"So you still don't believe it?", he mocked her tenderly, making her cry even harder and sob into his chest.

It was the teenage girl, who asked the, to all of them most important, question:

"Well, wouldn't you be happy, if you were having a baby? I mean, I am really glad, that Adrien had so very much control over himself, that we could avoid that, but we're only seventeen. You are both adults and obviously madly in love, so what's the problem?"

Nathalie looked at her with a kind smile.

"I am not crying, because I don't want to be, Marinette. It was just.....", she turned to Adrien now, "...you reacted too sweet and that just...."

She started to sob again, to which both teenagers looked really concerned, while Gabriel smiled and whispered:

"Don't worry, children! It's just the new hormonal situation, that's making Nath cry. We were just about to decide, what to eat today and afterwards we wanted to go and get one of these home pregnancy tests to eventually get some clarity. So, anything, you'd prefer to eat?"

"I'll have, what all of you are having, but maybe Nathalie would come and have a little girl talk with me? I promise, we'll be back in about five minutes!", the young woman gushed out, offering her hand to the older one.

Nathalie nodded and let go of Gabriel, to peck his lips shortly and then grab the girls hand.

Marinette pulled her towards Adrien's room, then searched in her backpack for a moment, to hand her a little box, she had pulled out of it.

The assistant gasped.

"Why do you have this? Are you...?"

The half Chinese shook her head.

"I bought it just in case one of the condoms wouldn't have done it's job. But as I already started my period...."

She blushed deeply, as she told the older female that.

Nathalie smiled kindly and vanished into Adrien's bathroom.

"I'll go and send Gabriel to you, while you do, what you have to do, okay?"

"Okay!", echoed the shaking voice from the tiled room.

Chapter 18: Think Positive

Nathalie heard a gentle knock on the door to Adrien's bathroom, only a few minutes after Marinette had left her. As she had already managed to pee on the tip of the test and had put the cap back on, to then place it on the side of the bath tub, she quickly muttered:

"Just come in!"

Gabriel pushed the door carefully open and entered to take a short glimpse at the woman he loved, before he quickly pulled her shaking figure into his arms.

"Nervous?", he teasingly asked.

Nathalie scoffed, then nodded.

"Of course I am. But I eventually reached a point, where I am nervous, because I want it to be positive. So, I am trying to think that way too. It's just, you know...."

"I understand", he cooed, then wondered, "how much longer do we have to wait?"

The assistant shortly gazed at her phone, then gasped and said:

"Actually, the time is already up! So we could have a look and see, what it says!"

Gabriel beamed at her widely now, as he pleaded:

"Do you want to look yourself or do you allow me?"

"Let's do it together, yeah?"

He instantaneously agreed. So after the trembling woman had picked it up, she took a deep breath and turned it around, so they both would be able to see.

"Wow!", was all Nathalie could get out, before she was entangled into a passionate kiss by the overwhelmed man. And really, tears were running down his cheeks, when he smashed his lips onto hers, his hands sliding around her and holding her taut to his chest.

"Gabriel, please, let me breathe!", she laughed a moment later, when she pulled back and faced him again.

"Sorry, my love! I was just so incredibly happy!", he hummed, while he loosened his grip around her a little bit. "I love you so much and I can't wait for this baby to be born!"

And then he simply smashed his lips onto hers and kissed her ever so passionately.

When the woman began to deepen that kiss, he pulled back, saying:

"Stop it! First of all, you need to eat and second, I am very certain, that those two downstairs, who are cooking breakfast by the way, can't wait to get an answer to their most important question!"

Nathalie inhaled deeply, then agreed:

"Yeah, you're probably right. I just....", she sighed and leaned her forehead against his chest.

Chuckling the man kissed the top of her head while laying both arms around her.

"Let's just go tell them, okay mummy?"

She gasped and looked up, her cheeks reddening, but with a blissful smile.

"You're making me feel flustered and weird, but I also love the sound of it. Can I tell Adrien, please?"

"Of course you can! He'll be so happy!"

Interlinking their hands, they slowly walked down the marble staircase, Gabriel overprotectively watching each of her steps.

"You are aware, that I am perfectly capable of walking, right?", the amused assistant teased him.

"Well, after all you told me and after how bad you felt, before you stopped using the broken miraculous, barely able to stay on your feet, I am just making sure, that nothing is going to happen to the woman I love and who is carrying the prove for our love!", he stated sternly.

When they entered the kitchen, the teenagers looked up at them immediately. Taking a deep breath, Nathalie walked straight to Adrien and looked down at him, as he was still a little smaller than her, softly telling him:

"Well, Adrien, it seems as if you were about to become a big brother rather soon!"

The young man began to smile widely, asking right away:

"Really? That's amazing! Can I hug you? Or would that be bad for the baby?"

Gabriel, who was still holding her hand, answered for her:

"You won't do anything to the baby, son. But be careful anyway, because....well...."

He looked at Nathalie and then down at her breasts, blushing slightly at the thought of explaining to the boy, that her breasts were already hurting.

The pregnant woman though smiled at both and said:

"It's nothing to feel embarrassed, Gabriel! What your father was too flustered to tell you is, that my breasts are hurting because of being pregnant and that's why it would be very kind, if you didn't hug me too strongly! But despite that, I would really like a hug!"

She opened her arms for him and, though his cheeks had turned red as were his father's, he gave her a very light embrace, yet he nuzzled his face into the crook of her neck, s he had done with his parents and her, when he was still small.

By doing that, he made the woman smile and cry at once.

"I love you very much, Nathalie!", the boy cooed and she beamed even wider, as she responded:

"I love you too, Adrien!"

Marinette now asked rather shyly:

"Would you be okay, if I hugged you too? I know, we barely know each other, but.....", she paused, then squealed, "I am just so happy for you!!!"

The usually stoical woman now held out one arm, the other was still clinging to the teenager, she had loved like her own son, since he was a baby, and pulled the girl into the embrace, so they were now al three hugging.

Gabriel was watching them, feeling so incredibly happy, better than he had in years.

"Mind if I join you? I really would love to be included into this family group hug!", he pleaded sheepishly after watching them for a moment.

It was his son, who told him:

"Of course, Dad! That would be the best! I can't even remember, when I felt this happy. I thought, the day Marinette and I got finally together would have been that day, but today is even better than that. I hope, you aren't mad at me, Marinette!"

He looked anxiously at his girlfriend, who just beamed at him.

"I would never, Adrien, and you really should know that! I am happy for you and I am really looking forward to meet your little brother or sister. I even offer my spare time for babysitting, if you would like some time for yourself sometimes!"

She looked at Nathalie and Gabriel who both gave her an encouraging nod.

Chapter 19: Overwhelmed

It was another three weeks later and Gabriel was pacing their bedroom, calling out to his beloved woman for the certainly third time:

"Come on, darling, we don't want to be late for your appointment!"

Sticking her head through the bathroom door, Nathalie ranted:

"There is still like two hours time, until we have to be there! Now let me finish shaving and taking a shower and then I will get dressed and we can leave, OKAY?"

He smiled at her sheepishly and explained for the like eighth time on this day:

"Sorry, love, I am just so excited and nervous and happy and can't wait to have a first look at our little miracle!"

Nathalie scoffed.

"There isn't anything miracle-like to getting pregnant, because some akumatized person poured his sick potion over me!", she lamented. Gabriel just ignored her outburst, knowing fair well, that it were her hormones, causing it. Instead he teased her, taking the risk of getting her even more angry at him, but at least she wouldn't be crying, if she was yelling. He could face her rage, but he couldn't see her cry and she had done that a lot since they had found out about her being pregnant.

"Actually, my love, as I used a miraculous, to akumatize that man, it is very miracle-like! And I don't care, how our little baby came to existence, to me it's our little miracle and I won't change my mind about that!"

She groaned and slammed the door shut.

With a grin Gabriel walked towards it and gently pushed it open again, seeing Nathalie sitting on the very edge of the toilet lid, holding a mirror under her intimates.

"What are you doing?", he asked her with amusement, earning a frown and a snort.

"What does it look like, Gabriel? I am checking my ladyparts, to see, if I got all the hair down there. I would feel very flustered, if I didn't shave properly!"

Now the designer shook his head and grinned at her, then pulled her to her feet and hummed:

"Come with me!"

"Gabriel, I need to get ready now!", she rambled, but he dragged her with him and made her lie down on their bed.

"Let me check!", he simply suggested and despite feeling kinda exposed, she agreed.

"Fine, thank you!", Nathalie gave in, yet still a little moody.

He gave her a loving glare, then gently grabbed each of her knees with one hand and parted her legs.

When he just kept watching, without saying a word, she impatiently asked him:

"Well? Did I miss any? Gabriel, could you please talk to me?"

He flinched and looked at her face, then wondered with a wiggle of his eyebrows:

"So, uhm, two hours until we have to be at the doctor's office! How about..."

While he spoke, he ever so softly let his fingertips brush along her thighs and up to her freshly shaved intimates, causing her pelvis to flick the very second, he made a slight contact to her clit.

"Gabriel!", the moan slipped her throat unconsciously, before she stammered, "we c-can't do that....I ...I ....he, what if he.....if he finds your.... oh God, yes!"

"Relax, love, I wasn't planning on that, I just wanted to spoil you a little with my new found talent!", he gave back hoarsely and licked over his lips to prove his point, while his thumb was gently circling her little nerve bundle.

"G-Gabriel, please s-s-stop! I love wh-what you're doing, b-but...please, I would think all the time, that the doctor would somehow be able to see and....!", she begged and had already begun to sob.

The caring man quickly scooted upwards and entangled her into a loving kiss.

"I'm sorry, my dear, I didn't mean to upset you so much!", he then meekly whispered. "How about I promise to make it up to you tonight? Whatever you would like to do, I will try my best to please you and spoil you for hours!"

For some reason, that made her cry even harder.

"Hey, Nathalie, my sweet, beautiful Nathalie! Please don't cry, love. Just tell me, what I can do? I just said, whatever you wish for!"

Burying her face in the crook of his neck, she cried for several minutes, before she could calm down again. Looking into Gabriel's eyes, she finally admitted:

"I know, I am totally unpredictable right now, but....", Nathalie took a deep breath, "I would have loved to, you know, sleep with you, cum with you, like we did last night in the kitchen. But it feels wrong and makes me feel shame though that's nothing to be ashamed for and that made me first angry and then sad and....!"

She sighed and looked into his greyish-blue eyes.

The designer smiled at her lovingly and hummed:

"I get it! Your emotions are going totally nuts! And I know what you were trying to say! If the doctor in any way mentioned the slightest thing, that could hint to the both of us, having had sexual intercourse before, it would ruin it for quite a while, right?"

Nathalie beamed at him and nodded.

"Thank you for being so understanding. I feel so many things at the same time lately, that I don't know, how to handle them at all. It's overwhelming. And I hate, that you are always the one, having to endure my outbursts. I am so, so, so, so sorry for that. I love you so much Gabriel!"

"And I love you, my Nathalie. And now, get into that shower and rinse the remaining hair off. You shaved well, but there are still a couple of loose ones on your skin. Oh and, before I forget to tell you...", he paused and smirked lecherously, "your cunt is absolutely gorgeous!"

She gasped and slapped his upper arm.

"Gabriel! Language! What if the kids hear you talk like that?"

He rolled onto his back in a guffaw, after telling her:

"Seriously, darling, those two have discovered the sweet pleasures of sexual intimacy like four weeks ago! Believe me, they use that language too!"

The assistant shook her head violently.

"Please, Gabriel! He will always be the little, blond boy in my eyes! It's so wrong, to even think of him, using words like that!"

With a grin he scooted down and pecked her mount of venus, then hummed:

"Fine, your ladyparts look absolutely gorgeous! How's that?"

"Better!", she agreed.

"Good, now tell me, do you like the look of my..."

"GABRIEL!"

Chapter 20: Denouement

A/N: Here's a little Xmas gift for all of you!

"Don't be amused, it's just the news!", a visibly pale Nadja Chamack spoke enervatetly into her microphone. "After almost eight weeks, the mystery seems to come to a solution. People have been wondering, what could have caused the recent increase of pregnancies amongst Paris' women. Some of them even having given themselves to complete strangers, their agonizing urge to 'mate' and procreate out of any control. Luckily for now, no word has come to us about any violations during these approximately fourty-eight hours. Though for a long time, nobody could tell, how so many women could have come into contact with a certain liquid, an akumatized man had created and spilled, to make his wife, who was about to separate from him, come back and eventually fulfill her deepest desire, meaning having a child of their own, eventually the riddle has been solved.

Not only have we been informed, that even Ladybug, in her civil self, was affected, yet was lucky, that her partner managed to use some kind of protection, despite him being under control of his primal urges too. But our very own heroine was the one, who finally could fathom the cause for, according to latest countings, the impregnated 87 women being where they are now!"

She gazed down shortly, then focused back on the camera in front of her.

"Having been under the influence of said 'potion' as well, and suffering a little under the consequences, I now give the word to Ladybug and ChatNoir!"

With those words, she shoved the microphone into a red with black polka dots gloved hand and covered her mouth with her own, running out of the picture as fast as she could.

ChatNoir, who wore a headset with a transmitter, so he could move around freely, watched her with a compassionate smile, as she ran off.

"It seems, as if Nadja suffers from more than a bit of morning sickness. What about you, M'lady? How did you come into contact and what's even more important, why were so many females all of a sudden affected, despite said villain only hitting two woman, who stood right in front of him?", the young hero now questioned his partner, barely managing to not grin, as he of course already knew.

"Well, Kitty, after we had to duck, to 'not' get covered in this stuff, as you certainly remember, my lucky charm got destroyed by your cataclysm and therefor, I couldn't reverse the damage, which had already been done. Meaning, though Hawkmoth had already called his akuma back, the strange liquid was still everywhere on the pavement and the street. I called off my transformation in an empty sideway, but on my way back, I had a little accident, which I won't describe more specifically, to protect my identity, and though my skin contact was rather short and with only a small amount, I was affected by it too! Good thing, it was just that little of it or my boyfriend wouldn't have managed to keep so controlled!", Ladybug gushed out to hide her nervousness.

"Ooooh, boyfriend, LB? Do I know the lucky guy?", ChatNoir asked her teasingly, earning a very angry glare.

"Don't tempt your 'luck', Kittycat!", she gave back smugly, he is a very kind and relaxed guy, but I could still consider, to take you to the vet and have you neutered!"

He gulped and quietly apologized.

Now the red superheroine turned her attention back to the audience and started to explain:

"Well, to not leave you all in the dark any longer, Chat and I have spend hours, watching all the material from every available surveillance and traffic camera in the contaminated area, until we eventually figured out the culprit!"

"Or rather, the culprits, as there were several! Not only had it rained very lightly that noon, turning the two large puddles, one on the sidewalk, the other in the middle of the street, into a small stream of thinned 'love juice'.....", Ladybug rolled her eyes to that, but this time, he ignored her and finished his report, "....but the cars and bikes and scooters and all the traffic kept driving through it and splattering it all over the passers-by. I am very certain, that there are a couple of female tourists, who are expecting too right now, just that they haven't been added to the numbers. Because, after seeing the video material, we can tell, that there were by far more ladies, walking through that unpleasant shower, than maybe a hundred!"

He smiled awkwardly after giving out that delicate information and then Ladybug spoke again, asking the people, to spread the news and that not only the mayor of Paris, but as well the well known fashion designer, Gabriel Agreste were offering financial support for those, who got into some predicament due to the unplanned pregnancies.

Of course now, a lot of old discussions came up again, considering the pros and cons of having an abortion, especially in the twisted situation, those mostly very young women were in right now. But the superhero couple had an answer to that ready as well. It was the female, who raised her voice again and said very calmly and clearly:

"Before you are all getting into any arguments about that, I can tell you, that each of the pregnant ladies, we are aware of, has been offered that opportunity, yet they all, I repeat, all decided to have their baby!"

The audience in the TV studio started to applaud to that, only a couple of very quiet screams could be heard, saying things like:

"That's completely against every facet of feminism, it's also against the human right to decide for their own and over their own body!"

Another small group was holding up signs, saying the whole situation would be undermining the rights of non straight women, who had been forced by said substance, to mate with men, probably against their will.

But then a young, short haired, blond woman stood up and gave Ladybug a pleading look. Immediately recognizing her classmate Rose, holding hands with her girlfriend Juleka, and nodded towards her, holding the microphone into her direction.

"Thank you, Ladybug!", the small, fragile looking girl cooed with her soft and high pitched voice. "Those, who know me, also know the love of my life and daughter of Jagged Stone, Juleka Couffaine!"

The crowd cheered and stood up from their chairs to give the young females a standing ovation.

Rose didn't react at all to that and continued, now using her singing voice, to be heard unto the very last seat:

"We were in the situation, or rather, I was, to have come into contact with this fluid and I was affected strongly. But, my wonderful girlfriend here, not only took care of me, kept me safe and secure, to, in the very few lucid moments...", an understanding susurration went through the audience at her words and she noticed, that there were mainly females some of them accompanied by terrified looking men, under the listeners, "....as I was saying, in those rare, clear moments, we tried to logically discuss the consequences and the risks to our actual situation and came to the agreement, that despite our young age, we would like to take said risk. Well, to make it short, Juleka's twin brother, who is always kind and calm and controlled, except when it comes to a certain girl, he will most likely always love a little bit, well, he helped us out a little, meaning he donate some of his own 'substance' and as I knew, what my beloved girl was about to do, I was completely and fully pleased with her, getting me pregnant. So I can promise you, that I was never once over those two days, forced to do anything, I wouldn't have wanted to do. And I am very sure, that other women, who usually wouldn't become intimate with any male, found similar ways, to avoid the situation!"

"To be completely honest!", Ladybug now addressed the befriended couple, "we were wondering back then, if we asked one of you to stay with me, as long as this state lasted and then my boyfriend said, you would most likely be under the influence of the potion or at least my pheromones too. Though I instantly told him, that it was very homophobic to say something like that, we're still a little curious.... Juleka, did you get affected by all the scent and other things, Rose was radiating?"

"A little!", the young woman, with the purple died tips of her long hair muttered, making her partner, who had been the only one to understand her words, break into a guffaw.

"Okay, a lot!", the bassist said loud and clear, making the heroic couple grin.

"I told you!", ChatNoir said mockingly, causing two things to happen at once.

The first was not only the audience, but also the couple beside them to gasp in utter shock and cheerfulness.

The second was, Ladybug giving the black cat a look, that literally, yet without using words said:

"Really? Did you have to blurt that out without thinking?"

She didn't say it though. She just groaned, facepalmed and then grabbed his hand and spoke for the last time on that afternoon:

"Well, now the cat is, as we say, out of the bag! Yes, we are dating! And no, we won't speak about it, nor will we give any interviews according our relationship. We are going back to our homes right now, without anybody knowing our true identity, not even ourselves. Of each other, I mean, of course, I know, who I am!"

That made the Parisians laugh.

"Come on, Kitty, before you accidentally call off your transformation too! That would be, well, you know!"

"As you wish, M'lady!", he replied with a deep bow and followed her out through the window, by using his stick to balance on the tip, while his partner was swinging from rooftop to rooftop with her yoyo.

Back at the bakery and safely inside the walls of Marinette's room, they detransformed. to hear the boy's phone ring just a moment later.

His father scolded him:

"That was pretty close, Adrien! You had almost revealed your identity. It's bad enough, that we know and by that endanger us all. At least it could in the future, as all miraculous' are back where they belong right now, meaning with the little old guardian. But you should be way more careful, with the things you tell to anyone!"

"I'm sorry, dad! And to soothe you both, I can hear Nathalie breathe right beside you, this was the last time, we had to be Ladybug and ChatNoir, as there is no actual threat and Master Fu will take the box with all miraculous' and kwamis back to the temple, which reappeared thanks to Ladybug 'and' Mayura!"

"Adrien, don't!", he heard his father's assistant and mother to himself tell him off and chuckled.

"But it's true, Nath! Even if it wasn't your intention, by reviving feast you gave us the chance, to retrieve the staff, it was controlled by and after cleansing the amok and calling for her little, magical Ladybugs, to bring everything back in order, the monks and all their surroundings appeared out of nowhere as it seemed. Mayura was the one, who made their return and rescue even possible. Neither of us would have been able to reactivate the amok and on top of that control that insatiable creature!"

Marinette had listened to the conversation and grabbed his phone just in that moment, exclaiming cheerily:

"He's right, Miss Sancoeur, I mean, Miss Natha..., damn it, I wanted to say Nathalie! Sorry for the cussing! But it really was you, who helped defeat Feast and relieve Master Fu from his self loathing and his guilt. And you also showed us, by creating the copy of Ladybug, that a Sentimonster can as well be a human, like the rest of us!"

"Exactly!", Adrien agreed a little too loud. After ending the call and promising to be at the mansion soon, the boy kept staring at his girlfriend pensively, while he anxiously moved his weight from one leg to the other, his fingers kept fidgeting with the hem of his white shirt.

"What's up, Adrien?", Marinette tried to make him tell her, when she saw that his eyes were glistening with tears.

"I-I was just th-thinking, c-can a Sentimonster really be a h-human being, like everyone else? Would y-you st-still be able t-to love s-someone, after f-f-f-finding out about th-th-that?"

The young woman let out the breath, she had been holding. She even made the expression to be relieved.

"Damn it, Adrien! I thought, you were breaking up with me, the way you looked at me!", she now approached him and gently cupped his face, "of course I love you still! I've figured it out quite some time ago and at first, I was shocked, then I asked myself, if that had changed my feelings or anything between us in anyway and my answer was no! So, I can honestly tell you, that there is no difference between you and me, except the obviously visible differences between boys and girls. And your rather well grown proportions!"

She gazed him up and down with a lecherous grin.

The agitated model let himself drop to his knees and hugged her legs, then sobbed vigorously.

"I think, I've never before been more relieved, than I am today, Marinette!", he eventually confessed.

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!