One Sided Benefits
Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at https://archiveofourown.org/works/44284350.

Rating:	Explicit
Archive Warning:	Creator Chose Not To Use Archive Warnings
Fandoms:	Miraculous Ladybug, GabeNath - Fandom
Relationships:	Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir/Marinette Dupain-Cheng | Ladybug, Gabriel Agreste/Nathalie Sancoeur, Emilie Agreste/Gabriel Agreste, Sabine Cheng/Tom Dupain, Marinette Dupain-Cheng | Ladybug & Tom Dupain, Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir & Tom Dupain, Nadja Chamack & Sabine Cheng, Manon Chamack & Marinette Dupain-Cheng | Ladybug, Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir & Gabriel Agreste & Nathalie Sancoeur, Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir & Emilie Agreste
Characters:	Nathalie Sancoeur/Agreste, Gabriel Agreste, Adrien Agreste | Chat Noir, Marinette Dupain-Cheng | Ladybug, Le Gorille | Adrien Agreste's Bodyguard, Sabine Cheng, Tom Dupain, Alya Césaire, Nino Lahiffe, Nadja Chamack, Manon Chamack, Ms. Mendeleiev (Miraculous Ladybug)
Additional Tags:	gabenath, gabenathship, adrienette - Freeform, gabriel x nathalie Freeform, Identity Reveal, one sided benefits
Language:	English
Stats:	Published: 2023-01-15 Completed: 2023-09-10 Words: 83,408 Chapters: 37/37

One Sided Benefits

by inchen1100101

Summary

Gabriel only uses Nathalie for his pleasure. Will he come around or will he destroy her completely?

Characters belong to Thomas Astruc/Zag Entertainment, so do the previous events from the show, but the story itself came to life in my very own brain...

Chapter 1: Of Course Sir

Nathalie Sancoeur, personal assistant of Gabriel Agreste, was sitting at her desk in the corner of his office, when he suddenly called her name.

"Nathalie!"

"Yes, Sir?", she immediately replied and looked up from her work to meet his gaze.

"Come over here!", he ordered and of course she did as she was told and got too her feet to walk towards his work station. There she stood in front of him, waiting for his orders.

He looked down at her and said snidely:

"Take off your blazer!"

Nathalie narrowed her eyes but obliged.

"Now your shirt", he demanded sternly.

"Sir, I...", she began, but he interrupted her:

"If you want to keep your job, you don't object me, Nathalie!"

She swallowed hard, as she mumbled:

"Of course, Sir and with trembling fingers pulled her turtleneck over her head.

He looked her up and down with a judgemental look, then nodded contently.

"This will do!", Gabriel hummed and took a step towards his assistant, making her back away instantly.

He reached for her upper arms with both his hands and stopped her.

"You're beautiful", he said hoarsely as he let go with one hand and cupped her left breast. "And you feel good. I won't hurt you, Nathalie, so for fuck's sake, stop staring at me. I know that you want me too! I have both miraculous now, so no need to deny it!"

"N-N-Not l-like that!", she stuttered.

"Well, that's all you can get from a married man. So what's your answer, Nathalie?"

She inhaled deeply, then bent her head barely noticeable in agreement.

This wasn't what she wanted or what she had been dreaming of, but she loved and coveted him so much, that she couldn't reject him either.

Seeing her agree, he callously grabbed both of her breasts and began to squeeze them. And beside the slight pain, she liked, what he did and soon she closed her eyes and pressed herself firmer against his hands, making him grin.

"I knew, you liked it hard", Gabriel rasped into her ear, while he took her hand and placed it on his crotch. "I like it hard too, that's the one thing, Emilie can't....", he gulped, then corrected himself, "couldn't.....well.....fulfil my urges with!"

Her eyes still closed, she took a firm hold of his huge, hardened member and started to stroke up and down, hearing him moan into the crook of her neck a moment later.

"Oh God, yes, go stronger Nathalie", he groaned and pulled back a little, to open her bra and instantly start to savagely suck on her breasts.

His hands grabbed her buttocks and pulled her taut against him, his fingers digging deeply into the flesh, leaving red marks.

"Take off the rest of your clothes!", he ordered now.

While Nathalie did, as he told her, he watched her doing that. Then he told her, to undress him, slowly.

Closing his eyes, he waited until she was pulling his underwear down, then said without any emotion, just as if he was asking for a cup of coffee:

"Now blow me!"

She didn't dare to object and took him into her mouth. Nathalie started slowly, carefully sucking at the tip of his penis, when he took a firm hold of her head and thrusted his length deep into her throat, making her gag. She tried to lay her hands onto his hips, to make him move slower, but he just shook his head and let go of her head, to grab her hands. Then he held both her wrists with one hand, while the other opened her bun to then grab her ponytail and hold her in place with it.

The young woman tried her best, to not throw up, tears were brimming her eyes and she could barely breathe. She was close to panicking, when he eventually had mercy and let go of her hair and wrists and lifted her up by grabbing under her arms. But he barely gave her the time to catch some air because he instantly turned her around and bent her over to thrust into her tight core almost violently.

Her cry was a mixture of pleasure and pain, but he didn't care and kept hammering his huge staff into her, soon roaring in pleasure as he poured his fluids into her. He didn't even care, if she enjoyed it too, when he said:

"Get dressed! And then I want you to bring me a cup of coffee and check on Adrien and if he is doing his lessons!"

Nathalie swallowed the lump in her throat and answered:

"Of course, Sir!", then quickly put her clothes back on and rushed out of the room.

In the hallway she finally let the tears fall and buried her face in her hands, while she at the same time collapsed to her knees.

"Nathalie? Are you alright?"

It was Adrien's soft and caring voice, that spoke to her and she quickly wiped away the tears and got back on her feet.

"I-I am f-f-fine A-Adrien!", she tried to convince him, but couldn't hide the sobs. The teenager quickly laid his arms around the woman, who had been like a mother to him, since his own mum had disappeared, and hugged her tightly. He could feel her tremble and noticed, she could barely stay on her feet, so he supportively laid an arm around her waist and helped her walk towards her room.

As soon as Nathalie noticed, where they were going, she tried to stop him.

"Adrien, I am supposed to get your father his coffee. I have to do that now or he'll get angry. I...."

But the boy didn't let her finish.

"You can barely stand, Nathalie. Whatever he made you do, what ever 'he' did, to make you cry, I.....", he swallowed hard, then spoke again:

"I won't let you risk your health again, after you just recovered. Go and get some rest, I will bring him his fucking coffee!"

"Adrien!", she blurted out, "language!"

But the smile she couldn't hide, when she heard him eventually stand up to his father and the concern she saw in his eyes for her, which almost made her cry even more, because she loved that young man as if he was her own, made her scolding rather implausible.

He opened the door to her room and nudged her inside, then walked her to her bed and ordered:

"You lie down, I take care of the rest. Would you like something too?"

Nathalie quickly shook her head, not able to speak right now, because she felt so touched by his vigilance. But she held out her hand to him and as he took it, she pulled him into a tight hug.

"Thank you!", she eventually whispered huskily and pecked his cheek.

Adrien shook his head and reciprocated the small kiss.

"Don't thank me, Nathalie. You've been there for father and me, since mother vanished. It's about time, I can give something back!"

Then he quickly left the room with furious steps, to get his father's beverage and then scold him for making Nathalie cry and have her work so much, that she could barely stand.

When he reached the office ten minutes later, he saw his father in only his pants and shirt, his vest and blazer lying on Nathalie's desk, while the man himself sat in her chair, his face hidden in his palms.

He had entered without knocking and startled the designer, by placing the mug beside him and rant loudly:

"Here's your coffee, father!"

Gabriel jumped to his feet, then yelled at his son:

"Why are you all of a sudden running errands for 'my assistant'? And how dare you, barging into my office like that?"

But Adrien was in such a rage, after seeing the woman he loved like a mother so hurt, that he shouted back at him:

"I found Nathalie crying in front of your sacred office and when she got up, she barely could stay on her feet, so I brought her to her room to get some rest. Whatever you did, to make her like that, you better go and apologize right now. Mother has been gone for more than three years now, so it's time you get a grip and stop acting up like that. Nathalie has been there for you all of the time, so show her at least some respect!"

Without letting his father respond, Adrien stormed out of the room, slamming the door shut and into his own, locking up behind him.

Gabriel stared at the large door and sighed. Maybe he had been a little harsh. But he couldn't allow any feelings to come into his way, to get Emilie back. He had needed this release and, well, knowing about Nathalie's feelings towards him, he had just 'used' her. And he had already felt bad and regretted that before Adrien had scolded him. He stood up and walked towards the door, when his gaze fell onto the cup of coffee and a thought hit him.

When he knocked on his assistant's door a moment later, he was carrying a tray with his own and a second mug, containing a coffee for her.

"Yes!", came her voice very weakly from the middle of the room. Gabriel opened the door and stepped inside, seeing Nathalie's reddened eyes looking towards him. The very moment, she saw, that it was her boss and not Adrien again, she turned her head, so he wouldn't be able to see her tears and quickly wiped her face with the back of her hands.

The designer placed the tray on her nightstand and sat down on the mattress next to her.

"I'm sorry for hurting you. I....I just couldn't hold back after all this time. I didn't mean to....are you in pain? Physically, I mean. I know myself, that it was wrong to abuse your feelings for me, but....", he sighed.

Nathalie shook her head but he could see her body shake from her sobs.

He grabbed her shoulders and turned her around to look at her face.

Then he cupped both her cheeks and wiped away the tears with his thumbs.

Nathalie swallowed hard, then brought up all willpower she had to not stutter and speak in a normal tone, when she told him:

"I can handle you using me, I know you don't feel the way I do. But please don't treat me like an object, while you do!"

That made him angry.

"What do you want me to do? How should I use you, without making you feel, like I am using you? I feel bad enough for even doing something like before, for cheating on my wife, for hurting....you. What could I do other than what I did? Do you want me to kiss you? Here, I can do that!", he yelled and then he painfully grabbed her face again and started to savagely kiss her lips.

Nathalie tried to pull back, tears running down her cheeks again, when she suddenly felt a change in his demeanor and his touch grew tender his kisses became soft. He let go of her face and slowly snaked his hands along her back, pulling her close, his tongue gently caressing her lips. She reacted fast and opened them a little, her own tongue meeting with his in a careful touch, while she boldly interlinked her fingers behind his neck, pulling him towards her, feeling him shake.

She pulled back a little bit to look at him, seeing the bewildered expression on his face.

"Sir, are you al.....", she began, but he didn't let her finish and smashed his lips back on hers.

"It's Gabriel!", he whispered hoarsely, "at least, when we're alone!"

And then he continued to kiss her passionately, his hands sliding under her shirt, tenderly caressing her nipples this time, making her whimper into his mouth very soon.

He broke the kiss and looked at her for a while, her rigid breathing, her closed eyes, her slightly open lips and began to smile blissfully. Then he scolded himself for having thoughts like that and tried to get up but Nathalie held him in place.

"Please don't", she begged, "if I let you use me for your pleasure, then at least let me get something out of it too!"

He stared at her open mouthed. Nathalie seized this moment and pulled him closer again, playfully pecking his lips, while she opened the buttons of his pants and slid her hand inside to take a very soft grip on his beginning erection.

"Obviously", she said with a smirk, "your little friend wants to stay!"

Gabriel couldn't hold back a moan as he felt her touch and quickly grabbed her and rolled her onto her back, his hands pulling up her shirt, while he began to kiss along her stomach and up to her breasts, where he began to grin.

"I didn't even notice, that you haven't put your bra back on!", he hummed and cupped her left areola with his lips, while he used his hand to at the same time rub the other gently between the very tips of his thumb and index finger.

"Oh fuck, that's so good", she exclaimed all of a sudden, making him cover her mouth with his hand.

"Shush. We don't want anyone to hear us, right?", he hissed but continued to caress the porcelain skin of her body.

Nathalie was squirming underneath him by now and let out soft moans, when he slowly kissed further down her stomach while pushing down her pants to then very slowly and very softly let his tongue slide along her clit to her entrance and back up, to at the same time close his lips around the little nub and started to carefully but firmly suck on it, making her let out a faint cry from the sensation he send through her whole body with it.

This time he was way more cautious and tender, taking his time when he entered her depth with his throbbing erection, making her cry out his name into her pillow to muffle it at least a little bit. And he didn't turn her around, so he wouldn't have to face her, he looked directly at her shut eyes and her almost agonizing expression. Only when he felt her pelvis twitch uncontrollably and she dug her fingernails into the skin of his back, he let himself go and quickly found his second release for the day.

Gabriel was about to get up, when she again, took a hold of him, asking with pleading eyes:

"I know, this is just....this....but, please, Gabriel, a last kiss, before you leave?"

He wanted to say no, but her full, pink lips, which were just before his own, were just too tempting and so he leaned in and pressed his own onto them, with the intention to just give her a short peck, but it turned into a prolonged, passionate one like the others before.

"Thank you", Nathalie whispered with glistening eyes, "for not making me feel like your just using me. This meant a lot to me Gabriel!"

He cleared his throat, his voice was cold again, when he answered:

"Don't get used to it, this was an exception. If this will ever happen again, it will be more like the first time, maybe not as vigorous, but...."

He averted his gaze and stood up.

Nathalie grabbed his hand and squeezed it shortly, then muttered with a suffocated tone:

"I understand you, just don't make it too obvious, that I am just your employee!"

He pulled his hand out of her grasp and fled out of her room, while she buried her face in her pillow, again crying, but not as desperate as before. There had been that short moment, when they had connected and that had given her hope. Still she felt used and worn and just wanted to sleep.

Chapter 2: Just Get That Done

When Nathalie had eventually calmed down a little bit, she sat up to go to the bathroom and take a shower. As she did, she noticed the two coffee mugs on her nightstand and couldn't help but smile a little bit. He obviously did care at least a bit about her.

She took a 'very' quick shower then gulped down her own coffee, to then go downstairs and pour his away, to make him a fresh one. She made another for herself, then went back to her desk, placing both mugs on it, telling him:

"I brought you a fresh coffee, Sir, you forgot yours in....well....you forgot to drink it!"

Gabriel looked up shortly from his work, then nodded. Focusing back on the tablet, he was just drawing on, he said coldly:

"I want you to go to a doctor tomorrow and get yourself the morning after pill. And some long term contraceptive. I don't want this to turn into some scandal!"

Nathalie gulped, then replied quietly:

"Of course, Sir, as you wish!"

"Oh and Nathalie?"

"Sir?"

"I don't want any accidents to happen, like forgot to take the pill or something like that, do you understand me?"

Now the assistant scoffed.

"You trust me with something like being Shadowmoth and then you're scared, I would try to betray you by getting pregnant on purpose? I didn't think, you were thinking so low of me!"

He lifted his head again and stared at her, shocked over her sudden boldness. Then a thought came to his mind and he began to grin mischievously.

"Come over here for a moment, Nathalie!", he ordered.

She looked scared, when she hesitantly walked towards him. The smile on his face made her stomach almost turn. But then he did something, she wouldn't have expected. He reached up to his collar and took of the peacock miraculous, to hand it to her.

"Here", he said, "go upstairs into my bedroom and transform. Then wait there for me. And Nathalie, be a little creative with your costume. I want to be able to see some skin and to take it off of you, if you know, what I mean!" Taking a deep breath, she responded:

"Very well, Sir!"

She took the brooch with trembling fingers and went back to her desk, to finish her work, when he called after her:

"I thought, I told you, to go into my bedroom and wait there for me. I want you to be there every night after six o'clock from now on until further notice. I want to be sure, that you are prepared for me, whenever I feel the urge. Of course you will give the miraculous back to me later this evening. I need it with me. But there will be more occasions, when I need you to become Mayura again! Did you understand everything, I said?"

Nathalie swallowed hard, then nodded.

"I did Sir. And to your concern, it isn't a risky time right now, to get pregnant, so I would rather not take the....."

He yelled into her sentence:

"I gave you an order and I don't care, what you want. Just get that done, tomorrow!"

She turned her head, so he wouldn't see her cry, then mumbled a:

"I will, Sir!", before she rushed out of the room and upstairs into his bedroom, where she couldn't hold back the tears any longer and let them flow, while she put on the brooch.

Immediately the little peacock kwami appeared in front of her and whined:

"Miss Nathalie! I missed you so much! Why are you soooooo sad? Are you still hurt because of meeeeee?"

Nathalie shook her head and gave the little bird a weary smile.

"It's not because of you. And I am very sorry, for what I am about to do, but Mr Agreste told me to and I....." her voice broke, ...I-I j-just c-c-can't say no t-t-to him, you know th-th-that, right?"

When Duusu nodded and gave her a bewildered look, she whispered:

"I really am sorry. Duusu, spread my feathers!"

A moment later she was standing there, her skin a blueish colour, her skin tight dress lacked the leggings and ended right at her ladyparts, while it had at the same time a deep cleavage and no sleeves or shoulder parts at all, it was mainly a corsage made of magical fabric.

Like this she sat down on the rim of his bed and waited for him.

It was more than three hours later, when Gabriel eventually entered the room. He locked the door after he did and walked straight to the bed, where Mayura had dozed off by now. He watched her for a while, took in her features, admired her new attire before he whispered barely audibly:

"Nooroo, dark wings rise!"

Seconds later he stood there as Hawkmoth, as he hadn't looked for quite some time, because he usually transformed into Shadowmoth lately. Then he bent over the woman, who had fallen on her back, her feet still on the floor, his upper thigh forcing a way between her legs, to then press firmly against her intimates, while he brushed with both hands along her sides, to eventually place them on her round, soft breast and start to lick along the right side of her neck up to her ear, where he hoarsely breathed:

"Time to wake up, Mayura. I need your help with my.....'akuma'!"

She slowly began to move, her body pressing against the new and pleasant sensation, until she opened her eyes a little bit and noticed, that he too had transformed.

Nathalie couldn't help but like what she saw and felt. He was in a good and well trained shape as himself already, but the muscular appearance of Hawkmoth was something different. His look, his demeanor, even his smell were unique and made her heart speed up, while she started to sweat and could already feel her intimates contract painfully.

Hawkmoth could feel his erection grow quickly as he felt this perfect woman push against him and let out a moan.

"My beautiful Mayura, please touch me!"

She smirked and reached for his crotch, then narrowed her brows.

"You should do something with your suit as well or I won't be able to!", she stated dryly.

"I am far ahead of you, my dear Mayura", he hissed and with a single dextrous move he completely tore his suit open and removed it from his body. "Better?", he then asked with a grin.

She gasped, as he saw his obviously magical enlarged erection and got scared, but the supervillain seemed to be way more empathetic than the man himself, obviously by Nooroo's influence, and he slowly guided her hand towards it and whispered gently into her ear:

"Don't be scared. I am very certain, that the powerful peacock can take, what the dark butterfly got for her!"

Mayura closed both hands around his enormous, throbbing staff and began to rub it up and down in a quick and strong pace, feeling it grow even more, when Hawkmoth tore open her own suit and gently started to caress her breasts.

He took his time, twisting, twirling, bent down to lick, suck and delicately bite into both nipples, before he let his hands wander along her stomach and her hips to then spread her legs and place himself in between.

The blue skinned supervillain was trembling, when she felt him teasing her entrance and looked at him with pleading eyes, begging:

"Don't it's too big, you'll just hurt me!"

But Hawkmoth just laughed viciously and pressed her hands into the mattress, while he forced his length into her, hearing her instantly cry out in pleasure. He got close to her ear with his mouth and uttered seductively:

"See, I told you, that Mayura can take, what I got for her. You're mine, Nathalie and you'll always be. So brace yourself for the things, that are to come, as I am not sure, that I will always let you be Mayura, when I want to fuck you as my villain self!"

And then he thrusted into her violently, her wrists still pinned to the bed, making her release twice before he was even close. Mayura was whimpering in agony now, as she felt sore and worn and wasn't sure, if she could take anymore of this, when he quickened his already supernatural speed once again and made her cum for the third time, while it felt, as if he was exploding inside of her, roaring out his pleasure, while she could only moan weakly, being too exhausted for anything more.

To her surprise and shock, his penis didn't shrink, but stayed at the same size, stayed just as hard, when he ordered:

"Detransform!"

She held her breath for a moment, then shook her head vigorously.

"I-I won't, you'll hurt me! Do you really want to hurt me so badly?", she asked wearily, while tears began to brim her magenta coloured eyes.

"I said, detransform. Don't even try to disobey me, Mayura!"

She was sobbing, when she stammered:

"D-Duusu, f-fall m-my feathers!"

".....wings fall!", was all she heard and realized, he had reversed his own transformation at the same time.

Nathalie let out a sigh of relief, as she felt his still large, but normally sized erection inside.

"I need to finish this the regular way!", he panted and pushed into her painfully sore vagina again, making her cum in an agonizing way once again, while he rode out his own final release.

Then Gabriel just collapsed on top of her, taking a firm hold and rolling them both to their sides, already drifting off to sleep.

Nathalie tried to free herself from his grasp, but he had worn her out far too much and held her in a very tight embrace, so she just gave up and let her tears fall once again.

In the meantime, Duusu was comforting Nooroo, who seemed to be traumatized.

"It's okay, that's nothing to freak out about. Didn't you notice, that he was acting very different to her, when he was under your influence? You should be proud, that you could give Miss Nathalie a little bit of the love, she deserves instead of him just using her for his own pleasure. You gave her back her dignity tonight, Nooroo!"

The little butterfly kwami looked at her with a sad expression and nodded.

"If only he could stop obsessing about his evil, dead wife and see what's in front of him. Deep inside, he already knows, that he loves her. And he knows, that Emilie was no good, for noone. We must find a way to make him see, Duusu!"

The blue peacock agreed.

"You're right, my old friend. And we will find a way, I promise that to you. And now let's go find something to eat, okay?"

Nooroo eventually smiled softly and teased her:

"But you will stay far away from the coffee machine. I can't go through another three days of Duusu on a caffeine rush, are we clear?"

She agreed with a giggle.

"Okay, but can I at least have some decaf? I just love the taste of it!"

Nooroo took her hand and pulled her down to the kitchen, to find something to eat, while Nathalie finally was able to fall asleep too.

Gabriel was the first to wake up in the morning and noticed, that he was holding his assistant in a tight embrace. He quickly let go of her and rushed into the bathroom, getting himself ready for the day, to then return into his bedroom and call loudly:

"Nathalie! It's about time for you to get up and start your day! Or do you think, your tasks will finish on their own?"

The young woman opened her eyes and gave him a puzzled look. Then she noticed, where she was and tried to get to her feet, but groaned in pain and almost fell to the floor. The only things, that prevented her from the fall, were Gabriel's arms capturing her. He sat her back down on the bed and asked:

"Better?"

She nodded with reddened cheeks and looked to the floor to avoid his gaze. He handed her his phone.

"Here", the designer said, "make that appointment and then you stay and rest until you feel able to get up and go there. I'll have the bodyguard wake up Adrien and get him to school. You can do your tasks from this device just as well, right?"

Another nod.

"Gabriel?", she called him, as he was just about to leave the room.

He turned around impatiently and asked:

"Yes, what is it?"

She inhaled deeply, still scared to ask.

"Come on, Nathalie, I don't have all day!"

"I'm sorry to even bother you with it, but would you please help me up and into the bathroom? I can't right now and I really need to go there. You know what, jus forget it, I can manage somehow, it's none of your concern, I...."

Now Gabriel scoffed and shook his head. Then he just picked her up bridal style, as he did so many times, after she had used the broken miraculous and carried her into his own bathroom, placing her on the closed toilet lid.

"Will you be good on your own now?", he asked.

"Y-Yes, thank you, Sir!"

He watched her reddened cheeks for a moment, then bent his head lightly and left the bathroom, leaving her on her own.

Chapter 3: Change Of Heart

When Nathalie left her boss's bathroom about an hour later, she felt a lot better. She was still sore and had trouble walking, because she felt, as if she had just gotten down from a horse after an eight hour ride. She limped into their office and slowly sat down at her desk, groaning as she did.

Gabriel looked up and couldn't hide his smirk, as he himself felt exhausted and his muscles were sore after such a long time without any sexual contact at all. He had a lot of thoughts agonizing him for the last hour and had come to a decision, that Nathalie would most likely welcome.

So he walked over to her now and laid a hand on her shoulder, making her flinch.

He was shocked. Had he really hurt the woman who had been willing to go to her own death for him so badly, that she was scared of him now? Was he starting to become like Emilie? He shook his head vigorously. He adored his wife as he had always done and he would still do everything to please her, even if it meant sacrificing his own and his assistant's life, to get her out of this state. If not for her, he had to do it for Adrien. The boy deserved his mother. At least to him she had been kind and loving. Had she? He wasn't so sure. Yes, his son was sad and mourned for his loss, but he had rather quickly suggested for him and Nathalie to become a thing. Now he tried to talk normally to the anxious woman.

"I'm sorry", he whispered, "I didn't mean to scare you!"

"You just startled me, I was focused on my work and didn't hear you coming!"

He knew she was lying and she knew, that he knew. But Gabriel tried to go with it and make a joke to loosen up the whole damn situation.

"Well, dear, I am pretty sure, you heard me cumming last night. We're alone now, by the way, so if you'd like..."

She tried to make her chair roll away from him, tried to get a little distance between them, but he pulled her back immediately and dragged her to her feet to then place himself in her chair and pulled her down on his lap.

Nathalie groaned again from the pain, she was still experiencing down at her ladyparts.

"That bad?", he asked almost sweetly.

"I'm fine!", she gave back coldly but her voice was shaky.

Gabriel cupped her face firmly.

"Stop lying to me, Nathalie. I can tell, when you're not fine!"

He gently touched her between her legs, making her wince immediately.

"Please Sir, I can't, I....", she begged with pleading eyes.

He just chuckled and moved his hand back to her face, tenderly this time.

"I told you, it's Gabriel, when we're alone!", he scolded to then grin again, "sorry for that, I just couldn't stop myself from teasing you a little! Kiss me!"

"What?"

"Just kiss me, Nathalie. We're all alone in the house right now and I promise you to do nothing you won't ask me for, but I want you to kiss me!"

"B-But w-w-why, S....Gabriel?"

He didn't answer. Instead he started to push her off of his legs, to what she immediately started kissing him.

"Good girl!", he said with a smirk after they parted their lips, "go back upstairs and lie down, take your rest. I'll give you the rest of the day off! I'll join you later!"

"But Si....Gabriel, you told me to go to a doctor, so I...."

He interrupted her with another kiss.

"Oh, I changed my mind about that. In fact, I came to the clue, that people won't suspect me as much, when I officially moved on from my dead wife and started a family with my new one. So don't worry about taking any pills", he kissed her softly again, "better be ready to getting married next week, because that's what we're going to do. Do you understand me?"

She stared at him open mouthed.

"I....this isn't.....I can't.....this is wrong!", she then stammered.

"Is it? Or are you just scared, because I don't love you? What if I promise you, to never let you feel used again? What if I promise you, to treat you the way I would treat Emilie, until I eventually get that forsaken jewel and change the actual reality? Nobody but me would know!"

Nathalie scoffed.

"So you want me to live a borrowed life? With an expiration date already printed on my forehead? You're suggesting to have a child together, whose life will be useless too? Can't you even imagine, that you would love that child just as much as Adrien? What would you do then?"

"Oh come on, as if you would be able to reject an offer like that. I know that you love me. You told me so yourself. Just imagine, a pretty, little girl, with your dark hair and your beautiful eyes, my talent and your intelligence! Wouldn't that be nice?", he questioned in a sweet tone.

The assistant turned her head to look away from him.

"Now you're just being cruel! Can't you even think of how much you just hurt me? Can't you at least let me keep a little dignity? You know I will always do, what you tell me to do, so I will of course, as always, oblige, Sir!", she said coldly, then mumbled so he wouldn't hear her, yet he did anyway: "You could have at least asked!"

He was laughing now.

"Yeah so funny, Sir. WIll this be our marriage? You making fun of how much I love you and our child? Will you tell Emilie about it, when you got her back? How you played happy family with your subordinate assistant?", Nathalie now yelled at him.

Gabriel stopped laughing and grabbed her upper arms violently.

"I wasn't laughing over you, Nathalie. I was laughing, because, that tiny thing was what upset you? Stop acting up, woman and tell me, do you want to become my wife? I just told you, you will never feel used or be treated other than Emilie would have. I am just asking you one more time. Do you want to marry me?", he had started with a thundering voice, but spoke calm and almost loving in the end.

"You already said it, I am not able to reject you. But I take you at your word. Hell knows no fury, than that of a betrayed woman!", she said threateningly.

Now they both laughed and then he kissed her vigorously. While he did, he lifted her up to place her on her desk, yet he pulled down her pants and underpants before he did.

"Oh God Gabriel please don't!", she begged with the terror audible in her voice. But he didn't even react, and got down on his knees.

"Shush, darling, relax and let me try to ease your pain a little, yeah?"

"SIR, please oh fuck....you're really hurting me.....I oh God yes, that's better....I....."

And then he only focused on her pleasure, tenderly caressed her little nub with his lips and tongue. He could feel her immediately tense, when she felt his fingers at her still aching entrance and paused, to get up and kiss her lips again.

"Relax, my dear. I will just carefully put some pressure onto your g-spot, while I continue the way I started!"

And then he gently pushed his middle and ring finger into her depth, bending them upwards to, as he promised, continuously stimulate her inner walls, while he sucked on her clit again, very soon feeling her hips twitch and her pelvis urge against his touch.

"Oh God yes, oh Gabriel, yes you're doing that so good, oh yes you're making me cum.....oh yes, YES, AAAAAHHHHH!"

The aroused man seized the moment and got back to his feet, pulling down his pants, and while she was still on her high, slowly pushed into her core, only seconds later pouring his fluids into her depth.

She had noticed, what he was about to do, but hadn't even tried to stop him. She wanted nothing more, than to feel him inside, feel the twitching of his dick inside her pussy, when he filled her up. She didn't even feel pain right now, as she was just on the highest point of her orgasm and that was all that mattered to her now, as the first slipped into the second release and still she couldn't feel the end of it, when he was already pulling back.

Nathalie quickly wrapped her arms and legs around him and held him inside her.

"Don't!", she moaned hoarsely, "I like it when you're inside me like that! Just let me be one with you a little longer!"

He pulled his head back a little and gazed at her with a bewildered expression then nodded.

"As you wish, my dear!"

And then he gathered all his strength to push into her core for a couple more times, though he was already shrinking, making her moan directly into his mouth as he placed his lips on hers, to kiss her again.

They stayed like that for a couple of minutes, then he retreated and pulled his pants back up. Lifting her up bridal style again after doing so, her carried her upstairs into his bedroom, which would soon be their bedroom and placed her on top of the duvet.

"Now you just stay here and relax and try to let my little guys find their way to their destination!", he said with a wink and gently kissed her belly.

Nathalie couldn't answer, she just stared at him open mouthed and watched hi being all sweet and loving. After he left, she noticed, that she was still wearing the miraculous and called out for her kwami:

"Duusu, where are you?"

"I am right here, Miss Nathalie. And it's soooo romantic, that you're getting married and are trying to make a baby!", the little bird cooed.

"Have you been eavesdropping?", Nathalie asked with a stern tone. Duusu nodded with a sheepish smile, then uttered quickly:

"But I instantly vanished, the very moment, you were doing nasty human procreating things. Though I liked the way you felt last night, when you were transformed, I don't like watching. It's just disgusting. Nooroo is still traumatized, from what he had to do!"

That made Nathalie giggle.

"Tell him, they were both doing well!", she said with a wink, then she got more serious: "Do you think I am doing the right thing? SHould I marry him, even if he doesn't love me?"

Duusu stared at her in disbelief.

"B-But he does love you. Nooroo told me. Oops, I shouldn't have told you that, I promised him. Ohhhhh nooooooo, what am I supposed to doooooooo nooooowwwwww?"

It was the butterfly kwami, who soothed her:

"It's fine, you can't change it anyway. And I told you, he hasn't admitted that to himself yet. But he really does, Miss Nathalie, don't worry, I am sure, he will come around. But please, don't drag me into things like that again, okay?", he pleaded.

"I'll do my best, Nooroo. Now both of you, go and do whatever you like to do. I really could use a little more sleep and rest my legs."

The kwamis quickly hugged her cheeks, each on one side, then vanished through the nearest wall.

When Gabriel returned to his bedroom about two hours later, he saw Nathalie still fast asleep and felt a strange sensation inside of him. He felt happy. Then his miraculous alerted him of a person in the situation to be akumatized and for the first time, since Emilie had fallen into the comatose state, she was in, he hesitated. Then he bent down and reached for the brooch that was still stuck on Nathalie's turtleneck shirt and pulled it off.

He held tit in his hand and stared at it for a while. Then he took off his own miraculous and placed both in the drawer of his nightstand, before he lifted up the blanket, Nathalie had covered herself with and crawled underneath, to cuddle against his new fiancée. He welcoming warmth instantly surrounded him and gave him a feeling of bliss and home and being loved. Especially, when she noticed his presence in her sleep and turned around to lay her arms around him and snuggle her face into the crook of his neck.

"Fuck!", he hissed, then put one arm protectively over her fragile looking body. He couldn't afford to fall for this woman, he had to get Emilie back to whatever cost he had to pay! But maybe, he would never get those miraculous and could live this life with the woman in his arms.

Chapter 4: You're a disappointment

He let her rest the whole next day, after even bringing her breakfast to the bed, so she wouldn't have to get up for it.

"What are you searching for?", Gabriel asked, when he saw Nathalie looking around on the tray, he had carried everything up to his bedroom with.

"Coffee!", she simply replied, making him shake his head and say:

"Bad idea. Coffee and pregnant women are a no go in this household!"

"I told you it's a bad time for that now and I really need my coffee in the morning, Gabriel!"

He sighed and turned around to leave the room again. "I'll get you some. Just promise me to stop living mainly of it from now on, okay?", he demanded.

Nathalie gave him a shy smile as she nodded in agreement.

"Of course Sir", she muttered and lowered her gaze.

A week later she noticed a constant pain in her lower abdomen, a certain sign for her period to start soon. When she told Gabriel, he just shook his head and looked at her angrily:

"You're a disappointment, Nathalie!"

She swallowed hard, then said:

"I told you, that it was the wrong time for getting pregnant. Why are you angry at me now? YOu promised to not let me feel a difference and not let me feel used anymore. Is that how you treated Emilie? Maybe she wanted to escape your marriage by doing what she did!"

His face turned instantly pale. He grabbed her shoulder, his fingers digging into her flesh, yelling:

"Say that again! Do you want to share her fade right away? I did everything for her, but it was never enough!"

He loosened his grip and covered his eyes with one hand, while he let himself fall to his knees.

"It was never enough", he sobbed. "You're a disappointment, that's what she always said to me. I am so sorry Nathalie, I didn't mean to yell at you or get angry. I intend to keep the promise I gave you, so please, forgive me, my dear!"

She couldn't bear to see him cry and took a step forward to kneel down and hug him tightly, pulling his head onto her chest.

"Shush, don't cry, I could never be so mean to you!", she kissed his eyes, then his cheeks to be pulled onto his lap and kissed savagely by him a moment later. Though she felt a little uncomfortable, she reciprocated his kiss, soon straddling him, when Adrien barged into their office, standing there thunderstruck, his mouth open.

"A-Adrien!", Nathalie stammered, making her boss immediately pull back and somehow they both got to their feet.

Gabriel wiped his face with a handkerchief he pulled out of his pocket and cleared his throat to then turn to his son and say:

"As you have already seen us like this, Adrien, Nathalie and I will get married in two days. She already added that to your schedule. Though it was supposed to be a surprise, I hope you can still be happy for us!"

The teenager stared at his father then at Nathalie and shook his head in disbelief.

"Of course I am happy for you, it's just, a little more than a week ago I found Nathalie in front of your office, barely able to stand and crying, and now you're telling me, you're getting married? Nathalie, is he forcing you to do that?"

The assistant looked at her fiancée and shook her head very slowly. Then she looked at the boy and said:

"He apologized after you went to tell him off and we kinda made up", she blushed deeply as she told that to a teenage boy, "and the next day he asked me to marry him and", she looked at Gabriel again, who nodded and said:

"I asked her to marry me and try to start a family. And well, this beautiful, intelligent, warmhearted, lovely woman agreed after a little bit of sweet talking!"

"What did you threaten her with, father?", the young man now asked furiously.

Gabriel had a sudden idea on how to shut up his son immediately and said with a cocky grin:

"I offered her incredibly good sex every night!"

"Oh God, that's nothing you talk to your children about!", Adrien groaned and covered his ears demonstratively to run back into the hallway.

Nathalie couldn't help but giggle over his statement. Then she turned back to face her fiancé and tease him a little bit too:

"You know, that you just made me another promise right? You just promised me incredibly good sex every night. So tell me, are you even up to keep that promise?"

He looked down at her with a mischievous smile then bent down to grab her thighs and place her on her desk once again, where he started to kiss her wildly again.

"Oh darling, you have no idea, what you wish for!"

Nooroo, Duusu...."

"Their miraculous' are both still on your nightstand. And I am really having my period, so, please, wait a couple of days, to keep that promise!", she mocked him.

Gabriel inhaled deeply, then reached between her legs, pressing firmly against her ladyparts.

"Are you sure about that? I don't mind, of you don't. We could go into the shower, if you don't like the stains!"

Nathalie closed her eyes and leaned into his touch, then mumbled into his ear:

"I would love to, but it's the first day of my period and that means, it's a lot, so please. I wouldn't mind in two or three days, but right now, I just feel disgusting!"

He pulled back and gave her an admiring look. He wouldn't have thought, she could speak so openly over things like her period.

The designer gave her a blissful smile then pecked her cheek, saying:

"How about we just cuddle later? Emilie didn't like it, but the girlfriend, I had before, always said, her cramps were getting better, when I laid my hand on their stomach and kept it warm. Would you like that?"

He sheepishly scratched the back of his neck.

His assistant shook her head.

"If I didn't know, that you were only pretending, I would think, you really cared!", she said with a hoarse voice, looking to her feet.

Gabriel lifted her face up by placing two fingers under her chin.

"Look at me. I might not love you the way you deserve it, but believe me, I do care! So tell me, would you like it?", he wondered again.

She nodded with blushing cheeks and gave him a quick peck on his lips to then hide her face in the crook of his neck.

"God, you smell so good, did you change your cologne?", she suddenly blurted out, making him laugh.

"I didn't my dear. Maybe you're in a special hormonal state, while you're.....you know.....having your.....", he mused.

"Yeah, maybe. I must admit, I always feel kinda up for 'it', when I am having my menstruation. And I always thought it's the irony of life. When your feeling the most disgusting as a woman, you're at the same time the most horny of the whole months!", she scoffed, "believe me, being a woman just sucks most of the time!"

He couldn't help it, he had to kiss her again, just for her being the way she was.

"God, I love the way you are right now, woman!", he blurted out, making her instantly gasp and ask:

"What?"

Now he noticed too and blushed deeply, then shrugged and cupped her face again, placing yet another kiss on her lips.

"I said, I love the way you are right now. And I really do. But, as I told you, I don't mind doing it, while, you know, you're having your period, so when you at some point feel able to trust me enough to not feel disgusting anymore, but realize, how incredibly attractive you are all of the time, I am here for you!"

Their wedding was very small and very simple, though Gabriel had asked her, if she wanted a big one with everything that belonged to it. But Nathalie had told him, she would be happy with just the two of them and Adrien of course and he had immediately agreed, as he hated to be with a lot of people anyway. And he really was very sweet at the town hall and later, as they arrived at the mansion. He even carried her inside the house and into their bedroom, where he couldn't wait to get her out of the champagner coloured dress, she was wearing. A very short one with a provocative cleavage, that he had designed and even sewn himself.

He had been staring at her in that dress for the whole time, painfully aware of how tight his pants were becoming over his growing erection.

As he now placed her on his king sized bed to very soon hover above her, both a little tipsy from the champagne they had afterwards, he placed sweet kisses on her neck, her cleavage, between her breasts to then start to open the laces on the front of the corsage which built the upper part of the dress.

"It's almost a pity to open it!", he whispered, "this makes your tits look even hotter than they usually are. And I really love them without anything already!"

Nathalie smiled at him wearily.

"You don't have to say things like that, you know. As you told me, this is just a diversion for the people, to keep them off of your tail. So please, I am aware, of what you promised me, but don't ridicule me by overdoing it!"

She was close to tears now.

"Give me your hand", he growled.

Nathalie immediately followed his order and held out her left to him. He grabbed it and squeezed it violently, as he pulled it to his crotch to place it on his protruding erection.

"Does this feel as if I was lying? Stop being so self conscious all the time. You are an incredibly beautiful and utterly hot woman and since this first time a little more than a week ago, all I can think of, is the next time I can make you mine!", he told her angrily.

"Yeah, sure", Nathalie scoffed.

He got more enraged with every word she said and shouted at her now while he pressed her wrists into the mattress and got very close to her face with his own:

"For fuck's sake, woman, are you trying to make me like this on purpose? Look!", he pointed with his head at the miraculouses on his night stand, "I haven't touched them since! Does this at least make you think?"

She followed his gaze and saw the purple pin and the blue brooch and blurted out:

"Wait, I thought you placed them there in the evening when you go to bed. Are you trying to tell me...."

"That I haven't touched them since thr night I laid next to you and held you in my arms, right!", he finished her sentence with a raspy voice.

"I don't know yet, if I should find that sweet or if you're just cruel again making me hope, you could really love me some day!", she hissed barely audibly.

"Why did you even fall in love with me in the first place?", he now questioned, his arousal completely gone. All he could feel was anger and disappointment.

But Nathalie knew him well and noticed his mood change instantly. She interlinked her hands behind his neck and pulled him down to her.

"I fell for you, because of your devotion, your determination, your will to do whatever it takes for the sake of your family. I know it's stupid to fall in love with a man who is doing all of that for his one true love, but well, we can't choose who we fall for, right?", she said very calmly and in a soft tone. "And well, you're also really hot, especially when you're transformed, so...", she told him with a smile, making him raise his brows.

"Oh, you think I am hot?", he mused and brushed his lips teasingly against hers, pulling back right as she wanted to reciprocate.

Gabriel began to laugh, as he watched her follow him, to turn this into a real kiss until she stared at him angrily and let herself fall back into the pillow.

Only then he bent down to kiss her passionately yet very softly at the same time to whisper into her ear afterwards:

"From this day on, you're truly mine and only mine. And I swear to you, from now on, until I get a hold of those forsaken jewels or until I die, I will be all yours. And I promise you another thing. If you really get pregnant, on the day our first child will be born, I renounce the kwamis and hand the miraculous' over to Ladybug!"

"You...why...I...damn....I love you so much!", she stammered to be kissed by him immediately soon making love to his wife in the most tender way he could.

Chapter 5: I Am Just A Failure

Two months had passed since their wedding and Gabriel was just looking for his wife, when he saw her lying on their bed, crying.

"What's wrong, Nathalie?", he asked coldly, to what she shortly looked up.

She shook her head and buried her face in her cushion again.

He grabbed her shoulders and turned her back to him, making her wince.

"I'm sorry!", he said, "I didn't mean to be so callous. But I demand, that you tell me, why you are crying!"

"I'm scared!", she said without a sound.

"Of what?", Gabriel asked impatiently.

"Y-You. Disappointing you again!", she hissed, then tried to escape his grasp.

"Don't dare to turn away from me, Nathalie. Talk to me. What would I be disappointed of?"

Nathalie shrugged and spat:

"I am just a failure. I can't even get pregnant. And now, you can yell at me again. For not being what you want me to be. For letting you down. For not being able to help you get the woman, you really love, back. For not even having the strength, to keep up with you when we're, you know.....! I am just a disappointment, like you said!"

Then the young woman started to sob heavily, while she still tried to push him away.

But Gabriel just held her in a tight grip, wrapping both his arms around her back and pulled her tauter.

"Stop torturing yourself, love. That it's not happening immediately, doesn't mean, it won't happen at all. Please stop crying. I won't yell at you and I am not mad. Just relax and come here. Why are you saying you're going to disappoint me again? Did your period start again?"
She shook her head.

"No, but I feel the familiar pain and the time is right for it. And well, I feel all moody too, as you can tell, so..."

He kissed her lips softly.

"Have you even considered, that everything you just described, could just as well be pregnancy symptoms? Don't stress yourself so much, Nathalie. And don't give me that look, I know I am an hypocrite, after I really was angry at you right before we got married. But I am trying to be better for you, for both of us, for my son. When would your period be due? I am sure, you're just a little tense right now, so let's just wait until that day, before we start crying. Deal?", the usually so hard and emotionless man cooed.

"Y-Y-Yesterday!", she stuttered.

That made him smirk.

"So you're like this, because.....let me have a guess.....you already are a day late and started to have hope and now you feel like it's about to start and that made you sad, right?", he questioned.

She shrugged again and buried the face in the crook of his neck.

While she did, he started to kiss her neck, then her jawline and further to her lips. His hands quickly made their way under her shirt, making her immediately pull away from him.

"P-Please, not today. I don't feel like....Gabriel please stop!", she begged, but he continued to undress her, his fingers delicately caressing the skin of her back and her sided, opening her bra, to despite her resistance feel her sigh from the relieved feeling, as he did so.

"I just want to make you feel better, dear. Have I really been that bad, that you are scared the moment, I touch you? Please, dear, tell me, did I hurt you?"

Nathalie didn't answer but to him no answer was enough. He let go of her immediately and turned around, covering his eyes with his fingers, while rubbing his temples.

She wasn't sure, if he did that to manipulate her or if he really was remorseful, but she couldn't bear to see him like this either and so she reached for his arm and began to rub it gently, saying:

"Don't, please, it's okay, I'm okay. Just come back, just do whatever you wanted to do. I'm sorry, I was just in a bad mood. Please don't feel bad because of me....I....oh damn it....I didn't mean to reject you.....please, it's making me feel nauseous, if you just sit there and don't talk to me, I....oh God no.....I....."

She jumped to her feet and rushed to the bathroom, too late to open the toilet lid, she just emptied her stomach contents, that consisted mainly of coffee and a few cookies, she had for breakfast, into the sink.

Gabriel had followed her just as fast and was now standing in the door, staring at her, his eyes wide open, his mouth shut and he was breathing flatly through his nose.

"Do something against that smell!", he ordered, then turned around and waited at the rim of the bed for her. When she returned, after rinsing the disgusting stuff away and brushing her teeth, he patted the space next to him.

She sat down reluctantly, to be pulled into his embrace immediately.

"Sorry for before. I just can't stand seeing, hearing or smelling somebody vomit. It makes me want to throw up too! Are you better now?"

He pulled back and cupped her face with both hands, watching her face thoughtfully.

"Maybe you should do a pregnancy test, if you're already puking!", he just stated.

"B-But, I....well, okay Sir, I will!"

That made him laugh out loud.

"Did you really just call me Sir? That wasn't an order, love, it was a suggestion. But I still feel like doing something to make you feel better, so just lay down and relax and enjoy, what I am about to do!", Gabriel demanded.

Nathalie sighed and did as he told her, expecting him to try and make her want to sleep with him already, when he opened the drawer of his night stand and took out a bottle with massage oil.

"I hope you like a little all body massage!", he said with a sheepish grin as he started to put some on his hands and warm it up, before he rubbed it onto her shoulders at first.

His touch was gentle but firm, making the tense woman soon relax and almost drift off to sleep, when he took a hold of her arms and made her turn from her stomach to her back, to tenderly spread the warm fluid over her cleavage, breasts and tummy, then along her legs. She giggled and kicked, when he got to her feet, hitting him directly into his stomach.

That made her sit up quickly and gush out a lot of apologies:

"Oh no I am so, so sorry. I d-d-didn't mean to. Oh fuck, I am such a screw up. Whatever I do, I do completely wrong. Please don't hurt me again!"

The trembling in her voice and the fear in her eyes made him want to punch himself in the face. When had he become someone who made people be afraid of getting hurt by him. Had he gone as far, as hurting her as punishment?

He forced a smile onto his lips despite the pain and knelt down on the bed in front of her.

"Have I really been this bad?", he asked guiltily.

She shook her head but couldn't look into his eyes.

"Nathalie talk to me. What did I do? I know I haven't been hurting you on purpose, so tell me, what are you scared of?"

The young woman lifted her head now and gazed directly into his eyes.

"It's just.....every time, you are in a bad mood....you kinda loose it.
You're.....uhm.....becoming violent and you're hurting me.....like a lot. I am scared.....every time you touch me....because I never know..... if you'll hurt me badly.....or.....just.....the..... usual way!"

"The usual way? So I am hurting you every time? Damn it, Nathalie, why didn't you say something or tell me to stop?", he looked petrified as he questioned that.

The young woman averted her gaze again and mumbled:

"The few times I tried you didn't react at all, so I just wait until it's over!"

He grabbed her shoulders vigorously, making her flinch again. But his grasp wasn't violent, but soft and caring this time and he started to caress her upper arms with his hands, as he began to really cry. Tears were running down his cheeks and he tried to hold back the sobs, when he started to kiss her savagely.

He didn't try to touch her or come on to her, he just kept kissing her, his tears tasting salty on her lips.

It was the woman, who started to unbutton his shirt and pulled it off of him, to then kiss along his chest, his six pack, down to his navel and even a little further.

"Nathalie!", he moaned, "please, you don't have to.....oh Goddamn it yes.....oh fuck.....what are.....oh yeah.....oh my Nathalie.....oh fuck yes!"

She had begun to gently suck on his member, making it harden immediately and gave him an almost painfully pleasuring sensation.

It got worse, when she grabbed his balls with both hands and squeezed them strongly, making him his in pain until she began to massage them with her fingers, letting the little firm, round thingys glitch in their sack, which let his penis grow even larger as she did.

"Oh God woman, you'r'e killing me with that!", he groaned and then took a hold of her upper arms and pulled her up to him, making her straddle his lap, his erection gently rubbing along her intimates, feeling a slight dampness already.

"Wh-what are you doing?", she asked, "I was just about to..."

"Yeah, I know, but I wanted to spoil you today, so I am still only here for making 'you' feel good. Just show me, how you like it, show me how I can please you!"

She was hesitant, when she said:

"I.....would like.....would you mind.....can we go slow this time? And a little softer? I would be nice without the pain for once. Only if....."

He stopped her with a kiss.

"Why didn't you say something before? I really thought, you liked, what we were doing. It's yyour decision, I will do, whatever you want me to do. If you would like to stay up there, I would love it, and if you don't, just tell, me. And there is still the option, to just stop and I will let you get some rest, because you really look tired. Just tell me, dear!"

She didn't tell him, she just took a firm hold of him and rolled herself onto her back, wrapping her legs firmly around him, while she used one hand to guide his erection inside of her.

It cost him a lot of strength, to not thrust into her forcefully, but he managed and began to slowly push his hurtfully throbbing member into her tight core, hearing her whimper as she did and began to smile.

He bent down to kiss her lips, short time later feeling her grab his hand and place it on her little sensitive nub, just hoping, he would figure out himself, what she wanted him to do.

And of course he knew exactly, how he would be able to please her with a soft yet firm pressure on the little bundle of nerves and so he started to rub it with his thumb, while he kept gently and slowly thrusting into her depth, pulling out almost completely, to enter her deeply every time, soon feeling her twitch underneath him, knowing very well, that she was about to cum.

Both their moans were getting as loud by now, that he was glad, his son was at school. He stared down at the woman lovingly, when she panted:

"It's fine, you can go faster, I....ohh yes.....do that again!"

Instead of quickening his pace, he had sped down and pulled his penis out completely to then thrust all of his length into her very slowly, but as deep as he could, while taking a firm hold on her butt and pushing her against his pelvis.

Gabriel smirked and repeated his doing, hearing her cry out in pleasure a moment later.

A sudden idea hit him and he lifted her hips up and knelt on the mattress, while pulling her onto his lap, by that entering her even a little deeper, making her cry out her pleasure into the crook of his neck.

He now pushed her off of him, making her arch her back, supporting her with one hand on the small of her back, while he moved the other to her clit again, massaging it continuously until she was rocking her hips against his own, making him feel as if he was going to explode, when he eventually released.

Chapter 6: Do You Have A Minute?

When Nathalie woke up early the next morning, she noticed, that Gabriel wasn't with her anymore and turned around to look at the time.

"What?", she exclaimed and jumped to her feet, getting into the bathroom immediately.

On the mirror he had written a note with a removable marker:

"I hope you slept well, take your time, Gabriel!"

She smiled with tears brimming her eyes, seeing him being this sweet for once, especially, when she remembered yesterday. Then it hit her. Adrien had still been in school, when he had been looking for her and now it was past ten o'clock in the morning, so she had been sleeping for a whole day!

"Maybe you should do a pregnancy test!", he had told her. And now, that she was standing in front of the mirror, looking at her naked self, she gasped.

Did she just imagine it or had her breasts grown like a lot. Nathalie slowly let her hands brush over them, then down her well toned stomach, to eventually come to a rest on her lower abdomen, cupping it lovingly and with a blissful smile, while she imagined, she really could be having a baby.

Then the thought alone made her become anxious. What if she wouldn't be a good mother, what if she would screw up the child's life? What if Gabriel wouldn't keep his promise to give up the miraculous' when their child was born? What if he....

She couldn't continue her thoughts as she felt her stomach turn and this time managed to open the toilet, yet there was nothing left in her stomach, so she was just gagging for what felt like an eternity, eventually spitting up a little bit of acid, that burned in her throat and mouth. Before she even brushed her teeth and went into the shower, she placed an online order for a pregnancy test and a couple of other things at the nearest drug store, to then text the Gorilla to get there and bring the order right away.

Nathalie had barely finished her morning routine, forcing herself to not use the toilet until the bodyguard would bring the stick to pee on, when she heard the tall, strong man knock on the door and quickly put on a robe and ran to open it and take the small plastic bag from him.

"Thank you!", she said and he nodded with a grunt, then turned around to drive back to school to wait for Adrien.

The young woman opened the package with trembling fingers, then read the instructions very thoroughly, before sitting down on the toilet seat, to eventually feel the relief of emptying her bladder, while trying to hold the stick into the stream, without peeing onto her hand.

Half an hour later, she had gotten dressed and entered their shared office, asking: "Do you have a minute?"

Gabriel, who was just at the phone, looked up shortly and hinted her to wait with his head, when he saw her face and immediately said:

"Can I call you back later? There has been an emergency and I urgently need to take care of that! Thank you, Audrey, hear you later!", then he placed the phone in his pocket and walked to his crying wife.

"Nathalie? Are you alright? What happened? Please woman, talk to me!"

He tried to lay his arms around her, but she took a step back and held out her right hand, which she had been hiding behind her back, showing him the small greyish stick with the two blue lines on it.

He looked at it, then back into her tears covered face, then back down again. A moment later he took it out of her hand and placed it on top of her desk, then tenderly took a hold of her waist and pulled her taut towards him.

Gabriel just held her like this for a moment, before he leaned in to kiss her lips very tenderly. He too had tears in his eyes, when he pulled back again and whispered softly:

"We're really going to have a baby?"

Nathalie nodded with a sob, but smiled at the same time, to be lifted up and whirled around by her husband. She squealed but continued laughing.

After placing her on top of her desk right next to the positive pregnancy test, he bent down and kissed her belly through her shirt.

"Your daddy loves you very much!", he whispered against her skin. "And your mummy love you too. Just as much, as I love her!"

"What?", Nathalie croaked and stared down at him.

Gabriel straightened himself again, then bent down to kiss her. "I love you very much Nathalie. And I don't care about this anymore!"

He took off brooch and pin and placed them in her palm.

"Take them, I don't need them anymore, all I need is you!"

She didn't care about the jewels and just let them fall to the floor, when she threw her arms around his neck and started to kiss him passionately. While still kissing, he reached around her with one arm, the other snaking under her legs, to lift her up bridal style and carry her back upstairs into their bedroom. That's when Nathalie pulled back and whispered with pleading eyes:

"Actually, if you don't mind to change the direction, I really need to eat something, cause the last I had was yesterday and it all went into the sink, so..."

Gabriel stopped immediately and stared at her, shaking his head.

"You will take it slow and get some more rest, because honestly, you look like crap! Sorry, you're of course still very beautiful, but you look sick and it's scaring me. You weren't as pale, when you almost died!"

That made her chuckle and start to lament at the same time:

"It's really sweet of you, but you have no idea, what I would like to eat right now and you won't get me my coffee and I need my coffee, so please, let me down and let me go and get what I want. Sorry, I didn't mean to be rude!", she lowered her gaze, scared of his reaction.

But Gabriel just smirked and continued his way, until he reached the door to their room and carried her inside to place her on the bed. There he tucked her in very caringly and whispered:

"Mind to give me a chance to spoil you and make up for how I treated you those last months? I felt....I still feel guilty towards Emilie and the promise, I gave her, but....I really love you and I am ready to move on and show you how much I do. And I will get you your coffee. Just promise me, to cut back on the caffeine, alright, love?"

Nathalie sighed and nodded.

"Fine, surprise me. But don't forget the coffee!", she ordered, which made him smirk and kiss her passionately again.

"I love it, when you're ordering me around, Nathalie. It's kinda making me....", he wiggled his eyebrows, "but at first, I will take care of your breakfast. I love you!"

He pecked her lips again while squeezing her hand gently.

"I love you too!", she mumbled, making him smile lovingly before he left.

Twenty minutes later he returned, carrying a large tray with different sorts of buns, croissants, brioche and even a few macarons and eclairs, several kinds of jam, nougat creme, honey, cheese, butter, sausage and pate. In addition to that, he had placed two mugs with coffee, a small pot with warm milk, another with cream and a bowl with sugar cubes on it, so they could both have their breakfast in bed together. He now placed everything next to Nathalie on the nightstand and asked her sweetly:

"What may I make for you, my dear?"

Swallowing heavily, with tears in her eyes, she whispered:

"As I have been throwing up this morning again, I would like to start carefully with a dry piece of brioche, but I would love to have a taste of everything, because you took such a great effort and did this so beautifully. Thank you. And please give me some coffee, I can barely keep my eyes open!"

He nodded and asked:

"Cream or milk? Because I won't let you have it pure and as much as usual. You're allowed one mug, if it's half milk or cream, I'll let you have two. And don't give me that look. It's the official recommendation on the most popular pregnancy blogs!"

"What, denying your wife her most important drink of the day?", she scoffed, making him laugh compassionately and kiss the side of her neck.

"They recommend two small cups. Regarding your caffeine addiction, I figured, that two small cups can turn into regular sized mugs, when you fill them up with milk, so I am actually trying to give you more of that stuff, then you actually should have, without endangering our child. So...what's your choice?", he said contemptuously.

"Oh God, I am so sorry for being like this. I know, you only want to do what's good for our baby! I told you , I am just a failure!", she sobbed and made him feel bad instantly.

"No, darling, please don't cry again. I know, you were just feeling hormonal!", he said with a teasing smile, making her slap his upper arm. Then she froze, being sure, he would pay her back for this.

But this wasn't the Gabriel, she knew anymore. Handing Nathalie the two jewels and therefor letting go of every possibility to ever get Emilie back to life, had finally made him come to his senses and he remembered how he had been, before the woman he had married because he had fallen head over heels for her, when he saw her for the very first time, had changed him.

He just laughed at her reaction and caught her hands to make her fall back onto the cushions, pinning her wrists against the mattress, while he started to place tiny pecks on her neck and her face, making her giggle from the tickling sensation.

"Please stop, I really am hungry, Gabriel, ah....", she squeaked, making him laugh out loudly.

A moment later the door to their room was slammed open and hit the wall with a loud bang. It was Adrien, who had been scared, that his father was doing something, to hurt his stepmother and he had run there without even thinking. Now he was standing in the doorway, thunderstruck, seeing his parents in that position. Nathalie lying on her back, Gabriel pinning her to the bed, while covering her with little kisses and laughing along with her.

He hadn't completely captured what he was seeing yet and yelled at his father:

"What are you doing? Let go of Nathalie right now or you will regret it! I swear to you, if you're hurting her again...."

"Adrien stop!", the young woman said laughing, "we're just joking around. Look, your dad even brought me breakfast and he carried me here. So just calm down and have a bite with us, okay?"

The teenager could hardly believe his eyes, as he took in the whole situation more thoroughly.

"But...", he began, still not able to close his mouth, "what is going on? Since when are you so sweet and caring?", he asked the man in front of him.

Gabriel smiled at him kindly and patted onto the bed.

"Nathalie was right. Just sit and eat with us. There's something, we have to tell you!", he started secretively.

Adrien looked at his father for a moment then at Nathalie, who nodded and gave him a loving smile.

"You brought all this stuff up here and you're just eating a bit of brioche? Aren't you hungry, Nathalie?"

She blushed and looked at Gabriel, who gave her an encouraging nod. She inhaled deeply, then explained:

"Actually, I am starving. But I have been vomiting twice since yesterday and that's why I am starting carefully. Though I can hardly hold myself back!"

She chuckled and blushed even more, when Gabriel gently stroked along her cheek to then kiss her lips.

"Are you sick? Then you should be resting and not fooling around. Father can't you just leave her alone, if she isn't feeling well? Except you are.....", he finally understood, " oh my God, you're pregnant, aren't you? I am going to be a big brother, right?", the boy exclaimed happily.

Chapter 7: Do You Know How To Contact Ladybug?

"Yes you are!", Nathalie told him with a blissful smile, while she relished in the feeling of Gabriel's hand caressing her belly.

"There is something lying on the floor in my office", Gabriel muttered. I am sure, you have a way, to get into contact with a certain superhero. You will know, what I mean, when you see them. I believe, your classmate, Miss Cesaire, is in close contact with Ladybug and will most likely react immediately. Just don't stare at me like that and do as I told you. I'll explain later!"

The teenager nodded and left the room, but not without hugging his stepmom tightly and pecking her cheek.

"I am so happy for you!", he whispered, then added with a wink, "if my father doesn't treat you the way he should now, that you're pregnant, you tell me, okay?"

Nathalie nodded and kissed him back.

"You've become a good, young man, Adrien. Just try to always stay like this!"

She had tears in her eyes as she told him that. As soon as the boy had left the room, Gabriel pulled her into his arms.

"Why are you crying? I want you to be always happy from now on. Do you understand?", he ordered, slipping back into his old self with that.

He noticed her face and watched her turn away and asked:

"What's wrong?"

"N-Nothing, Sir, see?", she forced a fake smile onto her lips, making him frown.

Then he realized, what he had just done and turned around to stand up and leave the room, before she could even react.

Crying desperately, Nathalie hid her face in the pillow, her body shaking, as she sobbed uncontrollably.

Then she suddenly felt two arms wrap around her and holding her tenderly.

"I am such a moron!", Gabriel whispered. "Could you open your eyes and have a look?"

She did and despite being angry on him, couldn't hide a smile. He was holding a giant stuffed blue peacock, that looked exactly like her kwami in front of her.

"I had this made almost two months ago. An I am so sorry for making you cry once again. When I said, I want you to be happy from now on, I really meant that. It wasn't an order, it was rather a promise, that I would do everything, to make you happy!", he cooed.

Nathalie started crying even harder, as she placed the bird behind her and grabbed his tie to pull him towards her. Her lips were still trembling and her tears tasted salty on his tongue, but he reciprocated her kiss just as savagely, soon hovering above her and sucking on the skin of her neck.

While the obviously hormone controlled woman almost tore the clothes off of him, he opened the buttons of her shirt and kissed his way down between her breast to her stomach, lingering there to place gentle little kisses, until he could hear Nathalie yell:

"Oh please Gabriel, you can do that later, I need you now, so please, I wan to feel you...I...." He kissed along her skin to her mouth again, to then tease her, by saying:

"So you need me to do what now, my love? This?", he took a firm hold of her breasts, but then caressed her nipples very softly, making her start to squirm underneath him.

"Or this?", he asked, and cupped his lips over her right areola, pulling them off to do the same on her left.

"Oh yes", she moaned, arching her back to push her pelvis against his crotch, noticing the beginning erection immediately and started to move along it, while fiddling with the button of his pants, to get them off of him too.

The moment his throbbing length jolted out, she could hear him let out a loud moan too and took a strong hold of it, stroking up and down vigorously.

"Oh God, Nathalie, you're so good a that. Don't stop please!"

And then she felt his hand slide into her pants, to start rubbing that now hypersensitive little nub, feeling herself already getting very wet and short time later the young woman began to moan.

"Oh yes, Gabriel. Please, I want to feel you inside now, make me feel good, please.....oh fuck.....yes.....oh my God.....you're making me.....oh yes, just.....just.....just fuck me, please!"

With a dexterous move he pulled down her pants and underpants, to then place her legs over his shoulders and thrusted into her core very slowly and gently, making her cry out in pleasure.

"Oh yes, let me feel that big....oh God, I never felt so good before, make me cum, my big....hard.....oh yes.....I oh yes Gabriel, I.....oooohhhhh, yeah.....fuck me.....oh yes.....aaaahhhhh..... oh GABRIEL.....AAAHHHHH!"

He was too focused to speak and just enjoyed her lecherous noises and her calling his name in pure ecstasy of pleasure, so he just was grunting and groaning, feeling her tighten around his staff, feeling her legs tighten around his torso, pulling him close and eventually was able to roar out her name, when he finally released and filled her up with his fluids.

"OH NATHALIE, YES!"

He had never before in his entire life felt such a bliss and started to kiss the exhausted woman on her mouth, her cheek, her forehead, while he cupped her face with both hands.

"Oh Nathalie, my Nathalie, you're making me so happy, I love you so much. You're my everything. I never again want to be without you, my sweet darling. Do you hear me?", he whispered between his kisses, then held still to make her look at him.

"Did you hear me?", he asked softly.

She nodded, still too worn out to speak.

Gabriel rolled to his side, grabbing the duvet to cover her with it, then pointed at the food.

"I want you to eat now! And that really is an order!", he commanded in a loving tone and laid one hand onto her lower stomach.

"For our baby, alright?", he then cooed.

Nathalie nodded weakly.

"If I can find the strength to lift up my hand!", she muttered giggly.

"Oh, if that's the only problem! What can I feed you with?", he laughed.

Adrien had walked into his father's office deep in his thoughts, wondering, why he wanted him to contact Ladybug, when he saw the jewels lying on the floor and immediately knew. His own father was....Shadowmoth. Hawkmoth. So Nathalie most likely had been Mayura. The two people he loved most had fought him and his lady and terrorised the city over all those years.

Why would his father do that?

And then he knew. The wish, he wanted to wish his mother back. And he had finally figured, that he loved Nathalie and so he had given up on them.

Adrien fell to his knees and started to cry.

He had missed his mother for a while, her pretty face, her smile. But he hadn't forgotten about all the other things, things he didn't like to talk about but which still made him wake up in the middle of the night, covered in sweat.

When she had disappeared and Nathalie had started to take care of him, he had slowly learned to trust again. Neither of them knew, what the blond woman had been capable of. And he wasn't going to tell them. He was just glad, that it was all in the past. And seeing the peacock and the butterfly miraculous right in front of him, he just took them into his hand, knowing very well, that the last chance for his father to ever bring his mother back to life, was now in his palms and sighed in relief.

Then he called:

"Plagg, claws out!"

A moment later the black superhero was jumping over the rooftops of Paris on his way to the spot, they both liked to sit and look at the Eiffel tower, to then call Ladybug.

He was lucky and she immediately answered his call.

"What's wrong, Kitty? Is there an akuma somewhere?"

"Just meet me here, M'lady, you'll see!", he answered and hung up on her.

Barely more than a minute, the red superheroine landed beside him, barely making any noise, saying:

"So what's so urgent, Chaton?"

He jumped to his feet and held out his hand, keeping his eyes on the floor.

"This!", he just said and handed her the two miraculous. Then he just broke down and started to cry desperately.

Ladybug crouched down next to him and laid both arms around him, making him cling to her with both his arms.

"What's wrong, Kitty? Where did you get them? And why are you so sad about it? It means, we won and can start to live a normal life again. Come on, Chat, look at me!"

He was still sobbing, when he spat:

"It means, I-I never get t-t-to s-see you again. It m-means, I have t-to give you m-my miraculous back t-t-too and w-will be locked up f-f-f-forever. And I still have to d-d-deal with the f-fact, that m-my own f-f-father and N-N-N..."

He couldn't get out her name.

"What do you mean, locked up forever? Just calm down, Minou, I am sure, it's not that bad!", she whispered soothingly.

But he shook his head.

"It is, M'lady! Claws in! See, it's just my fate, to be locked up in my room for the rest of my life. And you obviously were right back then. Gabriel Agreste was Hawkmoth. And Shadowmoth. And Nathalie was Mayura. And now you can call the police and let them arrest them. But that would be even worse, because Nathalie is having a baby and I love her as if she was my mum and....."

He laid his head on her shoulder and sobbed desperately into the crook of her neck again.

Ladybug couldn't capture all of this at once, she needed some time to think. But she also knew, that the boy in front of her, the boy she had been in love with for all those years, not able to talk to him, when he was his normal self, needed her comfort now.

"Spots off!", she said quietly, then pulled him tauter and hummed:

"Oh Adrien. It's okay, I won't go to the police. I could never hurt you so much. You are not alone, you know? You have Nino and Alya and.....me!"

Now the teenager looked up and instantly recognized the pink pants and her shirt and blazer and stammered:

"M-M-Marinette? You are Ladybug?"

The half Chinese, young woman gulped, then nodded.

"Are you disappointed, that it's just me?"

She turned her head to look away from him with a deep blush.

"Disa.....what? Why should I be? Marinette, please....even if you don't love me back, at least don't stop being my friend!"

The despair in his voice made her look at him and finally, after all those years making stupid plans and scenarios, she whispered:

"Are you kidding me? I've loved you since the first day we met. I could never stop being your friend...I...."

He had cupped her face and she immediately stopped talking.

"A-Adrien, what..."

And then he placed a very soft peck on her lips.

"I'd like to be more than just your friend, M'lady. I would like to be your boyfriend, if you'd let me!"

"Froybiend? You? Me? I-I mean.....you want to be my....b-b-b..."

He chuckled with a loving gaze and said:

"Relax. I love you, Marinette. And I've told you that for many times already. Well, I've told Ladybug, but... May I kiss you again?"

She didn't answer. She just nodded, her lips slightly open, as she leaned in and closed her eyes. Their lips met again and an electric shock went through their bodies, making them both take a sharp breath through their noses, their arms sliding around the others body, pulling each other taut.

It seemed like an eternity to them until they parted their kiss again.

Marinette let herself fall on her back, giggling, but at the same time reached for Adrien's hand, dragging him with her. He was now hovering above her with a beaming smile and said teasingly:

"Woah, Bugaboo. Now you're really rushing it. Don't you think we should take it a little slower?"

Then he winked at her.

"You!", Marinette hissed and grabbed his shirt with both hands to pull him into another kiss.

Chapter 8: Don't Wait For Me

"We shouldn't stay here like that!", Marinette uttered after some time, "if someone sees us, they're going to wonder, what we're doing up here and I don't feel like revealing my identity tonight! I can't believe, it's already getting dark!"

Adrien nodded with a sad expression.

"You're right, M'Lady. I just don't want to leave. And I most certainly don't want to go home!"

The young woman blushed deeply, as she suggested:

"You could stay at my place, if you wanted to. On the sofa, of course. Or I stay on the sofa and let you have the bed, because, I am a lot shorter than you and..."

He had stopped her ranting with a kiss.

"Thank you, that means a lot!", he whispered and took out his phone, "I'll just send a text to Nathalie, so they won't get worried. My father so won't like that!"

He giggled at the mere thought.

Thirteen minutes later they had entered Marinette's room through the hatch on top of the bakery and after the girl had brought him a new toothbrush and a towel, so he could get ready for bed, she had gone downstairs, to do the same.

When she returned and saw him standing there in just his boxers, she gasped and her cheeks turned scarlet red.

"Sorry", he quickly exclaimed, "it's just a habit to sleep like that. I can put my shirt back on, if you..."

But Marinette was already laughing and waving him off.

"It's fine, Adrien. It's just, well, you know! Just get up there and lie down, I'll take the chaise!"

The teenager shook his head vigorously.

"I would never let you sleep on this and have the audacity to take away your comfortable bed!", he objected. "Just let me sleep down here, it's fine! But", he began with a grin, "maybe you could tuck me in and kiss me goodnight?"

Now Marinette laughed along with him.

"Fine, just let me get you a blanket!"

She quickly jumped up the ladder and grabbed her favourite, most cuddly blanket from her bed, then climbed back down. Of course, she wouldn't have been Marinette, if she hadn't tripped and almost fallen, but Adrien had followed her, to take the blanket and caught her just in time.

"Careful, Bugaboo. We don't want you to get hurt, right?", he hummed into her ear, making her blush even more, as she could feel his bare chest on her own, her breasts pressed against him, separated by only the thin fabric of her shirt.

The young man noticed at the same time and gulped heavily, then pulled back a little, as he could feel a sudden reaction down in his pants and he most likely didn't want her to notice 'that'.

So he took the blanket with a sheepish grin and quickly held it in front of his boner, to then turn around and spread it over the chaise, quickly slipping underneath it, pulling it up to his chin.

The young woman giggled at his behaviour and sat down on the rim of the seat, tucking him in very gently, then bent down and kissed him passionately.

He immediately reciprocated, feeling his erection harden even more and sighed, as he forced himself to part their lips.

"We should try to get some sleep, M'lady! And believe me, I hate saying that, but...", he glimpsed carefully down at his crotch, then continued, "I don't want to make you feel uncomfortable or anything like that!"

Marinette had followed his gaze and giggled childishly.

"Oh, uhm, I.... please don't feel bad about.... it's totally natural...I... goodnight, Adrien!", she stammered, before getting to her feet.

The young model caught her wrist and pulled her back.

"Thank you for letting me stay, Marinette. I love you!"

"I love you too!"

She pecked his lips shortly again, then rushed up into her bed, letting herself fall onto her back, her face still crimson red.

After lying there, staring at the ceiling for what felt like an eternity, she slowly drifted off to sleep. She woke up again in the middle of the night from the sound of Adrien's cries and sobs.

"Please don't hurt me, Mommy! I promise to be good, please stop, I don't like that!"

With narrowed brows Marinette rushed down the steps and knelt next to him, gently grabbing his shoulders to shake him awake.

He opened his eyes rather quickly and gave her a puzzled look, as he saw her concerned face in front of him.

"Marinette? What's wrong? Did something happen?", he asked, already jumping to his feet, when he felt her hand on his cheek and noticed the tears on his face and the sweat all over his body.

"I guess, you had a bad dream, Chaton. Just come here and let me hold you!"

He pushed her away, hiding his face, as he felt completely embarrassed, knowing, what his nightmares usually were about and wondering, what she might have heard.

But the girl just scooted closer and laid her arms around him, pulling him to her chest, mumbling:

"Oh Adrien, please don't push me away. I am here and I am not going anywhere. And whatever happened, I won't hurt you!"

He clang on to her tightly, then asked sheepishly:

"Could you stay with me, until I have fallen asleep again?"

But Marinette shook her head and got to her feet, then held out her hand.

"Come", she whispered and pulled him up, the moment he grabbed it.

"What are you...? Marinette, no! I can't just.... it's.... I can't....Please!"

"Relax, Adrien, I just want to hold you, until you can go back to sleep and in my bed it's just way more comfortable for the two of us. I'm not going to rape you!"

She just had to take a short look at his expression and then she knew.

"Oh Adrien, I didn't mean to, I...", she tried to apologize as she let go of his hand.

He immediately fell to the floor and hugged his legs, yelling with desperate sobs:

"I get it. I know, how disgusting I am. I understand, that you won't touch any part of me anymore. I....I..... for the first time.... it felt good, to be held and touched....I am so sorry. I will just leave....I..."

The girl just stood there petrified, before she was able to move. Then she quickly crouched down beside him and laid her arms around the shaking boy, making him look up at her in disbelief.

"Shush", she cooed, "don't cry, kitty, I am here and I swear, I will never leave you or hurt you, okay?"

Despite struggling to believe her, he smashed his lips onto hers, feeling incredibly happy, as he felt her reciprocate that kiss.

"Come", she whispered a moment later and dragged him up the stairs with her. "Just lie down, I'll be right back!"

"W-Where are you going?", he questioned anxiously, but the woman just smiled and replied:

"Surprise!"

Then she climbed down into the kitchen to soon return with two mugs of hot chocolate.

"Here", she offered, as she scooted under the blanket with him, "I felt like you could use some too!"

They sat there in awkward silence, zipping their beverages, until Marinette carefully began:

"Would you like to talk..."

"I don't!", he interrupted her.

She nodded, but said softly:

"I understand, but if you want to, whenever, I am here, okay?"

"Okay!"

They both went quiet again. Each still holding on to their mugs, staring down on them. Adrien tried to drink his as fast as he could, to then set his feet on the floor, when Marinette reached for his hand and pulled him back.

"Just give it here. I'll set it down beside the bed and take it to the kitchen in the morning!"

"Oh, okay. I just thought, I could..."

"Escape the situation?", the youn woman suggested.

"Something like that, yeah!"

"Come", she just ordered now and held out her arm.

The young man obeyed instantly and snuggled himself into her embrace.

"You make me feel safe, M'lady!", he hummed sleepily.

Marinette smiled down at him kindly, as she bent down to peck his lips, before she started to stroke his head, making him drift off to sleep very soon.

Nathalie was giggling, when Gabriel fed her with small pieces of everything she pointed at. The afternoon passed by incredibly fast and she already started to get worried, about Adrien's whereabouts, when her phone chimed and she reached for it, to have a closer look.

Narrowing her brows, she took a careful glimpse at her blissfully smiling husband, wondering if she should tell him or just try to keep him distracted, when he already took the device out of her hands and read the message, his son had sent.

"What the....", he began too yell, when he felt his wife's hand on his arm and looked at her terrified expression. That made him calm down in an instant, though he still was furious at Adrien.

"Please, he has to find his own way to cope with the situation!", she begged, making him cover his eyes with his hand.

"I know, it's just", he sighed, "I am so scared all of the time, that something might happen. She made me promise, to always keep him at home and in safety. But sometimes I think, she just wanted to keep him like a rare animal in a cage, just for her to look at. There were times, when I wondered, if she really loved him. Or me!"

He looked at Nathalie now.

"Did you know, that he has nightmares?", she asked him quietly now.

"Adrien?"

The young woman nodded.

"He wakes up almost every night, scared, that his own mother will hurt him again. It's been years since she died and it still hasn't stopped. He made me promise to never tell you, when I first noticed. He has no idea, that I know, he still has them almost every night. If he stays with a friend, maybe he will talk to her about it!"

"Her?"

"Well, if he brought the miraculous to Alya Cesaire or to Ladybug in person, who he has had a crush on like forever, he most likely isn't staying with Nino!", she explained, shaking her head over his obliviousness.

"So, you think, Ladybug took him home and let him stay with her? That would mean, she revealed her identity to him! Why would she be doing that?", Gabriel asked.

"Think, Gabriel. Who would Ladybug reveal her identity to?", the pregnant woman carefully asked, while she snuggled her head into his lap.

He looked down at her and began to caress her head.

"ChatNoir!", he spat, "I should have known. But it's too late now and I don't care anymore!" He gave her a loving smile.

"I just care about my little family. And if my son needs some time somewhere else, though I don't like it, I try to trust your judgement and let him have it!", he said calmly and scooted a little bit down, to pull Nathalie into his arms.

"I love you so, so much, woman. And I am sorry for all the things I did to you. I promise, I will never again hurt you like that!"

He gently laid his lips on hers, making her kiss him back immediately and press her body firmly against him.

"You, my dear, are still supposed to rest. You were barely able to eat, after we....you know. And I still can't believe, that it's already evening. But if you would like, we could take a nice, warm bath together, what do you think?"

She nodded with a seductive smile and kissed him more savagely, making him laugh.

"I see, you won't stop with your attempts to seduce me again, dear! So let me at least spoil you a little bit in the tub before, alright my sweet darling?"

Chapter 9: Trouble

"Marinette, time to wake up!", Tom called as he opened the hatch that let into her room and stuck his head inside.

Both teenagers slowly sat up stretching and groaning, both not aware of the danger they were in, when they heard the thundering voice of the big man yell:

"CAN YOU TELL ME, WHAT IS GOING ON HERE? WHAT IS THIS..... THIS.....THIS FAILURE DOING IN YOUR BED, MARINETTE?"

The two almost adults looked at each other anxiously, but Marinette quickly got over it and tried to reason with her father.

"Dad, relax! Look, we are both wearing our clothes. Adrien...."

She couldn't speak further, because Tom was shouting again:

"YOU'RE CALLING HIS UNDERPANTS CLOTHES? ARE YOU COMPLETELY OUT OF YOUR MIND?"

Now the girl was furious too and called out to him:

"Would you please stop yelling? Adrien had a little trouble at home and he didn't want to go there last night, so I offered him to sleep on the chaise, but he had a nightmare and I brought him up here, so I could hold him and make him feel safe. Maybe 'you' should get your mind out of the gutter and don't turn an innocent situation like that into something dirty!"

"What's going on here?", came from Sabine, whose head appeared next to Tom's.

"Marinette had a boy in her bed last night. But she was just 'holding' him, to keep him safe!"

But his wife just laughed and pulled him back downstairs.

"Relax, Tom. She is seventeen. Maybe you shouldn't be barging in up there like that anymore!"

"So now you're blaming me!", he bellowed.

"Yes, I am blaming you. They could've been doing something else and you would have walked in just like that. Can't you even imagine, how your daughter feels?"

The couple was still trembling, as they got out of bed, Marinette rushing down and locking the door with a piece of wood, that she fixed over it.

"I should've done that last night, when I came back with the cocoa! Sorry for that, my dad is a little....you know...,overprotective!"

The young woman gazed sheepishly to the floor as she said that.

The boy chuckled and hugged her from behind, kissing her cheek as he asked:

"Why did he wake you anyway? It's Saturday!"

The girl shrugged.

"I have no idea. Maybe he had a gut feeling, that I was having a hot and sexy guy in my bed!"

"So, you think I am hot?", he teased her and started to place soft kisses on the side of her neck.

"Woah, slow down, Kitty!", she giggled as she turned around in his embrace to face him, "my dad is still in a mood, where he could easily get you into the car and drive you to the vet to have him cut off your...."

She gazed down at his crotch, making him gulp.

"I-I-I s-see!", he stuttered, making her laugh and press herself firmly against him.

"Good thing, he can't come in anymore, huh?", she now whispered hoarsely into his ear, to then kiss him passionately.

His with hormones over loaded, teenage body reacted immediately and he shifted his pelvis to the side in embarrassment, hoping, Marinette hadn't noticed his erection poking her.

She had, and felt just as flustered as he did, but tried to sooth him.

"Don't", she hissed, "I-I mean...i-it's totally n-n-natural, r-right?"

Her sudden Marinette like reaction made him laugh and relax a little bit.

"It's still embarrasing. Like I was an animal, just driven by instincts. I am just pathetic!"

He tried to part from her, but Marinette held him close and whispered into his ear:

"That it's not that visible, doesn't mean, girls don't have that problem either!"

Then she buried her deeply blushed face into the crook of his neck.

At first he had no idea, what she was talking about, then he took a glimpse at her bright red cheeks and a thought occured to him.

"Oh, uhm...that's.....", he stammered, not knowing, how to react.

Both were standing there awkwardly hugging each other for some time, when the young woman suddenly said:

"You know, what? Let's just go back to bed and try to get a little more sleep. Maybe later we'll just laugh about everything!"

He was very certain, that getting back under one duvet and maybe even holding her in his arms, would do nothing to make him forget, but rather make the whole situation worse for him, but he followed her anyway, to then stand just as awkwardly beside her bed.

"Just come here. I want to cuddle with you and maybe, just maybe make out a little. We'll see to that!", she uttered cockily, making him blush.

"Marinette", he croaked, "i can't, I...."

"Relax, Chaton, I was just teasing you. Just come here and cuddle with me!"

But now he was ibn a playful mood too and willing to pay her back, so he jumped on top of her, pinning her wrists to the mattress, to then come very close to her lips, yet without kissing her or doing anything else, just whispering:

"So, M'lady, you want to play? Well let's see how....oh crap!"

She had began to smirk and had wrapped her legs around him, pulling him very close with that, to then seize the moment of surprise and kiss him savagely.

He tried to hold back, when his erection accidentally brushed along her lady parts, what made her twitch. He couldn't keep his quiet moan contained any longer, as couldn't she and the moment, she opened her lips, he slid his tongue inside, tasting her sweet flavour, the feelingof her tongue carefully starting to play with his sending an electric wave right into his nether regions.

Adrien let go of her wrists, his hands gently stroking along her arms to her torso, where he laid one onto the side of her waist, while he held himself up with the other.

"Oh damn it, Marinette, your making me..."

"Mhm, you too, Adrien!", she whimpered into his mouth, as she took a hold of his hand and guided it under her shirt and to her breasts.

He swallowed heavily, when he felt the bare skin and stuttered:

"Y-You're n-not w-w-wearing a b-bra!"

She shook her head with a smirk and pulled him back into the kiss, her hips soon rocking against his, when he started to caress her soft, round breasts with his hands.

"I am so, so sorry", Gabriel muttered remorsefully, when Nathalie returned from their bathroom, where she had run into to throw up right after opening her eyes.

"What for?", she groaned, as she flung herself back onto the mattress.

He was sitting at the rim of their bed, watching her with concern.

"For not being able to stay at your side, my love. If only I could stand seeing r even hearing you vomit. I would so like to be there for you!"

She smiled at him tiredly, then signaled him with a move of her index finger to come closer.

"Don't worry, I brushed my teeth", she snickered as she saw him hesitate.

He smiled at her lovingly and bent down to kiss her.

"I was being serious! I am really sorry, that I can't at least hold your hair or rub your back or whatever a good husband would do!", he hummed softly.

That made Nathalie giggle.

"You know, I am already very happy with how sweet you have been over those last couple of days. I can puke without you, but simply knowing, that you care so much, that you feel bad for not being at my side, makes me feel so incredibly happy!", she enthused.

"Do you think, you can eat something now?", he asked softly, to what she immediately nodded.

"Hell yes, I could eat half a pork on toast, if you'd let me!", she blurted out making him laugh.

"Oh darling, please don't tempt me. You know, if Gabriel Agreste wants one half of a pork on toast for his pregnant wife, he will get it, right?", he chuckled.

They were both laughing now and Nathalie explained:

"I was just exaggerating, to let you know, that I am 'really' hungry and could eat quite a lot!"

"Would you like to go out for breakfast or rather order some?", he asked now.

"Hm, I would like to go into the kitchen and simply raid the fridge!", she replied, making him laugh again.

"Whatever you wish, my dear!"

He got to his feet and held out his hands for her to grasp, then laid her robe around her shoulders, saying:

"Just in case. There could be people in the kitchen, cleaning or preparing our meals!"

She took a look at the time and nodded.

"You're right. And we should stop sleeping that long. Or you should stop letting me sleep for so long. I know, that you were already awake, when I woke up. What were you doing anyway?"

"Watching my beautiful wife sleep!", he cooed, making her tear up instantly.

"Oh no, darling, please don't cry. I can't see you cry, you know that!"

"Well, now I do!", she said with a tender smile and cupped his face to then place a soft peck on his lips.

When they walked down the stairs, they could hear voices and giggling and were more than surprised, seeing Adrien and his classmate Marinette standing in at the bottom of the stairs, laughing and kissing. Neither of them had noticed the couple yet and they quickly jumped apart, when they heard Gabriel clear his throat

"F-F-Father, N-N-Nathalie!", the boy stammered, "you remember M-M-Marinette, right?" His father and his former assistant nodded.

"I do not only remember Miss Dupain-Cheng but her tslent as well. But tell me please, what are you two doing here right now? I didn't think you'd be home that early!", Gabriel wondered.

The young couple blushed and Adrien quickly tried to explain, that Tom wasn't very fond of him being there, after seeing him in the girl's bed.

His father was about to get angry on them, when Nathalie started to giggle and asked them teasingly:

"Was it at least worth it!"

"Nathalie!", her husband blurted out but couldn't hide his smile, when he looked at her lovingly and remembered all the things they had done the day before.

"W-We brought b-b-breakfast!", Marinette now exclaimed and held up two paper bags with croissants and freshly baked buns.

"Well, we were just on our way to eat breakfast so that's a very nice coincidence!", the pregnant woman uttered happily, "come, let's all sit together and enjoy those delicious things you brought!"

The younger couple agreed snd owed the oldef ones into the dining room, where they all sat down on the table.

The situation was a little awkward Marinette and Adrien knowing, that they were looking at the villains who had made their life really difficult and dangerous over those last years.

At the same time Gabriel and Nathalie, despite not being sure, suspecting the teenagers to be the heroes who had destroyed each of their plans to get a hold of their miraculous.

"Well", Gabriel said, after some girl from the kitchen staff had brought all kinds of things to put on the buns and croissants, as well as a cup of coffee for each of them, "bon appétit, Ladybug and ChatNoir!"

The adolescents sat there open mouthed and just stared at him, as did Nathalie, not believing the guts he had, to call them out like that.

The designer laughed at their shocked expressions and said:

"Don't worry, I won't try to take them from you anymore. I just wanted to know, if my beautiful wife was righg about this and as usual, she was. But you really don't have to be scared anymore, the only thing that matters to me now, is this amazing woman and the baby we're about to have!"

He turned to Nathalie who gave him a fuming look, then pointed her head at Adrien while shoving her elbow into his ribs.

Gabriel looked puzzled at first, then he understood.

"Oh, uhm.... I thought my love for the son I already have was obvious, but forgive me Adrien, of course you matter just as much!", he told his son with a sheepish smile.

Chapter 10: Delicious

They continued their breakfast mostly in silence, the teenagers just as the adults, acting all flirty and lovestruck, feeding each other with small pieces of their food or pecking each others lips now and then.

It was Marinette, who broke the silence first and asked Nathalie:

"So, Adrien told me, that you're having a baby? How does that feel? Are you excited? Or rather scared? I would be scared like hell!"

The young woman smiled at the girl, then answered honestly:

"I am scared like hell, but I'm very excited and happy too. I...", she inhaled deeply, before admitting:

"It's all I ever dreamed of, you know?"

Marinette nodded with a happy smile, while Gabriel took his wife's hand and kissed her knuckles very softly.

"I love you", he said sweetly, then added very quietly, "and I am very sorry. I should have never even tried to...you know.....use you in any way!"

"They are so cute!", Marinette whispered into Adrien's ear, "isn't it incredibly sweet, when old people act like this?"

But Gabriel's hearing wasn't that of an old man and he raised an eyebrow, as he asked her:

"Did you just call us old? What the....", he looked at Nathalie with a shocked expression. "Do I look old? Please be honest!"

But the pregnant woman just laughed and pulled him closer by the collar of his bath robe, to place a loving kiss on his lips.

"Relax, honey, they are seventeen. To them we both look old. To me you look just incredibly....well.....let me call it, delicious....!", she said with a wink and let her hand innocently brush along his chest and stomach.

He took a sharp breath, as she accidentally touched his man parts too, which made her giggle.

"Uhm", Adrien cleared his throat and took his girlfriends hand, "maybe we should leave you on your own for now!", he suggested and pulled Marinette with him towards his room.

The older couple looked at each other with reddened cheeks, then they started to laugh, as Gabriel shoved his chair closer to Nathalie's and pulled her into his lap.

"Delicious?", he wondered with raised brows.

"Well, I didn't want to say, that I find you incredibly hot and that simply looking at your well trained body makes me become very..... aroused...and uhm....you know!", Nathalie admitted sheepishly.

"Oh", he responded, wiggling his brows, "so I make you become aroused, love?"

"Permanently!", she agreed.

"Well, then we should go upstairs and tend to your arousal, right?", Gabriel blurted out enthusiastically and lifted her up bridal style to carry her into their bedroom.

"Wait, wait, wait , wait, wait!", she exclaimed giggling, "doesn't it even bother you, that Adrien and his....."

He interrupted her with a kiss, then stated dryly:

"Not at all. Especially, as I am very certain, that they will do something very similar!"

Nathalie shook her head in disbelief, as she scolded him:

"I am not sure yet, if this makes me feel better or worse!"

They both laughed, while Gabriel continued his way to their room.

Marinette looked around in Adrien's room curiously. Sure, she had been here before, but hardly ever spent more than a few minutes in here, without wearing any kind of disguise.

"Do you like it?", he asked sheepishly, as he noticed her watching her surroundings.

"I like being with you!", she responded, making him beam.

"And I 'love' being with you, because I love you so much, Marinette!"

He closed the gap between them and pulled her to his chest, his hands grabbing the back of her thighs, lifting her up and placing her on top of his bed.

Then he crawled on all fours on top of her, hovering closely over her body, only propped up on his hands and knees.

Marinette inhaled sharply, as he started to kiss her savagely, his leg searching a way between her thighs, until she felt it right on her lady parts, the sensation making her shudder in anticipation.

Not thinking of her usual shyness, she boldly reached for the hem of his shirt and pulled it upwards, making him gasp.

She giggled and explained seductively:

"I liked you even more without the shirt, Kitty!"

He stared at her for a moment, then began to grin.

"Same goes for you, Bugaboo!"

And after letting her pull his shirt off of him, he scooted a little bit down, to then shove her white t-shirt up, while he kissed along the soft skin of her stomach up to her breasts, which were covered by a light blue, laced bra.

Marinette lifted her shoulders from the mattress shortly, so he could pull it off of her completely, then arched her back from the sudden feeling of his lips, caressing her nipples through the laced fabric.

She instinctively wrapped her legs around his waist, making him come very close to her crotch with his beginning erection, when he whispered:

"Please, Marinette, if you don't stop me very soon, you won't be stopping me at all!"

"Maybe I do not want to stop you, Adrien!", she hummed hoarsely, making him tremble as he stared down at her.

The girl, who was almost as aroused as he was, seized the moment and rolled him over to his back, now straddling him, as she reached behind her back and opened the hooks of her bra.

"M-M-Marinette, what...."

She had grabbed his hands and placed them on the holders on her shoulder.

"I thought, you might like to take it off!", she hissed, making him swallow heavily and nod.

Then he grasped the thin straps with trembling hands and slowly pulled them down her upper arms, his eyes closed, his mouth slightly open.

The young woman chuckled at the sight and stroked along his chest with the very tips of her fingers, making him unconsciously roll his hips upwards, meeting her little, sensitive nerve bundle by doing so.

Marinette let out a soft moan, as she felt his hardened member brush along her clit and pushed against him, causing him to repeat his move, while he tossed her bra to the floor and finally opened his eyes again.

He had to take another deep breath, as he now looked directly at her small, but well formed breasts, mumbling as he gently cupped them both with his hands:

"God, Bugaboo, you are so beautiful!"

He let his fingers gently play with her nipples for some time, feeling her arch her back, to push her intimates tauter against his, then let his hands slide down her sides, to reach around her and grab her buttocks, to pull her stronger against his now painfully throbbing erection.

In Nathalie's and Gabriel's bedroom the mood had been ruined, when the pregnant woman out of nowhere had felt the urge to throw up again and had barely made it out of bed and into the bathroom.

Her swaying, as she ran there, had made him so concerned, that he had completely overcome his disgust and held her in his arms, while she was throwing up, to then help her rinse her mouth and supported her walk back to the bed.

He lifted her feet up and tucked her in thoroughly, then asked calmly, but with the worry audible in his voice:

"Where do you have the number of your gynaecologist? I will go and make an appointment for you there ASAP. You try and get some more rest, alright?"

Nathalie nodded wearily and yawned, before she reached for her phone and searched through it until she found the right contact, then gave it to him.

"Here. But could you at least stay with me here a little longer?", she begged with puppy eyes, making him narrow his.

"Why's that, my dear? Are you still not feeling good? If there is anything else, that's bothering you, just tell me!", he gushed out.

Nathalie didn't look at him, as she quietly replied:

"It's pathetic!"

He lifted her chin up with two fingers and made her look at him.

"Just tell me!", he demanded kindly.

She inhaled deeply, then mumbled, so that he could hardly understand her:

"I just don't feel like being alone!"

"Oh darling, that's no reason to feel bad. Just come here and let me hold you!", he blurted out laughing and placed himself in a sitting position right next to her, so she could lay her head onto his stomach, while he called her doctor with her phone.

Marinette was still on top of the young model and they were kissing savagely, while rubbing their intimates along the other's, both in a state beyond arousal, while trying to not let themselves go completely, what seemed to become more difficult with each minute, that passed.

The soft whimpers and moans, which came from the girl on top of him, were almost driving him crazy and at some point he just couldn't bear the pain of his pants tightening around is erection any longer and flipped them over, to then let hiself fall on his back and awkwardly pull on the crotch of his jeans, to ease the pressure a little.

Marinette watched him with furrowed brows, then asked sheepishly:

"What's wrong, Adrien? D-Did I hurt you s-s-somehow?"

He shook his head vigorously as he explained through gritted teeth:

"My pants are getting too tight and are painfully squeezing my, you know.....!"

Giggling childishly and gazing down to his man parts with a scarlet red face, she muttered:

"I see", then scooted a little down and with a quick move open the button and zipper of his pants, making him stutter:

"Wh-wh-what a-a-are you d-doing there?", to then sigh in relief.

Though he hadn't thought, it was possible, her face grew even darker red, when she saw his member jolt up, despite still being under his boxers.

"Better?", she asked quietly as she came back to his face, to kiss him again.

"Much!", he grinned and tried to dexterously roll her onto her back and hover above her again, but the pants slipped down a bit and made him fall directly on top of her. Adrien was already about to start apologising and asking, if he had hurt her, when he heard her laugh and looked into her beautiful, blueberry eyes.

"You should just take them off!", she suggested, making him inhale audibly through his nose.

"B-But, I-I", he began to be interrupted again: "Just get rid of them, you're still wearing those, right?"

She pulled gently at the fabric of his boxers.

"F-Fine!", he agreed an got to his feet to take off his jeans.

Now he was standing there not knowing, what to do, when he felt his girlfriend's soft, small hands snake around his waist, to pull him back into the bed with her. He hadn't even noticed, that she had gotten into a sitting position. Now she laid back on her back, making him come so close to her, that he had to use all his strength, to keep a little distance, so he wouldn't touch her with his protruding erection.

But then Marinette started to kiss him again and a moment later wrapped her legs around him, to pull him closer by doing so and he couldn't hold back the moan any longer, as he felt his boner brush along her lady parts.

She had let out a soft cry, the very moment his hardened member touch her most sensitive nub, and now Adrien had started to kiss down her neck and her cleavage, to tend to her breasts with his lips, switching between both areolas, his hands wandering further down, to open her pants and then slowly pull them off her hips and down her legs, while kissing along her stomach and then her left thigh, the piece of clothes soon joining the ones on the floor.

He kissed back up her right thigh, making her arch her back, as his head accidentally touched her clit, and let out another, now even a little louder cry.

The young man, now barely able to hold back, crawled back on top of her, his staff now pushing against this little nub, to kiss her savagely again, while he curiously moved one hand between her thighs, feeling the dampness even through her underpants and let out a desperate moan.

The whimpering sounds coming from the aroused girl underneath him, only fueled his fire and he started to rub the spot, to which she had shown such a strong reaction, when he touched it, in a constant movement.

Chapter 11: Traumatized

Marinette could barely hold back the moans, all she wanted was to cry out her lust and to make Adrien feel the same. So she hesitantly reached down, to shyly touch his throbbing erection, when the young man suddenly stopped all his movements and caught her wrist violently.

"Don't!", he cried, "I-I don't like to be....oh God, I am so sorry, Marinette. Maybe you should just go and leave me on my own. I don't deserve someone like you!"

Then he rolled himself to the side, pulling his legs close to his body and hugging them tightly again, just as he did the night before in her room.

The young woman inhaled deeply, then grabbed his arms and turned him back to her, nimbly dodging his instinctive attempt to hit her and took him into a strong embrace, feeling him shiver from fear and his crying.

"Oh Adrien, Kitty, it's me. You don't have to be scared of me. I would never hurt you!", she cooed.

"That's what sh-she said to and then....if I didn't do what she wanted me to do...she...."

He sobbed and buried his face in the crook of her neck.

"Who? Your mum?"

He nodded and his cries became even more desperate.

"Oh Minou, I am so sorry. But you're save now. I know, you said, you don't want to talk about it, but maybe you should. Maybe you'll feel better if you don't have to keep this secret any longer!"

Adrien shook his head vigorously.

"I c-can't! I....f-feel so d-disgusting and d-d-dirty....I...."

He eventually raised his head and stared at her face, tears streaming down his cheeks, then he started to kiss her savagely, his hand pulling her taut and he began to touch her again, when she stopped him, by catching his wrists this time.

"Adrien! What are you doing?"

"I-I-I'm t-trying not t-t-to d-d-disa-appoint you! I've learned t-to always b-be able t-to do ssomething to m-make her feel good, s-s-so I wouldn't b-be a disappointment!", he sobbed.

Marinette could hardly hold back her own tears, when she heard him say that and pulled him even closer.

She stroked his head with gentle touches and whispered soothingly:

"I love you, Adrien! You could never disappoint me. Do you remember, how you always told me, you would love me with or without the mask? Well, you offered me your unconditional love. And it's the same for me. I love you no matter what. I like it, when we're doing, what we were just doing, but I like it just as much, when I can just hold you and be held by you! Do you hear me? I love you!"

He looked up again, his face showing a little hope.

"So you are not disappointed? Because, I really would like to...."

"Shush. Relax, Chaton. We have all the time in the world for that! Let's just do it in your very own pace. Whatever you feel okay with, I am okay with too!"

That made him laugh through his tears.

"Whatever?", he wondered, wiggling his eyebrows.

"I-I-I-I.....oh my.....I-I d-d-didn't m-mean it l-like that, A-Adrien!", she stammered, blushing instantly.

"I'm sorry, M'lady!", he hummed and pecked her lips, "but at least you made me feel a little better. And well....I was being serious, I really would like to do a little more for you!"

"Adrien, you....! I think we should get dressed and do something else right now. And I think, that you need someone to help you. If it's not me, you want to talk with, how about you dad or Nathalie?"

Now the boy scoffed.

"As if my father would care. And Nathalie, well, she knows about the nightmares. I don't know, how much more she figured out, I just can't....I...."

He shook his head vigorously.

"I just want to forget everything, that happened. I just want to be with you and be happy with you, like I've been dreaming for those past three years! So please, Marinette, let me just do this, okay? I just want to get over the past and move on and I know, if I can be intimate with you, I'll be able to leave everything behind!"

The young woman sighed. Then she tried again to reason with him:

"You wouldn't even let me touch you, Adrien. I mean, maybe I did it wrong, because I never did anything like that before, but...."

"What? I thought, you and Luka.... oh my gosh, I didn't think you never... I mean, I wasn't thinking you did 'it', but I thought you did 'something'!", he gushed out, feeling instantly bad for thinking of her like that.

"Let's not talk about Luka, okay? I still feel guilty, because I hurt him!"

He nodded and kissed her lips. Then he suggested very softly:

"How about we learn all of this together? You show me, what you like and I show you, how I would like to be touched, once I figured it out myself!"

The girl agreed and scooted a little closer.

"Fine. But I need to try something first. And if this feels in any way uncomfortable to you, I want you to get professional help, deal?"

He was reluctant to take the hand, she was holding out to him, not knowing, what she was up to, but then he grabbed and shook it.

"Deal!", he said, his voice trembling.

"Okay, lean back!", she demanded and he did, but gave her a questioning look.

"Now close your eyes and lift your butt up!"

"W-What?"

"So you're already uncomfortable?", she asked with a mischievous grin.

"N-No!", he stuttered and did as he was told, to hold his breath, when she very slowly slipped her fingers under the hem of his boxers and pulled them off of him.

"M'lady, w-what...?"

"Shush", she ordered him and carefully closed her small, soft hand around his member, making him take a sharp breath, but she ignored him and said, "I have no idea, what I am doing, so please don't look, okay?"

"Marinette, what are you planning....oh fuck....yes...!"

She had cupped the tip of his penis with her lips and was now gently suckling on it, her tongue circling it lightly, then a little stronger, her hands starting to stroke up and down. Then she took a deep breath, closed her eyes and sucked him in deeper, her tongue still caressing his tip, while she began to move her head up and down, making the boy soon moan loudly.

"Oh yes, M'lady, I love what you're doing....oh yes....oh fuck....oh damn it, I.....Marinette, I'm about to...."

She could already feel him twitch inside her mouth and pulled back feeling the warm fluid cover her chin and breasts as she did, while her warm hands were still rubbing his length, until she felt him become soft and the last few, white drops stayed on the tip of his dick, as his hands searched for her, to pull her up to him and hug her tightly.

"Hmmmh, definitively not uncomfortable!", he hummed and gave her a loving smile, narrowing his brows, as he could see the disgusted look on her face.

"Marinette? What.....don't tell me, you did this just for me and feel disgusted because of....!"

But she shook her head with a deep blush and shifted on the bed, trying to get rid of the uncomfortable feeling, yet without success.

"I-It's j-just...I should have....you know...if I had known....I would have brought....some.....you know...."

"Sorry", he begged desperately, "but I don't, so please tell me!"

Marinette buried her face in his chest, as she mumbled:

"I feel so embarrassed. It's...my panties, you know....I should have brought a fresh pair.....because....they're....kinda.....uhm.... soaked!"

"Oh!", he exclaimed, then slapped his hand to his mouth, before he lifted her face up by grabbing under her chin, "so you liked doing 'that'?" She shrugged.

"I guess!", the young woman then admitted sheepishly.

"Well, let's see, how you like that then!", he teased her with a smirk and kissed his way down her cleavage, took his time, to caress her breasts with his mouth and fingers, then he moved further down, leaving a trace of saliva on her stomach, while he gently brushed down her panties, and very slowly slipped his right hand between her thighs, to move it upwards, until he reached her indeed very wet lady parts and the sensation alone made him harden again and groan:

"Oh fuck, you really are wet!", before he bent his head and closed his lips around her little nub, making her cry out from the sudden pleasuring feeling.

"Oh A-Adrien, oh yes....oh crap, that feels so....oh yes, this is.....this feels so...oh Adrien.....I....."

She arched her back in agony, as that last seconds before her orgasm felt almost painful and like torture until that incredible bliss lightened her head and made her feel as if she was going to explode.

"Oh A-Adrien.....yeah.....just.....oh fuck.....I....oh damn it, I need you now....just.....just come here!", she cried out and pulled at his arms, to make him come up to her, where she pulled him taut and started to kiss him passionately.

Feeling his erection already touch her intimates, the young man stopped her and whispered:

"Wait, I don't want to get you into trouble! There's still....you know...some stuff on my....dick and....well, I've heard quite some stories and I don't want to risk it. I-I w-wasn't thinking about g-g-going all the w-w-way...I mean....I wouldn't want to....make you think you had to....of course I....would like....I...."

"Adrien, breathe!", she giggled, then hummed seductively, "I wouldn't say no, if we could find a condom somewhere", to instantly hide her blushing face in the crook of his neck.

"Actually", he scratched the back of his neck, while he opened the drawer of his nightstand and pulled out a silver pack, that contained the exact thing, she had been talking about.

Now she teased him:

"Do I want to know, what you have them right beside your bed for?"

He blushed, but shrugged and uttered:

"A boy can hope, right?"

"Oh", was all she could say, then closed her eyes and waited for him to put it on.

"You're alright?", he asked, the moment, he noticed her, squeezing her eyes shut.

"Just a little....you know....not looking at it directly....I..."

Adrien laughed out loud.

"Marinette, you just had my dick in your mouth and now you feel flustered to look at it? Oh I love you soo much!"

And then he suddenly was on top of her, holding his weight with his right arm, kissing her passionately, while his left tried to guide his throbbing erection to her entrance, but failed epically.

Giggling Marinette laid her own hand around his member and helped him find her opening, at the same time lifting her pelvis a little, to ease his way inside.

"Please be careful, Kitty", she begged making him look at her lovingly. "Of course M'lady. Just tell me, if I hurt you. I will stop immediately okay?" But she shook her head.

"I know it will hurt, so please, even if you notice, it does, don't stop, alright?"

"But...", he began to be interrupted by her kiss and her legs wrapping around his waist.

"Just go slow, Chaton!"

He took a deep breath, his hand trembling, his whole body shaking, as he slowly pushed his hips forward, to feel her tense and squeeze her eyes shut again. But as he had promised her, he didn't pull back, but kept going, pushing a little harder, when he felt a resistance, until he suddenly was inside her and couldn't contain his loud moan.

"Oh yes.. this...you feel so good! Are you alright?", he gave her a concerned look, to see her smile at him.

"Just go slow, but I'm fine, okay!"

He nodded, as he began to move, reluctantly at first, then a little faster, when he felt her meet him in midair and was soon thrusting his length deep inside her, hearing her whimper into his mouth, as he bent down to kiss her vigorously. His fingers found their way between them and as he started to rub her clit, while he kept his quick pace, he could hear her cry out his name again, which drove him completely over the edge and they released together this time, each of them screaming the other's name.

Chapter 12: Telling Truth

Though their sexual relationship worked out just fine, Marinette still worried about her boyfriend, as he woke up during many nights, all sweaty and mostly crying.

Marinette, who hadn't reconciled with her father yet, stayed with him for the nights and could quickly calm him down, but she was worrying a lot.

So one morning, when Gabriel was already working in his office and Adrien was already at an early fencing practice, before school even started, she decided to talk to Nathalie, who was having breakfast with her.

A couple of weeks had passed by now and the pregnant woman was still feeling nauseous in the mornings, yet she had quite some appetite, once she had thrown up.

And as Gabriel insisted, that she would stay in bed a little longer than him, she enjoyed having the first meal of the day with the young girl or both teenagers.

So, as they were alone today, Marinette carefully approached the matter:

"Uhm...Nathalie? You know about Adrien's nightmares, right?"

The dark haired woman looked up from her food and nodded.

"Do you know, why he has them?", she reluctantly questioned further.

Nathalie sighed and shrugged.

"I have a hunch and I hope every time, I think about it, that I am wrong, but....", she sighed again. "I am very certain, that it's something that Emilie, I mean, his mother did to him. Did he tell you?"

The teenager nodded.

"Well, kind of. In his dreams, he always begs his mummy to not hurt him and not make him do something, he doesn't like. And uhm....."

She blushed the moment she realized, what she was about to say, but gathered all her courage and did it anyway:

"In that night, when he stayed at my place, he woke up from one of his nightmares and I brought him up to my bed, to hold him and comfort him and on the way he was hesitant, so I tried to lighten up the situation, by saying, I wouldn't rape him and that only made his state worse. And then there was this first time, we....you know.....when I touched his.....you know that too.....he reacted similar, rolling himself into a ball and hugging his legs. Then he suddenly wanted to continue making out to not disappoint me! I am still not sure, what he was talking about!"

The boy's step mother groaned.

"I might know, who can tell me. But I have to ask him in private. He most certainly won't admit anything, when you're there too, but....that last part, you're a disappointment, he mentioned that before. Gabriel, I mean!"

Marinette agreed.

"I would feel by far too embarrassed to talk to him about me and Adrien and.....you know.....anyway!"

She giggled sheepishly.

"Is he getting better?", Nathalie now wondered.

The half Chinese girl shrugged.

"One day, I think, he is, and the next day, I think he isn't. But he told me, he has had them every night. At least this has improved. He never has nightmares after.....uhm, when we had....well...sex!"

She blushed even more now, but held Nathalie's gaze.

The assistant took another bite of her croissant and thought for a moment, then swallowed her sweet breakfast and drank a bit of coffee. Decaf sadly, but at least Gabriel didn't argue over every cup anymore, since she had started to drink this.

After placing the mug on the table, Nathalie kindly told Marinette:

"Well, first of all, thank you for being so open and talk to me about that. I will take care of that issue. But now you should hurry, because it's getting late already and you need to go. I will advice Gabriel, to let Adrien have regular doctor's appointments with a good psychiatrist!"

"He doesn't want to talk to anyone. He is sure, that him, being able to.....have sex with.....me.....would be enough and the problem would go away by itself. But I agree with you, that he should see a therapist. Maybe I can convince him, but please don't tell him, that I told you about it, not before you have made some kind of plan, okay?", the girl now pleaded desperately, scared he might break up with her, if he found out.

"I won't!", the woman said with a compassionate smile, "don't worry. And I will tell Gabriel not to do so either, until we can all sit together for it, alright?"

Marinette beamed at her, while she rapidly gulped down the rest of her breakfast.

"Thanks, see you later!"

"Have fun!", Nathalie called after the leaving young woman, but she had already slammed the door shut.

The pregnant woman shook her head with a loving smile, glad, that Adrien after all the bad things, that most likely had happened to him in the past, found the sweetest person he could wish for, who truly loved him and cared about him.

Suddenly noticing, that she was almost crying about that fact and wondering, where that came from, she widened her grin even more and laid a hand on her still flat and well toned belly, humming softly, as she looked down:

"That's your fault, I hope you know that. But I love you very much even if you turn me into an emotional moron!"

She then remembered, that she needed to speak with her husband and hurried to finish her breakfast, not without taking a bun with butter, cheese, marmelade, egg with salt and mayonnaise with her into the office, leaving the breakfast table for the kitchen helpers to clean up.

A/N: Before you judge, try the combination on that bun, it's delicious without being pregnant. I didn't believe my best friend when she ate that and really asked her, if she could be pregnant, but I tried it and it really is tasty. The jelly mixes with the mayonnaise and tastes similar to a sweet and sour sauce!

She entered quietly to not interrupt him, if he was drawing or taking notes on one of his tablets, but he was just standing there, staring at old pictures of Adrien and Emilie, looking up, when Nathalie entered the room.

"I never even noticed. How could I be so blind, to not see, how anxious the boy was each time, she was close to him? I wonder, what happened to make him like that!", he said wearily, already walking towards her.

"Actually", she begun reluctantly, "that's exactly, why I came here. I wanted to talk to you about the things, Emilie obviously did to Adrien!"

And then she told him everything, Marinette had told her, finishing with the question about what his dead wife had meant, when she was talking about disappointment.

"She said, he just wanted to go on, despite everything, to not disappoint her. I didn't ask any further but that sounded too familiar and I recalled that moment, when you were crying, because Emilie said that to you as well. So, please Gabriel, tell me, what was going on?"

The tall man sighed heavily and bent down to kiss her lips very tenderly, then laid an arm around her shoulders and nudged her to the middle of the room to take a seat.

"Let's sit down for that, it might take some time!", he explained and she nodded.

Before he started to tell her about his relationship with his deceased wife, he gently placed a hand on her belly, asking:

"First I want to know, how you two are doing. I can't wait for the next appointment at the doctor, so we can eventually see our little one. Too bad, that it was too early to really recognize anything!"

"We're actually feeling very emotional and peckish this morning!", she mused and pointed at the second breakfast, she had brought with her.

"I see!", Gabriel smiled, "so you're not feeling sick in the mornings any longer?"

She shrugged, trying to not make him worry, as everything that actually happened to her, was completely normal.

"I still throw up every morning, but I am fine for the rest of the day, so.....no need to be concerned. I can totally handle that!"

"That's good!"

He pecked her lips shortly, then leaned against the backrest, leaving his hand on her stomach, taking a deep breath.

"I am still so sorry, that I said that to you too. I never should have been like her. It was her way of manipulating me, us, into acting the way she wanted us to. In the beginning, when not every one of my designs was a hit, as it is now, no matter, what I do, she always told me, that I was nothing but a disappointment, living on her money, though I never did. The thought alone, that she would leave me, made me try harder, while I broke inside a little more each time. I really considered, applying for a day job in a manufactury, to work on a sewing machine to earn more money. But that probably would have made it even worse." Tears were glistening in his eyes, when he remembered the look she gave him back then.

Nathalie laid her own hand on top of his, lightly stroking the back of it with her thumb.

"Oh Gabriel!", she cooed, cupping his cheek with her other hand.

The designer smiled at her sadly, then continued.

"I think at some point I was so used to her, telling me that I was a disappointment, that I didn't even notice her saying that to Adrien as well!"

The tears were dripping on his chest now, as he sobbed:

"But I would have never thought, she would abuse him in a sexual way! Her own son. That fucking bitch, how could she do this to him? Why couldn't she love him? I didn't mind at some point, that she didn't care about me, but her own son! I can't.....I....oh God, Nathalie.....why haven't I been there to help him?"

She pulled him to her chest and stroked the top of his head, waiting for him, to calm down a little, before she asked the question, that burned on her tongue the most:

"Marinette said, Adrien begged her to not hurt him. Did", she inhaled deeply, pausing a moment, then exhaled, "...did she somehow hurt you too? When you told me, you liked it hard, you said, that was the one thing, Emilie couldn't please you with, but you were lying. I understand it now. It was the only thing you remembered, because she always hurt you in some way, right?"

She was now holding her hand still while he raised his head, to look at her.

"It wasn't completely like that. I....when she tried to hurt me.....I-I tried to do the same. Those were the only opportunities, when I was in control and she was the weaker one. When she....", he gulped, "grabbed my balls and twisted them, when she....God I can't even speak it out loud...."

"Shush, you don't have to. I am listening and I won't go, but you don't have to tell me anything you find too....well delicate to tell, alright?", Nathalie tried to sooth him.

He nodded, avoiding her gaze.

"Let's just leave it at: I don't like anyone, if accidentally or on purpose, reaching between my buttcheeks, d'accord?"

"Oh", she just got out while she blushed deeply, from him even mentioning what his wife might have stuck up his.....and the rage that grew with each word he said.

Gabriel now shook his head to clear his thoughts.

"Oh for heaven's sake, I did the same to you as she did to me. I hurt you, I was abusive, I terrorised you and I didn't even have the guts, not even after she was dead, to tell you that I loved you. I somehow, even though it makes no sense, was terrified, she would find out, if I told you and come back to punish me!", he yelled, eventually meeting her eyes, before he kissed her savagely. "I promise to never again do that to you, my love, my dear, beloved Nathalie!"

Chapter 13: Memories

Though their sexual relationship worked out just fine, Marinette still worried about her boyfriend, as he woke up during many nights, all sweaty and mostly crying.

Marinette, who hadn't reconciled with her father yet, stayed with him for the nights and could quickly calm him down, but she was worrying a lot.

So one morning, when Gabriel was already working in his office and Adrien was already at an early fencing practice, before school even started, she decided to talk to Nathalie, who was having breakfast with her.

A couple of weeks had passed by now and the pregnant woman was still feeling nauseous in the mornings, yet she had quite some appetite, once she had thrown up.

And as Gabriel insisted, that she would stay in bed a little longer than him, she enjoyed having the first meal of the day with the young girl or both teenagers.

So, as they were alone today, Marinette carefully approached the matter:

"Uhm...Nathalie? You know about Adrien's nightmares, right?"

The dark haired woman looked up from her food and nodded.

"Do you know, why he has them?", she reluctantly questioned further.

Nathalie sighed and shrugged.

"I have a hunch and I hope every time, I think about it, that I am wrong, but....", she sighed again. "I am very certain, that it's something that Emilie, I mean, his mother did to him. Did he tell you?"

The teenager nodded.

"Well, kind of. In his dreams, he always begs his mummy to not hurt him and not make him do something, he doesn't like. And uhm....."

She blushed the moment she realized, what she was about to say, but gathered all her courage and did it anyway:

"In that night, when he stayed at my place, he woke up from one of his nightmares and I brought him up to my bed, to hold him and comfort him and on the way he was hesitant, so I tried to lighten up the situation, by saying, I wouldn't rape him and that only made his state worse. And then there was this first time, we....you know.....when I touched his.....you know that too.....he reacted similar, rolling himself into a ball and hugging his legs. Then he suddenly wanted to continue making out to not disappoint me! I am still not sure, what he was talking about!"

The boy's step mother groaned.

"I might know, who can tell me. But I have to ask him in private. He most certainly won't admit anything, when you're there too, but....that last part, you're a disappointment, he mentioned that before. Gabriel, I mean!"

Marinette agreed.

"I would feel by far too embarrassed to talk to him about me and Adrien and.....you know.....anyway!"

She giggled sheepishly.

"Is he getting better?", Nathalie now wondered.

The half Chinese girl shrugged.

"One day, I think, he is, and the next day, I think he isn't. But he told me, he has had them every night. At least this has improved. He never has nightmares after.....uhm, when we had....well...sex!"

She blushed even more now, but held Nathalie's gaze.

The assistant took another bite of her croissant and thought for a moment, then swallowed her sweet breakfast and drank a bit of coffee. Decaf sadly, but at least Gabriel didn't argue over every cup anymore, since she had started to drink this.

After placing the mug on the table, Nathalie kindly told Marinette:

"Well, first of all, thank you for being so open and talk to me about that. I will take care of that issue. But now you should hurry, because it's getting late already and you need to go. I will advice Gabriel, to let Adrien have regular doctor's appointments with a good psychiatrist!"

"He doesn't want to talk to anyone. He is sure, that him, being able to.....have sex with.....me.....would be enough and the problem would go away by itself. But I agree with you, that he should see a therapist. Maybe I can convince him, but please don't tell him, that I told you about it, not before you have made some kind of plan, okay?", the girl now pleaded desperately, scared he might break up with her, if he found out.

"I won't!", the woman said with a compassionate smile, "don't worry. And I will tell Gabriel not to do so either, until we can all sit together for it, alright?"

Marinette beamed at her, while she rapidly gulped down the rest of her breakfast.

"Thanks, see you later!"

"Have fun!", Nathalie called after the leaving young woman, but she had already slammed the door shut.

The pregnant woman shook her head with a loving smile, glad, that Adrien after all the bad things, that most likely had happened to him in the past, found the sweetest person he could wish for, who truly loved him and cared about him.

Suddenly noticing, that she was almost crying about that fact and wondering, where that came from, she widened her grin even more and laid a hand on her still flat and well toned belly, humming softly, as she looked down:

"That's your fault, I hope you know that. But I love you very much even if you turn me into an emotional moron!"

She then remembered, that she needed to speak with her husband and hurried to finish her breakfast, not without taking a bun with butter, cheese, marmelade, egg with salt and mayonnaise with her into the office, leaving the breakfast table for the kitchen helpers to clean up.

A/N: Before you judge, try the combination on that bun, it's delicious without being pregnant. I didn't believe my best friend when she ate that and really asked her, if she could be pregnant, but I tried it and it really is tasty. The jelly mixes with the mayonnaise and tastes similar to a sweet and sour sauce!

She entered quietly to not interrupt him, if he was drawing or taking notes on one of his tablets, but he was just standing there, staring at old pictures of Adrien and Emilie, looking up, when Nathalie entered the room.

"I never even noticed. How could I be so blind, to not see, how anxious the boy was each time, she was close to him? I wonder, what happened to make him like that!", he said wearily, already walking towards her.

"Actually", she begun reluctantly, "that's exactly, why I came here. I wanted to talk to you about the things, Emilie obviously did to Adrien!"

And then she told him everything, Marinette had told her, finishing with the question about what his dead wife had meant, when she was talking about disappointment.

"She said, he just wanted to go on, despite everything, to not disappoint her. I didn't ask any further but that sounded too familiar and I recalled that moment, when you were crying, because Emilie said that to you as well. So, please Gabriel, tell me, what was going on?"

The tall man sighed heavily and bent down to kiss her lips very tenderly, then laid an arm around her shoulders and nudged her to the middle of the room to take a seat.

"Let's sit down for that, it might take some time!", he explained and she nodded.

Before he started to tell her about his relationship with his deceased wife, he gently placed a hand on her belly, asking:

"First I want to know, how you two are doing. I can't wait for the next appointment at the doctor, so we can eventually see our little one. Too bad, that it was too early to really recognize anything!"

"We're actually feeling very emotional and peckish this morning!", she mused and pointed at the second breakfast, she had brought with her.

"I see!", Gabriel smiled, "so you're not feeling sick in the mornings any longer?"

She shrugged, trying to not make him worry, as everything that actually happened to her, was completely normal.

"I still throw up every morning, but I am fine for the rest of the day, so.....no need to be concerned. I can totally handle that!"

"That's good!"

He pecked her lips shortly, then leaned against the backrest, leaving his hand on her stomach, taking a deep breath.

"I am still so sorry, that I said that to you too. I never should have been like her. It was her way of manipulating me, us, into acting the way she wanted us to. In the beginning, when not every one of my designs was a hit, as it is now, no matter, what I do, she always told me, that I was nothing but a disappointment, living on her money, though I never did. The thought alone, that she would leave me, made me try harder, while I broke inside a little more each time. I really considered, applying for a day job in a manufactury, to work on a sewing machine to earn more money. But that probably would have made it even worse." Tears were glistening in his eyes, when he remembered the look she gave him back then.

Nathalie laid her own hand on top of his, lightly stroking the back of it with her thumb.

"Oh Gabriel!", she cooed, cupping his cheek with her other hand.

The designer smiled at her sadly, then continued.

"I think at some point I was so used to her, telling me that I was a disappointment, that I didn't even notice her saying that to Adrien as well!"

The tears were dripping on his chest now, as he sobbed:

"But I would have never thought, she would abuse him in a sexual way! Her own son. That fucking bitch, how could she do this to him? Why couldn't she love him? I didn't mind at some point, that she didn't care about me, but her own son! I can't.....I....oh God, Nathalie.....why haven't I been there to help him?"

She pulled him to her chest and stroked the top of his head, waiting for him, to calm down a little, before she asked the question, that burned on her tongue the most:

"Marinette said, Adrien begged her to not hurt him. Did", she inhaled deeply, pausing a moment, then exhaled, "...did she somehow hurt you too? When you told me, you liked it hard, you said, that was the one thing, Emilie couldn't please you with, but you were lying. I understand it now. It was the only thing you remembered, because she always hurt you in some way, right?"

She was now holding her hand still while he raised his head, to look at her.

"It wasn't completely like that. I....when she tried to hurt me.....I-I tried to do the same. Those were the only opportunities, when I was in control and she was the weaker one. When she....", he gulped, "grabbed my balls and twisted them, when she....God I can't even speak it out loud...."

"Shush, you don't have to. I am listening and I won't go, but you don't have to tell me anything you find too....well delicate to tell, alright?", Nathalie tried to sooth him.

He nodded, averting her gaze.

"Let's just leave it at: I don't like anyone, if accidentally or on purpose, reaching between my buttcheeks, d'accord?"

"Oh", she just got out while she blushed deeply, from him even mentioning what his wife might have stuck up his.....and the rage that grew with each word he said.

Gabriel now shook his head to clear his thoughts.

"Oh for heaven's sake, I did the same to you as she did to me. I hurt you, I was abusive, I

terrorised you and I didn't even have the guts, not even after she was dead, to tell you that I loved you. I somehow, even though it makes no sense, was terrified, she would find out, if I told you and come back to punish me!", he yelled, eventually meeting her eyes, before he kissed her savagely. "I promise to never again do that to you, my love, my dear, beloved Nathalie!"

Chapter 14: We Can Not Change The Past(?)

After Gabriel had calmed down a little bit, Nathalie carefully questioned him further:

"What else do you remember? You told me, at some point, you started to hurt her too. What....?"

He grabbed a tissue from Nathalie's nightstand and blew his nose, before he answered.

Taking a deep, loud breath, he started to speak again, while he laid his head on his beloved wife's legs, one hand stroking her still flat belly.

"I remember, that there were moments, when I could react and move, but I was just too trained on her needs and the pain, that would come, if I did something wrong, that it took me at least months, before I caught her wrists, while she did that thing.....", he swallowed hard, ".....I took a firm hold and rolled her onto her back, pinning her to the bed and started to literally squeeze and twist her breasts. She was screaming in pain, but so had I, so many times before, without her stopping her doing and so I continued, fucking her violently and then I suddenly heard her moan and scream and I couldn't help but get even more aroused by that. I decided to pay her back and without a warning I fucked her into her.....well.....you can imagine. It wasn't a good feeling, she tried to hurt my dick, by squeezing her butt cheeks together tightly, but I just took a hold of them and pulled them open, while I thrusted into her.

I felt pain, by doing so, because, well, I didn't even try to get any fluids or lubricant there, but Emilie? She cummed right underneath me, as I did that and lovestruck as I was, I started to have hope for our future again.

But from this day on, we only tried to hurt the other more than we got hurt. It was becoming more violent every time and while she loved and relished in it, I just tried to get it over with, as fast as I could.

Fuck! What if she started to abuse Adrien, because I always finished in a couple of minutes, so I could go back to my room? Oh Nathalie, is there anything in my life, I did not screw up from the very beginning?"

The young woman placed a hand on his, making him stop moving for a moment, and whispered:

"Please, Gabriel, stop accusing yourself! Get down into the basement and tell her. Yell and scream at her, burn her if necessary. But don't blame yourself for it!", she exclaimed, then thought for a moment, "well, maybe you shouldn't burn her, because, well, that's not legal, but yeah, anyway....."

Gabriel couldn't help it, but laughed over that statement. Nathalie stared at him for a short moment then joined in, both feeling a lot better after they did.

"You're right, my love, maybe I should tell her, even if she can't hear me anymore!"

"That didn't stop you before, when you were sulking in front of that coffin for years, darling!", she mocked him and felt relieved, when she saw him smirk.

Gabriel sat up slowly and turned around to tenderly kiss his wife's lips.

"I will never again let you suffer under my inability to see reality and cope with it!", he promised.

Nathalie gave him a kind stare and kissed him again, then smiled sheepishly, when she asked:

"You said, you had your first sexual intercourse at fifteen, how did that happen, if you had barely any social interactions back then?"

He grinned and relaxed at the thought, starting to tell her one of his good memories for a change:

"Well, despite being very protective of me, my parents, especially my mum, believed in traditions and rituals. That included, lucky me, a six week beach vacation in the summer and a two weeks Christmas vacation in the mountains.

This particular summer, we went to England and well, it was raining a lot, my English was by far too bad, to try the British TV program, same goes for the books, they had in the tiny bed and breakfast Hotel.

So all I could do was sit inside and talk to my parents or accept the offer of the owner's daughter, to put on our raincoats and go hiking and exploring in the forest, where the rain wouldn't be so bad.

She was glad, because she didn't have to do her tasks in the Hotel and I was, because, I could escape my parents' eyes!"

"Was she pretty?", Nathalie interjected curiously.

He nodded and took her hand into his, then went on.

"She was. At least to me, she was simply beautiful. My mum didn't like the way she looked, because to her, who was always on a tight diet plan and never missed her work out, she was simply overweight.

But she wasn't, she had a beautiful, round arse, as she called it, and big, well formed breasts, and, the first thing, my mother was ranting about, she wore glasses. So did I, but for my mother, it was a no go for a girl, who might try to date her precious son.

Sadly Sam, that was her name, short for Samantha, had heard my mother say those things about her, to convince me, she was no good for me. The girl was a year older than me and her French was about as good as my English, so she understood every word my mum said.

I had noticed her run off and gave my mother an angry look, than followed her, ignoring my father's calls to come back immediately.

When I caught up with her, she was crying and tried to push me away.

I told her, my mother was a stupid bitch and she started to laugh, because to her my accent sounded hilarious.

And then I told her, that she looked gorgeous. And that I loved the design of her shirt, to what she instantly wondered, if I was gay. She just didn't say it so polite! In fact, she asked, if I was a fag, because I cared about things like that!

Sam kept teasing me with that for hours until I eventually had enough and gave her a little push while we were walking side by side. She stumbled a couple of steps to the side and was already on her way back, to attack me, when she stepped into a huge puddle of mud and got stuck with both feet.

I tried to help her out and of course failed epically, so we both ended up lying in the goo.

And that she told me, that this was the prove, that I was nothing but a weak little faggot, who can't even pull a girl out of a little dirt hole.

And then I just kissed her, mainly to prove her wrong, but also because I wanted to do that, the first moment we met.

And uhm, I also was fifteen and her white shirt, she wore without a bra, was wet and dirty and I could see right through the fabric.

We spent every free minute with each other from that moment on, and the night before I had to leave, we did, what we had been longing for, in all those weeks of vacation. We slept with each other!"

"Did you see her again after that summer?", the now a little jealous woman interrogated.

Gabriel noticed the slight anger in her voice and teasingly said:

"You're jealous! That's really cute, but you have no need for it. I never saw her again. We kept writing letters to each other for about two years and later we send an eMail once or twice a year, for birthday and Christmas, but that's all. She has been married for almost twenty years yet, so, relax, my love!"

"I wasn't jealous at all!", Nathalie ranted and scooted a little bit to her right, bringing some distance between them.

The designer turned to his hands and knees and followed her, until she reached the end of the seats and couldn't go any further.

"You remind me a little bit of her, you know?", he whispered, as he cornered her and gave her the most apologetic look, he could master.

The hormonal female scoffed.

"So, now you're saying, I am fat?", she questioned threateningly.

"What?" he gushed out in disbelief. "I just told you, that my mother called her that. For me she was just perfect. As are you. Emilie was....she neither had an arse nor did she even need to wear a bra at all. She was the typical, anorexic model, though she looked like that naturally without the eating disorder. You my dear have everything, I like in a woman. You have beautiful breasts, an excellent figure and a butt, I could stare at for days, because it's so welltoned and soft at the same time. And there is something very special about you, Nath. You're very intelligent. That's a bonus, not many man like to deal with, but I prefer it that way. Now please stop acting up, you really are getting prettier and hotter with every day of that pregnancy, that passes by. And you will always have the most tempting boobs, I have ever laid eyes upon. So please my gorgeous wife, talk to me again!"

Nathalie looked at him remorsefully. Then out of nowhere she just broke into tears. And eventually she let Gabriel pull her into his arms.

"I'm s-s-sorry f-for everything, y-y-you both had to g-g-go through, Gabriel. It's too bad, that we cannot change the past! If o-only there was a way, t-t-to undo all th-the b-bad things!", she sobbed into the crook of his neck.

Gabriel tried to not think about it, but there actually was more than one miraculous, that would be able to change the past. And he couldn't stop his mind from imagining, how he would travel back to the moment, he had been physically and mentally abused for the first time. Or at least to the exact date and time of her first mistreating of their son. But then he imagined, that if he changed just a tiny thing in his past, he maybe would never end up here with the woman he loved so dearly in his arms, being married to her, having a baby together in by now less than eight months.

He sighed and kissed the top of Nathalie's head.

"I wouldn't say, we cannot change the past, but we shouldn't even try, my love. I will never use any magic jewel that could be the cause for me loosing you or hurting you, as I did before. You are my soulmate, Nathalie. So, therapy instead of time travel it is!", he mumbled wearily and hugged his wife a little tighter.

They decided to talk to the teenagers separately. Gabriel urgently needed to tell his son, that it wasn't just him, who had gotten hurt by his own mother, but his father as well. And, something very new to the man, he needed to do that in a careful and empathetic manner, to not make Adrien's constitution even worse.

Nathalie went to tell Marinette a summary of the whole story and not the details, Gabriel had bit by bit remembered as day turned into night and they still were cuddling and talking and kissing and comforting. They had moved from the office onto the sofa in the barely used living room though, because it was way more comfortable.

The half Chinese girl kept staring at Nathalie open mouthed, as she listened to her words. She finished her report with:

"I would understand you very well, if you felt as if all this was too much for you to handle, Marinette. So if you think, you can't cope with all of this, I won't judge you. You're very young and most likely weren't planning on dealing with a truck load of crap, so...."

"Nathalie, please stop! I would never even consider to leave him now. I swore that I'll be with him and help him through it, no matter what and I like to keep my promises. I really do love him. I am not somebody like Chloe or Lila, who would only want the nice and happy Adrien to be with. I never liked him because he's famous or rich. I fell for him, when he gave me his umbrella an let himself get soaked from the rain, just to prove to me, that he wasn't a bad person! I would die for him and I know he would do the same for me, so what do you have planned?", Marinette interjected before her boyfriend's mother could finish.

Gabriel had, after sending Marinette to Nathalie, taken place on Adrien's sofa and asked his son to join him, because there were a couple of serious things, they needed to talk about.

"Let me tell you about the things, I kept preserved in our basement first, Adrien. Then we can decide, what to do with them, after we spoke about the things that lie in the past, but still keep us both awake at night. Is there anything, you would have wanted to tell your....well Emilie before she left us? Because today would be the last chance for that, even if you had to tell it to her dead body. Are you ready, to overcome your fears and look forward to a normal and happy life, son?"

Adrien just sat beside him, his face bewildered, as he couldn't make much of what his father just said.

Chapter 15: Comfort

"I don't understand, father. What are you trying to tell me?", Adrien asked with a bewildered look on his face.

Gabriel sighed and carefully approached the matter:

"Well, Adrien, it's about, what your mother, what Émilie did to you. What she did to both of us. I am so sorry, that she did this. If I had known, if only I had noticed, I would have done something earlier, but until Nathalie told me today, I had no idea. And please, son, don't get mad at your girlfriend, she only wanted to help you. And I am sure, she wouldn't have spoken any further, if Nathalie hadn't known most of it anyway. At least, she knew about your nightmares. But she only told me recently, when you were taking back the miraculous and stayed the night with Ladybug, You don't have to tell me anything, but I just want you to know, that you can talk to me about the things, she made you do and did to you. I am sure, we have a couple of things in common, when it comes to that woman's pleasure in hurting people or forcing them to do something!"

The teenager had turned white as snow, listening to the things Gabriel told him.

"I-I have n-n-no idea, what...."

"Adrien stop! There is no need to deny it or try to tell me a lie, I know, that it feels embarrassing, that it's nothing, a man your age likes to talk about, but believe me, when I tell you, that I was forced to do several things too. I hate to talk about it, but I need to ask you a few things, so we, Nathalie, Marinette and I can help you to overcome this. Or at least learn to cope with it, without you waking up every other night. Yes, I already heard, that being with you girlfriend helps, but..."

He paused and looked at his son, who resembled his deceased wife so much.

"We all agree, that you and I should start a therapy. I....there just are a few things, I need to know, hopefully to make sure, she did 'not' do them to you. So...uhm...when she hurt you, how did she...? Did she hit you or do something else? Did.....did she ever....."

Adrien looked sceptic.

"What do you mean? How did she hurt you, father?"

The designer looked to the floor, when he mumbled:

"She had this device, that she would thrust with force into...."

"Don't! I don't even want to imagine. And no, she didn't do that to me!"

Gabriel sighed in relief.

"Well, that's at least something. That one thing really bothered me, thinking, how young you were. When.....when did she start, how old were you?"

The boy shrugged.

"I don't know exactly. Maybe five? She told me, it was our secret game and that it would make us both feel really good. And then she.....", he gulped, shaking his head as if he wanted to get rid of the image, "she wanted me to.....with my mouth.....I...."

Tears of shame and hatred were running down his cheeks now and Gabriel quickly scooted closer and hugged his son carefully.

"What happened if you said no?"

"She hit me. Twisted my skin, pulled my ears. Later, she just...", he looked down to his intimates and Gabriel understood instantly.

"Yeah, that's how she started hurting me too!"

Adrien gasped, being shocked by his father admitting to that.

"What did she thrust into your, you know?", he then asked quietly, his face dark red and his eyes averted to the side, though couldn't help and gaze at the place, he was certain, his father had spoken about.

The older man sighed and took off his glasses, rubbing his eyes with one hand, then put them back on and stared outside the window, his hands trembling.

"I'd rather not tell you, let me just say, it's something you can find on the same shelf, as gags, whips, cuffs and things like that. For those people, who like to get hurt during or before or whenever in their sexual interactions. Your.....Emilie, she liked to hurt others and get hurt too, but....it's nothing to even think of, when one of them isn't comfortable with it, do you hear me? And never, I repeat, never should a man or a woman force their partner to do something!"

The young man nodded.

"I understand, father. But honestly, what did you mean, with basement and telling what I have to say to her dead body? Are you telling me, she is....down there?"

He pointed with his finger to the floor.

"Yes, she is! She is conserved in a glass coffin, so I could look at her and talk to her every day, using those cursed jewels to get the miraculous, I could wish her back with. But luckily I eventually wasn't blinded by the things she had somehow placed inside my head anymore and started to remember the truth. When she was about to die, she made me promise, to bring her back, and I swore, I would, being convinced, that I loved her dearly and couldn't exist without her. I still have no idea, how she did that!", he tried to justify his behaviour over the last years.

"I might have an idea!", came from the doorway and Marinette entered with Nathalie.

"Sorry, we didn't mean to listen in on your conversation", the former assistant now apologized, "but when Marinette heard about the miraculous, she just had to."

"Yeah, sorry, but I think I know. The powers of the miraculous are only limited by the one using it. Maybe she found out, how to use the kwami of emotions to control or create emotions inside others. That would explain, why you thought for so long, that you loved her. And it would explain, why it changed, the moment. you gave the jewels up. Maybe an amok can also control you, when you're having the object with the feather on you 24/7. She could have put it into the butterfly miraculous, knowing, you would never take it off. And somehow Nathalie, who used the peacock miraculous too, could get through to you. If with her unconditional love or because she somehow could undo the magic, I don't know, but I am glad for all three of you, that she did. And I think, if Emilie is really still somewhere in this mansion, you should get rid of her very soon. Maybe she has done something to herself too, so you would stay attached. If you want to, you can wear my earrings and transform before you go there for the last time. Being Ladybug or Mr Bug or someone similar, should protect you from the possible influence of another amok!"

Marinette took a deep breath after the long speech and looked around shyly, feeling self conscious all of a sudden. Gabriel though laid a hand on her shoulder and admitted:

"Thank you, for the kind offer, but if you're right about this, I don't dare to go near that coffin ever again, especially not with the miraculous, with that I was one step closer to fulfilling that wish. And though I don't feel like being in the position, to ask you for anything, after all I've done, would you, for Adrien's sake, help me taking care of this problem? I don't know how to get her out of her unseen, but...."

"Kaalki", Adrien interjected.

"Who?", Nathalie and Gabriel blurted out in unison.

"Horse miraculous", Marinette explained, then nodded at her boyfriend, "you're right, kitty. If I transform into Pegabug, I can get her out of here and take her to any place you want me to. But I think, it would be best, to talk to the celestial guardian, Su-Han first. Maybe they can take her to the temple and keep whatever danger might come from her contained!"

The tall man gave her a grateful smile.

"Th-That would be g-great, thank you. What do you think, how long...."

"Spots on!", the young heroine appeared and laughed at their shocked faces/

"Show me, where she is, please. I will then get into contact with the guardian and hopefully we#ll have her out of here in less than an hour!", she demanded from Gabriel, then turned to her boyfriend.

"Come, Kitty. You should see her and say goodbye or yell at her or anything that comes to your mind. But you must get disclosure, alright?"

"Claws out!"

Turning into ChatNoir, he took the hand, Ladybug was holding out for him and together they made their way into the basement, after Nathalie had showed them the secret buttons in Emilie's painting.

When the pregnant woman left the office, she saw Gabriel standing in the hallway, waiting for her, his head hanging low.

"Come!", she said softly and interlinked her left with his right to pull him to their bedroom. There she made him sit on the mattress and placed herself on her knees right behind him, her arms wrapped around his waist, her chin resting on his shoulder, their cheeks touching.

"I am here Gabriel. I love you and I swore, I would never hurt you. There is no more need to be strong, you can just be yourself with me!", she hummed, rocking him gently back and forth.

He let out a loud sob and tried to cover his face with his hands, leaning away from her, but Nathalie held him tight and kissed him behind his ear, then down the back of his neck and further to his shoulder, there she lingered, waiting for his reaction.

It came quick, as he whirled around and grabbed around her back with one arm and under her legs with the other, laying her down on her back as he did and crawled on top of her, hovering close above the woman he loved so much, his whole body trembling.

"I want you, Nathalie, I always want you. But I am not sure, that we should even start right now, because I am not in control of myself at the moment. I would only hurt you. And I could never forgive myself, if something happened to you or our baby!"

"Speaking of...", she now began, as she had remembered something important, "I have another doctor's appointment this afternoon. I hope you still want to come? Maybe this can cheer you up a little bit? Seeing our little baby for the first time, not just some white stains in the black background!"

She could feel him calm down, as he heard her talk about their child, about wanting him to take part in everything, yet still he was reminded of Emilie, who never let him come to her appointments with her. He wasn't even allowed, to touch her belly, never had felt Adrien kick, before he was born. Then he had him mostly to himself, as she didn't care much.

"I would love that", he uttered hoarsely, tears brimming his eyes.

But Nathalie knew him well by now and had a tiny idea on how to make him feel better.

Pecking his lips, while stroking along his chest with her hands, she whispered seductively:

"You know, when I think of the appointment, I get really nervous and tense. Do you think, you can help me relax?"

And with a mischievous smirk she slipped one hand in between them and directly inside his pants and boxers, making him flinch and moan at once.

The trembling was back, yet this time it was his anticipation. He couldn't help it, but each time, his wife touched him, he immediately wanted to get lost in her warmth and the pleasure they gave each other.

"Fuck, darling, you know I can't resist you, no matter how hard I try. And I don't even want to try, because I just want to be one with you all of the time, feel your warmth and your tight little cave, your sweet little whimpers and those hot, sexy, provocative moans, when you start to rock against me with that amazingly toned arse, that feels so incredibly good in my hands. I want to suck on your breasts and massage them, until you are dripping wet, so I can impale you with ease, feeling your walls tighten, when you're about to come and then release deep inside of you, filling you up with my juice, want my hard dick to throb and twitch while doing so, while I feel your pelvis start to twitch as well and hear you scream my name!", he rasped, making Nathalie groan.

"Oh God yes, just do it then! And I must admit, you already got me wet with your words alone, so please, don't torture me any longer and just do it!"

Chapter 16: Participants In Therapy

"I don't understand, father. What are you trying to tell me?", Adrien asked with a bewildered look on his face.

Gabriel sighed and carefully approached the matter:

"Well, Adrien, it's about, what your mother, what Émilie did to you. What she did to both of us. I am so sorry, that she did this. If I had known, if only I had noticed, I would have done something earlier, but until Nathalie told me today, I had no idea. And please, son, don't get mad at your girlfriend, she only wanted to help you. And I am sure, she wouldn't have spoken any further, if Nathalie hadn't known most of it anyway. At least, she knew about your nightmares. But she only told me recently, when you were taking back the miraculous and stayed the night with Ladybug, You don't have to tell me anything, but I just want you to know, that you can talk to me about the things, she made you do and did to you. I am sure, we have a couple of things in common, when it comes to that woman's pleasure in hurting people or forcing them to do something!"

The teenager had turned white as snow, listening to the things Gabriel told him.

"I-I have n-n-no idea, what...."

"Adrien stop! There is no need to deny it or try to tell me a lie, I know, that it feels embarrassing, that it's nothing, a man your age likes to talk about, but believe me, when I tell you, that I was forced to do several things too. I hate to talk about it, but I need to ask you a few things, so we, Nathalie, Marinette and I can help you to overcome this. Or at least learn to cope with it, without you waking up every other night. Yes, I already heard, that being with you girlfriend helps, but..."

He paused and looked at his son, who resembled his deceased wife so much.

"We all agree, that you and I should start a therapy. I....there just are a few things, I need to know, hopefully to make sure, she did 'not' do them to you. So...uhm...when she hurt you, how did she...? Did she hit you or do something else? Did.....did she ever....."

Adrien looked sceptic.

"What do you mean? How did she hurt you, father?"

The designer looked to the floor, when he mumbled:

"She had this device, that she would thrust with force into...."

"Don't! I don't even want to imagine. And no, she didn't do that to me!"

Gabriel sighed in relief.

"Well, that's at least something. That one thing really bothered me, thinking, how young you were. When.....when did she start, how old were you?"

The boy shrugged.

"I don't know exactly. Maybe five? She told me, it was our secret game and that it would make us both feel really good. And then she.....", he gulped, shaking his head as if he wanted to get rid of the image, "she wanted me to.....with my mouth.....I...."

Tears of shame and hatred were running down his cheeks now and Gabriel quickly scooted closer and hugged his son carefully.

"What happened if you said no?"

"She hit me. Twisted my skin, pulled my ears. Later, she just...", he looked down to his intimates and Gabriel understood instantly.

"Yeah, that's how she started hurting me too!"

Adrien gasped, being shocked by his father admitting to that.

"What did she thrust into your, you know?", he then asked quietly, his face dark red and his eyes averted to the side, though couldn't help and gaze at the place, he was certain, his father had spoken about.

The older man sighed and took off his glasses, rubbing his eyes with one hand, then put them back on and stared outside the window, his hands trembling.

"I'd rather not tell you, let me just say, it's something you can find on the same shelf, as gags, whips, cuffs and things like that. For those people, who like to get hurt during or before or whenever in their sexual interactions. Your.....Emilie, she liked to hurt others and get hurt too, but....it's nothing to even think of, when one of them isn't comfortable with it, do you hear me? And never, I repeat, never should a man or a woman force their partner to do something!"

The young man nodded.

"I understand, father. But honestly, what did you mean, with basement and telling what I have to say to her dead body? Are you telling me, she is....down there?"

He pointed with his finger to the floor.

"Yes, she is! She is conserved in a glass coffin, so I could look at her and talk to her every day, using those cursed jewels to get the miraculous, I could wish her back with. But luckily I eventually wasn't blinded by the things she had somehow placed inside my head anymore and started to remember the truth. When she was about to die, she made me promise, to bring her back, and I swore, I would, being convinced, that I loved her dearly and couldn't exist without her. I still have no idea, how she did that!", he tried to justify his behaviour over the last years.

"I might have an idea!", came from the doorway and Marinette entered with Nathalie.

"Sorry, we didn't mean to listen in on your conversation", the former assistant now apologized, "but when Marinette heard about the miraculous, she just had to."

"Yeah, sorry, but I think I know. The powers of the miraculous are only limited by the one using it. Maybe she found out, how to use the kwami of emotions to control or create emotions inside others. That would explain, why you thought for so long, that you loved her. And it would explain, why it changed, the moment. you gave the jewels up. Maybe an amok can also control you, when you're having the object with the feather on you 24/7. She could have put it into the butterfly miraculous, knowing, you would never take it off. And somehow Nathalie, who used the peacock miraculous too, could get through to you. If with her unconditional love or because she somehow could undo the magic, I don't know, but I am glad for all three of you, that she did. And I think, if Emilie is really still somewhere in this mansion, you should get rid of her very soon. Maybe she has done something to herself too, so you would stay attached. If you want to, you can wear my earrings and transform before you go there for the last time. Being Ladybug or Mr Bug or someone similar, should protect you from the possible influence of another amok!"

Marinette took a deep breath after the long speech and looked around shyly, feeling self conscious all of a sudden. Gabriel though laid a hand on her shoulder and admitted:

"Thank you, for the kind offer, but if you're right about this, I don't dare to go near that coffin ever again, especially not with the miraculous, with that I was one step closer to fulfilling that wish. And though I don't feel like being in the position, to ask you for anything, after all I've done, would you, for Adrien's sake, help me taking care of this problem? I don't know how to get her out of her unseen, but...."

"Kaalki", Adrien interjected.

"Who?", Nathalie and Gabriel blurted out in unison.

"Horse miraculous", Marinette explained, then nodded at her boyfriend, "you're right, kitty. If I transform into Pegabug, I can get her out of here and take her to any place you want me to. But I think, it would be best, to talk to the celestial guardian, Su-Han first. Maybe they can take her to the temple and keep whatever danger might come from her contained!"

The tall man gave her a grateful smile.

"Th-That would be g-great, thank you. What do you think, how long...."

"Spots on!", the young heroine appeared and laughed at their shocked faces/

"Show me, where she is, please. I will then get into contact with the guardian and hopefully we#ll have her out of here in less than an hour!", she demanded from Gabriel, then turned to her boyfriend.

"Come, Kitty. You should see her and say goodbye or yell at her or anything that comes to your mind. But you must get disclosure, alright?"

"Claws out!"

Turning into ChatNoir, he took the hand, Ladybug was holding out for him and together they made their way into the basement, after Nathalie had showed them the secret buttons in Emilie's painting.

When the pregnant woman left the office, she saw Gabriel standing in the hallway, waiting for her, his head hanging low.

"Come!", she said softly and interlinked her left with his right to pull him to their bedroom. There she made him sit on the mattress and placed herself on her knees right behind him, her arms wrapped around his waist, her chin resting on his shoulder, their cheeks touching.

"I am here Gabriel. I love you and I swore, I would never hurt you. There is no more need to be strong, you can just be yourself with me!", she hummed, rocking him gently back and forth.

He let out a loud sob and tried to cover his face with his hands, leaning away from her, but Nathalie held him tight and kissed him behind his ear, then down the back of his neck and further to his shoulder, there she lingered, waiting for his reaction.

It came quick, as he whirled around and grabbed around her back with one arm and under her legs with the other, laying her down on her back as he did and crawled on top of her, hovering close above the woman he loved so much, his whole body trembling.

"I want you, Nathalie, I always want you. But I am not sure, that we should even start right now, because I am not in control of myself at the moment. I would only hurt you. And I could never forgive myself, if something happened to you or our baby!"

"Speaking of...", she now began, as she had remembered something important, "I have another doctor's appointment this afternoon. I hope you still want to come? Maybe this can cheer you up a little bit? Seeing our little baby for the first time, not just some white stains in the black background!"

She could feel him calm down, as he heard her talk about their child, about wanting him to take part in everything, yet still he was reminded of Emilie, who never let him come to her appointments with her. He wasn't even allowed, to touch her belly, never had felt Adrien kick, before he was born. Then he had him mostly to himself, as she didn't care much.

"I would love that", he uttered hoarsely, tears brimming his eyes.

But Nathalie knew him well by now and had a tiny idea on how to make him feel better.

Pecking his lips, while stroking along his chest with her hands, she whispered seductively:

"You know, when I think of the appointment, I get really nervous and tense. Do you think, you can help me relax?"

And with a mischievous smirk she slipped one hand in between them and directly inside his pants and boxers, making him flinch and moan at once.

The trembling was back, yet this time it was his anticipation. He couldn't help it, but each time, his wife touched him, he immediately wanted to get lost in her warmth and the pleasure they gave each other.

"Fuck, darling, you know I can't resist you, no matter how hard I try. And I don't even want to try, because I just want to be one with you all of the time, feel your warmth and your tight little cave, your sweet little whimpers and those hot, sexy, provocative moans, when you start to rock against me with that amazingly toned arse, that feels so incredibly good in my hands. I want to suck on your breasts and massage them, until you are dripping wet, so I can impale you with ease, feeling your walls tighten, when you're about to come and then release deep inside of you, filling you up with my juice, want my hard dick to throb and twitch while doing so, while I feel your pelvis start to twitch as well and hear you scream my name!", he rasped, making Nathalie groan.

"Oh God yes, just do it then! And I must admit, you already got me wet with your words alone, so please, don't torture me any longer and just do it!"

Chapter 17: This Is All Wrong

"I am not sure, what you are trying to tell me!", Marinette asked the middle aged man, who sat in front of her and Adrien. It was his psychologist and he had told the young man, to bring his girlfriend here with him, so he could talk to her about the model's progress and the further procedure.

He had been attending the appointments twice a week for three months now and despite telling Marinette, he was feeling a lot better, he still had some issues and therefor his therapist had suggested this conversation with the two of them.

"I am telling you, that I would like you, to be here, when Adrien tells me about the things, his mother did. It's crucial, that you know, why he is reacting in a certain way, if anything you do or say, triggers him to as I've heard, cry or roll into a ball or hide somewhere. Only if you are here and listen to his memories, we can help him through this. I am not very fond of medication at such a young age, so I'd rather handle this without. But that means, that I must force Adrien to remember everything and I won't try to say anything else or paint it pretty, it's gonna be tough and it's gonna be interminable. But it will be worth it in the end. So, can I count you in on that?", the dark haired male now wondered after his explanation.

Marinette looked at him open mouthed, then over at her boyfriend, who kept his gaze on the floor.

"Kitty?", she whispered softly and grabbed his hand, "are you okay with me being here, while you tell those things? I will do whatever it takes, to help you get better, but I need to know, if you're comfortable with me, hearing about your worst traumas."

He carefully lifted his hand, while squeezing her hand tightly and gave her a weary smile.

"I am not comfortable with it. But neither am I with talking about it at all. You being there too at least makes me feel safe. No matter how embarrassing it might become, I trust you and if you tell me, you don't judge me for the things I did, so my mother would stop to hurt me, I believe you. And I would be very grateful for your help even though I will never be able to pay you back!", he told her hoarsely.

The young woman took a short glimpse at the therapist then asked him:

"Are we far enough in this therapy, to make a really bad joke? Even if it's the truth?"

The therapist chuckled.

"Everybody has a very own way of coping with things, if yours is humour, then go for it!"

She inhaled deeply, knowing what she was about to say was wrong but at the same time also very true.

"You know, Adrien, even if it made you feel bad then, you acquired quite some skills with your mouth and as you like it when we.... you know, I just say, that's by far enough to thank me!", she quickly gushed out, then hid her face in the crook of his neck in embarrassment.

The young model gasped, but hugged her tightly and said:

"Well, I'm glad, you like it!"

Then he started to smirk, then to grin widely and eventually he began to laugh out freely and grabbed her face to kiss her savagely.

"You know, that this is very sick to say, but well, it's actually true. I love your for your way of blurting out, what others would find very inappropriate!"

They kissed again, when they heard the man across the table clear his throat.

"Well", he said as he had their attention again, "this was....new. But it showed me, what I was hoping for. While he really struggles, to name a lot of things, if he is talking to me, he just feels very comfortable, talking about it with you! So do you think you can find the time to come to his appointments?"

Marinette nodded.

"Of course I can. I come here with him anyway, to wait in the cafe downstairs and do my homework in the meantime!"

When they arrived back at the bakery, Marinette and Tom had eventually made piece with each other about a month ago, they went upstairs into the young woman's room after barely greeting her parents.

Her father was already about to follow them, as usually overly concerned about his only child, but Sabine stopped him.

"Don't", she hissed, "Marinette has been in therapy with him today and I am very sure, they have some things to talk about right now, so don't interfere!"

Letting out a deep sigh, Tom agreed:

"Fine, but if I hear anything strange....."

"Then you'll stay here too. It was bad enough, when you barged in there last time. What if they are really doing....you know! And don't tell me, you would like to make your daughter feel bad on purpose, just because you're scared to loose your little girl. If you go on like that, you're going to loose her even faster. So relax. They're both responsible, almost adults. I am sure, they are using some contraceptive!"

"Contraceptive?", he hissed, so the customers who were just entering the bakery wouldn't hear him.

"Oh Tom, please, as if we hadn't done things like that at their age!", Sabine shook her head in disbelief over his double standards.

Grunting into his beard he turned around and went to the back of the bakery, leaving Sabine in the front to serve the customers.

The young couple was sitting on Marinette's chaise longe, awkwardly staring at each other, neither daring to speakfor now.

Eventually the young woman took a deep breath and said:

"This is all wrong! From the very beginning, this should have never even happened. But sitting there, listening to everything, you, having to speak about everything, I don't know, how we can handle that, Adrien. I am willing to do everything for you, but promise me please, if there are moments when I just leave the room, it's because I can't stand it at that particular moment. But as the therapist told you, he will record your narrations anyway, I will listen to them, when I feel able to. Do you think, you can do that? Watching me leave the room and still tell your worst trauma?"

The young man nodded. Then he scooted closer and pulled his girlfriend into his arms.

"As you are willing to do everything for me, I am willing to relive all of it, so I can become the man, I want to be for you. Before you start: and for myself! Deal?", he cooed.

"It's a sad one, but yeah, deal! Let's seal it with a kiss!", she sighed and climbed onto his lap to kiss him passionately.

"Woah!", he stopped her as she started to pull at his shirt, "what are you up to?"

She chuckled.

"Well, I thought, we both needed a bit of a distraction, don't you think?" Adrien wiggled his eyebrows, then nodded and whispered something into her ear.

"ADRIEN!", she exclamed in shock.

"What? You said it yourself just an hour earlier, I've aquired quite some skills with that. So why don't you just seize the moment and let my dextrous tongue do something you like!", he giggled.

"You can't just say things like that! I felt bad enough to mention that at all. But I thought, it would make it a little easier for you, to not feel bad about it anymore. I mean, you certainly know, what you are doing, but.....", she buried her reddened face in her hands.

"Oh come on, bugaboo. Just get up there on your bed or lock that darn door, so I can show you, what else I can do! Though I learned that particular 'skill' while I was with you!" "Adrien, what are you.....oh, that!", she suddenly remembered, "but, I-I told you, th-that was an accident, I didn't mean to....I was just teasing you, when I slipped and..."

"And made it worth for the both of us, M'lady!", he snickered.

Gabriel's therapy was way further in success, as he, after the influence of whatever Emilie had done to him, by using the miraculous, was gone and he didn't feel the threat and the fear anymore, since Nathalie was all the time very calm and gentle in their interactions. Though he still felt guilty for how he had treated her in the beginning, he made real progress and so did his wife, who accompanied him there, to deal with her very own trauma at the same time. Maybe it was the fact, that they went through everything together because they were doing this in a couples therapy. Maybe it was the true love, through which the young woman had been able to get through to him. All they knew was, that they fell in love with each other a little more every day.

Waking up in the morning, to look at the beautiful woman beside him, made him incredibly happy, as did the by now very visible bump and the soft kicks of his unborn child. It had been only two days ago, when he could eventually feel, what Nathalie had been talking about for weeks now.

It had been in the evening and the young woman, who just wouldn't agree to cut a little back on her work, had let herself fall backwards onto the mattress in their bedroom with a loud groan, followed by a relieved sigh.

Gabriel had been just behind her, as usual forcing her to finally go to sleep and get some rest, and sat down next to his pregnant wife, his left hand gently rubbing her belly, his right grabbing Nathalie's hand to place tender little kisses on her palm.

"Oh please, sweetie, stop kicking, yeah?", she told towards their little one, "this baby always gets up, when I try to lie down! Here!"

And then she had nudged his hand to a different spot and he had finally been able to feel her kick. They didn't know the gender yet, but Gabriel insisted, that it was a little girl.

Now the young soon to be mother opened her eyes and looked at her husband, then started to smile.

"Are you ready to find out our baby's gender today, darling?", she wondered and stretched, making her shirt slip upwards and as she was also arching her back, made her belly seem large.

"I like the sight, love", Gabriel cooed, "can't wait for it to look like this every morning!"

"Oh, I can. I already have to pee again and my back is hurting too. I wonder, how bad this will get!", Nathalie lamented.

"Do you want me to give you a massage? Or rather a warm bath? I would really love to make it easier on you, dear. I've read on one of those information pages, that a lot of women have an aching back that early, but also. that it will get better again!", he told his beloved woman and leaned in to kiss her passionately.

Her body reacted fast, as it always did over those last couple of month and she laid her arms around his neck and pulled him close, then whispered into his ear, in the most seductive voice she could master:

"If you continue to kiss me like that and not only on my lips, it might ease my pain too, Gabriel!"

He grinned lecherously and smashed his mouth back on hers, while he slowly grabbed the hem of her shirt and shoved it upwards and over her head. Then he did the same with her laced panties only towards her feet, before he parted her thighs by slipping one leg in between, then the other, while he bent down to caress her areolas with his tongue. Just his tongue. He drove her crazy and annoyed her at the same time with that, as she longed for his lips to close around her nipples, which had turned a lot darker lately.

"Gabriel, stop messing with me, please", she moaned. Even if it felt like torture it aroused her a lot.

Cupping each of her breasts very carefully with one hand, he gently pressed them together to then lick and suck at both at the same time.

"Get out of that, darling", she demanded and tugged at his shirt and underpants, "you know how much I love to feel your skin on mine!"

"Whatever you wish, my love!", Gabriel said and quickly got rid of his clothes to then get back into his previous position, easing his wife's agony, by cupping his lips over her left nipple and sucked on it strongly.

"Oh yesssss!", she cried out and he closed his eyes and inhaled sharply, his woman's pleasure turning him on a lot. He started to rub his protruding erection along her folds, while he kept sucking and lapping on her nipples.

Grabbing the aroused female's thighs, he bent them upwards and stood her feet up on the duvet, then he slowly thrusted into her entrance, making her immediately push towards him, meeting him halfway.

"Oh fuck, Nathalie, you're killing me!", he grunted while he pulled back to push into her depth again. And again. Until his heart was beating fast and he felt lightheaded, the wonderful sensation of the nearing orgasm filling his body and his head, and he unconsciously placed his palm on her mount of venus, to then rub her little nub with his thumb, to what the pregnant woman let out a surprised but very pleased whimper.

A few seconds later, her hips rocked against his, her whole body seemed to tense and she let out an echoing cry, as she felt her release through every single cell of her body.

Gabriel, being very close himself, only needed a few more thrusts until he poured his fluids into her tight depth, groaning and panting, then roaring out her name, while his member was pulsating deep inside of her, keeping her on her high until she felt him shrink and eventually her tension resolved and she collapsed back on the mattress with a last high pitched moan and a blissful smile.

"Holy shit!", she blurted out, after catching some breath.

"So, you're pain's better than?", Gabriel chuckled and kissed her passionately.

Chapter 18: I Don't Like, Where This Is Going

Tom had almost escaped his wife and made it upstairs, if he hadn't been as broad and Sabine as tiny to easily slip past him and block his way.

"Just leave the kids alone, Tom!", she hissed angrily, so the teenagers wouldn't hear them.

"But I heard my daughter cry for...."

"Certainly not for you!", Sabine spat and nudged him back into the kitchen, "you can't just barge in there, when you know exactly, what you'll be interrupting!"

"But.....he is hurting her, by the sound of it. I really don't like, where this is going!"

"Well, my dear husband, if this is what pain sounds like, I would love to be in pain like that for once!", she now mockingly said.

"So now you are complaining about your....about our.....sexual activities?", he yelled not even caring who might hear them.

"Which sexual 'activities' are you talking about? The quicky once a month? I know, that we're not teenagers anymore and that we're both tired after work, but don't ruin it for your daughter, because you're getting too old for it!", she now scolded him.

"Too old?", he bellowed, "I am going to show you too old right now!"

He grabbed his much smaller wife around the waist and carried her to their bedroom, to prove his qualities as a lover to her.

Marinette was lying on her back, still panting from the very intense orgasm, their very special position had given her and groaned.

"Why? Why do they have to start arguing about that just when we...."

Adrien laughed and turned around to scoot up to her and kiss her lips very softly.

"I know, after being on good terms with your dad again, you wanted to spend some time here, but, don't you think, we would be better off at my place?"

The girl nodded and cackled:

"Yeah, your dad and Nathalie are at least so discrete, that they don't start to yell at each other, when they hear us!"

"Maybe that's because they are doing it just as much as we, maybe even more. I overheard a conversation, between them and Nathalie told my dad, that her hormones kinda made her horny all of the time, so....!

Marinette slapped his upper arm to that.

"Adrien, it is not very nice to listen to such a conversation. You should have stopped as soon as you noticed, what they were talking about!", she scolded him.

He grinned sheepishly, as he objected:

"Well, from the sound of it they had already started to undress each other and I just tried to sneak past them, when they eventually went into their bedroom, as they had started in the office and I was sitting in the corner, reading and waiting for my bodyguard. Should I have told them, that I was there and made it awkward for all of us or wasn't it better, to look away and pretend I wasn't there?"

Now the half Chinese girl laughed.

"Well, Kitty, if you put it that way, you acted absolutely right!"

He bowed and cheered:

"Thank you M'lady, for the applause!"

They both laughed at his little act, as Adrien got quiet again and stared at his girlfriend for a moment. Then he pulled her into his arms and whispered huskily:

"I can't wait for us to have children of our own. I really would love to see you horny all of the time!"

The young woman shook her head laughing.

"You mean even more horny, than I already am? Do you think, you can handle an even worse state of wanting each other all the time?"

He smirked at his beloved girl mischievously, as he teasingly muttered:

"Who knows, maybe you already are and that's why you can neither resist me nor keep your hands off of me!"

"You really think you're funny, right? Because you so are not. And by the way, would we have such a frequent need for new condoms, if we weren't using them? And, most of all, wouldn't I be feeling anything else but just a constant arousal?", the teenage girl rambled.

"Well, I don't know. but I might recall a couple of times, when we ran out of condoms and didn't stop despite that!", he brought on.

"Yeah, when it wasn't a dangerous time for getting accidentally pregnant, because we used up all the condoms already again!", she was getting angry by now. "Could you please stop with the crap now? I am certainly not pregnant! Wouldn't you agree, that I would be the first to notice anything different with my body?"

"Well.....no, I will rather keep my mouth shut!", he murmured barely audible by now.

His sudden shyness and the distance he put between them made her feel bad for getting angry and she scooted closer again, laying her arms around him and kissed his cheek.

"I'm sorry for getting so worked up, Minou! Just tell me, what you wanted to say. I promise, I won't get loud again!"

He turned his head, to look into her eyes.

"It's just that tiny thing, that you didn't even notice, Marinette. I did though!"

"Well, what's that, Adrien?"

"I would like you to think about the last time, you told me, we couldn't do it, because you were having your period. Do you even remember the last time?", he reluctantly questioned, being scared she would get furious despite her promise.

But she laughed at him and exclaimed:

"Well, of course i do know that!"

"Tell me the date then!", he pleaded.

Narrowing her eyes, she tried to make out the day on the calendar on the opposite wall.

"Well", she then admitted, "I can't tell you the exact date, but it can' be longer then two or three weeks. So...what do you say to that?"

The young man shook his head.

"You are very wrong, because I do remember the exact date and it wasn't two or three weeks ago, but more like....uhm....eight?", he only mouthed the last word.

"Could you say that louder, Adrien?", she asked him annoyed.

"I said eight!", he now blurted out, making her pale immediately.

"Y-Y-You are messing with m-me, r-right?", Marinette stuttered, her voice squeaky.

He shook his head as he laid his arms around her and pulled her taut.

"I am not making fun with stuff like that, Marinette. But, as you already said, you don't feel any different at all, there can be a lot of different reasons for you not having your period for so long. I did a bit of research, when I found out, that I am about to become a big brother and there are like a hundred other things, which can make it be late or don't come at all for some time. Still, we should, just in case, get one of those tests very soon, so we can be sure, don't you think?", the blond boy suggested serenely.

"How can you stay so calm?", the young woman cried in a high pitched tone now.

Adrien just laughed and explained:

"Well, it won't change anything, if I get all worked up, right? I figured, you needed me to stay calm, when you would start to freak out. And I also knew, you would freak out, so...."

Nathalie was nervous. They were sitting in the waiting area of her gynaecologist, where she had another appointment today. Both were hoping, to figure out their child's gender. Gabriel, who was still convinced, that it was a girl, had already looked up names, while young mother to be tried to slow him down a little bit.

"What if it's a boy, Gabriel? Will you still be able to love him? You are obsessed with the thought of having a little girl, you know? I just can't figure out, why!"

He smiled blissfully, as he placed his hand on her growing belly, to rub along it, until he was met with a strong kick and chuckled softly.

"It's rather simple. We already have a son and I just want a little girl, who looks just as pretty as her mum. Those turquoise eyes, the almost black hair, with that blueish-purple glance, the soft porcelain skin, those lips. And like I said before, imagine her, having my talent and your intelligence. Your beauty would be wasted to a boy, my love!", he explained to her, or rather he tried to explain, as he couldn't completely understand it himself.

She wiped a single tear from her cheek, before she responded:

"This was the most beautiful thing, I have ever heard a father say about his unborn child. And I've been to a lot of parent meetings for you. Whenever those fathers were about to have a baby, they were speaking about toys and things to do with their sons and how they would protect their daughters from boys. But none of them even mentioned things like intelligence or talent. They all just wanted beautiful or sportive kids. But one thing was utterly wrong, darling. A boy would be very handsome too. Imagine him with your height, your features, your whole shape. And then with the dark hair and my eyes. Or better, a mixture of our eye colours. And with both our talent and intelligence. I have some things, I am really good at too. I can for example do more accurate drawings than you, especially when it comes to surroundings with straight lines and right angles. Or even perspectives, because you really suck at that. Your designs always look perfect, but that is partly, because people don't care about correct angles and heights and partly, because I correct it, when you are done for the day."

He gasped.

"So that's why you so often work longer than me. I want you to stop immediately Nathalie. And I won't accept a no this time. You can show me, where I went wrong and teach me, how to do it right, but you will finish your work before I do from now on. Do you understand me?", he ordered.

"Yes, Sir!", Nathalie muttered, her voice weak and trembling.

His heart seemed to stop for a moment.

"My love", he lilted, "I didn't mean it as an order! Well, I actually did, but not as your boss, but as your husband, who is scared about your and our baby's health. Please don't feel hurt or be mad. I didn't mean to yell either. I was just scared, Nathalie!"

She gave him a derogatory look.

"Darling please, stop being mad at me. I was just worried, my love. I swear, I won't be like that again!", Gabriel begged now.

She scoffed.

"You will most certainly be like that again, but it's okay. I know, that you're just concerned. But please don't lie to me, by saying, it won't happen again, because it will. But you notice it now, something you couldn't in the past. And you try to act different. So it really is okay, Gabriel. I was just overwhelmed and nervous and stressed and reacted a little too harsh. I am sorry too. And I will try to change too. But it's a long process for the both of us!"

Before he could say another word, they were called into the examination room and Gabriel quickly got to his feet and held out his hands for his wife. She sighed, then took them and let him pull her to her feet. Together they walked along the pastel blue walls of the corridor to a light grey door, where a young woman waited for them to show them to the right room.

"This way please, Mr and Mrs Agreste. Just have a seat, the doctor will be here soon!"

About an hour later, they were on their way back to the mansion, the Gorilla driving, while the agitatedly discussing couple sat in the back, both smiling blissfully.

"How would you like Charly?", Nathalie asked him, "I always loved that name. Of course I wanted the full name and Charly as a nickname, because Charles somehow is such a typical French name, that I needed another form of it. And it would be just as good, as a short form of Charlotte!"

"I don't know. Would you really like to call your daughter Charly? Not rather something a little more female? Like Fabienne or Angelique?"

"Angelique always reminds me of the 1980ies erotic movies, so that's a no! But I could get used to Fabienne. I was taking care of a horse with that name for some time. I always loved it. The name I mean. Though I loved the horse too!"

He scooted a little closer and bent down, to place a kiss on her belly.

"We have almost four months left, to find the right one, my dear. So for now, let's just go home and celebrate that I was of course right about her being a girl!"

"Yeah! I have to admit, that you were. As you were so eager, to have a daughter, how about calling her Ga...."

"Please don't. I think it's really annoying, if children get named after one or both their parents. Believe Gabriel Agreste in fourth generation, it sucks. Especially on family gatherings!"

Chapter 19: Can We Talk About It?

"Hey, I thought you wanted to stay at Marinette's place for the next time!", Gabriel exclaimed in shock, because the couple, who usually was rather calm and harmonic with each other, passed them by, as they were just entering the mansion, on their way from the dining room to Adrien's bedroom, arguing.

"Marinette!", Adrien called after her, "can we talk about it? There is no use in yelling at each other, so please, calm a little bit down!"

"Calm down? Calm down?", she yelled back. "Eight weeks, Adrien and you're telling me now? If you were aware of it all of the time, why didn't you say anything before? And don't tell me, you forgot!"

She noticed the two adults and Gabriel's outburst only now and blushed deeply, to then, without another word, vanish into the young man's bedroom.

"What's going on, Adrien? Did something happen?", Nathalie asked him softly, as she laid a hand on his forearm.

The teenager sighed and just mumbled:

"Believe me, you wouldn't understand. It's something, Marinette and I have to talk through on our own for now. But tell me, how was the appointment? Am I going to be the big brother to a little sis or a little bro?"

He gestured towards her belly as he spoke, almost touching the surface of Nathalie's shirt, to then quickly pull his hand back, feeling to self conscious to ask, if he could feel for his sibling's light first movements. He had heard his father speak about it, but was still to shy, to address the matter.

Nathalie though had noticed him, hesitantly reaching out, then pulling his hand back. With a loving smile, she caught his wrist and pulled him back, to place his palm on the left side.

"It's alright, Adrien, you are allowed to feel your little sister kick!", she cooed softly.

His expression immediately changed and he smiled blissfully, as he whispered:

"Sister? Really?"

Then he bent down and hummed right above his hand:

"Hello little sis. I am your big brother and I will always protect you!"

He wasn't sure, if by coincident or as a reaction to his voice, but he could feel a very faint kick through the fabric of Nathalie's shirt just a moment later.

He looked up and into the pregnant woman's face, as if he was asking, if he had really felt that, when she already nodded.

"Yes, Adrien, you just felt the baby kick! Though this was a rather week one. She can do much better by now!", she told him.

"Thank you for letting me feel her, Nath. I will go and take care of my girlfriend now. Maybe the good news will get her into a better mood too!", he blurted out and very softly pecked his stepmother's cheek.

Then he ran up the stairs, taking two steps at a time and was soon gone.

"He really seems to make progress!", Gabriel said pensively, "I haven't seen him so confident before. Like not pulling back, when someone despite Marinette or me tries to touch him. And he even kissed you, Nathalie. That was huge!"

"Uhm, actually, Gabriel, it wasn't. He always trusted me. I even felt, that he has become more distant than before, since he knows about the pregnancy. But I did a bit of research and found out, that a lot of teenagers, especially boys, fell flustered if they are looking at or even touching a baby bump. So his reaction was most likely very normal and that's really good. Though I would like to know, why they are arguing, they never do. At least not like this!" The as well concerned man laid an arm around his wife and pulled her towards him.

"Me too, darling, me too. But for now, we should maybe give them a little more privacy and get to work. And with work I mean, we will sit down and look for paint and furniture for the nursery, now that we know, it's a little girl. I know, you don't like making everything pink and girlie, but believe an old fashion designer, when he tells you, even if you try, you won't be able to avoid the pink. Not even Audrey Bourgeois could get completely past it. She maybe would have, if I Emilie hadn't gotten her a whole line from some famous designer for baby clothing in baby pink and as the style queen, she was kinda forced, to dress Chloe in it. But that's always the issue. You can't just not dress them at least once in the clothes people will gift you for your newborn, to not offend them, so....we can as well paint her room in some stereotypical girl colour!"

Nathalie giggled at his way of describing that to then say:

"I have to admit, now, that I know, it's a girl, I really want to make her nursery at least partly pink and girlie. I can't explain it myself. I just feel like making everything fluffy and cute right now.!"

She looked him up and down, then started to grin.

"Oh no!", Gabriel gushed out and began to walk backwards, "you will not make me fluffy and cute, Nathalie!"

Pouting she quickened her steps and closed the gap between them, wrapping her arms around his waist to then rub herself along his upper body, while she grabbed his butt with her left and slipped her right hand between them to take a strong grasp to his under her touch immediately hardening penis, humming seductively:

"We'll see, if you let me make you cute and fluffy, once I am done with you!"

While Gabriel grabbed his wife's thighs and lifted her up, which wasn't easy anymore, as he had to be careful to not squeeze her now protruding baby bump in between them, Adrien entered his room and looked around for his girlfriend.

"Marinette? Come on, Bugaboo, where are you? Can we talk about it now? M'lady? MARINETTE!"

He started to panic, thinking she had really left for good and had gone back home, when he saw a red and black figure jumping in through his bedroom window.

Adrien whirled around and stared at her for a moment, then ran towards the heroine and pulled her taut against his chest.

"Don't scare me like that, Bugaboo. I thought you weren't coming back!", he whined and made her put some distance between them.

"Spots off!", she whispered, to be covered in pink light and reappear as Marinette, "I didn't mean to scare you, but I also didn't want to buy this as the real me, so I send Rena to get it for me!"

"So you told Alya?", he asked as he looked at the rectangle package with the home pregnancy test, she was holding.

"Only that we had a little accident and just wanted to be prepared. Nothing about, well.....EIGHT WEEKS!", she shouted the last two words and hit his shoulder. Then she kissed the spot and looked up at him apologetically.

"Sorry, I didn't mean to freak out so very much, but damn it Adrien, why would you wait so long? And why would you keep the date in mind? I mean, vaguely, okay, but the date?"

He chuckled as he leaned in to kiss her once more, before he responded:

"I didn't remember the day, when we couldn't do it, I memorized the day when we could have sex again after your period. Because, it was the day, when you stumbled and we, well you know!"

"Oh!", she said and blushed deeply.

"Well", he began, rubbing the back of his neck, "are you going to take it or do you just want to hold it?"

Marinette gazed down and shrugged.

"I am scared!", she croaked, "what if it really says I'm..."

She gulped heavily.

"Would you stop smiling like an idiot? This is nothing to be happy about, we are still only teenagers, barely seventeen! Adrien? Hello? Do you even hear me?"

He blinked a couple of times, then gave her a compassionate smile.

"I am sorry Marinette. But just before I came here, I felt my little sister kick and then I somehow imagined, feeling our own baby in your belly and that made me happy. I know very well, that we are still to young. I was just looking forward to our future, Bugaboo!", he tried to explain his smile despite the actual situation.

"It's a girl? And you felt her kick? Oh my gosh, that's so amazing, Minou!", she now blurted out, before she started to tear up. Scoffing she added, "well, now I am even more scared, because I think, I can't stop crying anymore!"

The young man pulled his girlfriend into his chest, kissing the top of her head and rubbing her back, until she had calmed down a little bit. Then he sent her into his bathroom.

"Go and take the bloody test. We can freak out or celebrate or whatever we're about to do, depending on whatever outcome, alright, Purrincess?", he then beseeched her.

"Would you stay with me? I mean, if it makes you feel....you don't have to, but..... You could look away, while I, that would make me feel better too. But then, you would be there and could just ..... well, just be there. I can't wait for the result on my own! And I certainly need 'you' to look at it. Holy shit, what if we screwed up big time?", Marinette agitatedly ranted, being close to having a panic attack.

"Just try and calm a little bit down, Purrincess. Right now all we can do, or rather you, is take that test and wait for the result. And of course I will stay with you. Every second, no matter how awkward it might feel, because we are 'both' in this and we both have to face the consequences. Well you more than me, but....!", he cupped her cheek now, then kissed her lips very passionately. "Ready?", he wondered.

"No, but I'll do it anyway because, well, everything you just said. And because I can stop to freak out, once it's negative!", she agreed and hesitantly walked into the bathroom.

Adrien was about to ask, what would be, if it wasn't negative, but she stopped him, before he could open his mouth.

"Don't even dare to jinx it, Kitty. You've done enough, keeping your knowledge to yourself for EIGHT WEEKS!"

"I didn't keep it to myself for eight weeks. Why should I think about your last period so much, that I was aware all of the time? It just popped into my mind, when we were talking about it earlier. I have noticed it in between, but as you didn't mention anything, I figured, that you maybe were used to not having it sometimes. So don't be angry on me, I really thought you were aware of the issue!", the young man now shouted back, making her flinch. "Sorry, but you really made me angry right now. And well, one of us has to speak it out loud, there is a high possibility, that you really could be pregnant and we should be prepared for that case as well!", he said calmly and with his voice lowered, so nobody would be able to hear him, just in case.

Marinette inhaled deeply, then nodded.

"You're right, Chaton. I'm sorry, that I overreacted and blamed you for kinda everything. Let's just get this over with!"

And then she grabbed his sleeve and pulled him with her as she energetically walked into the bathroom.

Ten minutes later, Adrien dragged her back into his room, telling her:

"Marinette! There is no use in staring at it while waiting for the time to pass. It will just make you feel as if it those few minutes were hours. So just come with me and let me distract you a little bit!", he wiggled his eyebrows, as he bent down to kiss her passionately.

"Adrien!", she scolded him, "how can you even think about 'that' right now? It's what brought us here in the first place!"

Now he eyed her with raised brows as he grabbed her buttocks and pulled her taut, questioning:

"So, you want to stop sleeping with me from now on? Are you even able, to resist me?"

He let his hands wander over her body, one up her back, the other down the back of her thigh, lifting it up, as he did, to place it around his waist, while he started to rub his palm along her little nub, making her press firmly against his body and his hand in an instant. With a smirk he kissed her again, when they eventually heard the alarm go off and pulled apart immediately, the young woman giving him a pleading look.

A/N: I know, I am a 'female dog' for leaving you with this.... but, it's cliffhanger time! 😈

Chapter 20: Pigtails

Pulling his phone out of his pocket, Adrien turn the alarm off and turned towards the bathroom door. Then he interlinked their fingers and gave his girlfriend an encouraging squeeze.

"Come, M'lady, let's have a look. And don't look so scared, we aren't as you said before, barely seventeen, but actually rather close to coming off age, so.... We'll be able to handle, what ever this test will say!", he hummed soothingly into her ear, as he dragged her with him and through the door in the back of his room.

"Wait!", she blurted out, as he reached for the handle, "I need another kiss first!"

Smiling the young man let go and bend down, to peck her lips very gently, but was immediately pulled into a savage kiss by the trembling girl.

"Try to relax a tiny bit, Marinette, okay?", Adrien breathed against her lips, as they eventually parted them.

"I 'am' trying, Adrien! It's just not working!", she hissed but stiffened her demeanor and pushed the door open herself, then took big steps inside, getting it over with, before she would loose the sudden courage again.

She walked directly towards the pen like stick, grabbing it from the sink and taking a short glimpse, before she exclaimed:

"Oh thank God, we were lucky!"

Then she quickly turned around, to rush out of the bathroom and put it into some kind of wrapping, so nobody would be able to see it, somewhere in the trash.

"Marinette? What are you doing? Can I see?"

"I am trying to get rid of this thing, 'before' anyone can see it! So would you please help me and get me something to wrap it into, before tossing it away!", she muttered angrily.

The boy chuckled.

"Bugaboo! If it's negative, there is no need to hide it!"

"Seriously? What if someone found it and would tell your father and Nathalie? Or much worse, inform my dad! He can't even handle the thought, that we.... you know!", she explained agitatedly, while she was frantically looking around to find a solution.

Adrien sighed:

"Fine, just give it to me, I'll take it outside, where it could have been from anyone!"

She paused and thought for a moment, then nodded and went back into the bathroom.

"Here", she said, when she returned, handing him the package containing the stick, all of it wrapped into toilet paper,"like this, nobody will see, what you are holding in your hands!"

"Yeah, right", he said mockingly, "something wrapped into toiletpaper carried outside by myself, wouldn't draw any attention from any person in this house! Just give the darn thing here!"

He pulled it out of her hands with a sudden, dexterous move, making the box open and the stick fall to the floor. He bent down to pick it up, then froze.

Nathalie and Gabriel were lying on their backs, both panting, trying to catch some air after a quick yet very intense encounter.

"I am still in the mood, of getting my husband all cute and fluffy!", the pregnant woman snickered, a moment later as she turned around to face him.

"Uh huh", came from him, yet way less in the mood to fight, "do whatever you like, I am too exhausted, to even care!"

Nathalie began to smirk.

"That's exactly, what I was hoping for!", she said sweetly and slowly stood up from the bed. "I'll be right back, darling, I just need to pee. and while I am already in the bathroom, I'll bring a hairbrush and maybe one or two accessories to make you all girlish!"

Leaning in, she pecked his lips lovingly before she walked away. Being halfway asleep already, Gabriel just nodded and said:

"Okay!"

His wife's light touches and her gentle caressing of his head only made him drift into a deeper sleep, until he all of a sudden could feel something pull painfully on his hair, and opened his eyes, seeing Nathalie beam at him.

"So cute", she cooed, "if you were wearing the matching suit, or at least anything at all" she grinned, looking his naked body up and down, "you would look like an old and grumpy, male Ladybug!"

That made him immediately jolt up and run into the bathroom, to look at his image in the mirror.

He returned with a frown, yet couldn't hide the smirk, that was playing his lips.

"Pigtails Nathalie? Really? I would have accepted a ponytail, even a bun, but this? I look like...."

"An utterly pretty, little girl!", she lilted and stepped towards him, to place a soft kiss on his cheek.

"See, that's why I wanted to wrap it into something, before taking it outside. Now.....", the half Chinese girl was lamenting, when she saw him hesitate and then stop in his movement. "Fuck!", she hissed and turned away from him, to lock herself into his bathroom.

But the young man was faster and caught her wrist before she could even do the first step.

"MARINETTE!", he yelled, "STAY WHERE YOU ARE!" Then a little calmer: "I would like to ask you, what you were thinking, but I figured, you weren't at all! But honestly, why would you lie to me? I mean, you won't be able to hide that for long, right?"

He shook his head, giving her a compassionate smile, then another thought hit him and he inhaled sharply. Grabbing both her shoulders, he made her face him, asking:

"You can't be thinking of, not having....you are considering to have an ab...ortion? Marinette? Tell me please, that you are not really able to...."

"To what?", she spat, "think through every option, before being forced to play happy family with you? We are seventeen, Adrien and I wasn't trying to keep this from you for long, I just wanted to have a little bit of time ahead to think about it. And if you like it or not, I am also taking an abortion into consideration!"

She was crying by now, as was the young man, when she continued:

"You said, I wasn't alone in this situation, so I am asking you, to be by my side, even if I decide against having this baby. Because it's my body and my future, we're talking about. I just hope, you can support my decision, even if you don't like it!"

Burying her face into her hands, she turned around and let herself collapse onto his bed, now hiding her face in the pillow, still sobbing heavily.

Adrien was shaking all over, when he followed the woman, he loved more than anything, and laid down beside her, scooting as close as possible and laid his arm around her.

"Shush, Marinette, please don't cry. Of course I'll be at your side. Even if you would decide against having this child, which I hope you won't, but I swear to you, that I will always support your choice! I love you, M'lady!", he soothed.

She slowly turned around to face him. Then she told him, almost coldly:

"I want you to call your therapist in the morning and ask if he can squeeze us in for an appointment ASAP. I don't want this to interfere with the progress you've already made. And maybe he can keep us both calm, without getting into a fight, because we are both too emotional about this!"

"What? No, M'lady, Marinette! Please! Don't do that. You're just putting my mental health above yours and that's wrong. I swear to you, I am here for you and I won't leave you. Ever!", Adrien gushed out.

"Let's just talk about this tomorrow, Chaton. Let's go to sleep now. I really want to wait until your psychologist has the time for us, because you won't be able to be there for me or for yourself, if this breaks you! So, for now, can you just hold me? Let's just cuddle and go to sleep?"

"Fine. But if he can't make time for us tomorrow, we're going to talk anyway. It's urgent and it's necessary. Okay, Bugaboo?", Adrien said sternly before he rolled her onto her back and started to savagely devour her lips with his own. "Okay?", he then asked again, still hovering above her, their noses almost touching, their bodies ever so lightly brushing along the other's, their breaths quickened, their heartbeats racing. "Marinette?"

"Okay", she breathed against his lips, then closed the tiny distance between them and at the same time laid her hands on the back of his neck to hold him in place. They were tearing their clothes off only a couple of seconds later, their kiss desperate, while the young man's protruding erection already brushed along her clit through both their underwear, making them both moan at the same time.

"I thought you wanted to sleep, purrincess!", Adrien said hoarsely, as his member dipped into her wetness. "It feels as if we had a change of plans though!" He smirked, as he rubbed along her clit, watching her close her eyes and take an audible breath.

"K-K-Kitty, p-please! Don't mess with me right now! Just.....oh please Adrien, I just need to feel you, need you to become one with me!", she cried out a moment later. Feeling her following desperate whimper vibrate throughout his whole body, he shuttered, before he slowly thrusted into her slippery opening, making her arch her back in an instant.

"Oh fuck, yes. Make me feel good my Minou! I love you so much!", Marinette cried the very moment, he began to move back and forth, his hands taking a firm grasp of her thighs, pulling her firmer against his thrusting hips, his balls slapping audibly against her buttocks.

"Oh Marinette, I can't hold back much longer. I need you so much today. You feel so good, so incredibly good....I am about to....."

He quickened his pace even more, their cries of pleasure now so loud, that he could barely hear her huskily say:

"Just cum with me then, Adrien!"

With animalic groans he released inside of her, realising, that he didn't even have to worry about that right now, which made him push into her a couple more times, despite his member already shrinking.

"AAAAAAAH.....A-Adrien, yes.....this.....ohhhhh fuck.....oh yeah, Kitty.....", she roared out as he did, her body twitching, rocking convulsively against his, before she clang onto him, panting heavily, and soon he could feel her tears on his skin and pulled back to look at her with concern.

"Marinette? What's wrong? DId I hurt you? Hey, just tell me!"

She shook her head.

"I'm fine, Chaton, j-j-just....I....I a-am a little.....i-it's I j-j-just can't.....I..... Please don't let go, okay?", the young woman now sobbed.

He did and despite everything, they both drifted off to sleep rather quickly.

When the young couple arrived at the breakfast table, it was, just as usually now, it was only Nathalie joining them.

"Good morning!", she said sith a kind smile, when they entered.

"Yeah", Adrien mumbled, while Marinette's hoarse voice formed a: "Morning Nath!"

The concerned woman looked up from her meal and into their faces, asking instantly:

"What's wrong with you? Did something happen? Are you still fighting?"

They both shook their heads.

"I'll go make that call before I eat!", Adrien said quietly to his girlfriend and pecked her lips, before he hurried back into his room.

Marinette took a seat and reached for a slice of bread, well aware, that the older woman was watching her. She inhaled deeply, then decided, to ignore that and began to make her food.

The young man returned after a couple of minutes already, nodding at the young woman, who gave him a questioning look, and sat down next to her, taking her hand into his own. "We can come there right after breakfast! He's squeezing us in whenever we're there!"

"Who?", came from the dark haired woman with the red strand.

"Therapist", Adrien replied shortly, "something came up, that we can't work out on our own!"

"Oh, uhm, I guess, you don't want to talk about it? Marinette? You're okay? You look pale!", Nathalie asked carefully.

The young woman nodded.

"Yeah, just tired and well, a tiny bit stressed. I'm sure, that's going to improve, once we've talked this through!"

"Oh", the concerned female sighed, "would you like some coffee then? Maybe that helps a little bit?"

She was about to say yes, when she remembered and declined.

"No, thank you. I've got a light headache and rather try to refill my reserves today, so I'll stay with my water!", she explained, holding up the plastic bottle.

Chapter 21: Decisions

A/N: Because I took quite long, here's another chapter today!

"Do you think, Nathalie knows?". Adrien asked her, when they were on their way to his psychologist's office, "I mean, maybe she heard you this morning, when you.....were sick!"

He said this very carefully, trying to not set her up again already. But Marinette was in a much better mood, since she had had breakfast and leaned her head against his shoulder. They were sitting inside the metro, not wanting Adrien's bodyguard to listen in on them.

"I don't think so. But she heard us arguing yesterday, Minou and usually we don't. So, she's most likely just concerned. I don't think, she heard me throwing up this morning. It's strange though. Until yesterday, I didn't feel any different, but today...."

"I'm sorry. Maybe I shouldn't have told you! You didn't have any symptoms until you knew. Maybe the therapist has a theory to that!", Adrien said with furrowed brows.

"The therapist!", Marinette giggled, "sounds like some horror movie."

The young man laughed along.

"Yeah, you're right. But he doesn't like to be called doctor or even by his last name, and I struggle a little with calling him Mike!", he admitted.

"Oh look, we're here!", the girl suddenly exclaimed and nudged him towards the exit.

Only ten minutes later, they were sitting in front of 'Mike' and he was asking:

"Well, Adrien, on the phone you told me, that you both needed to urgently talk to me. So, what about?"

Marinette gasped.

"I thought you already told him, Kitty. Why.....?", she wondered, then took a glimpse at the psychologist, who looked at them both expectantly.

She sighed.

"Well, we just found out something that will or better could have a large impact on our future. And uhm, we kinda got into a little argument about that at first, because our feelings towards it, seem to differ a little bit!", the girl reluctantly explained.

"Actually, Marinette, I'd say, our feelings towards this, differ a lot. I know and I understand, the way you feel right now, but...that still wouldn't justify.....to kill...."

"Stop, Adrien! That's not fair. I didn't say I would, I just said I will consider all options!", she yelled at him now, with tears brimming her eyes. Turning away from him, she covered her eyes with one hand, the other digging into the flesh of her own waist, while she was hugging herself with it. Her lip was quivering and she was nervously bouncing her leg.

The therapist narrowed his brows, then addressed the young woman directly:

"Will you tell me what happened, Marinette? What's the talk about killing? And why would Adrien accuse you to kill...who?"

But she just shook her head, not able to speak for the moment.

The young model gazed at her for a moment, then scooted closer on the sofa and pulled her into his arms. She didn't move at all, neither fight him off, nor give in until he whispered:

"I am sorry, Purrincess. I really was being unfair right now. But, that's what it feels like to me, when I think of 'that' option! I didn't want to make you feel bad. I know, that it's your decision, because it's your body and you're the one, having to bear all that comes with it!"

Mike didn't interfere, he just listened. The young man's words had made him sure, what they were talking about and he wanted to wait for the girl's answer to be sure. And to figure out, how stuck the situation already was.

Marinette took a deep breath, before she relaxed a tiny bit into his touch, while she said:

"Do you really think, I would want that? I told you, I have to consider every option, because we are very young and this will change both our future forever. Well, 'you' can still back out last minute, while I would be stuck without you, having to take care of...."

Adrien jumped to his feet, shouting:

"Are you serious? Do you really think, I would wait until our child was about to be born, to then run away and leave you behind, to raise him or her on your own? Are you fucking kidding me? Maybe to you it's nothing, to have 'two' loving parents and to be with them and see them happy, that they have each other and have you, but for me, that's new and it feels incredibly good. Do you really think, I would be capable of letting our baby go through any of the things, that broke me? Fuck Marinette, I love you more than anything, do you think, I could do this to you? Answer me!"

"Adrien stop!", the psychologist now said quietly but with a firm voice, seeing the boy's attention turn towards him, "sit back down and stop yelling at the woman, you love, as you said. Marinette? Are you alright?"

The girl nodded, though she was shaking by now and tried to restrain her sobs.

Her boyfriend noticed just now and wanted to hug her again, to be called back.

"Don't. Just sit beside her and listen. You don't want to accuse her of anything, you say that and I can see that, but still, you do! First of all, did I get it right, that you're pregnant? And not on purpose, as it seems?"

They both nodded and the middle aged man continued:

"Good, or let me say, good that we all know, what we're talking about now. So....uhm, you Marinette aren't exactly happy, to be, as I could figure, while Adrien seems to be in some way. And while you want to at least have the chance, to think about all your options, Adrien only sees one for him, right?"

Marinette nodded again, while the agitated boy objected:

"I told her, I'll be at her side, no matter what her decision will be. And that I will support her decision, even if it isn't mine. But do I have to deny my feelings, towards it because of that?"

The therapist shook his head.

"No, you haven't. But don't accuse your girl of something. Just tell her, how 'you' feel. Don't say, that she wants to 'kill' your child, when she is considering to have an abortion, which is an absolute logical step at your age. Tell her, how this feels to 'you', Adrien!"

The young man shrugged, then spat:

"Well, to me it feels like killing our child. I am sorry, if I make you feel bad, Marinette, but that's just how it feels. And it really hurts, that you would even think, I could leave you and our child behind and run!"

She was still crying, when she turned towards him, but her voice was calm now, as she cupped his face with one hand:

"Do you really think, it would feel different to me? I am well aware, that I would 'kill' our baby, but sometimes we have to make hard choices. I don't think, you would bail on me, but I 'have' to consider the possibility anyway. Because in the end, it will always be me, having to deal with everything, because I will be the one, left behind with a child, depending on my decisions and the way I handle all of that. Not to think about my dad and how he will react and what he might try to do to you!"

Mike interrupted them again:

"Marinette. Without thinking about Adrien's feelings, just be selfish and speak for yourself, noe parents, no other people judging, no impact on your future. What do 'you' want? Just speak from your heart!"

Now the young woman scoffed.

"If only it was that easy, 'Mike'! There 'are' Adrien's feelings and my parents, including the father, I just reconciled with, there are people, classmates for example, who 'will' judge me. There will be a huge impact on my future, if I, instead of finishing school and then start university or some apprenticeship, had to take care of a baby. So don't tell me, I should try to not think about all of that!"

"M'lady?", Adrien now whispered into her ear.

"What?", she hissed, again on the edge of crying, yet as angry, that she needed to blow off some steam.

"Please, Marinette, just let me hold you, okay? And then, you answer his question. But this time, don't imagine that you'll be alone with all of this, but doing it with me. I have no idea, what I want to be in the future, other than you. My 'parents', the way they are since, you know, won't get that angry. I don't care, if the others will judge us, if it will bother you, we can be homeschooled at my place. What I am trying to say, I would gladly take care of 'our' baby, if you would start your education. Of course, it will still be a huge change to both our future, but to me, the only difference will be, that we're a couple of years younger, than I thought, we would be. Everything else, you, me and one or a couple of children, living together, at some point, if you want to of course, getting married. Though I would like to do that, before our first child will be born, since the moment we first kissed, I never wanted my life to take a different turn than starting a family with you. After I felt my little sister kick yesterday, I could only think of the moment, I could do the same with a child of our own. And now, try to calm down a little bit, and tell me, what you want. Because it's you, who has to go through a lot, if you decide for this baby. Just know, that all those things, you just said, you are scared of, are after the baby will be born. And I swear to you, that I will always be there then!"

Marinette was clinging onto her boyfriend now, sobbing into his chest, and it took almost five minutes, in which he gently stroked her back and caressed her head, until she was able to look up to him, giving the scared looking man a weary smile.

"Well", came from the older man, "after Adrien giving you a speech like that, can you now tell me, what you would want to do?"

While she wiped the tears from her face, something, that didn't help much, as they kept coming anyway, she took a firm hold of the young model's hand. Then she tilted her head barely noticeable and croaked:

"I would like.....", she cleared her throat, to get rid of the lump in her throat, then tried again, now only a little rasp, "...I would like to.... and I can't believe, that I am saying that, I would like to raise this baby with you, Adrien. Don't look so happy. That's not my final decision, just what I want it to be! But I still have to think this through, Kitty. I....."

She couldn't speak any further, because Adrien had smashed his lips onto hers and was kissing her passionately, while he held her in a tight embrace, feeling her demeanor change very quickly and she started to kiss him back just as eagerly. They parted their lips after what seemed like forever, when they heard the psychologist clear his throat for the second time.

"Sorry", they both said sheepishly at the same time, which made them giggle.

"Well", the man then told them, "it seems, as if you had to work out a lot. But seeing your last reaction, I would say, you're on a good way. Was there anything else, you needed me for or can I continue my regular appointments now. I'll of course be available, if anything comes up."

"Actually, I have one more question!", Adrien now uttered, "until this morning, Marinette didn't have any symptoms at all, except the.....uhm.....arousal..... Can it be, that knowing about the pregnancy made her throw up this morning?"

The therapist began to smile. Then he explained:

"If she was in denial before and then suddenly started to show symptoms, I would even go as far, as saying, she already accepted the pregnancy. It's truly amazing, how very much our subconscious can control our body, right? And now go and work this out. Calmly, please!"

The couple agreed, as they stood up.

"Th-thank you, Mike!", Marinette said, still with a tiny sob.

"Yeah, thank you. See you next week. Though I might come alone again, because, I don't want to put another thing onto my pregnant girlfriend!"

He winked at his psychologist, as he said that.

"I'm fine, Adrien. We can just continue, as planned", came from the young woman now. "This is important for your mental health and if will really decide to have this baby, I need you mentally stable. So...", his girlfriend lamented.

He stared down at her open mouthed.

"Was that...? Did you just....? Marinette?", he stammered.

She shrugged, then muttered:

"I guess!"

Chapter 22: We Need To Tell You Something

They were quiet on their way back to the mansion, but this time it was a good kind of quiet. Marinette was leaning against the young man's chest, while he was having his arm around her. The emotionally exhausted and from the early pregnancy hormones tired woman was dozing off a couple of times, while they were sitting in the subway, which was humming in a constant, tiring tone.

"Marinette? Come on, M'lady, you need to wake up, this is our point to exit!"

"Already? Can't we go a little further?", she mumbled and tried to snuggle deeper into him.

Adrien laughed and whispered:

"I wished, I could let you sleep for a little longer, but we really have to get out here. I am not sure, if we even should go for the rest of our classes, or just stay at home and call it a day, but we need to get out of the metro and walk the few meters home, alright?"

She stretched with a yawn and opened her eyes.

"Fine! But I won't go anywhere else today, do you hear me?"

"Absolutely, M'lady!", he obeyed with a grin.

When they entered the mansion, Nathalie was already walking towards them, asking with concern:

"Will you please tell me and your father now, why you had to go to your therapist today again? Did something happen, that made you get worse again? And please don't try to hide it, I can see, that something is going on between the two of you. What was eight weeks ago?" The teenagers looked at each other and sighed, then Adrien said:

"Just let Marinette and me go upstairs for a moment on our own, we'll be down with you in a couple of minutes and then we can talk about it, okay?"

The half chinese girl gave him an annoyed look.

"Can't this wait until later? I really would've liked to...", she yawned, "...you know, have a little nap!"

He looked guilty after hearing her words and started to shift from one foot to the other.

Nathalie noticed and wondered:

"Well, maybe we can talk later, when you have gotten a little more sleep? Have you two been up for so long, that you are still that tired? Whatever is up with you, it seems to be something serious. So please, come as soon as possible!"

"I've got an idea. What if I take Marinette upstairs and then I will come back down and talk to you? If you agree of course, M'lady!", he suggested, making Marinette frown.

"No way, Kitty! I won't let you do this on your own! We're both in this and so we're both going to confess together and probably get yelled at! So let's just get it over with right away and hopefully still be able to have that nap afterwards! Deal?"

She looked expectantly from one to the other, waiting for an answer.

Nathalie reacted first, her eyes narrowing, watching the girl up and down, having a sudden hunch.

"Why don't you go and sit in the dining room already? I'll go and get Gabriel and then we can talk. There's still some coffee, if you like, because you really seem to be struggling to keep your eyes open", she said to her, making her shake her head.

"I'm fine, thank you, Nathalie!", the teenager sighed wearily, to what the visibly pregnant woman turned towards her stepson and pleaded:

"Would you do me the favour and get your father for me? I would like to sit down with your girlfriend already, yeah?"

Adrien looked instantly worried and asked:

"Are you alright, Nathalie? If you're not feeling well..."

"I'm fine, just carrying a bit of extra weight and I'm a bit older than you, so if you don't mind..."

"Oh, of course not, I'm already on my way!"

"I can't believe, he bought that!", Marinette laughed the moment he had left, then she looked nervously at Nathalie, stating, "so....uhm....you figured it out, didn't you? What gave it away?"

Now the older woman scoffed:

"First of all, you never argue! Second, you never leave the house without having at least two large mugs of coffee.And third, even though you struggle every day, to get out of bed, you are way too energetic to take an afternoon nap. I haven't completely figured out, what Adrien didn't tell you for eight weeks. If you had been keeping something from him, well, I could imagine, but him keeping something from you? What could he possibly be aware of, that pointed towards a pregnancy, that you weren't? But I am thinking correctly, when I say you're pregnant, right?"

The girl shrugged while she walked next to the other woman into the huge dining room, where they both took a seat in front of the fireplace.

"Well?", Nathalie pried.

"I was angry at him, because he was aware that it had been eight weeks since the 'end' of my last period and he didn't even mention that once! At least not until we were joking around and I told him, that I would most likely be the first to notice that! Well, he proved me wrong in an instant!", she ranted as she told the former assistant.

Nathalie gasped, when she heard about the amount of time, that had already passed, without the young woman even noticing.

"So, I guess, you haven't been at an examination yet, right?", the older woman continued and the girl shook her head. "Would you, I don't know, like me to make an appointment for you with my doctor or rather tell your parents first and go with your mum or completely on your own, maybe with Adrien?"

Marinette buried her face in her hands and groaned in despair.

"I have no idea!", she then exclaimed, "I just know, that I need to keep this from my dad as long as possible! After the way he reacted, when Adrien was just sleeping in my bed. Is your doctor nice? I mean, I am only seventeen and I wouldn't liked to be judged. Even though I am slowly getting used to the thought of becoming a mum and ruling the other options out completely!"

She took a careful look at the woman's face, but didn't see the rejection and disgust, she had expected to see.

"You know, that it is your decision, not Adrien's right? If you're keeping it just because of him, then..."

"I'm not!", Marinette interjected, "he convinced me, but not as you would think, by guilt tripping me, but with assuring me, that I am not alone in it. I just hope, that he will keep his promises! I know, that he usually does, if he isn't kept away by....well, his...."

"Yes, it's a good thing, that Gabriel eventually has come to his senses. I should have noticed anything at least, should have been able to feel that Emilie was still somehow controlling him. At least I should have noticed, what she was doing to her own son, before she did the only thing, she was useful for, she died!", the pregnant woman now let her emotions roam freely.

The teenager cupped her mouth with her hand, to not laugh out loud, then hissed: "Oh my God, Nathalie! I love how you just spoke out, what none of us has dared to yet!"

The new Mrs Agreste laughed along with her. Then she gave her a stern look.

"Seriously, Adrien really tries to keep all his promises, but if 'you', in any way, feel uncomfortable with the whole situation, then don't let him push you into this direction! Okay. And you can tell me without being scared, I would tell him, what we were talking about. Sometimes we need someone to pour our heart, before we can go on with our everyday crap!"

The girl giggled again.

"I really love the way, you are today. But honestly, I never wanted to have an abortion, but, I didn't want to start a family that early either, so, I had to at least consider every option, before I could make a decision. I am well aware, that Adrien did feel differently from the very beginning. He is looking forward to it, while I am still struggling with the situation itself. I am not completely at a point, where I can accept it, though I am sure, I will get there by the end of this day. Because, if we are telling you and Gabriel, we sadly need to tell my parents too and that means, my father will start yelling and of course I will immediately stand up against him and take Adrien's side and our future child's..... Well, yeah, so....as I said, Adrien is really happy, and I am, let me say, I can handle the thought!", she reluctantly admitted to her actual feelings.

Nathalie was about to answer to that, when the door opened and Adrien and Gabriel entered the room. While the younger one just sat on the armrest of his girlfriend's chair, Gabriel pulled one closer to the one, his wife was sitting in, instantly reaching for her hand and leaning towards her, to kiss her cheek. The pregnant woman though, wasn't content with just a peck and pulled him closer by his collar, to entangle him into a prolonged, savage kiss, making him take a sharp breath through his nose, while he squeezed her hand a little tighter. With a deep sigh she eventually pulled back and leaned her back against the leather of the armchair, placing one hand on her belly.

"Well, what is it, that you have to talk to us about?", Gabriel now asked, looking from one teenager to the other, waiting for one of them to speak.

It was his wife though, who took the word first:

"To be completely honest, darling, I already know, what they wanted to tell us, so.....uhm.... will you do me a tiny favour?"

"You know, that I would do everything, you asked from me, right, my love?", he cooed and kissed the knuckles of her hand. "So just tell me, what kind of favour, do you need from me?"

"Just the promise, that you will neither freak out, nor start yelling!"

"What did they do?", Gabriel now sighed.

"Promise me to not yell first!", Nathalie demanded.

"Fine, I promise!"

"Thank you! Now, Adrien, it's your turn, tell your father the news!"

"News?", the designer questioned, "at least that doesn't sound as if you broke something expensive or did another stupid thing, that could get you into trouble, like stealing or vandalism. So, it's probably something you want to do, that I won't approve of. What is it? A trip? A special school? Taking a break after school? Quitting school?"

Adrien cleared his throat, then began to stutter:

"A-Actually, i-it's probably a t-t-tiny bit of all of th-that! It's gonna b-be one hell of a t-t-trip, I think, not a s-special school, b-but, kinda t-taking a b-b-break. A-A-And at least I w-will quit my education f-f-for some time t-t-to t-t-take c-c-care of....!"

"Just spit it out, son!", Gabriel blurted out impatiently, "take care of what?"

"Please calm down, G-Gabriel!", Nathalie hummed and started to caress the back of his hand with her thumb.

He turned his head angrily towards her, but the moment he looked into her eyes, looked into the face of the woman, he loved so very much, he felt calmer right away and nodded.

"Sorry, my love! Go on, please, Adrien!"

The young man took a deep breath and said with a firm voice:

"I am going to take a break after school, so that Marinette can finish her education, while I'll take care of our child!"

The young couple waited for the outburst, but it never came. The man was too overwhelmed by that, to even speak right now.

"Father? Can you please say something?", the model asked after a while.

Gabriel kept staring at him for several minutes, his mouth slightly open and they were already getting scared, that he might have a stroke or a heart attack or something, when he shook his head very slowly, with his eyes shut.

As he opened them again, they were brimming with tears.

"Come here, Adrien!", he ordered and the boy just did as he was told. Standing anxiously in front of his father, he waited for whatever would happen. He just wouldn't have expected the man to pull his son into a tight embrace, while the tears were streaming down his cheeks and he sobbed:

"I am really happy, that you found someone to be as comfortable with, that you can do that, after all you mother did to you!"

After they parted, the designer added:

"I will still yell and shout at both of you, for being so stupid and careless, just so you know. But I will also support you in everything and Nathalie and I will be here for you, no matter what. Come here, Marinette, let me hug you too. Do your parents know already?"

The young woman shook her head and Gabriel could see the fear in her eyes, when he said: "Don't worry about telling your dad, I will come with you and make sure, that the man stays calm and won't try to hurt anyone or cut something off of someone!"

Chapter 23: You'll Have To Make A Choice

"Do we really have to go to school today?", Marinette lamented, when Adrien tried to shake her awake, "I thought it was already bad enough, that we're going to tell my parents in the evening! Not to forget the appointment with the doctor in our lunch break!"

He chuckled and pulled away the blanket, while he explained:

"We have to! Your parents will only react worse, when you're not attending your classes. And as long as Miss Bustier isn't there, we won't find someone who we can talk to about it and who would be understanding. Except you would like to try Miss Mendeleiev or principal Damokles!"

"Fine!", she groaned, "I am getting up!"

She slowly pushed herself into a sitting position, her hair standing into all directions, her eyes still shut, making her boyfriend laugh at her.

"Come on, Bugaboo! It took me so long to get you to wake up, that we don't have much time left. You need to get ready!"

"You should better clear the way, Adrien, because....."

She couldn't say anything else because she had smashed both hands to her mouth, and was now jumping out of the bed and running past him and into the bathroom, slamming the door shut behind her, before she emptied her stomach contents into the toilet.

The young man sighed and followed her slowly, gently knocking, when he heard the sounds of her puking stop.

"Are you okay, Marinette? Do you need any help?", he asked caringly.

"Yeah", she whined, her voice hoarse, "can you have this baby and I will just stand there and watch?"

He opened the door and entered with a laugh. But a short glimpse at her face made him immediately stop.

"I'm sorry for laughing, M'lady. I really thought, you were joking! If possible, I would gladly take that from you and have this baby! But Sadly, I am completely incompatible from the anatomical perspective!"

That made her at least grin.

"Sorry, Kitty! I know, you're doing your best. Just let me get ready quickly, okay? Maybe you can search for my clothes already? I will take a shower in the meantime. Oh and, can you hand me my toothbrush? I'll combine both and just do my mouth hygiene in the shower!" Adrien shook his head with a chuckle, but did as he was told.

Even breakfast couldn't help much with Marinette's mood this morning and so they both sat down in their seats in class, Adrien as usual in front of Marinette, none of them really listening to what Miss Mendeleiev was talking about.

It was thanks to Alya and Nino, who kept nudging their elbows into their friend's sides, that they didn't get detention that day and both were relieved, when the bell rang for the daily lunch break.

"Hey, where are you two going?", Nino shouted, when the couple made their way to the exit of the school.

"We have something important to take care of. We might even be late for the afternoon classes. Would you mind, informing the teachers, if we're not there?", Adrien called back and Nino and Alya nodded, while the couple looked rather bewildered at one another.

"Oh thank God!", Marinette exclaimed, when she saw Nathalie waiting for them in the back of the limousine, "I already feel so much better, knowing an adult with us, who won't be yelling and arguing!"

The former assistant squeezed the girl's hand, the moment she sat down beside her and said softly:

"I thought you were looking a little lost, when we were having breakfast, so I decided, to come with you. If it's okay for the both of you!"

She gave Adrien a questioning look.

The young man nodded vigorously.

"Whatever makes Marinette feel better and safer, will be okay with me, Nath. Thank you a lot!"

They had decided, to wait until after the visit at the doctor's, before talking to the woman's parents, which meant, a whole week had passed since telling Gabriel and her.

"Mrs Agreste! Is something wrong? Aren't you feeling well?", the doctor asked worriedly, when he saw the pregnant woman enter the examination room. Only as she shook her head, he noticed the teenagers following right behind her.

"This isn't my appointment today, but my son's girlfriend's!", she explained.

Then she told him about the situation and that Marinette's parents would probably not be very happy about it, while she and Gabriel were supporting them in everything. After she finished, the gynaecologist turned to the young woman and asked: "Well, Marinette, can I call you by your first name?"

She nodded with a shy smile.

"Good. Well, Marinette, when was you last period?"

The teenagers looked at each other sheepishly, making the doctor pry:

"What's the problem? Don't you know? We can also tell from the examination, how far along you approximately are!"

It was Adrien, who spoke first:

"Well, I can tell you, that her last period ended about nine and a half weeks ago!"

"Oh, that's a rather long time without becoming aware. Are your monthly cycles usually as irregular?"

This time the girl responded herself:

"No, we just had to deal with a lot of things, so only Adrien noticed and he thought, I was aware of it and as I didn't find it strange, he didn't give it too much thought either! At least not until a few days ago, when he was teasing me with something and then had to prove his point by showing me off!"

Adrien groaned:

"Really? You are still pissed about that? I thought, we agreed, that it wasn't my fault to think, that you knew too! We can't do anything about this timespan anyway, so, can we just let it go?"

Marinette giggled and squeezed his hand, she was holding since they had sat down, kindly.

"Sorry Kitty, I was just teasing you! I just said, that you thought, I knew as well!"

The young physician had watched them bickering for a moment, but interjected now:

"Can you at least tell me, how many days your menstruation normally lasts?"

"About five!", the girl muttered, feeling instantly ashamed for not noticing at all.

"Aha. And you're cycle is a normal one, like twenty eight days long?"

The couple nodded.

"Well, that would make you a little more than ten weeks pregnant already. Meaning you would be in your eleventh week, if the calculations were correct. I can tell you more after the ultrasound examination, which might feel a little unpleasant, but it will only last for a short time, until I find the embryo. I would suggest, to start with this and we can talk about everything else afterwards!", the doctor suggested and they simply agreed, just wanting to know, if everything was alright and then get out of there and back home or to school.

But then, after a short search and some measuring, the gynaecologist turned the screen into a different angle so they were able to see for themselves.

Amazed by the tiny creature, which already had small arms and legs attached to its body and really assembled a human being already, even having a beating heart, Marinette could barely hold back the tears, when she squeezed Adrien's hand firmly, making him wince even. Knowing very well, how they were feeling right now, Nathalie just kissed the top of both their heads, to then follow the doctor, who was already on his way back to his desk, leaving them on their own in the small room behind the examination room, so the young woman could get dressed before the couple would join them for the conversation.

"Are you alright, Bugaboo?", the young man questioned, when she even after several minutes had passed didn't move at all.

Marinette nodded and for the first time averted her eyes from the screen and looked at him. The tears began to flow at the same moment and she flung her arms around his neck and sobbed into his shoulder.

Adrien himself was very close to crying, but he swallowed it down for now and rubbed her back soothingly, until she calmed down slightly.

"Come on, M'lady, let's get you dressed and back home. I guess, we can skip school this afternoon and tend to your needs this once. Meaning, I will spoil you with everything you wish for, so you will be distracted all the time before your parents arrive for dinner. How's that?", he proposed and made her smile wearily.

"Do we really have to tell them already? I mean, if we waited until it was visible and I would then text my mum, telling her to not tell my dad..... I only had to hide for like a few months or so!", she said jokingly but with a little bit of hope, that this possibility truly existed.

Her boyfriend shook his head with a compassionate smile.

"You know, that you're just saying silly things, right?"

"Yeah, but you know, hope dies last!"

He kissed her lovingly on the lips, before holding out his hand to help her get down from the special chair.

The gynaecologist could confirm his calculations due to the measurements, he had taken and as all the previous checks, like weight, urin sample and so on, had already been done by his assistants at the front desk, he just handed Marinette a prescription for prenatal vitamins and told her when to make her next appointment, being only two weeks later, as she was still a teenager and therefore it was automatically a high-risk pregnancy.

They had just taken a seat in the back of the limousine again, when Marinette's phone vibrated. Taking a look on it, she said:

"Alya texted me. She wants to know, if our absence today has something to do with the thing, I had her buy for me last week. Now I have no idea, what to respond, because, if I say no, I would be lying to her and if I say yes, she's going to tell Nino! Help me please, Adrien!"

The model thought for a moment, then pulled out his own phone, texting to his best friend:

"Hey Nino, we won't be coming back to class this afternoon. Can you tell Alya, that she is correct with her assumption, but also, that Marinette will most likely strangle her, if she tells anyone, even you? I promise, we'll explain as soon as we have the time to speak in private, for now, Marinette neither wants to lie to Alya nor does she want to create another situation, in which she asks her to keep something from you! CU tomorrow, Adrien"

"Well, how's that?", he wondered, as he showed her the message he had sent.

His girlfriend groaned.

"Oh Adrien! This is Alya! Of course she will tell Nino! Or she will try to get more information out of the two of us, either by texting, calling or even in person. And that's nothing, I can deal with on top of the conversation with my parents today!"

Her boyfriend simply shrugged and sent a second text, saying:

"Tell Alya to not pry, Marinette's parents are going to be her for dinner, they have no idea yet and it will be rather stressful, without anything else!"

"How's that, M'lady?", he asked her timidly and she took a deep breath, then uttered: "Maybe this will work. Let's just hope so!"

It was almost half past three in the afternoon, when they eventually had made it back to the mansion, due to the heavy traffic around this time and so even Nathalie suggested, they shouldn't attend the last class for this day and instead, try to relax and soothe Marinette for she was a nervous wreck already by then.

"Come, let's sit down and have a little chat!", the older female suggested to the younger one. Adrien was about to object, but Nathalie shook her head barely noticeable and as he saw, that his girlfriend seemed to be fond of the idea, he just followed the women into the dining hall and in front of the fireplace.

"Adrien, could you please go and tell your father, that we're back? Maybe you can take the picture and the video with you and show him your child! I have the slight felling, that your woman could use some girl talk, so take your time, okay?"

The half chinese girl looked scared at the former villain, but Nathalie said very kindly:

"There's no need to be scared, Marinette! I just thought, you would like to talk about some things, you feel uncomfortable in front of Adrien or even your doctor. That's at least, what it felt like, when I watched you at his office. You somehow seemed to feel embarrassed when he for example asked about your sexual activities in the past. So I just thought, as you already talked to me about Adrien's issues and the things, that Emilie did to him, you obviously feel more comfortable, when you're speaking about those things with me, right?"

But the girl shook her head vigorously.

"I wasn't feeling embarrassed, I was simply overwhelmed. Did you see? It already looks like a real human! And we could hear the little heart beat. I then remembered, that I had considered to.... you know, as Adrien said, kill it..... Well, I can only say, I didn't hear half of his questions. BUT....you were also right, that I feel much less flustered, when I tell or ask you something. But right now, my only problem is the confrontation with my parents, especially my dad. He was so mad already, when he just saw Adrien sleeping next to me, I can't even imagine, what he will do, when we tell him!", she sounded incredibly desperate towards the end and Nathalie laid a hand on her arm, trying to encourage her at least a little bit.

Tom and Sabine arrived at the Agreste mansion a couple of minutes before 7.30 PM. They had just as every day closed the bakery at seven to clean up the food display and the rest of the shop, while the bakery itself, with the oven and the kneading machine and all the other things, had already been scrubbed or washed in the morning, when the massive baker had finished his daily amount and variety of baked goods.

The couple had been surprised by the sudden invitation of Mr and Mrs Agreste, but Sabine had quickly found a to her logical explanation. The boy's father had married again not too long ago and he and his wife were expecting their first common child. While during the first months of a pregnancy, not only nausea but also an incredibly strong fatigue was bothering the most women, in the second trimester most of them were feeling rather good and so, now was the perfect time, to meet the parents of their son's girlfriend. Later there would be too much to organise or even already a newborn baby, claiming most of their time and attention for the first weeks.

After introducing the adults to one another, Marinette and Adrien sat down at the table next to each other, Gabriel in his usual seat, his wife to his left, right next to the nervous girl. Sabine sat to the designer's right, her husband at her side.

For dinner they had just a soup and then some roast with potatoes, sauce and vegetables, because Marinette had asked them, to keep it simple, to not upset her dad, who liked the more rustical way to eat.

Dessert was just being brought into the room by a young kitchen worker, a brunette woman around twenty, when Tom began to question:

"Well, the food was very delicious, but I can't get rid of the feeling, that there is a reason, why you invited us. Did our daughter do anything stupid? Because, before you judge her you must know, that she is incredibly clumsy and most likely didn't do it on purpose...!"

Nathalie giggled, when she leaned to the younger female and hissed:

"I am very certain, that it wasn't on purpose!" Marinette gasped, but joined her laughter.

"What was that about, Nath?", wondered Adrien.

"Later, Kitty!", whispered his girlfriend and he grinned a little dumbly and nodded.

The pregnant teenager inhaled deeply, then just gushed out:

"Actually, there is a reason for this dinner. There is something, we need to tell you about and you surely won't take a liking, what you're about to hear! And you were right, dad, it wasn't on purpose but there is nothing we can or rather want to change about it. So...."

She blindly felt for Adrien's hand and the moment he met hers, he could feel her tremble.

Interlinking their fingers, she pulled a folded piece of paper from her purse and pushed it along the table over to her mother.

Sabine narrowed her brows, then picked it up and following an instinct, she blocked her husband's view when she unfolded it. Her mouth fell open and her eyes widened, but she managed, to keep every other reaction contained, and as she had luckily turned away from Tom, he couldn't look at her face either.

"Why are you making a secret of it, Sabine? I am certain, she wanted us both to look at, whatever it is!"

His wife took a very deep breath, then looked at her daughter and shook her head.

"That's something, I have to talk about to Marinette alone first. Then you can join. It's something that should be kept between us girls, right Nathalie?"

The pregnant woman instantly agreed:

"Yeah, that's what I thought. You can go into Gabriel's office, if you want some quiet and private space. Marinette knows the way!"

The two women thanked her and left, to return about twenty minutes later, their eyes red and puffy, the girl still sniffling.

"Okay, will you tell me what's going on now?", Tom rumbled and jumped to his feet.

"Relax, darling!" Sabine hummed, "let's sit down again first, okay?" "Why?", he snarled.

"You'll see! Just go!", his wife demanded and he did as he was told.

Marinette went back to her seat between Nathalie and Adrien, forcefully grabbing one hand of each and squeezing her eyes shut, when her mum handed the ultrasound picture to the big man.

"Please, Tom, try to stay calm, okay? You don't want to put us both into a bad light and embarrass us, right? Here, look!"

He took the folded paper with a shaking hand and opened it.

"What? What the f.... MARINETTE, what is this? You can't be serious about that! This....he..... this despicable, deceiving scumbag..... I told you, he was trouble, Sabine! Marinette, go and get your things, we're leaving. And tomorrow, you will go and make a new appointment to figure out, how to get rid of it! MOVE, NOW!"

"I don't think so, Sir!", Adrien said very calmly. He had stood up too, but was standing there very relaxed, or he acted as if he did. For the first time in his life, he was grateful for all the hours, he had spent in different poses, while he was modeling, so Tom couldn't tell, how tense he truly was.

The baker scoffed.

"You don't think so? YOU DON'T THINK SO? Well, Marinette, you'll have to make a choice then! Your family or your lover?", he bellowed.

"Tom!", Sabine pleaded, but he shook his head.

"So? I'm waiting for your answer!"

The young woman straightened herself after getting up too, then she looked directly into her father's eyes:

"You are wrong in more than one thing, dad. Because, you want me to decide between the family I come from and the family, that lies ahead of me. And you can't really even think for the split of a second, I could make a decision for you and the way you're acting just now and against the tiny human, growing inside of me and the man I have been in love with since the day we met! If you want to leave, leave! I made my decision even before I saw what's on the picture you're holding and before we I heard the little heart beating. I hope, we can meet sometimes, mum? If not, we can talk over the phone, yeah? But right now, I can't continue this, because I shouldn't get all worked up even more. So please, just leave. If there is nothing nice, you can say, just go!"

The furious man wanted to yell at the girl, when Gabriel, who had stayed quiet until now, rose from his chair and approached him. Despite being only half his weight, the designer's height itself had an impact on people and the baker was silenced in an instant.

"I really think it best, if you were to leave now, because I won't let you yell and accuse all evening, while there are two pregnant women in the room, for who that much of excitement won't do any good. So, as long as you can't stay calm, I ask you to leave my house. Good night!"

With that, he turned his back to the man and walked to his wife and the young couple, laying his arms protectively around both females, while giving his son a sign of approval and support with his head.

Tom just grabbed Sabine's arm and dragged her fumingly outside the mansion.

As soon as they were gone, Marinette buried her face in the crook of Adrien's neck and sobbed desperately. The young model just held her taut and rubbed her back, sending an helpless glare at his father and Nathalie.

The adults just shrugged and Gabriel said softly:

"Just take her to your room and let her cry. It's best, to let it all out!", he then spoke directly to the half chinese girl, "don't worry, Marinette, we're here for you and neither of us will let you down! You'll see, everything will be alright!"

Chapter 24: How Would You Even Dare?

A couple of weeks had passed and Marinette still hadn't recovered from their loss. Barely two days after the dinner with her parents, she had woken up in the middle of the night to a strong pain in her lower abdomen and a massive bleeding.

After being rushed into the hospital, the doctors could just tell her the sad news though, that she was just having a miscarriage. After going under a small surgery and having to stay in the clinic for another day, Adrien was allowed to take her home with him and try to be there for his girlfriend.

At first, she had tried to be strong, to not show, how much it hurt her. Had told him, that they were far too young anyway. The young man had just held her hand and kissed the back of it, not able to speak at all. But he had agreed to everything, she said, so she could cope with the situation in her very own pace and way.

Then, when she had woken after the surgery back in her hospital room, she had completely broken down.

Crying angrily, shouting at him, at the nurses and even at the doctor who came in to check on her. Then Marinette had desperately clung to his neck, sobbing violently into his shoulder, while he kept rocking her carefully, to not worsen the pain from the operation.

Eventually the young woman had fallen asleep, a light and obviously troubled sleep, as she was shifting and fidgeting on the bed. It was already noon by then, and while the teenager watched the girl, he had been in love with for so long, feeling guilty for getting her into this situation, feeling numb, because he had tried to not show any emotion at all, so he could be her rock, about to start crying too, he felt a hand on his shoulder and as he turned around, he could see Gabriel standing there, his eyes puffy, his expression painfully distraught.

In the split of a second, Adrien stood up and turned towards him, a single word slipping his mouth, barely a whisper:

"Father!"

Then he flung his arms around the taller man, screaming into his chest, before he eventually let his tears flow freely and sobbed uncomfortably for what seemed like an eternity to him.

The designer just stood there, his arms holding his son in a tight embrace, giving him the chance, to let it all out, while he kept rubbing his back tenderly. He wiped his eyes quickly, when Adrien after a long time began to stir and looked up to him, despair written all over his face.

"Why?", he questioned, "why did this happen? I can't bear to see her so sad, father. It's all my fault! If we had been more careful, if I had told her about it earlier, if she hadn't been so worked up, from her dad's antics. And even worse, I did everything I could, to convince her, to have this baby. If she had had the abortion, I was so furious about, this pain wouldn't have been so bad on her!"

"It's not your fault, Adrien", a weak, female voice said and both men turned towards the bed and looked at the young woman, who had just woken up.

"Marinette", Adrien blurted out, "how are you feeling? I m-mean, physically, n-not, you know.....I....."

He took a deep, trembling breath, trying to speak calmly to not let her hear him sob.

"I'll be right outside with Nathalie. She's just getting some snack for all of us. I'll go and help her bring it here and leave you alone for some time, okay?", Gabriel now said wearily and the couple nodded, Marinette quietly humming:

"Th-thank y-you!"

"W-Well, how are...", the boy, who was trying desperately to fight back his tears, began, to be interrupted by the female.

"Please, Minou, just come here!"

He stepped reluctantly towards the bed, placing a hand on hers, when she gave him a stern look. Scooting to one side of the bed, she patted the now free, but still warm spot next to her. Adrien narrowed his eyes, as he carefully sat down on the edge of the mattress.

"I don't think, I am allowed to get into that bed too! I shouldn't anyway, to avoid hurting you in some place. I....", taking a couple of heaving, violent breath, to suppress his sobs, he tried to continue, but his girlfriend wouldn't let him.

She cupped his face with both hands, her thumbs wiping a few of the tears, which kept coming, then cooed: "You've been strong for so long now, Adrien. You are allowed to cry too. And you need comfort too. Just come here please, let's just hold each other and try to find some solace in each other. You don't have to shut off everything, so you can't feel anymore. You don't have to prove anything to me. I just need your arms around me now and I need to hold you just as much, my Kitty!"

He did and they cried together for almost an hour, when they heard a gentle knock on the door and Gabriel and Nathalie stepped inside, bringing some sandwiches and a large cup of coffee for each of them. They ate in silence, nobody able to speak or even having the slightest idea, what to say.

Another four weeks had passed since then and despite the pain after the small operation being completely gone and her body slowly returning to its usual functioning, Marinette felt empty and numb most of the time. The only thing, she 'did' feel, was the loss and the pain it caused in her heart.

She hadn't even bothered, to told her parents, they had only found out, after being informed about her treatment and the things that had happened, because she was still a minor. And even then, she only spoke shortly with Sabine over the phone.

The things, she had heard, coming from Tom Dupain in the background, had been enough, back when she had been only at the mansion for the second day, to make her crawl into Adrien's bed and pull the comforter over her head to start crying once again.

The young man had been furious and had really considered to transform into ChatNoir and pay the baker a visit. But the desperate sobs of the woman, he loved, had made him stay.

Today they were supposed to meet with Mr Dupain and his wife in the bakery, to not just pick up some fresh clothes and other things, Marinette needed, but also to talk things out and at least take that off the young woman's plate.

But neither Tom nor Marinette were willing to make the first step towards the other. I was Adrien, who greeted at first Sabine and then the big, broad baker, who was scowling at him.

"Good afternoon, Mr Dupain!", he said decorously, "it's nice to see you again. I really hope, you and Marinette can patch things up, because even if she won't admit it, she really needs the both of you to help her through this hard time too. We are all doing our best, but it's her parents, she has always been able to rely on. So please, I don't care, if you dislike me, but for her sake, at least try!"

Tom looked at the blond, young man sneeringly and just scoffed.

Sabine had already nudged the young woman into the kitchen and sat her down at the table, keeping one of her hands in her own, while she gently stroked it with the other. The overweight man had followed them close, leaving Adrien standing in the middle of the bakery, feeling more than unwelcome.

Still he slowly walked up the stairs to the family's private area, hearing the man's usually thundering voice tell his daughter, that she still should be glad, to be rid of her burden and having nothing to worry about anymore.

The loud footsteps told him, that his girlfriend was running away from them, certainly crying, up into her room to hide under her own blanket this time. About to follow, he overheard the baker mumble some things to himself, which made him stop and try to understand, what he was saying.

"Well Sabine, even though you said, giving her that special mixture of herbs could be dangerous, I have to admit, it worked well!", he chuckled.

Adrien froze. This couldn't be true!

"What", spat the chinese woman, "please Tom tell me, that you 'DID NOT' endanger your daughter's life AND make her lose her child, by mixing those leaves and seeds into anything, you could be sure, she would eat or drink! Just tell me please, that you did not sink that low! TOM! TALK TO ME NOW!"

The man, she had been married to for more than twenty years already, grinned wickedly, as he responded:

"'You' said too, that she was throwing away her future. 'You' told me about those plants, which would cause a miscarriage. 'You' told me, that your ancestors used them for that purpose! And now, you're accusing 'me'?"

Sabine took short laboured breaths, as she walked towards him.

"I said, that my ancestors used this herbal medicine if they were at the very beginning of an unwanted pregnancy and that many died, because they tried it too far into it. I also mentioned, that it's great, to live in a time and country, where a teenage pregnancy isn't an issue and our daughter could decide for herself, what she wanted to do! When you asked for the different kinds of herbs, I thought, you were just curious. I could have never even imagined, that you could harm your own child in that way! How did you get it to her? What was it, you mixed it into?", she interrogated him threateningly.

Tom shrugged.

"You insisted on bringing her lunch to school the next day and the day after that! So I figured, it would be rather easy, to use that mixture, which I found in that little chinese shop, you like to go to by the way, into the seasoning on her baguette. A little oregano and basil on top and nobody could tell a difference. And now stop looking at me like that, I did it for her best. Imagine, she would be having a baby soon!"

Plagg and Adrien stared at each other wide eyed, the little cat shaking his head vigorously, when the young man gazed down at his ring and inhaled, to say the magic words, when they could already hear Marinette scream at him from the top of her lungs:

"You did cause that? You despicable, pathetic excuse of a human being! How could you even dare? Just because I made my own decisions? You're nothing to me from this day on! I don't have a father anymore, I don't need one! Get out of my sight, NOW, before I forget everything and just...."

"Just what?", he yelled back, when he was already grabbed by the collar of his shirt and shoved backwards against the counter, a fuming Adrien, who hadn't even bothered to transform anymore, narrowing his grasp around the bakers throat. He knew, he had to seize the moment of surprise and do, what he had to do, before Tom would start to fight back, and so he jabbed his fist straight into his face. Once, twice, a third and a fourth time, until he heard the two females shout at him, to stop as he wasn't worth it, that the young man would get arrested for hurting him.

The huge man was cowering on the wooden flooring, trying to shield his head from the model, blood running out of his nose and mouth, and his eyes were almost swollen shut.

Giving him a last hit, by kicking his right foot directly into his face, he could hear the baker's nose break with a disgusting sound.

Then he just stood there for a moment, eyes closed, before he pulled Marinette close to his chest and walked her towards her room to gather the things, they came for, whispering in a dangerous tone:

"If he ever, such as tries to talk to Marinette, I will kill him! For now, he can be glad, that I just call the police and have him arrested!"

Chapter 25: The Five Stages Of Grieve

Neither Adrien nor Marinette had spoken about the things, that had happened in the DupainCheng bakery to Gabriel or Nathalie. They had just told them, that Tom had said some very mean and unforgivable things and that he had gotten, what he deserved.

They hadn't mentioned the herbal medicine, he had mixed into the girl's food and they hadn't told them, that they had called the police and they had taken him into custody.

He had begged his wife, to bail him out, told her to use all their savings to do so, but Sabine had refused and had told him, he could rot in prison if it was for her to decide.

Now the chinese woman felt simply devastated. Never would she have imagined her husband, that once so kind and loving man, to do something like that. What had happened to Tom Dupain? For the first two days, she couldn't even believe, that he had really done something like this. Then she had begun to get furious, something she usually wouldn't let happen to herself, as she was resting very well in herself. But this the feeling of being completely helpless and on top of that, absolutely useless for her only child, made her want to punch her husband's face as the boy had done, just without stopping.

Instead, she had burnt all his clothes, had broken his favourite mug and had ripped each and every picture of him and her or Marinette into thousand pieces. No need for her daughter, to ever be reminded of him, the way he once was.

She had after that considered, to give him another chance, to see, if he could be redeemed, had even considered, to talk to the teenagers, for their sake, to make peace with him, but had then quickly figured out, that neither she nor Marinette would ever be able to forgive him for doing that.

The final clarity of the man, her husband had become, had let her fall into a deep and dark hole and if her best friend Nadja Chamack hadn't come to visit her out of a sudden mood, she would have probably done something very stupid.

It was after having a couple of drinks with the news reporter and hours of talking and swearing, that she had eventually begun to accept, what had happened and decided, to continue with her life, without the man, who she had once considered her soulmate.

Now all she wanted, was to win her daughters trust again, to be able to be there for her and comfort her. It hurt her a lot, that she couldn't just hold her in her arms, stroke her hair, like she had done, when the girl was small and tell her, that everything was going to be alright.

But she knew it would never be alright, not after losing her child. And worse by her own father's doing.

Marinette, who had gone through the first three stages in the hospital already, was stuck in her depression. She couldn't find the smallest thing, that would cheer her up, not even Adrien, staying at her side all the time, trying all he could, to help her out of her mental state. Not even his therapist, who had tried to talk to her, could do anything to help.

After three weeks, Nathalie couldn't bear to see the young woman like that and while Adrien was in school and Gabriel was on a meeting with some other designers, the now more than thirty weeks pregnant woman, decided, out of a sudden thought, to try a very different rather offensive approach.

So she went to the young couple's room and knocked gently on the door, waiting for an answer, but didn't expect one anyway.

So she waited for a little longer and knocked again but didn't linger any more and stepped slowly inside.

"Good morning, Marinette!", she exclaimed with a clear and friendly voice.

"Let me sleep please!", the younger woman groaned and pulled the blanket over her head.

Nathalie sighed and sat down on the mattress right beside her, leaning her back against the head board and began to talk:

"I know, that you're feeling incredibly sad and angry, but those feelings won't go away, if you cling on to them, sweetheart. At least try to get out of this room and outside into the sun. Breathe some fresh winter air and enjoy the ice rink or get some hot chocolate. This room won't do you any good, Marinette!"

She could hear the sarcastic laugh from under the duvet and scooted a little closer, placing one hand on the girl's back, rubbing it gently.

"Come on, at least look at me and entertain me a little bit. Gabriel won't let me work anymore and I am bored into pieces. I am really starting to worry about you! Just turn around and show me, if you're still alive or already a zombie or a vampire!", she joked and smiled happily, when the teenager really turned on her back and stuck her head out of the sheets.

"Now you've seen, that I still am! Happy?", she whined.

Nathalie shook her head.

"I can rule out the zombie, but a vampire would react like a human, right? Give me your hand and let me feel if you're warm and have a heart beat. Don't give me that look, I need your hand!"

Marinette groaned in annoyance and held out her hand to the kindly smiling woman.

"Here, happy now? W-Wait, what are you doing? I c-c-can't.....I..... Oh my God, that's incredible, she's so strong!"

Instead of feeling her pulse, Nathalie had placed the girl's hand on the side of her belly, where her baby was just now trying to use her as a trampoline and had caused an even better reaction than she would have expected. She had thought, the girl would get angry or start to cry, which would have still been better, than sulking alone in her bed, not letting it out, but not able to keep it in either.

Now the older woman looked at her with a kind smile and started to rub her hand with her own, which was still holding Marinette's palm to her side.

The teenager's eyes were now brimming with tears, when she asked:

"Would it be okay, if I talked to her? I mean, I don't want to make you feel uncomfortable in any way!"

"Oh Marinette, of course I'm okay with that. Just watch out, she is getting really agitated, when someone speaks directly to my skin! She might kick you!"

For the very first time in weeks, the young female giggled at the mere thought and made Nathalie's grin widen.

"I think, I will live to tell the tale, right?", she mused and turned to her side to get real close to the woman's baby bump with her mouth, so she could place her lips on it and softly talk to the very active baby girl.

She laughed together with Nathalie over the antics of the unborn child, until she couldn't hold back the tears any longer.

The older woman had waited for the walls to crumble and was now there to hold her and just let her cry, so she could eventually let it all out and try to go on with her life. Little did she know about the things, the girl was about to tell her just a short time later.

When the tears began to flow, she just laid an arm around her shoulders and said:

"It's okay to cry, Marinette! Nobody will judge you. Just let it out, alright?"

For more than the quarter of an hour the young woman cried desperately into Nathalie's chest. Her hand was still lying on the woman's belly and somehow the little one seemed to sense her sadness and soon just pressed her head into her palm, making her calm down and smile, as she caressed the small skull gently.

"She's amazingly empathic already", the teenager cooed, "as are you. Thank you, Nath, I don't know why it made me feel better instead of worse, but it did. It's hard though, imagining, that by now, I would probably be able to....", she swallowed heavily and shook her head, then pressed her forehead against Nathalie's shoulder again.

It was the assistant, who finished the sentence for her:

"By now, you would have been able to feel your own baby kick. Or you would be waiting for it. I am really sorry, sweetheart. What happened to you wasn't fair. Nobody should have to go through this. But there was nothing you could have done to provide it, so please, don't blame yourself, okay?"

The girl's expression hardened and her eyes began to glisten dangerously.

"I don't blame myself, I blame the one person, who is responsible for my baby's death. My own father, who put something into my lunch, that caused the bleeding and the pain....."

She was trembling now and started to cry again, almost falling back into her lethargie, but Nathalie, who heard about that for the very first time right now, was too shocked, to not question any further. And she was in no way willing, to let her get shut out again after making so much progress.

"Marinette, tell me, what did he do? I think, I heard you wrong!"

"You did not!", she said coldly, "my own father poisoned me, yes you heard me correctly, because, the things he mixed into my meals, could have easily killed me too, if they hadn't been able to stop the bleeding. He told my mum, that he got the herbs, she had told him about and mixed them with the seasoning on my baguette. I know, it wasn't my mother's fault, she had just told him, that she loved, how a young woman in this country has the chance to decide for herself, if she wants to have the baby or not, without social or legal consequences. She told him, how her ancestors handled a situation like this and also, that women often died if the pregnancy was too far along already. He also said, he did that, so I wouldn't throw away my life and my future!", she laughed bitterly, "but it was him, who destroyed everything I believed in and everything I was looking forward to. But there is something else, that keeps bugging me since we found out, what he did. What if I hadn't eaten those baguettes for lunch, but maybe even brought them here and shared with you? What if he had hurt you and your little girl as well? I was so incredibly happy, when I felt her kick earlier, when I could finally be sure, that he hadn't somehow brought any of it into your food too. I..."

She was now sobbing again and clang on to the other woman's middle, her arms wrapped tightly around her and her head between her breasts.

Nathalie rocked her gently in her arms, told her, that she was fine, and that Marinette would be too.

"You know, when you both think, the time is right, you can still try again. Even if this sounds all like cliche, it's still the truth. Until then, I will gladly accept both your help with this one here", she pointed at her tummy, "because, if she stays this agile, I'll have both hands full with her!"

"I'd love that, Nathalie. And I am certain, Adrien will love it even more, as it is his sister. But now I would like to know, how you are feeling. Are you alright? I have been so distraught by my sorrow and sulking, I barely noticed anything around me. I am sorry for that! Just tell me, is there anything, I can do for you?"

Nathalie was about to say no, when she remembered something and began to smile.

When Gabriel and Adrien arrived at the mansion together, because the designer had after his meeting watched the young man at his fencing practice, to then have the Gorilla drive them back home, they couldn't find the two women at first. Only after some time of searching and finally shouting through the large hallways, they found them in an until then empty room, that was now being obviously under renovation.

Both were dressed in old, much too big work wear, stains of pink and violet paint all over their arms and hands and even in their faces. But they were also obviously having fun, while painting the walls of, as it appeared to be, the baby's future nursery.

Nathalie beamed at her husband, as he carefully bent down, to kiss her lips, without getting any of the paint, she was covered with on his suit.

Adrien though, completely overwhelmed by his girlfriend, who was for the first time in forever not hiding in his room under the duvet, but enjoying the work with the pregnant woman, laughing and joking, just picked her up from the ladder, she was standing on and hugged her tightly, while he whirled her around and then kissed her savagely, making the adults grin sheepishly and avert their gazes.

After they parted their lips, he just stood there and stared at her in awe. Then he eventually managed to blurt out:

"Marinette, what happened? It's so wonderful, to finally see you like this again!", then a little quieter and while pulling her taut once more, "I love you, so, so much!"

She laughed at him, then wrapped her arms tightly around his neck, laying her cheek on his and whispered into his ear: "I love you too, Adrien!"

Chapter 26: I told Nathalie

After they had exchanged another passionate kiss, Marinette again whispered into her boyfriend's ear:

"I told Nathalie the truth! I think maybe we should inform your dad too, don't you?"

Adrien could feel, that she was trembling, so he hugged her even tighter and then agreed with a tilt of his head and said:

"You're right about that, though I don't want to even imagine, what he will do to your dad, once he finds out the truth!"

"Well, Kitty, I would say, my dad had it coming, don't you?"

"Honestly, Marinette, I totally agree with you!"

It was Gabriel who questioned now:

"What are you two talking about? What did you tell Nathalie? What did your dad do? What happened?"

Nathalie interlinked her fingers with his, before she very quietly hummed:

"Come, darling, let me tell you, when we're alone. There is no need for Marinette, to see you, when you're about to explode!"

"Explode? Why should I do so? What happened? Did he say something stupid again?", the designer interrogated her

"Come, Gabriel, let's talk in private, please!", Nathalie begged him and as he looked at his very pregnant wife, saw how tired she was after the painting and everything, he immediately gave in and said:

"Fine, let's go down into the office then. But I want you to promise me, that you will get some rest afterwards. Meaning, lying down and relax, let me spoil you with a little massage and something delicious to eat, deal?"

She stretched with both hands at the small of her back and a groan:

"Yes, I will do so. I think, that would be actually nice, Gabriel!", Nathalie agreed with her husband, making him furrow his brows.

"Are you sure, you're alright, Nath? You usually don't give in that fast!", he uttered, giving her a concerned glare.

But the pregnant woman just wrapped her arms around his chest and muttered:

"I am fine, really. I am just totally worn out after the painting and lying down sounds utterly nice!", she enthused.

Gabriel nodded and gave her a loving smile.

"Well, maybe we should talk in the bedroom then?"

But the young woman immediately shook her head vigorously.

"It's nothing, we should talk about in a place, that should actually be our retreat. So, let's handle this downstairs, before we go into our room, okay?"

He nodded, but looked rather bewildered as he let her nudge him through the open door and down the stairs.

The younger couple stayed in the room for a little longer, still in a tight embrace, the girl finally taking a deep breath and saying:

"Come, let's wash out those brushes and all the stuff, that's soaked in paint, so we can continue tomorrow. I really want this room to become special and very beautiful. Not only for the baby, but for Nathalie as well. I somehow feel as if somebody needs to do something, that makes her see, how very special and important she is and has been to all of us!"

She sniffled and wiped her eyes with the back of her hand. Then Marinette grabbed all the things with paint on them and placed them in an empty bucket, which had contained the pink colour before, to bring them into the bathroom to wash them.

Adrien followed her close, suggesting:

"Why don't you just pour water over all of it and come with me into our room? I would really love to enjoy some time with my girlfriend being back to her old self and show her with a very sweet cuddle session, how very much I've missed her!"

Marinette nuzzled her face into the crook of his neck, where she started to place soft kisses on his skin.

"Actually, Kitty, I was thinking about something a lot more intimate. If you'd want that too, of course!", she then muttered hoarsely into his ear.

He pulled back, grabbing her shoulders rapidly, wondering:

"Are you sure about that? Because, I would be just as happy if we would just watch a movie and cuddle and...."

He took a look at her expression and stopped mid sentence, then grinned and without hesitation grabbed her around the waist to pull her close to him, voicing seductively:

"But if you insist, M'lady..!", to then lift her up by the back of her thighs and start carrying her to his bedroom.

Gabriel had made Nathalie take a seat on the soft benches around the runway in the middle of the office and sat down beside her, lifting her feet into his lap and began to massage them, while he listened to the things, the assistant had to say.

It was hard for him to not jump up and yell at her, as it wasn't her, who caused his pain. She was just the messenger.

He had stopped rubbing the soles of Nathalie's feet and had shut his eyes, taking deep, shaky breaths. His fists were clenched and his whole body tensed.

"He honestly confessed 'that' to his wife, thinking, she would still be supportive? And he also took the risk, that his daughter might have shared the sandwich with someone, even you? What would he have done, if he had killed Marinette as well? Or if he had harmed you and our baby? He's in prison now, you say? Well, they better keep him there, because if he ever crosses my path again....I swear to you.....I.....Nath, are you alright?"

His eyes shifted to his wife's hand, pressed to the side of her belly and her face grimacing.

"She's kicking very hard sometimes. No need to worry, but it hurts anyway! Here, feel!"

She pulled Gabriel's hand to her tummy and placed it on the mentioned spot, making him instantly relax and even show her a tiny smile.

Then he bent over and kissed the large stomach, whispering:

"I am so glad, that you didn't get hurt too. But I still feel very sad for your brother and his girlfriend. Your little niece or nephew died because of a very bad man. But it was so sweet from you, that you made Marinette happy again today!"

Nathalie's eyes brimmed with tears, when she laid a hand on top of his head and started to caress his scalp.

"You are so sweet sometimes, you know?", she hummed, "if I wasn't feeling so heavy and slow, I would suggest to.....you know.....do something very pleasing. But sadly....." She sighed deeply.

Gabriel placed soft kissed along her belly then between her breasts until he reached her mouth.

"Soon, my love, soon. Right now all you have to worry about, is that little girl in your belly and to let her grow and yourself staying strong and healthy, so we can be the parents, that Adrien sadly didn't have, which I regret immensely!"

He kissed her. Passionately, making a desperate moan slip her throat and he chuckled lightly, before he parted their lips, making her squirm.

"Ah, that feels so weird on my lips, when you do that!", she exclaimed.

"Sorry!", the father to be hissed ruefully, "can I help you up now and accompany you upstairs into our bed?"

Nathalie nodded, but told him:

"We need to wash the painting stuff first. Otherwise it will all dry out and get hard and we can't use it again!"

But the concerned man shook his head sternly and demanded:

"You will get some rest. I will stay with you for a while, so I can be sure,you really do, and then 'I' will go and get those things cleaned. And no discussion, please! You promised, Nathalie!"

The young woman gave him a kind smile, then agreed in a calm voice.

"Okay, today I do, whatever you want me to. After all, I am just so incredibly happy, despite the bad things, that happened, that we are alright and that Marinette and Adrien are. And that our little princess is. I just hope, that the children will find a way to get over this, without Adrien's mental health getting newly damaged. He was making so much progress, Marinette had told me. She feels bad, that she couldn't get herself to join his therapy appointments lately. And I am sure, that Adrien feels bad, that he couldn't help her out of the state, she was in. I was just lucky today, that she reacted the way she did. I thought, she would have a melt down or get angry. I would have never hoped for her, to actually smile and be happy to interact with our child! So, after doing so many productive things and pulling a young woman out of her depression, I really feel, as if I deserved that rest!"

Shaking his head in disbelief, he eventually pulled her to her feet and told her off:

"Don't even think, you have to do anything, to deserve your rest. Simply letting our baby grow, would already be more than enough. And if you weren't pregnant and wanted to have some, you would still deserve it. Do I need to remind you, Mayura, how much you have already suffered under all my antics? Even after we got married, I kept hurting you, without even noticing. I love you so much, Nathalie. I would even carry you around, if you let me, just to prove that to you!"

He was close to tears himself now.

"Come, let's get you settled. I can't even look at you, when you're barely able to stand, without letting anyone take at least some of your tasks from you!", he croaked, his voice husky.

His wife smiled softly and cupped his cheek.

"You're so sweet, honey! I love you very much too!"

Laying and arm around her waist, Gabriel then slowly walked her up the stairs and through their room into the bathroom.

"I guess, you wanted to go here first, right?", he mused with a wink and she nodded tiredly.

"Yeah, thank you!", she uttered, to then add a sarcastic: "How did you even know?"

They laughed blissfully together. Then the man went back to gather all the brushes and the other stuff from the tow women's painting session, but returned empty handed.

"It seems, as if Adrien and Marinette already took care of the brushes, love!", he called out to her.

"Really? That's sweet of them. As long as I am busy in here, would you mind, to go and thank them from me? And tell them, to join us for dinner later. I thought, we could order some take out and eat all together in here! If you would like that too!", she shouted back through the closed door.

Gabriel shortly gazed into the room, telling her:

"I will go and tell them, if you really get into bed already, okay?"

Nathalie shook her head.

"I'll take a very quick shower, to get rid of the paint first. I suppose, we'll be done around the same time and can lay down together than. That I can't enjoy, sleeping with you at the moment, doesn't mean, I won't like to be held!"

Her husband let out a desperate sigh.

"Fine, but I will make it quick. And you better be done by then or I will force you to stay in this room and this bed for a whole week!", he threatened with a cheeky grin.

"Oh", his wife gave back cockily, "as you didn't mention which week, I am already looking forward to it, after our daughter is born!"

"Get to bed, I will be right back here!", he repeated and rushed outside and into the corridor.

As he was just about to knock on the door to his son's bedroom, he could hear a couple of familiar sounds, that stopped him from doing so and he returned to his own room in an instant, entering the bathroom to join Nathalie in the shower.

"Woah", she gushed out, when he suddenly stepped under the warm stream of water and hugged her from behind, "that was fast!"

"Well, I certainly didn't want to walk into the room, while they were....you know.... I am very sure, it's the first time since.....that they.....and I felt bad enough, to even 'hear' them, if only for a few seconds!", he explained, pulling her back against his chest, making her lean into him with a relieved groan.

"Fuck, that feels so much better! If only we could....G-Gabriel, what are you....oh crap, that's....mh, I love, when you do that....just don't.....oh fuck yes!"

He had started to kiss the side of her neck, while he had laid his arms around her and was now gently caressing her areolas, making that certain sensation spark inside her, that she was missing so very much lately.

"You know, that you're mean, right?", she then scolded him and pushed herself off of him. But the designer just tilted his head to the side for a short moment and shrugged, then quickly made two steps, so that he was standing in front of her, to bend down and instead of his hands, he used his lips at her breasts now.

"Gabriel!", she yelled at him, making him smirk.

"Just enjoy, my love! I just had the crazy idea, that even if the actual penetration is hurting you by now, a little kissing and licking and sucking, would most likely be welcomed?!", he proposed and heard her gasp.

Finally she relaxed into his touch, even urged against it, to let im guide her to their bed right after helping her wash all the paint off. Placing her on her back, her back supported by two big cushions, while he placed each of her legs on another one, he began to kiss along her throat and neck, making it bit by bit to her breasts, where he took his time, before he kissed along her protruding bump and eventually his lips arrived at her intimates and slowly closed around that little nub, making her cry out from the sensation.

Chapter 27: Not Much Longer

The time seemed to stand still for the young mother to be. Even with Gabriel, Marinette and Adrien doing their very best, to entertain her somehow, Nathalie wasn't just bored, but truly and honestly pissed!

All she could lately think about was that she wanted to hold her daughter in her arms eventually, wanted to see, how she looked and hear her cry and make all sorts of sounds, babies usually did. It was tormenting, feeling her all through the day, her poor ribcage aching from her hard kicks, her throat and stomach constantly sore from the heartburn due to the permanent reflux.

Her back was hurting too, but this wasn't as unnerving as the rest of it. Her due date came and went and still, her little girl made no effort to finally be born.

It was a beautiful sunny, yet still cold morning. She was in the dining room, having breakfast with Marinette, who, despite feeling a lot better than before, still had not found the motivation to go back to school and because of that was the one, who kept Nathalie company most of the three.

Gabriel had pecked her lips quickly, after taking a piece of toast into his office with him and had left them on their own.

Nathalie took a few bites from her bun and sighed. She couldn't eat very much lately, the baby just claimed too much space in her abdomen. She looked at the younger woman and sighed, then demanded:

"Marinette, please eat. You don't have to hold back, because of me!"

But the half chinese girl shook her head.

"I'm not really hungry today, Nath. And I have put on enough weight over the last two months, after sitting around all the time, that it won't cause any harm, if I let out one meal!", she chuckled and placed a hand on her friends forearm.

"If you say so", Nathalie gave in with a loving smile. Then she grimaced and poked her belly in the spot, she had just been kicked.

"Stop that!", she ranted and Marinette laughed.

"Is she teasing you again? I can't wait to meet her. Adrien and I have been talking and we agreed on doing a lot of babysitting, if you want us to. If she stays this hyped, you will need a lot of help!"

"Thank you, that's sweet!", Nathalie beamed at her. Then she got serious:

"You know, now that the new semester is about to start soon, you should try to graduate with the others. Your exams were excellent, your grades are better than Adrien's and I see nothing, that would keep you from joining your friends and classmates for those last few months. After that, I will gladly let you watch the baby, but I think you and Adrien both need the experience in the group. What do you think?"

Marinette closed her eyes and inhaled deeply.

"I don't think I can!", she responded, then continued reluctantly, "I feel safe here. Going to school feels like exposing myself to all sorts of dangers. My own father poisoned me there. How can I ever be safe anywhere again?"

Nathalie gasped. That was something, she hadn't even considered. She had thought, the young female was still grieving and therefor didn't feel like going back. It hadn't occurred to her yet, that it could be fear, that held her back.

"Oh sweetie, why didn't you say anything before? I do understand, that you're scared. But I am very certain, that something like that won't ever happen to you again! If the two of you decide at some point, to try for a child again, then I would understand your fears, but right now, they're irrational!"

"Yeah, maybe you're right. They are irrational anyway, because my father is still locked up. But if he comes free, then...."

"Then he won't get the chance to come near you or any of us. So why don't you just talk to Adrien about everything?", Nathalie suggested.

The girl shook her head vigorously.

"I can't talk to him about that. He doesn't even know about it yet!", she exclaimed.

"Well", Nathalie gave back, "I don't think, he will judge you, because you're scared of something!"

Marinette gazed down at her plate, mumbling:

"That's not what I meant!"

She carefully lifted her head and her bluebell eyes were met with the concerned glare of the turquoise ones.

"Is there anything else bothering you? You know, you can tell me!", the pregnant woman asked worriedly.

The teenager shrugged.

"It's something, that makes my anxiety way less irrational". she admitted.

Nathalie looked puzzled for a couple of seconds, then smiled at her widely.

"Are you...?"

She watched the girl nod and smile hesitantly.

"I didn't even dare to think I might be. I only had my period once since....you know. But after we started to have.....to be active again, I at some point started to notice small changes, like growing and aching breasts, or being incredibly sleepy and well, uhm....I couldn't wait for Adrien to come home, because, uhm...."

Nathalie laughed out freely, then uttered with a grin:

"...because you felt constantly aroused?"

"Uh-huh!", she groaned, while her face turned scarlet red.

The older female inhaled deeply, as she was about to ask a more serious question:

"So, it was another accident or did you aim for it?"

Trying to avoid the assistant's intense glare, Marinette stared through the window into the bright sunlight, when she told her:

"Well, do you remember the day, I told you, what my dad did and when we were painting? This was the first time we slept with each other after.....the hospital. When I asked him, to grab a condom out of his drawer, he just posed a question in response:

"Well, would you really mind, if I didn't?"

I stared at him for a moment, thinking about, what he was proposing and then I smiled and confessed:

"I wouldn't mind, Kitty!"

And that was all. We never mentioned any kind of contraceptive again. Somehow we had agreed to just leave it to fate.

Nathalie nodded, yet looked pensive.

"Since when have you known?", she pryed.

"A...couple of days?", she admitted.

"Tell him! As soon as he comes home! And then let him spoil you, until you feel really, really good!", she winked as she spoke.

Marinette laughed with her.

"Yeah, I would like that! But I am also scared like shit, that it could cause....", she swallowed heavily, "...I know, that's stupid, but after....."

"I understand. That's one more reason, to tell Adrien as soon as possible!", the older woman stated.

Reluctantly the half chinese agreed.

"I'll try, but I am not sure, if I have the guts! It might take me a couple more days to finally tell him! I want to be sure and don't want him to hurt if something was to happen again. I couldn't stand, seeing him in such pain again!"

Nathalie shook her head.

"You were both hurting. Tell him! And stop thinking, that anything will happen again this time. Do you know, how far....?"

Before she could finish her question, Marinette had shaken her head.

"Not in the slightest. As I told you, I only had one period since I lost.....since the....since my father caused our.....baby to die!", she stammered, still struggling to speak it out loud.

"Shush, don't stress yourself now. You'll see, everything will be fine this time. Tell Adrien when he comes home for lunch. I'll go and annoy my husband a little more with my impatience!", she giggled.

The younger woman laughed with her and walked over to help her to her feet. Nathalie wanted to object, but the girl was stubborn.

"I only hold your arms and lean back, so my weight pulls you up!", she insisted. "Yeah, just that I am at least twenty pounds heavier than you!"

When the young model arrived at home, he was greeted by his girlfriend at the entrance door already and gave her a worried look.

"Is everything alright, M'lady? Are you okay? Is something with Nath?", he immediately questioned.

Marinette shook her head vigorously and pulled him inside, to then entangle him into a savage kiss.

He instantly reciprocated and grabbed her thighs, to lift her up and press her with her back against the now closed door, feeling his member harden already, when he broke the kiss shortly to ask:

"Well, what did I do, to earn such a wonderful greeting, Bugaboo?"

"I simply missed you and then I kept thinking about you and the things we could do as soon as you're here, instead of you, going back for your fencing classes..... And then I thought, I could surprise you down here already. I can't get rid of the feeling, that you are rather fond of the idea, right?", she hummed seductively, making him groan and squirm, to give his growing erection more space in his too tight pants.

"How about we take this upstairs then?", he proposed and as answer she pushed herself forward and let her legs down, to stand on her own feet again.

"I'd love that, Kitty!", she chirped happily and grabbed his hand to pull him with her.

They both rushed into his room and quickly slammed the door shut. Only then he noticed, what she was wearing, or rather, what she wasn't wearing. He had of course spotted the pink, short dress and the low cut cleavage, but he had not paid too much attention to anything else because of her sudden ambush downstairs. Now he could tell, that said dress was skintight and there was no imprint of her bra or panties, which made him swallow hard.

"You look incredible, Ma-Marinette!", he told her, now that he had grasped the time to take in all of her appearance.

"Thank you, Kitty. And I have a surprise for you. After we did.....well..... you know! Because I really need to feel you very soon, Adrien!", the aroused girl told him sternly.

They had never both released that fast. Heavily panting, the couple was lying on their back, both wearing a blissful grin, their shoulders touching their fingers intertwined.

"That was totally crazy!", the young man blurted out.

"Yeah", she replied, "but also totally satisfying!"

The young man smiled at her, as he lifted her hand to his lips and placed a tender kiss on the back of it. Then he turned around to face her, watching his beloved woman doing the same.

Getting lost in her eyes, he placed a hand on her waist and started to rub his thumb along her soft skin, when he questioned:

"What was that surprise, that you were talking about, Bugaboo?"

She held her breath. Then exhaled audibly, before she even was able to speak:

"Well, I don't even know, where to begin.....and to be completely honest, the thought alone scares the crap out of me, but..... God, why is this so hard? Just....just have a close look at me and tell me, what you see!"

He furrowed his brows, as he did as she told him to.

"I see a beautiful woman, with the prettiest blue eyes, I've ever seen, the softest skin, the most tempting scent, the hottest pair of tits, which looks as if it had grown again lately....", he paused and moved his hand up to cup one of her breasts in his palm. His eyes widened the very moment he did and he now observed her body from head to toe, not daring to speak out his first suspicion. But then he remembered, that she had already awaited him at the door, with the obvious intention of seducing him, looked further down to her lower belly and then back to her eyes.

His hand dropped, scooting to her lower abdomen, where it came to a rest, while he asked with tears glistening in his eyes:

"Are you try....", he cleared his throat, because his voice was barely more than a scratching noise, are you trying to tell me.....that you are....."

His eyes flickered down again, to see her encourage him to finish his sentence with a tilt of her head.

"Really?", he blurted out, "you're pregnant again?"

They were both crying by now, when she nodded and whispered:

"Yes! And I am really fucking scared, Adrien. And happy. And worried. But mostly happy, I think!"

Laughing and crying at once, he smashed his lips on hers, kissing her passionately, while he pulled her tight to his chest. After parting their kiss, he whispered:

"Don't worry, M'lady! This time, I'm going to protect you both! No matter the cost!"

She chuckled through her sobs.

"That's really sweet, Adrien. And just imagine, not much longer and you'll be a big brother. Nathalie is four days past her due date and I've been reading about that and nowadays the doctors tend to start an induced labour after one week, so the longest time to wait would be three days. Maybe four, if it takes long after giving her the medication!", Marinette told him excitedly.

He smiled and kissed her again.

"Yes, Bugaboo! That's truly amazing!"

Chapter 28: Don't You Dare To Ever Touch Me Again

"Gabriel, wake up please!", Nathalie said sternly and poked his shoulder. He only let out an annoyed grunt and shifted a little.

"Gabriel!", this time a little louder, her hand grabbing his arm and shaking.

"Argh", he groaned and turned to the other side.

"GABRIEL!", the pregnant woman now yelled and he jolted up and stared at her wide eyed.

"What is it, Nathalie?", he asked angrily, because she had startled him.

Then he took a closer look at her and saw, that her face was distraught and she was panting and holding her belly, her forehead covered in sweat.

"Fuck, I'm sorry, my love. Is this....are you....the baby....are you in labour?"

"No Gabriel, I've been running a marathon and just returned home! What do you think it is?", she shouted mockingly.

"Damn woman, you just woke me, give me a minute to clear my thoughts, before you yell at me!", he ranted and jumped out of bed to get dressed very quickly.

When he returned from the bathroom less than three minutes later, wearing a pair of regular jeans and a plain blue shirt, she was crying.

"Hey, I am sorry, my love. I am scared and nervous too. Just forgive me, I am here for you now, okay?", he soothed her.

But Nathalie shook her head and looked at him remorsefully.

"I didn't mean to yell at you. I am so, so sorry! Please don't get mad!"

"Oh darling, I am not! I love you and I love our little one. Now let's just get you to the hospital, alright?"

"A-About that....oh holy crap.....", she cried out in pain and grasped his hand firmly, causing him to wince, but he tried to not let her see. With her eyes squeezed shut and holding her breath, she waited for the contraction to pass.

The designer watched her with concern, then looked around for his phone.

"Maybe we should call an ambulance, my love. I don't know, if you should be walking to the car, if you're in so much pain already. How long has that been going on?", he wondered.

"That's what.....that's what I was about to tell you. I...don't think, we can still make it to the hospital.....I.....oh damn it, give me a little break....!", she screamed and cringed again, pulling her legs up towards her stomach, while she groaned in agony.

While letting her squish his hand, Gabriel eventually got a hold of his phone and was already about to call an ambulance, when he hear a soft knock on the door.

It was Marinette, who peaked inside and asked:

"Is everything alright? I heard Nathalie screaming...", then she saw the woman in labour and without waiting for an answer, she rushed into the room and kneeled down in front of the bed, taking the woman's other hand into hers and let her grab it too.

Gabriel watched the scene with relief and asked:

"Can you stay with Nathalie for a moment, so I can make this call? She thinks, it's too late, to go to the hospital and I would like to call for help immediately!"

"Why of course, just go! I am here and I won't go away!", the eighteen year old promised.

"Oh yes you will!", Nathalie croaked, finally noticing, who's hand she was crushing, "it's not good for you, to be here and watch me go through the pain and everything. It won't just scare you, but can cause....."

"I know and I won't stay until the end. But for now, I am here with you and your husband is going to take care of getting you to the hospital in time. Or at least get a doctor or midwife here before one of us has to help you, deliver your child!", she hummed soothingly and sat down on the bed to pull the woman into her arms. Rubbing the small of her back, she whispered:

"Just try to relax a little bit, okay? I know, there isn't much I can do, but I also remember, that this can ease the pain at least a little. So as long as you're not feeling the next contraction, try to let go, yeah?"

"Thank you!", Nathalie hissed.

It was less than two minutes, until the pain started again, this time the pregnant woman whimpered only quietly, the touch of the other female helping her to handle the pain a lot better.

Gabriel walked back into the room, watching his wife go through another wave of agonizing pain and immediately felt guilty Yet he also noticed, that Marinette's presence seemed to ease that a lot.

As soon as the contraction had passed and Nathalie could speak again, she addressed her husband:

"You need to send her out of here now! If she won't leave, call for Adrien and tell him to get her. Tell him, that being here with me could be dangerous for their baby!"

"What? You're pregnant again? Since when have you known? And did you tell Adrien already? And Nathalie is absolutely right, you have to get out of here very soon. Not only because of endangering your pregnancy, but also, because you shouldn't be watching that. It could be really traumatizing!"

But the young woman shook her head and laughed. Then she got earnest again and said warmly:

"Loosing my baby and finding out, it was my father, who caused it, was traumatizing. Seeing you, despite the pain you're going through, giving birth, only makes me happy and gives me hope, that this time, everything will turn out as it's supposed to be for us too. I know, that I should not be here for the final birth, because I would just by emphasizing start to tense too and even mimic your efforts to push. But I also know, that it won't be causing any harm that early, so, I will stay as long as I can make you feel a tiny bit better!"

The woman in labour wanted to object, but instead held her belly once again and groaned in pain.

"I'll wake up Adrien anyway. I swear to you, my love, I'll be right back!"

Hurrying out of the room and towards his son's bedroom, he let out the breath he had been holding and let the tears flow. He didn't even know, why he was crying, but the sudden excitement and the fear and the twisted situation, that he couldn't just help his woman into his car and drive her to the hospital, just overwhelmed him.

To his surprise, Adrien was already getting dressed.

"Father, what's going on? Is something wrong with Nathalie or the baby?"

Gabriel shook his head. Then he hugged his son tightly and eventually let it all out, while he sobbed into his shoulder.

The young man felt a little awkward, yet he laid his arms around his father and rubbed his back soothingly. After a while, the older man pulled away and said sniffling:

"I need you to take care of your girlfriend. Congratulations by the way. But she shouldn't be with Nathalie, while she's giving birth and it seems, as if she won't be able to make it to the hospital in time. I am waiting for the ambulance, I've called, to arrive. Hopefully they know, what to do in such a case. Sorry for that", he mentioned the crying, "I simply needed to get it out of my system. I am scared, Adrien! And I have to hide it, to not scare my wife even more. So please come with me and help me, yeah?"

The boy smiled at him blissfully, feeling incredibly proud, that is father confined in him and wanted his help.

"Of course I will, father. Now come, don't stay away from her too long. I'll wait outside for the ambulance, okay?"

"Thank you!", the designer hissed with tears still running down his cheeks. He wiped them away angrily and jogged back to their own bedroom.

While her husband was still clinging to his son, Nathalie was becoming desperate. She gazed at the young girl and told her under tears:

"Fuck, Marinette, I feel as if I need to push very soon. Please, you must leave now and find G-Gabriel.....aaaahhhh I, just go....!"

She screamed in agony now but the younger female didn't obey and just grabbed both her hands, to let her squeeze them. It felt like an eternity, until this contraction had passed and when it did, Nathalie still grimaced and eventually tossed herself onto her back.

"I-I hate to ask that of you, but could you please help me out of my underwear? I really feel like....oh fuck.....I....."

The moment, the teenager lifted the blanket off of her, she could see a large amount of fluid spreading between her legs and instantly knew, that Nathalie's water had just broken.

"C-Can you lift your b-b-butt, Nath?", she stuttered, still staring at the large stain, that darkened the grey sheets, turning them almost black.

"I'll try!", the woman replied weakly and with all her strength, she pushed her pelvis into the air, at the same timing crying out from the sudden pain it caused.

Luckily the girl had been quick and she was now naked from the hips down. She barely managed to stand her feet up on the mattress, when the next contraction hit her and she couldn't not push now. So she did. Hesitantly because it felt, as if she was torn in the middle, but she pushed.

Marinette watched her, panic rising in her head, but she tried to stay calm until anyone would come into the room.

"I can't do this! I just can't, it's to much!", Nathalie was now sobbing and at the very moment, the panic was gone and the young woman felt calm and relaxed.

"Of course you can, Nath. Look at you, you've already made it so far. I am here and Gabriel will be here soon too. And even Adrien, if you want him to. You are the strongest woman, I have ever met, so don't even dare to give up now! If you can't do it, then I certainly can't! And I know, we both can! Soo, if you feel like it again, I want you to gather all your strength and push! Your little girl finally wants to meet you!", she told her encouragingly. Then she sat back down at her side and took one of her hands.

"Could you please come and sit behind me? That's how we did in the the Lamaze class. Gabriel was supposed to support my back, but as long as he isn't..."

"I am here, my love!", his voice came from the door now and Nathalie instantly began to cry out of relief.

"Go and wait with Adrien downstairs! Send them up as soon as they arrive. I got this. I hope at least!", he whispered into the girl's ear, so that his wife wouldn't hear him. But Marinette refused.

"I will stay until the paramedics are here. They will know, what to do, but you can't support her and help her with the birth. I really don't like it, but one of us has to take a close look at her vagina! And as you are supposed to hold her and support her back....", she sighed and glared at Nathalie. Then she asked her directly:

"Are you okay with that? If not, then..."

"I'm fine, just come here Gabriel, now! I....I swear to you, if you ever try to touch me again, if you ever dare, I will cut off your....oh fuck...."

She arched her back and cried out from the torturing sensation of being torn apart, when she felt another contraction and instinctively began to push again. The scared man quickly scooted behind her and helped her into a better position, even taking a hold of her legs, to make it easier for her, to bring the child into the world.

"Oh my God! I can see her hair already! She's bright blond, just like you and Adrien!", Marinette all of a sudden called out. "Just a little more, Nath and the head will be out!"

The woman groaned and panted, waiting for the next contraction to do that last agonizing push, when a turmoil was heard from the door and Adrien barged inside, the paramedics at his heels.

The young woman quickly made room for them, but only to rush around the bed and sit beside her friend, claiming her free hand and giving her an encouraging smile.

"Ready?", she asked and despite the pain Nathalie smiled back and nodded.

"Ready!", she breathed and then closed her eyes, that last resistance inside her broke and she felt, that to ease the pain, she had to make it worse one last time. So she gathered all her strength and pushed strongly, feeling as if suddenly something was torn and then the worst pain was gone and she was panting heavily, but not hurting that much anymore.

"Just slowly now, only soft pushes!", the female paramedic ordered, while her partner unwrapped a sterile pair of scissors and two clamps, to be able to cut the umbilical cord right away.

Adrien was waiting outside, but he could hear everything through the still open door and he felt bad. Imagining that he had to watch his beloved girlfriend go through the same very soon, made him almost pass out. But then he could hear the angry cries of his newborn half sister and began to smile.

Taking a careful glimpse inside, he saw Nathalie with a blissful smile, holding the crying, naked baby, which was still covered in blood and slime, though not as much, as he had feared, on her bare stomach, while the paramedics were taking care of cutting the cord and cleaning mother and child up a little bit. He noticed several things, that had come out of the woman's body while giving birth and turned his head, to not make her feel embarrassed.

"Just come inside, it's okay!", Nathalie cooed and he reluctantly did so.

"Hey", he said shyly and sat down beside his girlfriend, watching his little sister now being wrapped into a towel and placed into her mother's arms.

"She's so incredibly tiny!", he whispered.

Chapter 29: How Are You Going To Call Her?

"Of course she is tiny, Adrien! She has just been born. And you my love, were simply amazing. I love you so very much!", Gabriel whispered into his wife's ear.

But Nathalie didn't even listen. She just reciprocated his kiss absentmindedly while she stared down at the small bundle in her arms, that was still crying strongly, the fluffy, blond hair making her look like a tiny version of Gabriel, when he was having a tantrum because of something.

"Hey little beauty, no need to be so angry! I know, it's cold and bright and everything feels different right now, but we are all here, your daddy, your big brother and his girlfriend, with their baby in her belly, I am here and those kind paramedics, who will certainly leave very soon, so we can get some rest after that excitement just earlier....", she cooed and made Marinette giggle. She had gotten the hint, that Nathalie wanted the strangers out of the room, now that the worst was over and she could just as well wait for every further examinations and check ups until they would arrive at the hospital.

"Give me a minute, I'll take care of it! Adrien? Would you b so kind to follow me?", she lilted and pulled him with her out of the room. There she sent him to call for Nathalie's gynaecologist and if it was really necessary for her, to go to the clinic or if he could come by during the day. And if he would agree to examine the woman here at the mansion, if there was a pediatrician available too.

Then she turned to the kind paramedics and said sweetly:

"Well, I hate to sent you away now, but Nathalie really wants some time on her own, to be with her family without any interruptions and so I must ask you, to leave now. I'm going to make sure, that she'll see her doctor today and so will the little princess. Thank you for your quick and wonderful help, I am sure, that both of them will try to contact you and tell you in person, but right now, they just need some privacy. A little flaw, that has its origin in being a celebrity! I certainly hope, you understand and won't be offended!"

The female was already laughing.

"Of course not, Miss! I am a mum myself and can totally understand that. It's awful at the hospital, being forced to share your room with strangers, while trying to breastfeed your child. I had the bad luck, that my bed neighbour's boyfriend kept staring at my boobs whenever I tried to let my kid drink. So believe me, I would've suggested for her to stay here as long as she is feeling good. And you, young lady, take care of yourself and 'your' baby too and go to get some more sleep, yeah?", she happily chattered.

"Sounds good", the girl yawned, all of a sudden feeling the excitement fall off and how early in the morning it still was.

"The doctor will come here as soon as his night shift at the clinic is over. He said, it's another two or three hours, depending on possible patients showing up until then. Regularly his shift ends at seven o'clock in the morning! So we can really catch up on our sleep, especially you, Marinette", Adrien called out, when he returned from his father's office.

But his girlfriend shook her head.

"There are more important things to take care of", she lilted and walked away from him towards the kitchen.

With a grin the young model brought the paramedics to the gate, then followed her to see her sitting at a small table, biting relishingly into a piece of toast.

"Why are you hooking ag ee hike gag?", she questioned with her mouth full.

Chuckling he sat down beside her.

"I guess, you were asking, why I am looking at you like that, right?", he said mockingly, then asked, "do you want something else? Coffee? Tea? Hot chocolate? Because I will have some coffee and before you steal mine again, as you did the last three mornings...."

Marinette quickly swallowed so she could respond to his accusations.

"Hey, that's not fair! I try to relinquish coffee as good as I can, but then I smell yours and well, then I want some too. You could try to have something else too!"

He shook his head, knowing very well, that he had no chance to win this argument, so he suggested:

"How about I make a large cup and we share it? So 'you' didn't have a coffee yourself but just took a zip or two of mine?"

"That's cheating, but yeah, sounds good!", she mumbled, focusing on the things, she had brought to the table, "can you see the bananas anywhere? I was so sure, I brought them!"

Adrien shook his head, then reached out his hand and grabbed a banana right in front of her, after pushing her plate a little to the side.

"Here, M'lady. If you hadn't made your toast like thirty centimeters high, you would have easily found them!", he teased and quickly dodged the grape she threw at him. "Relax, I was just kidding and by the way, I am very glad, that you eat some healthy things beside....", he pointed at the things, she had stuffed between the two pieces of toast, "......that!"

Laughing he went over to the coffee machine and switched it on, waiting for it to heat up, while his girlfriend examined the things on her bread.

"What's wrong with my toast, Adrien?", she wanted to know, but he smiled and gave her a quick peck on the lips, when he passed her by on his way to get a mug out of the cupboard.

The teenagers both slept into the afternoon, as did Nathalie, after the doctors had been there to examine her and her little daughter. When Adrien eventually made it out of bed and still sleepily walked towards his parents' room, he could hear their hushed voices through the door and knocked very gently.

Gabriel opened it just a moment later, gesturing him inside, then pointed at the baby, who was just sucking on her mother's breast.

Adrien tried to not look, but Nathalie just smiled and said softly:

"It's nothing to feel bad about, Adrien. It's sweet, that you try to respect the intimacy, but it's also okay, if you are curious. Not only because of a certain natural curiosity, but also, because soon your own child will do the same at your girlfriend's breasts. Just sit, it really is okay! She's almost done anyway, as it seems. Would you like to hold her? After she burped, I mean."

"Oh, uhm, I am not sure, she looks so fragile. What if I hurt her?"

Gabriel had sat down on the mattress beside him now and laid an arm around his shoulder, explaining:

"She isn't as fragile as she might look. Once you hold her, you'll see, that she's quite strong and agile already. She keeps kicking with her little legs and tries to grab your finger as soon as you place it in her palm."

"Really?", the young man enthused, "that sounds rather sweet! How are you going to call her, by the way? Any names yet?"

The couple shrugged.

"We still couldn't agree on one we both like! So she most likely will have two or more!", Nathalie sighed.

But the model grinned.

"Well, I have to live with all my names too, so why should she have more luck? Maybe, father, you give it a little more thought than when I was a baby, so my poor little sister won't have to write half a page full with names, when she has to sign anything!", he said with a teasing tone.

"I know, you are just trying to make fun of me, but you sadly are also very right about that! Luckily, it wasn't me, who gave you all those names. I just wanted your first name, so, don't be too angry on me, okay?", Gabriel told him.

"Oh", his mood dropped in an instant, "so it was 'her', who gave me the others. Well, at least you could win this fight and called me by the one name, I wouldn't despise! Thank you, father!"

The designer kept rubbing his shoulder, looking at his wife, but his son shook his head and said firmly:

"No, I won't let the thoughts of the woman, who hurt me for so long, ruin this day! So tell me, what names do you have in mind?"

"Why don't you say one? I am sure, there are a couple, that you and Marinette ruled out already, so?", Nathalie now pleaded.

The young man grinned.

"Well, there was this one, that my, otherwise sweet and nice, girlfriend made a fuss about. Because I wouldn't let go off it. She just kept saying, she won't call her child after any Disney character, but I always loved that movie!"

Gabriel looked puzzled, but Nathalie began to smile.

"I love that, Adrien! What do you think, Gabriel, is 'Belle' s good name for our daughter?" Now the proud father began to beam widely.

"That's actually the perfect name. It's short, it's French and it describes her perfectly!", he bent down and kissed his daughter's cheek, "do you like the name Belle, ma belle chérie? She has no objections", he then mused. Seeing Nathalie's eyes falling shut, he gestured Adrien, to make a little room for him, so he could pick up his daughter to let her burp and give his wife a little more time to rest.

"Come here, son, hold Belle for a moment, so I can help Nathalie get a little more comfortable. She is still hurting, when she moves on her own! Don't be scared, I'll help you, to place her on your shoulder! Yes, that's good. Just pat her back gently and walk around a little, I am sure, you can handle that!", Gabriel explained and showed him, then went back to the exhausted woman, to help her get her shirt back on and get into a comfortable sleeping position.

Adrien was so fascinated from the tiny fingers, that kept grabbing his shirt and letting go again, that he barely noticed everything getting really quiet. When he heard the tiny sound, that let him be sure, his sister had let out the air from her belly, he looked around, to give her back to his father, but the moment he did, he could barely keep his laugh contained.

Gabriel had been lying beside Nathalie to hold her in his arms until she fell asleep, but then the exhaustion and the excitement from the night had taken their toll and now his was sleeping just as deeply as his wife.

"Well, little sis, it seems, as if you'll have to come with me to wake up Marinette! I am sure, she will be thrilled to see you and to hold you.", he cooed and the baby just blinked and looked at him, giving him the feeling she was really listening.

"M'lady?", Adrien said quietly and shook his beloved girl's arm very gently.

"Mh? Just let me sleep, mum!"

He giggled and tried again.

"Marinette! We have a little visitor!"

Now she blinked a couple of times, trying to make out her surroundings, then saw her boyfriend and the baby on his shoulder. She was in an instant wide awake and jolted into a sitting position.

"Oh, bad idea!", was all she could say, then she jumped off the bed and ran towards the bathroom to throw up into the toilet.

About ten minutes later she returned, looking fully awake and her cheeks had regained some colour.

"Are you okay?", he asked worriedly.

Marinette nodded.

"Yeah, just the usual morning sickness! And don't even start with, it isn't morning, you know what I mean", then she turned her attention on the little girl, "hello little sweetheart! I am your, well I hope one day sister in law, but for now, I am your nice and kind aunt Marinette! Let me hold her please, Adrien!"

The young man chuckled.

"First, I would like you to become her sister in law one day in the closer future too, second, her name is Belle and third, I have no idea how to give her to you!", he said sheepishly his face crimson red.

The young woman laughed at him and carefully lifted the newborn off of his shoulder to place her in the crook of her arm.

"Did she burp already? That's why she was on your shoulder, wasn't she?"

"Yes and yes!", he replied with a smile, when he saw his girlfriend with the tiny baby in her arms and couldn't wait for their own to be born.

Chapter 30: Progress

"I have already been worried, as you haven't been here for quite some time, Adrien", his therapist exclaimed. Then he looked at the young woman at his side and placed a hand on top of hers, asking kindly, "hello Marinette, how are you feeling? You look a lot better than last time, we met!"

"I actually am a lot better, thank you. But we're not here for 'my' mental well being, right?"

"I kinda see this as a couple's therapy by now! Adrien has been talking about the two of you so often in his last sessions, that it almost felt, as if you were here!", he told her calmly.

Marinette looked at her boyfriend and questioned him, a slight anger audible in her voice:

"You told me, you were making progress and that you were slowly getting over the things, your mum did to you. Why have you been lying?"

"I haven't been lying. My wish and my desire, to be there for you, to eventually get over the things that happened to myself, made everything that happened back then become unimportant. We've both lost something, we have both suffered under that loss, but for you it had been even worse, because well, this baby was a part of you and was growing inside of you, so I tried to see all of that in relation and somehow, it brought me forward quite a bit", he told her about his recent appointments, to which she hadn't accompanied him.

Mike confirmed the things he told her and instead he kept asking about her own mental state and how she had managed to get past those last couple of weeks and also, what had kept them both from coming to the scheduled appointments for so long.

"First of all", Adrien explained, my little sister has been born three weeks ago and not in a regular way, but at home, because it was already too late to get my stepmother to the hospital. After that, we wanted to spend some time with each other, just the family, especially Marinette was supposed to take some time to rest after that night!"

"Why's that?", the psychologist questioned further with beginning concern, "have you been there with her?"

He watched them both nod and smile.

"So, it doesn't look as if it was a bad experience, though it most certainly reminded you of your loss again, right?"

"Uhm, it was more because my doctor told me, that I should be taking it a bit slower after all the excitement, to not endanger the pregnancy!"

Marinette's eyes were sparkling as she told that and she beamed at him widely, while one of her hands rested on her belly and the other was intertwined with Adrien's.

"Oh", Mike exclaimed, "so you are pregnant again? And I figure, it's on purpose this time?"

"We just let nature take its course!", Adrien informed him quickly, "we neither did really try for, nor did we try to avoid a pregnancy, we simply enjoyed being intimate!"

The girl beside him couldn't hide her smirk, when he told about being intimate and the therapist quickly understood. But he wasn't done with his interrogation and posed another question:

"So, how far along are you now? And how are you feeling? Mentally and physically? I mean, it certainly comes with a lot of anxiety and insecurities, right?"

With a tender smile, the young man leaned in and kissed his girlfriend's belly, while he let her speak, as she could remember all of the details much better, without having to check any notes. He had made a whole diary for all the things on his phone, but felt pathetic, when he needed to look anything up, while Marinette just knew those things.

"Well, we have been to the doctor two days after Belle's birth and the gynaecologist told us, that I was already ten weeks along, so we obviously created this baby during the first few times, we even started to be intimate again. So by now, I am in my fourteenth week and that's why I feel rather calm, as the first risky trimester is over and we both can't wait for the next examination in about two and a half weeks, because then, we maybe will find out the gender already. Physically I struggle with the weight, I have already gain, not only since being pregnant, but also before, when I was just lying around, but I guess, that's just a part of having a baby, right? I didn't even need to throw up very much, though I have some trouble with it lately. I don't care about it though, because, I've been reading about that and the article said, that..."

"A strong and prolonged morning sickness, I still can't figure, why it's called like that, as it mostly happens during the day too, but the more nauseous you feel, the more secure is your pregnancy according to this theory. But first, my congratulations. Have you spoken to your mother since the incident? I mean the one, where Adrien beat up your father, I would never refer to your loss as an incident!"

The girl shook her head.

"No, I couldn't bring myself to call her. At first I couldn't handle to hear her blaming herself and then, after I found out, that I was pregnant again, things happened so fast; Belle was born, we had that appointment, the doctor told us, that after what happened before and all the excitement recently, I should take it very, very slow and so Adrien barely let me get out of bed for more than a week. To be exact, he kept me there until those first twelve weeks were completely over. I told him, it didn't make sense, because it wasn't depending on a day or two, but he was stubborn and insisted, he would spoil me for this amount of time. So, as this day was just last week, I haven't found the right moment, to go over and talk to her. But it's on top of my to do list!" Mike agreed with her:

"It's rather important, that you get back into contact with her, as you have never been blaming your mum, right?"

"Of course not", the young woman exclaimed.

"Well, as we've now cleared those things at least, it's about time to get back to where we left off in your narrations, Adrien!"

"Gabriel?", Nathalie called for him very softly, to not wake Belle up, who had just gone to sleep.

"I am here, my love!", he replied from his office, "is there anything, I can do for you?"

She slowly walked into the room and closed the door behind her, then walked towards him and snuggled herself into his chest. He immediately switched off his tablet and laid his arms around her, hearing her quietly sob into his suit.

"Hey", he cooed, is everything alright, my dear? Did something happen?", he felt her shake her head against his chest and asked her then, "feeling a little depressed? A bit of baby blues?"

Now she nodded and Gabriel hugged her a little tighter.

"I thought, you were feeling better already! Where did this come from?"

She sighed and looked up to him, shrugging and leaning the side of her head on his shoulder.

"I don't know myself, darling. I have been feeding Belle and when we were done and she had fallen asleep, I stayed a little longer and cuddled with her. When I then laid her into her bed, I felt so empty and lonely, that I just needed to come here and let you hold me for a while!", she told him quietly.

He smiled at her compassionately and cupped her face.

"You know, that you could have as well stayed with her and taken a nap too! You're still supposed to take it slow, Nathalie! Come, let's go and get comfortable somewhere. How about the sofa? Or would you rather go into our room and lay down to cuddle? You know, I feel bad, when you're crying, so please, tell me, how I can cheer you up!"

The young mother let out a light giggle and grabbed his hand.

"Let's go and sit in front of the fireplace. I know, it's almost March, but it's still so cold outside, that I like to sit there on your lap. If you can bear to hold me for more than a moment already. I know, I should do something to lose the remaining pounds, but....", she was interrupted in her self loathing by her husband:

"Will you just shut your mouth? You, my love, have been looking more beautiful, than you have ever before, since the first second, you were pregnant and now even more, And I am not just saying this because I like the larger boobs, which I really do, but what I like the most, is how healthy you look since you put on a bit of weight. You were way too thin, dear. I do understand, that you would like to fit into your clothes again, but there is no need to rush! You've given birth barely three weeks ago. Just wear something you feel comfortable in. To me, you are beautiful in everything, my dear Nathalie! So, even if you feel, like you still weigh too much, I don't see that. I would even prefer a little more right here!" He had snaked his hands down her back and was now softly squeezing her buttocks.

Nathalie slapped his upper arm.

"You! I hope, you are aware, that it will take at least another three, most likely even four or five weeks, until we can think about something like that again!", she scolded him.

Gabriel chuckled then said teasingly:

"Think about what, my love? Massaging your butt? Because you certainly aren't thinking of sleeping with me again, after you told me, I wasn't supposed to ever touch you again!"

"I was in agonizing pain, Gabriel! You weren't really thinking, I was serious with that, were you?", she rambled in shock.

"So you weren't? Thank God, woman! I really thought, you meant it for a moment. But then I did a bit of research and figured out, that most women say stuff like you did under the pain! Though I would have really tried, of you had asked that of me! To not come on to you, I mean. You gave me one of the most beautiful gifts, you could have and I will be always thankful for that. And even more to the fact, that after all that happened, after all, I did to you, you still were there for me, for Adrien, you forgave me and you still love me! It would have been a pity, if you had been serious, because sleeping with you is the most precious achievement for an old man like me!", the for the first time in his life completely happy and content man rambled on, making her laugh and cry at once.

"I love it a lot, when you are so sweet, Gabriel!", she told him enthusiastically, "but you were wrong about the weight. I really need to get rid of quite a bit. Not only because I want to go back to the weight, I feel comfortable with, but also because I have that tiny hunch, that Adrien will ask Marinette to become his wife before their child will be born and if so, I would really like to fit into a nice dress at their wedding!"

"I could make one for you, that would fit you perfectly and would show to everyone, that 'I' have the most beautiful woman in the world just for me!", he muttered sweetly into her ear, making a shiver run down her spine.

"Oh Gabriel, do I have to remind you, that for now, all your attempts of seduction will lead us nowhere but to a frustrated couple of days, in which we are both moody and yelling at each other? Just like the week before Belle was born! Please let's just be mad on the female reproductive system together instead on one another, okay?", Nathalie pleaded with a wink.

"Sounds good to me! Come, I promised you to hold you in my lap in front of the fireplace, so there we're going to go! Would you like me to carry you, Mrs Agreste?", he proclaimed laughing, as they entered the large, echoing hallway.

"I would rather have you keep your voice down, before you wake our daughter again, Gabriel!", she admonished him and he immediately turned completely silent.

"I totally forgot! Come, let's go quickly. And I am really sorry for not thinking about that, my love!", he whispered so quietly now, that she could barely understand him at all.

But Nathalie had a very good hearing and could put the word pieces together, then nodded and grabbed the hand, he was holding out to her.

As soon as they had entered the dining room and had shut the door, he grabbed her and picked her up bridal style to carry her towards the white armchairs, which were set in front of the fireplace. There he sat down in one of them, keeping his wife on his lap and in his arms.

Nathalie leaned her head against his shoulder and with a blissful smile they stared into the flames in a comfortable silence.

Chapter 31: More Obstacles To Overcome

Marinette and Adrien returned home in the late afternoon and as soon as they entered his bedroom, the young man vanished into the bathroom, staying in there for so long, that the girl began to worry. When she carefully knocked at the door, he didn't answer at first, but after a second time, he quietly said:

"You can just come in. I am only sitting here, doing what I was born for, nothing useful."

He was referring to the things, he had told the therapist and his girlfriend before. Things his own mother had said to him, names, she had called him, while she was trying to make him touch her in very inappropriate places.

The pregnant, young woman now slipped inside and shut the door behind her again, seeing him sitting on the floor with his back against the tiled front of the oversized bathtub, his eyes red from crying and his hair a mess.

She knelt down in front of him, laying both her hands onto his thighs, whispering:

"You are aware, that your mother just told you that, to make you do things, right? You are not useless or worthless, Adrien!"

He avoided eye contact, the memory, he had just picturesque described to them, was still clearly visible to him, and for some reason, he couldn't shake it off.

He just buried his face back in his palms and shook his head, while he spat:

"Don't be so sure, Marinette! What have I achieved in my life already? I couldn't even protect you and our...."

He began to sob desperately, turning his back towards the girl in shame.

But the young heroine didn't give up that easily. She sat down behind him and laid her arms around him, pressing herself firmly against him, then hummed:

"Well, maybe you think, you haven't achieved anything yet, but remember, how many times we have saved Paris, how many times you cheered me up, even before we knew our identities, how wonderfully kind and loving you are to everyone. Not to mention your skills, when we're..... you know. And on top of that, you not only once but twice created a life inside of me!"

He scoffed.

"Yeah right! And how well could I even protect you and our child? I should have been able to keep this from happening. I should have kept you from going to school. You didn't even want to go there and I should have just...."

"Well, I couldn't protect you from what your mum did to you either. Would I have wanted to? Of course! Was there ever the slightest chance for me to do so? No! So please, Adrien, stop blaming yourself for all the things, that have happened to you! Didn't you say, you wanted to get over all those things, to be there for me, for us?", she laid one hand onto her belly and just the thought of the tiny human being, growing inside of her, made her smile despite the actual tense situation.

"That's different, we didn't even know each other then!", he whined.

"But still, I would have wanted to have known you and been able to help you. You couldn't have known about what my father did, Adrien. And the things she said, to make you....I don't even want to speak it out loud, but I will say it, to make you see, that I still don't judge you, Kitty!", Marinette cooed and pulled him back towards her.

"Stop! I don't want you to hurt yourself, M'lady. And you don't have to repeat, what I said. Just leave me alone for a bit, I promise, I'll be with you very soon!", he blurted out all of a sudden and turned around to keep her from straining herself.

"No Adrien, I won't! Either you will come with me or I will stay with you, but I will not leave you on your own!", the hormonal girl now yelled at him, making him flinch and duck.

"Oh my God, Adrien, I am so sorry, I didn't mean to yell at you! Please Kitty, I would never hurt you, I promised that to you! I love you so much! I am just worried and that's why I got myself all worked up! Just come here please, I want to be here for you, I want to help you through all of this! And most of all, I need you for this, because I can't do this without you. It's your incredible strength and your unconditional love, which got me through this very bad time. I would have just stopped existing, if you hadn't been with me! So don't believe for another moment, what that blond bitch told you ,because it was a dirty, mean lie. You are the world to me! You are the father of this little human being inside of me and we both will love you forever and even after that!", the half chinese was desperately starting to cry all of a sudden.

The young man was shocked, when he saw his beloved girlfriend in a state like this and instantaneously felt guilty. He got on all fours and crawled the remaining inches towards her, to then lay his arms around her and eventually pull her into his lap, where he pecked her cheek and the top of her head over and over again.

"I'm sorry, Bugaboo! I didn't mean to make you cry like that! Can you please forgive me?", he gushed out in utter despair. "Hey, my sweet love, I am really sorry for making you feel so bad. Please M'lady, you're scaring me! It's not good for you to be so very agitated. I could never forgive myself, if I would cause any harm! Come on, Purrincess! I am right here and I promise, I will always be there for you!"

The sudden crying of his little sister made him stop to talk and he noticed, that he had been too loud.

"Damn, now I woke up Belle! I am really of no use for any one!"

"We were both too loud, Adrien!", came a hoarse croak from the girl in his lap, "and there is nothing to forgive, you didn't do anything, Adrien! I was just so....well at first I wanted to comfort you and then I was so angry at your mum and at everyone who actually 'was' around you and didn't notice. And then, I saw that I scared you and I felt so incredibly bad and ththen

I-I couldn't s-s-stop myself f-f-from crying, I.....s-s-see? I'm d-d-doing it again!", she had started to sob once more and now the boy understood.

"Come, Bugaboo, let's just try to distract you a little bit. Us both. How's that? We'll see, if Nathalie or father can use our help!", he suggested, earning a beginning smile for that.

"F-F-Fine!", she sniffled and let him help her to her feet. For a short moment, she grabbed his arms tightly, after she stood.

"You okay?", his face looked concerned in an instant.

But Marinette nodded and gave him a weary smile.

"Yeah, just a little dizzy for a moment. It passes by quickly. How are you, Kitty? Feeling a little better?", she asked him back.

"Actually, I'm feeling a lot better. Thank you for staying with me instead of letting me sulk in my memories. You were right, as usual. Now come!"

Together they walked along the hallway, to almost crash into Nathalie, who was half speedwalking, half running to the nursery.

"Is something wrong, Nathalie?", Adrien wondered and the couple followed the new mother quickly. But she could calm their worries before they reached the door, when she explained:

"Everything is fine, I just dozed off in Gabriel's lap and I usually don't let her wait and cry for so long. I just wanted to pick her up quickly!"

"Oh, I get it! Sorry for waking her up, thought, we were having a little....", Adrien paused, not knowing, how to express the situation.

"Crisis?", Marinette came to his help.

"Mh, yeah, something like that!"

The woman looked sternly from one to the other, then turned and got her child out of the cot.

"Hey little baby!", she cooed, "no need to cry so badly. Look who's here with me, your big brother and your little niece or nephew. He or she is just very well protected in Marinette's belly for now. But I am very sure, you will like them just as much, as you like their mummy already, right?"

Belle had stopped crying the very moment she had heard her mother's voice and was now searching with her little head along her blouse.

"Seriously? You're already hungry again? I know, you always are! Just come and let's take a seat, then you can have some milk, okay?", she lilted, while she gently rocked the small girl on her way to the small sofa.

"I'll give you some privacy for that. And no, I don't feel embarrassed anymore, I am past that. I just thought, you would still feel less exposed, when there aren't several people staring at your, you know!", Adrien mumbled sheepishly and turned around to kiss his girlfriend. "I'll see you later, okay?"

"Okay!", she whispered and waited for him to be far enough away, before she shut the door and both women began to giggle.

"He still feels embarrassed, right?", Nathalie asked and the younger woman nodded.

"I guess so! But he tries not to. Give him a little time, I am sure, he'll get used to it. But, we came here in the first place, because we wanted to offer some help after being too loud and waking her up. So, if you need to do something, or if you would like to have some time for yourself, we will gladly take her of her for a while. I mean, at the frequency, she is usually hungry again, it won't leave you much time anyway, but..."

Nathalie laid a hand on her arm and beamed, but refused:

"I kinda had a complete meltdown earlier, because I left her alone in her bed and felt incredibly empty and lonely, so Gabriel had to comfort me. Why were you crying? Did the two of you argue? Has anything happened in the therapy?"

Marinette nodded and sighed, then sat down next to the woman, who had already opened the buttons of her blouse and the special bra, to let Belle drink from her breast. The girl watched in fascination, how the newborn sucked the wart strongly into her mouth and started to drink, her tiny hands pressed into the soft tissue of her mother's breast.

"I will never get enough of watching her do that!", she enthused before getting serious again, "the therapist proposed, that it was important for me, to talk to my mum. I am still scared to do that, but that wasn't what Adrien was upset about. He told us another really bad thing, that Emilie has done to him and it seemed to me, that he just couldn't shake it off for quite some time. Only after I, well, I accidentally yelled at him and then I saw, how scared he was and I felt so, so bad for it and then I just...."

She took a deep breath, while Nathalie smiled at her understandingly.

"So you are fully under the control of your pregnancy hormones right now, aren't you?"

She patted her hand, when Marinette nodded.

"You know what? Why don't we just get into the limousine, all of us, and make a spontaneous trip to the park. Maybe the one in front of your mum's place? I think, if Adrien or Gabriel would go and buy something for later and then she would come and say 'hi', it wouldn't be so very stressful, as if you would agree on a date and time, as if you had an appointment. And there was always the chance for both of you, to not be forced to be too close. I am sure, your mother is hurting a lot too, Marinette!", Nathalie carefully suggested.

The young, pregnant woman nodded and placed a hand on her slowly visible becoming bump.

"That sounds really good. I have never told her, that I don't blame 'her' for anything. I just couldn't go home or look at her, without being reminded of...well, what happened. I would like to see her and especially tell her about..."

She looked down at her hand, which was drawing little circles on her small belly, with a loving smile.

Chapter 32: Sabine And Nathalie

After informing Adrien and Gabriel about their plans, they had dressed Belle into warm clothes and placed her in the car seat, covering her with a soft blanket too, and then they had all climbed into the back of the limousine.

While the women went into the park, where it was rather calm at this time of the year, the trees lacking the leaves and the soil wet and muddy, Belle strapped onto her mother's chest with a special carrier, Adrien and Gabriel strolled over to the bakery, to not only get some sweet baked goods, but also to inform Sabine, that Marinette and Nathalie were just a few feet away right now.

The bell above the door made the cute tingling sound and the small woman behind the counter looked at them, as she did with every customer, smiling friendly and lilting:

"Welcome at the Dupain-Cheng bakery! What can I do for you?"

Yet the moment she saw the two Agreste men in front of her, she stopped talking immediately and therefor only made it to: welcome at, before she stared at them open mouthed.

"Good afternoon!", Gabriel said very softly and approached the woman, who herself was now walking around the counter, with his arms outstretched and his hands held out for hers.

"Gabriel, Adrien! Before I say, that I am happy to see you, please tell me, that Marinette is alright and you're not here, because..."

"We're not!", Adrien fell into her anxious words, "she's with Nathalie and Belle outside in the park. And she's fine! But she misses you and when she was at my therapy session with me yesterday, Mike told her, it was important, that she eventually would talk with you. So, uhm, if you would like to come see her, once we're back with them...." He hesitated, not being able to read the chinese woman's expression.

Gabriel placed a hand on his shoulder and took the word:

"It was actually Nathalie's idea. She thought, that meeting spontaneously like that, would feel less like a must for both of you and leaves each of you the chance, to leave, without making everything worse, because one is in the others personal space and has maybe to be asked to go."

"I don't know, what to say right now!", Sabine gushed out.

"Maybe we should order something first then!", the designer suggested and hugged the tiny woman with one arm shortly, to encourage her at least a tiny bit.

"She's not coming, right?", Marinette said disappointedly, as she saw her boyfriend and his father walk towards them, two boxes and a bag full of delicious sweets in their arms. She was fighting back the tears already, when Adrien pulled her into his arms and Gabriel explained:

"She's closing the bakery right now. Then she wanted to quickly change her clothes before she comes over. I think, she needs a moment to get herself under control again. So give her this little time, okay?"

The dark haired woman looked up at him and nodded with a hesitant smile. "I get that. I needed to prepare myself too, before we came here!"

While the model kept a firm hold around Marinette's waist, after they had chosen a piece from the bakery each, Gabriel let Nathalie pick her favourite treat too, he grabbed something for himself, then gave the bodyguard the remaining things to take into the limousine with him, telling him, to have some of it too, while he would be waiting. The Gorilla made a grunting noise of approval and left them on their own.

Though they were dressed warm enough to sit down on a bench for a short time, they all kept walking, enjoying the fresh, cool air, talking about all the things they could think of to make the time pass faster.

Nathalie saw her first, when she reluctantly approached the small group. Nudging Gabriel softly with her elbow, she then pointed her head at Sabine.

The designer cleared his throat, then asked Marinette:

Would you want us to leave and let you have some time to talk or should we stay?"

The answer came quick:

"Stay, please!"

He patted the girl's shoulder softly to encourage her a little bit, assuring her:

"We'll be right here with you all the time!" "And so will I", Adrien added.

Marinette kissed him softly and whispered:

"Thank you", then turned to look directly at the smaller woman.

"Mum", she let out a whimper and hesitantly made step forward, her arms half opening for an embrace.

"Marinette! My baby, I missed you so much!", Sabine sobbed, as she too opened her arms and was pulling her daughter taut, when she felt the beginning bump and immediately pulled back again, looking down questioningly, to then inquire, "honey, is this? Are you... really...?"

When she felt her child nod vigorously, she finally closed her arms again and held her tight, while they were both sobbing into each others coat.

Sabine was the first to calm down and lifted her head to look at the young woman. "How are you feeling? Is everything alright? How far along are you? I'm so happy, after...." She looked to the floor, feeling Marinette's grip tighten.

"Mum, stop thinking it was your fault. It wasn't. It was all him and I will never forgive him for that, but I never blamed you, okay? I missed you, mum. So much!", she exclaimed agitatedly.

"Oh Marinette, I.... I am so happy for you. And I'll always be here for you! And now, let me say hello to.....oh my gosh, Mrs Agreste, you've had the baby!"

The proud mother smiled and said:

"It's Nathalie! And this is our daughter Belle!"

She turned around a little bit, so Sabine could see the sleeping newborn's face.

"Oh my, she's so pretty. The name suits her well!"

"Yeah right?", Marinette enthused, feeling incredibly happy just now. Sabine laid an arm around her waist and pressed her firmly against herself.

"Why don't you all come and have dinner with me? I'll make something special, some of Marinette's favourites? Only if you have the time for it, of course!"

It was Nathalie, who responded first, after she had taken a look at the girl's face and the reluctance, she had seen:

"I have a better idea! Why don't you come with us to the mansion and we all have dinner there? I didn't bring the things, I would need for Belle, if we stayed somewhere longer with me and I have the slight feeling, that being at your place would still be a little too much for Marinette!"

The chinese woman turned and looked at her child's face, then agreed:

"You're probably right! I was so overjoyed, that I didn't think about that. But what would you say, if I quickly got the things I needed and did the cooking at your place? Maybe with one of you together?"

"Oh, I would love to help you with that! If someone would like to take care of Belle for the time!", Nathalie smiled down at the smaller woman.

Gabriel laid his arms from behind around his wife and said:

"I am sure, that we will have to draw straws, because we all would like to watch her for the time!"

"No straws, Marinette and I call dibs, because we need the practice!", Adrien interjected with a smirk.

"Oh, kitty, I have a better idea. Let your dad have a little alone time with his daughter, while mum and Nathalie are in the kitchen. I would like to lay down a little, because today was a bit exhausting, if you don't mind, keeping me company!", the pregnant girl now hummed and laid her arms around her boyfriend with a wink.

He didn't understand her suggestion though and instantly was concerned.

"Marinette! If you're not feeling good, we don't have to do this today, we can as well...."

"Adrien!", Nathalie stopped him, then pulled him down to whisper something into his ear.

"Oh, that's.....oh!", he looked at his girlfriend, who had heard the woman too and was now nodding in agreement.

"What was that about?", Gabriel wondered and Nathalie groaned.

Sabine giggled as she told her:

"It's in the family, right? This obliviousness!"

"Hell yeah!", the young mother sighed and both women broke into a guffaw.

After showing Sabine the kitchen and where to find everything, Nathalie quickly went upstairs with Gabriel, to make sure he was doing fine with their daughter, before she would leave them on their own.

"Would you please tell me now, what you were talking about earlier? What did you say to Adrien?"

Nathalie giggled.

"Oh, I just informed him, that his woman doesn't want to go to bed to sleep!"

"She doesn't...oh, I get it. But I will just try to 'for'get it too. And now go! I can very well take care of my sleeping daughter!"

She gave him a passionate kiss, before she left, which made him take a sharp breath and sigh.

"Soon, darling!", she hummed and went back downstairs to see, how she could help Sabine cook.

They were both careful around each other in the beginning, but then after a while of being polite and awkward, they started to warm up and soon were working hand in hand.

"Oh my God, did she really?", Nathalie blurted out laughing, after the story, Sabine had just told her about toddler Marinette.

"Yes she did! She was standing there, not even two years old, in the middle of the Champs de Mars and pulled down her pants to well.... she left a not so pretty present just there. I was so ashamed! Tom even left to not be seen in this situation. But Nadja Chamack, back then just an intern at her TV channel, came running and handed me a pack of paper tissues and a paper bag and that's how our friendship started. Don't tell Marinette that you know, please! She still avoids to walk over that certain spot when we are in the area!", the older woman pleaded.

"I won't", Nathalie promised and wiped the tears from laughing. Then she looked around, "well, are we done or is there anything else to do? If not, would you like something to drink? Wine, champagne, something stronger? I must pass, but I wouldn't mind if you could use some, after a day like that!"

She laid a hand on the smaller woman's forearm.

Sabine nodded.

"That's utterly nice from you. I really could use a glass of something stronger. Do you have any kind of vodka? I don't like cognac and similar stuff, but don't tell anyone. The most French people met, felt insulted, when I told them!" Nathalie laughed to that.

"Don't worry, I don't like it either and I am French!"

Half an hour later they were all sitting at the table, quietly enjoying the home cooked meal, until Adrien blurted out:

"Well, this is absolutely delicious, Sabine and Nathalie. Thank you for making such a wonderful dinner for all of us!"

The two women smiled at him thankfully.

"I don't think, my daughter likes it a lot though!", the Chinese woman noticed.

"I'm so sorry, mum! You know, I usually love your Chinese cooking, but...."

"But you can't get it down right now, I understand, don't feel bad about it. We also made some French onion soup, would you like some of that?"

"I...sorry, but the mere thought.....excuse me for a moment....!"

"Oh dear, I guess, onion soup was a rather bad thought too!", Sabine sighed and clapped her hands together in front of her.

Adrien gave her a compassionate glare, then hummed:

"She's been struggling with a lot of different things lately. Don't feel bad because of it. Yesterday it was chocolate and today, she was kinda devouring every piece of it, she could find. I'll go and see, how she's doing. Just continue your meal, okay?"

He stood up and apologized to the others, than followed his girlfriend.

Sabine was sitting on the edge of her chair, feeling the urge, to look after her child too, but didn't want to make her feel bothered by her presence either.

Nathalie and Gabriel noticed at the same time, the woman already about to speak, when the man laid his hand on hers and squeezed it gently, then spoke to Sabine:

"Just relax and eat, please. This isn't the first time, this is happening and Adrien is very capable of handling the situation."

"He really is! He is very committed and if she would let him, he would be carrying her around all the time. So please, don't worry about your daughter. This has nothing to do with you, it's just one of her personal pregnancy issues. I am sure, you had a handful of those too!"

Sabine relaxed a little and smiled.

"Yeah, most of the time I felt....well, I wouldn't like to go into detail in front of you, but.... when she suggested to go to bed earlier, she wasn't talking about sleeping, that I could tell!"

Gabriel growled, while the women giggled.

"Have I been the only one, who didn't get, what she meant?"

"No, darling! Your son was just as oblivious in the beginning!", Nathalie said teasingly.

"Great!", he pouted, making the females laugh even harder.

Chapter 33: Preparing

Nadja Chamack doing her job:

"Don't be bemused, it's just the news. Today I am giving you the report of the trial against Mr Tom Dupain, previous partly owner of the Dupain-Cheng bakery and father of Adrien Agreste's girlfriend Marinette Dupain-Cheng! We haven't been told, what his felon had been, but despite that, he has been sentenced to one year in prison and another year of probation. Rumours have it, that he not only had been accused of mayhem, but also abuse of illegal medication as well as giving these drugs to someone without the person knowing about that. None of those things has been confirmed though, as hasn't the accusation, that had come up shortly, about an accidental death. As soon as we figure something out, we will of course inform you right away!"

Nadja sighed, as she saw the red light on the camera go off and took a glimpse behind the camera man, seeing her best friend, Sabine stand there and watch.

"Thank you for keeping the truth a secret. I wouldn't want Marinette to be reminded of it every day for weeks or months, maybe even years. Though he would actually deserve the people looking at him with disgust and loathe!", she said, her voice barely more than a whisper.

"No problem, Sabine. We've known each other for so long and Marinette has more than once saved my 'derriere'! If she hadn't taken care of Manon, when I was in the studio so many times, I would have never been able to keep my job as a reporter and to get the prime time show! So, I think we're even!", the reporter told her bests friend and hugged her.

"Wanna go to lunch together? I'm paying?", the small chinese woman now suggested, but Nadja shook her head.

"I am very sorry, but I have to be at a meeting in about half an hour, but maybe we can have a drink tonight? Manon is with her dad over the weekend, he finally started to care, so I have the time and the space to get really wasted and none of us has to go outside and try to find their way back home. I have a huge bed and a sleeping sofa, you're choice!", she enthused.

Sabine gave her a cheerful smile.

"That sounds actually really good. But you have to watch out, that I won't end up sleeping inn the bathtub, like last time!", Sabine laughed.

Nadja chuckled then whined:

"That was years ago! It's about time, that we have a proper lady's night again!"

The women agreed on a time for the evening, then parted their ways, to do some shopping for the planned session.

Inside of the Agreste mansion a by now already twenty weeks pregnant Marinette, turned the TV off and sighed, then snuggled closer against Adrien's chest, feeling his arm wrap protectively around her.

"A year in prison and a year on probation! That's what our baby's life is worth to them?", she spat

"Relax, Marinette! It's not good for you or the baby if you get all excited like that. We already knew about that. We just shouldn't have watched the news, so you can get angry once more. There is nothing, we can do, to change the decision of the judge!", the young man tried to soothe her, but with no success.

"I just want him to suffer, the way we did, Kitty! I want him to feel all the pain, that I felt, mentally and physically! I never thought, I might be able to hate anyone, but....", she had begun to sob and felt hot tears run down her cheeks.

Adrien now placed one hand on her by now very well visible belly and started to rub soft little circles, making her slowly relax into his touch, until she stopped crying and began to breathe more even. Then she all of a sudden held her breath. The young man noticed and stopped his movements immediately.

"Do that again!", Marinette gasped.

"What? Rubbing your belly?"

The girl nodded and replied:

"Yes, just there!"

She pointed at the spot and he started again, hearing her laugh a moment later.

"I felt the baby just now! I am finally able to feel him or her! Maybe we'll be lucky at the appointment later and this time the doctor can see the gender! Don't look at me like that, Adrien, I am well aware, that my mood and my emotions jump from one extreme into the other! It's called hormonal, honey!", she mused and he just had to kiss her.

Laying one hand on the back of her neck, while the other was still stroking the growing belly, he scooted closer and placed his lips gently on the young woman's.

The hormonal female reacted, as she always did lately, instantaneously and began to rub herself on him, her hands soon sneaking under his shirt to pull it upwards and then toss it across the room, her own and her bra following right away.

"Marinette!", Adrien moaned, "I love, what you're about to do, but....we have an appointment later and I am certain, that you want to take a shower before and get dressed, not speaking of being on time, so we won't have to run the last meters again. So, my beautiful, pregnant woman, how about we postpone this until tonight, when we have all the time in the world?"
"Really? But there is still so much time left! I mean, we could combine the shower and the....you know...!", she pleaded sadly while wiggling her eyebrows, "just a little quickie. You remember the one, when Alya and Nino were waiting here on the sofa?"

The thought alone made him grow harder than he was before, yet he still insisted:

"I would love to, but I have been holding you up back then and I am scared to do that, since our little wonder has become so big!"

She scoffed angrily and pulled back, getting to her feet and walked towards the bathroom.

"Why don't you just tell me the truth, Adrien? You just said it, wrapped in something cute, so I wouldn't notice, but you just called me fat!", she shouted at him.

The young man shook his head with a grin, as he followed her and grabbed herr around the waist.

"Stop accusing me of things, I didn't do! I said, that our baby is getting big. Yes, your belly is growing because of that, but it's just making you more beautiful instead of less. I am scared, to lift you up, because I don't want to hurt either one of you, so that's why I refuse to have sex in the shower with you! I wouldn't mind, if we're real quick, to make love to you in the bathtub or just spoil you on the bed or here on the sofa, but no risky stunts for now, alright?", he explained softly and pulled her to his chest.

"Fine!", she sighed, then kissed him very tenderly, "but I want you to fuck me for hours, once we're back and have had dinner, deal?"

"Fine, as long as you're feeling alright. The doctor told you last time already, that having sexual intercourse can become uncomfortable soon and we will then have to find positions and things, that won't. So, if you would just lay down on this very soft mattress right now and let me work my magic", he licked his lips, to show her, what he meant, "then I am sure, you will be able to get through until tonight!"

Marinette thought for a moment, then sighed and agreed.

"Fine, but I want you to go upside down, so I can play with this big, hard dick of yours and make you feel good too!"

He gulped, when he nudged her backwards and pulled her pants down, before she crawled on her back to the head board, waiting for him to completely undress as well.

Gabriel and Nathalie, who were sitting in his office, after having seen the news on his tablet too, were just considering, to go upstairs and see, how Marinette was coping with the situation, when they could hear the muffled moans and cries, coming from the boy's room and smirked knowingly.

"They're going to wake up Belle, if they'll go on like that!", Gabriel complained, making his wife smirk even wider.

"Jealous?", she teased.

"It's been some time!", he shrugged, "and don't get me wrong, I certainly don't want to push you to do anything, you aren't feeling ready for, I am just saying, that I miss, feeling your tight..."

She hit his shoulder, then looked to the floor, not meeting his gaze.

"Hey", Gabriel cooed, "what is it? You know, that you can tell me, right?" "It's stupid and I'm just being irrational! But...."

"But?"

"What if you don't like it anymore? Because after giving birth it's certainly not so tight as you remember and I just don't want to disappoint you!", she eventually gushed out agitatedly.

"That's, what's bothering you? Not the thought, that you might still feel any pain or might feel more sensitive or maybe less? Believe me, the moment, I will bury myself inside of you, I will feel nothing but utter bliss, my love!", Gabriel now whispered hoarsely into her ear.

Nathalie shuddered from the sensation it caused, but was still reluctant.

"What about this?"

She now pointed at the remaining skin around her waist.

Now the tall man chuckled.

"Haven't I told you already, that I love every single bit of it, darling? I also said, that you look healthier and on top of that, it's a beautiful reminder of our little baby girl. So don't you even dare, feel flustered about it!", he scolded her, making her smile wearily.

"Well, as our daughter has just fallen asleep and the other two are rather busy, I wouldn't mind to at least get a little cozy! What would you think about that? And if we get there, we get there. I just don't want to get disappointed, when something interrupts us in the middle of it!", Nathalie proposed and made him grin mischievously.

"That something most likely being either one of our children, right?", he mused, before grabbing her forcefully around the waist and pulled her taut, then made her lie down on the soft upholstery of the seats along the runway, to start caressing her neck with his lips, then kissed up to her ear, before he smashed their mouths together in a desperate desire, that both could feel and which needed to be satiated.

"You know what?", asked Marinette, when they were sitting in the back of the limousine about an hour later, "I want to give an interview to Nadja, about the things, my father has done to us. I want to make sure, that nobody here in Paris will ever look at him like before, but every time with the disgust and hatred, he deserves. Would you be okay with that?" Adrien inhaled deeply, remembering, what Sabine had told him just a couple of days ago, about Nadja doing her a personal favour and keeping the real reason for the verdict a secret. Then he nodded and replied:

"Well, I do understand, that you feel this way, but we have to do a lot of preparations for something like that. I think, it would be best, if you call you mum later and inform her, so she can set things up with her friend. Then we certainly need the advice from Nathalie, so we won't accidentally speak out things, we shouldn't. How's that, Princess?"

The pregnant, young woman nodded, then said:

"Sounds good. But let's wait until next week, after my birthday, so we will both be off age and no stupid questions can come up because of that!"

"So, you're going to reveal this pregnancy in the interview too?", he asked, giving her a loving glare.

"Well, Kitty, it's quite difficult, to not to, if somebody takes a closer look at my belly! I hope, you're okay with that!", she hummed and he grinned at her mischievously, making her furrow her brows, "what are you up to now?"

He chuckled then shook his head secretively.

"That's going to be a surprise. And now let's go inside and find out, if we're about to have a boy or a girl!"

The doctor greeted them friendly and shook their hands, then asked a couple of questions, like how Marinette was feeling, if she had any issues or any pain recently, if she could feel the baby already...

With a beaming smile she said:

"Since about one and a half hour ago, I can!"

He smiled back and told them:

"Well, your little one has a sense of timing, I'd say. And I figure, you would like to make another attempt to find out the gender, right? Well, if you would get comfortable over there on the stretcher already, I will follow the two of you right away, just finishing my notes!"

A couple of minutes later, the man placed the ultrasound device on the protruding bump, after spreading the cool jelly all over and moved it along her stomach, until he had found a good angle to do all his measurements.

"Well, are you sure, you want to know? Because sometimes people like the surprise even more!"

"We are very sure!", Adrien chuckled and took his girlfriend's hand.

"Well then, congratulations to this healthy and absolutely all norms following, little boy!", he blurted out making the pregnant woman instantaneously start to cry.

Chapter 34: We Need Justice

When they arrived back home, Gabriel and Nathalie had barely managed to get dressed again and were just exiting the office, both their hair being an absolute mess.

The young couple took a short glimpse and began to grin, then the young man's parents noticed them and seeing their knowing expression, they blushed deeply. Nathalie was the first to react and cleared her throat sheepishly, before she asked:

"How was your appointment? Is everything alright?"

The teenagers looked at each other, Adrien giving his girlfriend an approving tilt of his head, to which she responded:

"Well, good that you're asking! According to the doctor and all the measurement, he did, our little boy is absolutely and completely healthy!"

"It's a boy? That's so great! So Belle will always have someone to protect her, when they grow up. Though usually the aunt should be protecting her nephew and not the other way round! But I am very happy for the both of you!", the young mother enthused.

Gabriel laid an arm around them both and pulled the adolescents against his chest.

"I am very happy for you too. Though I have to admit, that having a little girl makes my designer heart beat a little faster every time I look at her and think of things to create for my daughter to wear. It's more difficult to do those things for a little boy. But I am sure, knowing, how talented you are, you will soon come up with some new designs, right?", he addressed his, as he hoped, soon to be daughter in law.

Marinette giggled.

"I have a few things in mind, yeah!", she admitted with a smirk, "and on top of eventually knowing the gender, I can feel him kick since about an hour before we went to the appointment. And there is that other thing, I would like to do. I....uhm..."

She now gazed at Adrien, who continued for her. He sighed, but explained:

"When we were on our way, Marinette asked me, if I was alright with her, giving an interview to Nadja Chamack, to tell the truth about the things her father did and what happened afterwards. I m still not sure, if doing that won't cause too much excitement for her again, but I of course agreed to my beautiful, pregnant girlfriend's wishes. I just said, we should talk it through with you, Nath, so we wouldn't be saying anything stupid, that some people could turn against us by only quoting some parts of it! What would you say, Nathalie?"

"I can understand, that the verdict did get you angry, but do you really want to get yourself under so much stress again? I mean, what about waiting until your son is born and then you could reveal it all together!", the former assistant suggested.

But Marinette only shook her head.

"I need to let everybody know about the things, my own father did, right now. So nobody will ever look at him in a friendly way again. He deserves a much harder punishment, than he got. And, well, we also agreed, to reveal the pregnancy in the interview!", the agitated girl informed them.

Gabriel sighed, but nodded.

"If that's, what you want to do, then we will both support you. But there's one thing, I don't understand. You were so very fast with forgiving me all the things, I did. I get, why you will never forgive your dad, but why didn't you judge me or us at all?", he questioned, almost ashamed of everything he did, yet being let off so easily.

Marinette scoffed:

"Isn't that obvious? At first, I thought, you did it out of love, then we found out, that you were under some sort of emotional control all of the time. You never hurt anybody on purpose or let me put it like this, even if you had succeeded and created a new world, you never planned on taking someone's life. You were sure, once you made your wish, every bad thing you did would be erased. That's why I could forgive you so quickly, you never meant to do any harm, while my own father, who always acted as if he was kind and loving until I screwed up once, in his eyes at least I did. At that moment he not only tried to control me and keep me from Adrien, he also took away my freedom of choice and the right to decide over my body! He poisoned his own daughter and killed his unborn grandchild, yet he didn't even show the slightest bit of remorse! He... he needs to.....he must be brought to justice! I am not asking for revenge, but this isn't an appropriate measure of punishment, for what he did to all of us! He.... he needs t-to f-f-feel, h-how b-bad a person he has b-b-become!"

She was sobbing now and was about to turn to Adrien and bury her face into his chest, when the tall man made two quick steps forward and pulled her into his arms.

"Shush, child, don't cry anymore! You are absolutely save here! Nobody will ever get the chance to do something like that to you again. Please try to calm down a bit! It's not good for you or my grandson to get all worked up. How about we all get into the kitchen and I'll make us some pancakes or an omelette? Even better, how about waffles with whipped cream and chocolate sauce? Would you like that?", he whispered soothingly while he stroked gently over her hair.

Marinette nodded and smiled softly at the word chocolate sauce. "See, that's better. Now come, you all. Is Belle still asleep, love?"

Nathalie smiled and hummed:

"It seems like it. But as I was just on my way to take a short look, why don't you already go and start making waffles? I'll be right with you!"

"Why don't you just bring her with you? No need to wake her up, but I can tell, that you don't like it, if she's in another room than you. I'll go and get the pram to lay her inside, so she can go to sleep. Okay?", the knowing husband suggested, earning a sheepish grin from his wife.

"Thank you, you know me well!", she hummed and grabbed his tie to pull him down and kiss him passionately. Then she hurried up the stairs to her little daughter's room.

When Nathalie entered the kitchen, a very awake and agile Belle in her arms, she beamed at them widely.

"It smells incredibly good, darling!", she told the cooking man, then continued, "guess, who was lying in her bed, giggling and babbling with Duusu and Tikki? Do you think, it's safe, if she sees and interacts with the Kwamis? I mean, what will happen, if she or both babies are older and tell other people about them?"

She had directed that question at Marinette, who stood up and laughed, while taking the little girl out of the older female's arms and cuddled her to her chest.

"Relax! People will just think, they are talking about their imaginary friends. And as they kinda grow up together, it's possible, that they created some creatures, they like to play with. Once they are old enough, to understand, that they shouldn't talk about stuff like that, we can explain it to both. Isn't that right cutiepie?"

Belle squealed and grinned at the girl's sweet and friendly tone.

The pregnant woman continued:

"Before we start eating, I'll send my mum a message, asking her to talk to Nadja about all of it and tell her, that we would like to give an interview to her. A live interview, so we can reveal the pregnancy too. And that", she now looked at the older couple, "we want to do that after my birthday on Sunday, so we can avoid the gossip about getting knocked up at seventeen, though I still was, it will make a difference. Wouldn't you agree?"

"You're right. But now give me my daughter back, before she starts to devour you, Marinette!", Nathalie giggled, as she watched the child not only search along the younger female's skin, but as well lick and suck on her collarbone and throat.

Laughing along with her, Marinette waited until the other woman had taken a seat, to then lay the baby back into her arms, after placing a gentle kiss on top of her head.

"There you go, sweetie! Enjoy your lunch!"

Smiling she returned to her boyfriend, who instead of letting her sit on her own chair, pulled her onto his lap and held her taut with his left arm, while placing the right hand on her belly and rubbed it tenderly.

"How are we going to call our little boy?", he asked.

The young woman shrugged.

"I don't know, Kitty. To be completely honest, I have always thought about our children's names, from the very beginning, we met and I fell for you. But I am feeling really self conscious, even talking about, how crazy I am!"

Adrien though chuckled.

"I love your craziness just as much as I love you, M'lady! So just tell me!"

"Well, I always imagined us to have three children one day, called Louis, Emma and Hugo. I know, that's so weird, what if we'll have just the one or like seven, but, that's how I imagined our future together!", the pregnant female told him.

She wasn't meeting his gaze, a she did, feeling completely flustered, when she felt Gabriel's arms around both of them again and heard him say:

"That's actually rather cute, Marinette. And I can tell by the look on my son's face, that he thinks exactly the same! Isn't that right, Adrien?"

The young adult nodded with a blissful grin.

"As I have come to know you, Bugaboo, you were thinking about them in just that order, so Louis it is, right?", he teased her.

"Right!", she muttered into his chest, her face still dark red from the embarrassment.

Now Gabriel did something, he would have never thought, he would be doing. He crouched down beside them and placed both hands on the small baby bump, to then whisper to it:

"Hello little Louis! I'm your grandpa and we all can't wait to meet you and we love you very much. I hope your mum and dad are okay with me, leaving a tiny kiss for you...", he looked up, seeing the young couple nod in agreement, then pecked the slightly protruding belly very lightly before he got back to his feet and kissed both teenagers' foreheads.

Doing the same with his wife and almost three months old daughter, he then returned to the workbench, to take the waffles out of the waffle maker and fill it with new dough, before he put whipped cream and a large amount of chocolate sauce on the first one, which he placed directly in front of the young woman.

"Thank you, Gabriel!", Marinette enthused happily and took a big portion of cream and sauce onto her index finger, to then stick it into her mouth, letting out a blissful:

"Mmhhhh!"

"Same for you, darling?", the grinning man now asked, but Nathalie shook her head quickly.

"I am still trying to get rid of the last bit of leftover weight, so, I will just have a waffle without anything on top. That's actually the way, I like them the most!", the former assistant, who had started breastfeeding her child, while watching the cute scene between her husband and the young parents to be, replied.

The designer nodded understandingly, but told her:

"I do understand, that you feel that way, but I repeatedly said and I am telling you again right now, that you look absolutely stunning and gorgeous and don't need to lose anymore weight, my love! So just relax a little about that issue, which honestly isn't an issue at all. At least to me, you will always look beautiful! And, as I already told you, I really like your....uhm...", he cleared his throat sheepishly, remembering the two teenagers being in the room with them, "....you know, what I mean!"

He looked at her breasts with wiggling brows and a mischievous grin.

"Oh please, dad, go get a room! We certainly don't want to hear you talking about....well, I don't even want to speak it out loud, I mean, to me, Nath has always been my real mum, so.... I don't want to even imagine, what you are thinking of just now! Especially, when my little sister is just drinking her milk out of them!"

The thought of his son, scolding him because of his fantasy, made the man become even more flustered, then he already was and he cleared his throat and quickly changed the topic:

"Well, uhm, right. There is another thing though! Nathalie had a hunch that you are about to do something, which we both would be very fond of, meaning, we would support that. We don't think, it would be really necessary, as we are living in the twenty-first century and you can have a child without, but I still feel as if you two would like to get married before little Louis will be born, am I right?"

The young couple looked at one another with blushing cheeks, then Adrien spoke:

"Well, father, thank you for ruining the surprise! I am just kidding, I was planning on proposing to you, Marinette, but I have to admit, I had no idea, how! So uhm, even if I have neither a ring nor any beautiful words prepared, would you still want to become my wife?"

Chapter 35: Kitchen Conversations

"What?", Marinette sat there looking at him thunderstruck.

Adrien giggled, as he repeated his question.

"I wanted to know, if you would like to become my wife. I don't care, if before our son will be born or after, but I want us to be a real family. So, what say you?"

"Oh Adrien!", the emotional, young woman began to sob, "of course I want to marry you! It's another thing, I imagined, since we were thirteen!"

Nathalie watched them with a smile, then suggested:

"Well, I've got an idea to that! You could just get married in the town hall next week before you're doing the interview as this would keep the public even more from judging and gossiping. Don't get me wrong, please, I really don't think, you have to be married, to have a child together, but there are many people who do think that way and if you want to get married anyway..."

She paused, waiting for a reaction.

The young couple stared at each other and began to smile, while Gabriel bent down and kissed his wife's lips very softly.

"Your intelligence and foresight are two things, why I fell for you so hard. And uhm, even before you got pregnant, you had a beautiful pair of....!!"

"Father, please! Stop it!", his son exclaimed with disgust.

Marinette though laughed and whispered something into his ear, which made his face turn crimson red, but he nodded and said:

"Oh, I understand that!"

The woman, who was just lifting her daughter up, to turn her around and let he drink from the other breast too, now asked:

"Now you made me curious, what did you tell him?"

The young girl giggled sheepishly, while her cheeks flushed pink, but said cockily:

"I just told him, that by the look of it, you eventually were intimate with each other for the first time since Belle was born!"

Now all their faces had a little red shade and it was Gabriel, who quickly tried to change the topic.

"Weren't you about to text your mum? I'd like to know, what she thinks about all of that!"

"Oh, uhm, you're right. Let me just get my phone!"

And then she thought for a moment, before typing a short message, explaining, what she had in mind.

Sabine had in the meantime prepared some snacks and had packed a lot of alcohol, and was just about to leave the bakery, to take the metro to Nadja's apartment, when she heard the sound, that was telling her, she had received a message from her daughter. So she put the bags and the basket with the baked things down and pulled out her phone, to read, what Marinette had sent her.

Gasping, she saw the first sentence and her eyes immediately filled with tears.

'We're having a little boy!'

Then she read the rest of the message and had to sit down and take a deep breath, yet after thinking it through for a moment, she agreed with her child. Everybody should be informed about the things, Tom did, so nobody would ever find a kind word for him.

She was about to respond, when another text arrived and now she really began to sob, reading, that her little girl not only was about to be a mum, but also to get married so soon.

'Oh darling, that's wonderful! And as I am on my way to Nadja anyway, I will talk to her about it, before we are too wasted. I will call you tomorrow. Love you very much, Mum!', she quickly wrote back and pressed on send.

Then she wiped her eyes and blew her nose, before she picked up all her things again, to leave for her friend's place.

Nadja had already seen her approach from the window and was now opening the door, taking one of the bag's from her and nudged her inside, to quickly shut the door behind her.

"What's going on with you?", Sabine wondered.

"Nosy neighbour. Tries to hear or see something she can gossip about and as someone, who is seen on TV every night, I am her favourite target, because she can sell the things she finds out to those despicable tabloids. I certainly hope, you brought enough booze? Because after seeing Jean with his latest bimbo, when he picked Manon up, I really need some!"

Sabine chuckled as she replied:

"I am right there with you! And I also have some really good news for you, if you're still interested in publicly humiliating my ex husband. I know, legally, we're still married, but...."

"I know, what you mean, but what the fuck are 'you' talking about?"

She then told her about the message from Marinette and that she wanted to give an interview to Nadja, letting everyone know, what her own father had done, to then reveal her pregnancy and by then, change of name, as they would get married very soon.

The reporter could barely breathe, hearing what her best friend told her.

"Oh my God, Sabine! Doing this interview, making a prime time show about 'the' Adrien Agreste and his 'wife' and unborn child, is a once in a lifetime opportunity. This will get me on top of everything. You have to thank her for that a lot. As will I, as soon as I see her next time. Now unpack those bottles, I will go and get us some glasses!", she enthusiastically shouted.

Chuckling Sabine opened her bags and placed a bottle of Vodka, a pack of orange juice, a small paper bag with lemons and last a bottle of Tequila on the counter, to then call out:

"Bring cocktail and shot glasses! And where do you keep your salt?"

"Salt? Oh yes, you brought Tequila, just like old times. I am so going to need something for the hangover in the morning. But right now, let's start! Vodka it is! I need to be a little drunk, before I can get the other stuff down!", she blurted out, when she returned into the kitchen.

"Do you want to stay here or go into your living room?" Sabine wondered.

"Let's start here! I always tell Manon, to not eat in there, so as long, as there are some snacks, we should leave it to the kitchen!", Nadja laughed.

"I agree!", Sabine said with a chuckle.

"She will talk to Nadja, when she visits her in the evening!", Marinette told the others, who were sitting around the table with her.

"That's great, sweetie!", Nathalie cooed, "now eat up, so your son can grow big and strong! And, uhm, Gabriel? Would you mind letting your daughter burp? I know, you're still making more of the very delicious waffles, but I need to check on something really quick. I promise, I will only be gone for a minute or two!"

"Just give her to me, Nath! Father can finish his cooking and Marinette can eat without having to balance on my legs, while I am waiting for my food anyway. And I really feel as if I need to get some routine with taking care of a baby already!", Adrien now offered, making his girlfriend instantly scoot forward and slide down from his lap, to let him get up and take his half sister from her mother.

"Thank you, Adrien!", Nathalie said with a tender smile and rushed through the door into the hallway and up the stairs.

It really wasn't long time after that, when the woman returned, holding something in her hand, which she kept hidden for now. Turning directly towards her stepson, she looked at him with a motherly smile and whispered, while taking her daughter back from him:

"I got something for you, just open your hand!"

He did as he was told and gasped, when he saw the beautiful ancient ring lying on his palm.

"Nath, what....", he began, but she waved him off, explaining:

"It's from my grandmother and I thought maybe it might fit your 'fiancee'! Why don't you give it a try?", then she turned her attention to her baby, asking, "and you my little Belle? Did you already get some air out of that little belly?"

"Nope, not yet!", the young man said, while he turned around to face the love of his life.

"Well, Marinette, I said, I have neither pretty words prepared, nor do I have a ring already, but thanks to my amazing mother, I can do this now!"

Being called his mother, already made Nathalie's eyes glisten, but when she now watched him, getting down on one knee, to gently slip the ring over his girlfriend's finger, she began to cry vigorously.

So did the pregnant, young woman, being completely overwhelmed by his gesture.

"Now, that I have this ring, I am asking you again, Marinette Dupain-Cheng, will you please do me the honor and become my wife? Because I want to spend the rest of my life with you and after all that happened and knowing, how much you despise the name, you're carrying right now, I can't wait until I can give you mine, to make you feel better. So, as Nathalie has suggested, I would like to marry you and make you an Agreste right after your birthday, meaning early monday morning! Would you like that?", he said as solemnly, as he could.

Trying to get her sobs under control, Marinette took a couple of deep breath, then said hoarsely:

"I would like that very much!"

She then grabbed both of her fiance's hands and made him get to his feet, while standing up herself and place her lips on his, entangling him into a passionate, demanding kiss, to soon feel his reaction to that press against the slightly protruding belly and began to smirk into their kiss.

"Soon, Kitty!", she whispered into his ear, when she pulled back, to focus on her food again, making him sigh grave deeply.

But he smiled at her appetite and took a seat himself, mainly to not let anybody see his issue.

"Can I now hug you and give you my best wishes too?", the former assistant asked.

"Oh, sure! Just give Adrien a little time, I am certain, that he's too overwhelmed to hug anyone right now!", Marinette giggled with reddening cheeks.

Nathalie narrowed her eyes, as she gave her daughter to Gabriel, so she could lay her arms around the younger female.

"Congratulations to the two of you! Or even better", she gently placed a hand on the girl's small bump, "to the three of you!"

Then she said directly into Marinette's ear, so that only she could hear:

"Does Adrien's being too overwhelmed to hug someone, has anything to do with 'that' kiss just before?"

Snorting the pregnant woman looked into Nathalie's face and nodded.

"I see!", came from her soon to be mother in law.

"My turn now!", Gabriel interrupted them and laid one arm around the girl, pressing her firmly to his chest on one side, while he was holding his child on the other side, her head lying safely on his shoulder.

"Welcome to the family, dear! Even if there are still a few days until it's official, I dare say, you have become a part of this family back when Adrien and you were standing in the atrium, after upsetting your, well, after not feeling comfortable at your place. Sorry, I didn't mean to remind you of, well, you know. Just, I am glad, that my son has you and I am also happy for the both of you, to be so very much in love and to soon be a little family of your own. I love you both a lot!"

He then turned to his son, telling him:

"And you Adrien, should hurry to make an appointment for this wedding, if you want to keep your promise to marry your woman here on the day after her birthday. Though I am sure, that André would find the time, even if his schedule was full, it's much easier to plan ahead. And to you as well, son, congratulations! Now let me at least hug you like I did with your girlfriend!"

He shortly pressed the young man against his chest, then ruffled his hair a little.

"Thank you, dad!", the boy sniffled.

Nathalie spoke to him as well now, teasing the boy, as she did:

"Well, I certainly hope, that you are less 'overwhelmed' after that and I can hug you too?" With a knowing smirk, she glanced to the spot on the table, he was hiding his crotch underneath.

"Uhm, yeah, sure, Nath!", he gulped and let her pull him taut, while laying his arms around her, his eyes searching for Marinette, who looked at him in amusement.

Chapter 36: The Interview

One and a half week later, on a Wednesday evening, Marinette and Adrien were sitting in the very same studio, they had been in years ago in their superhero suits, trying to convince the very same woman, that they weren't a thing.

Being here again to tell the exact opposite to the public, yet in their true identity still felt odd to them. But despite that, the young mother to be couldn't wait to reveal her father's deeds and what a loathsome creature he had become.

"Don't be bemused, this aren't the news, this is what you all have been waiting for. My guests tonight are none other, than 'the' Adrien Agreste and Marinette, my best friend's daughter, who wants to lay open, what her father's felons were. Welcome, Adrien and Marinette!"

"Good evening, Nadja!", the young model said politely.

"Yes, hello Nadja, nice to see you again, it's been some time, right?", the young female added and let the reporter hug her, yet without getting up for it. She had been placed on a sofa with high armrests, which were for now covering most of her body, so the pregnancy wouldn't be noticeable from the very beginning.

As there was even a life audience present tonight, they had set the couch in an angle, which made it impossible to get a closer look for now so their reveal would be a real surprise.

Nadja went back to her chair and started to speak:

"Well, Marinette, as I already know, that you struggle a lot, with saying out loud, what Tom really did and why he was imprisoned, I will interview Adrien first. If there is anything, you want to add or to correct, you just do so, okay?"

"Thank you, that's very sweet from you, Nadja!"

The older woman nodded, then looked at the young man, questioning:

"Adrien, I get straight to the point and ask you, what did Tom Dupain do, that made you both so furious?"

Taking a deep breath and pressing his wife's hand a little tighter, he started to tell his story:

"When Marinette and I started dating, Tom already freaked out, because he found me in her bed, yet we were both still in our clothes. I had spent the night, because of some personal issues and after having a really bad nightmare, she asked me to stay in her bed instead of her sofa, so she could hold me and make me feel better!" "Oh, I see. So, uhm, he freaked out and did what?"

"He was shouting and telling me to leave and not come back, until Sabine made him leave us alone and short time later we just left and went to my place, where my parents, who were a lot more understanding, allowed Marinette to stay with me in my room as long as she had trouble with her dad. So, after several weeks, they eventually reconciled and we spent some nights there and some at my place too. But as he still couldn't get used to us, being a couple and especially with us, being intimate, we eventually decided, to go back to the mansion and stay there, as Nathalie and father didn't make such a fuzz about our relationship becoming more serious!"

"Oh, I see!", Nadja chimed in, then asked, "what happened then? Did he get more angry because of that?"

Marinette shook her head, then spat:

"He didn't until the dinner, where we told him, what we had found out two weeks earlier and he completely lost it, told me to choose between my family and...."

She began to cry, as she buried her face in her palms.

Adrien pulled her to his chest with her head, before he answered to the next question:

"What did you find out, two weeks earlier?"

He sighed and said wearily:

"As you most likely have guessed already, we found out, that we were having a baby. After some arguments and a lot of crying, we were really happy about that and after the first visit at the doctor's, we invited Marinette's parents to dinner, so we could tell them. Sadly, two days after that dinner, Marinette had a miscarriage and we were devastated!"

"Oh, I'm very sorry for that, dears. But what has that all to do with Tom and why is he in prison now?"

"Because my own father put something into my lunch, that caused my baby to die!", the pregnant woman now spat, then pressed her face into Adrien's chest again.

The audience gasped, as did Nadja. Though she already knew about it, hearing it directly from the girl was even worse.

"I think, we're going to take a short break, we'll be back after a few commercials, don't switch the channel, there will be a lot more to come!"

After hearing the okay from her producer, she stood up and walked to the girl, asking:

"Are you alright? If you'd rather not continue, I'd be fine with it, Marinette!"

But the young mother to be shook her head.

"I'm okay! We have something good to tell as well and though it hurts every time, I talk about it, I couldn't let him get away with the ridiculous punishment, he received!"

"Okay, we'll go back on air in about a minute, maybe you'd like to drink some water?"

Nodding the teenager took the glass, her husband was giving to her and took a few zips.

"Here we are again, after Marinette is feeling a little better, we're going to speak about how pathetic the sentence Tom Dupain received is, being only a year in prison and another year on probation for taking one life and endangering another, by mixing several herbs into the sandwich, he had his wife bring to his daughter, which were in past and rather sad times used by women, to get rid of an unwanted child. Let me call it by it's name. It's murder and nothing else. If a woman decides to have an abortion, due to personal reasons, that's one thing, but drugging your own daughter, endangering her life, to make her loose her child, is just disgusting and should be punished with a lot more, than Tom Dupain got. But after all, you've been through, there are some good and positive things happening in your life now and that's what we're going to talk about after another short commercial! Stay tuned!", Nadja took a deep breath, then emptied her own water in one go.

"Well, we're back again. Now Adrien has a few things, he wants to tell us, so here you go, what's the big news?"

"Well, Nadja, the big news are, that we not only are expecting another child, but also, that we got married last monday and I therefor would like to introduce you all to my wife, Mrs Marinette Agreste!"

The Parisians, who had come here, because they not only wanted to have a glimpse at the famous model, but also wanted to hear all the gossip, according the also very known baker, Tom Dupain and why he had been arrested in the first place, now cheered and applauded, some even giving standing ovations.

Beaming at them widely, Adrien called out, so everyone would be able to hear him, as the volume of the audience was still increasing and he wanted them all, to hear what he had to say:

"Thank you all, for supporting us and as I can even see many of you crying, for feeling with us. We managed to overcome our grief and our sadness after a long time of just existing and are now happy again, but it were some really hard weeks, especially for Marinette!"

Nadja interrupted him shortly, saying, while leaning over and taking the young woman's hand:

"I am very sure, that each woman here and everywhere in Paris can relate to that. If because they had a loss of their own or just by the imagination of having to live through this kind of loss. What I am trying to tell you is, that we really feel with you and if you ever need any help or support, I am very certain, there isn't a single person all over Paris, who wouldn't come to bring justice to you and the little person, your father killed."

"Thank you, Nadja!", Marinette whispered, then she too turned towards the ranks and spoke with a loud, clear voice:

"I am very thankful, that you're all here, to be at our side. Originally the information about the felony my father had committed, were kept a secret, to protect me from having to live through it over and over again, because the people would keep asking me about it. But then I saw Nadja, speaking about the sentence, he got and though I already knew about that, I couldn't help but feel angry! Very angry and I wanted everybody to know, what that despicable excuse of a man had done to us and to never give him the slightest opportunity to come back into this city and our lives, without all Parisians seeing him the way he truly is!"

She now looked at Adrien and quietly spoke into his ear, to which he at first raised his eyebrows, but then instantly agreed. Taking his wife's hand, he got up and helped her onto her feet too, hearing the people once more gasp in surprise.

With a wide grin, the pregnant woman now placed a hand on her very visible baby bump and exclaimed:

"As we revealed our marriage and the pregnancy anyway, I am very happy, that I won't have to try and hide this any longer. And before you all start to ask, I am in my twenty second pregnancy week and we're having a little boy. Wait, wait, wait! Let me finish please! I want to say thank you, to Adrien's stepmother and my mother in law, for not only being there for us, whenever we needed her over those very difficult weeks, but also for eventually being able to make me get out of bed and start to live again. And she did all of that, despite being pregnant herself. She and Gabriel have, as you all know become parents of a beautiful girl by now and they are still kind and loving and supporting. As is my mum, though we needed some time, to get close again, as we both had to deal with my father's actions in our own way! But Nathalie deserves a very special place in my heart and I want everyone to know, what an extraordinary woman she is! Thank you for listening!"

When they returned to the mansion in the evening, Nathalie opened the door, before they had made it up the stairs. The very moment, Marinette was in her reach, she pulled the pregnant teenager into her arms and kissed both her cheeks, while tears were streaming down her face.

"Y-You, why would you, the things you said.....it was so sweet, I...."

Marinette smiled at first, yet being in the hormonal state, she was in, seeing the other female cry, made her sob into the crook of her neck a moment later, while she actually had wanted to comfort her. Gabriel, who had followed her to the atrium and was carrying Belle in his arms, now looked at Adrien and shrugged, not knowing how to handle the situation.

The young man though, just laid his arms around the women and nudged them gently into the mansion, closing the door with his foot, then sighed in relief.

"You're both adorable and I am very certain, that you will see pictures of your emotional outburst in every magazine in the morning, but it was a long and exhausting day and I want my wife to put her feet up and get some rest now. Come on, m'lady, let's get you to bed. Don't give me that look, I know that you can barely keep your eyes open and even less, hold yourself on your feet! So please, just come and let me help you, okay?", he said sternly. "Adrien is right, Marinette! Just go, we can talk and hug in the morning! For now your and your son's well being is way more important!"

"O-Okay! Good night to all of you! Sleep well! Especially you, my little sunshine!", she laid a finger into Belle's little hand and pecked the back of it, while the baby held on to her with a tight grip. "She's getting strong!", the tired woman yawned, to eventually give in and let her new husband guide her upstairs and into their room.

Gabriel shook his head, as he let Nathalie take the little girl from him.

"She needs to gear down a little, before something happens to her or the child. We shouldn't have let them do this interview. She really looked very exhausted and almost sick just now!"

Nathalie nodded, but objected:

"Give her a few days, before you get all worried. Though I agree with you, she really didn't look well, don't forget, that tonight all she had buried deep inside came up again. It's gonna take some time, until she'll feel better. But I very much agree with you, she needs the rest urgently!"

Chapter 37: One Last Confrontation

Still not knowing how he had done it, Adrien let his new wife sleep in a few days later, being incredibly glad that she had succumbed to his pleading and agreed to stay in their bed or on the sofa for a couple of days.

He placed a gentle kiss on her temple before he left to go to school and afterwards to his fencing practice. Though he was aware of her, waiting impatiently for his return, he also needed the compensation the sport gave him after spending a lot of time lately, sitting at home with Marinette, listening, talking, cuddling and having an almost illegal amount of sexual intercourse.

He urgently needed to blow off some steam!

Kagami, his regular partner and close friend, noticed in an instant, how much energy and also emotions he had piled up and made an attempt to ask him about it.

"I'm fine!" he simply replied.

"Oh come on, Adrien. We've known each other long enough by now, to be honest with one another. How's Marinette? Is everything okay with the baby? And with the two of you?" his female friend pried.

Adrien chuckled while he started a new attack, then told her,

"We're great, really. And so is the baby. It's a boy, by the way. But after all that happened I need to distract myself and get rid of all my negative thoughts sometimes. I can't wait to hold my son in my arms and see him in my wife's but..."

He sighed as he blocked the Japanese girl's attack.

"I'm also scared, Kagami! What if anything happens again? I don't think, Marinette could overcome another loss like the one she had to live through. And 'I' can't survive without her. So every time I see her, I want to shout out how happy I am and at the same moment, I want to lock her into the room and place a couple of guards outside to protect her from everybody except my parents and me!"

"I see your point, Adrien. But this one time, try to be a little more like me. You can't let your emotions get in the way if you want to be there for your woman. You have to keep a clear mind to be able to make rational decisions for the both of you. Marinette already is very emotional and not very reasonable without being under an inundation of hormones. But if blowing off some steam helps you doing that, then show me, what you got!" she challenged him. "Oh and congratulations. To having a boy, I mean!"

With a grin the young man went for another attack and soon they were focused on their footwork and posture again, getting his mind off of his concerns for an hour.

As they were leaving the building, Kagami told him,

"Give Marinette a hug from me and tell her I miss spending time with her. And I hope today helped you to be functioning again fora little while!"

Adrien nodded.

"Yeah, I'm really feeling much better. Thanks for the good fight!"

She tilted her head before slipping into the back of her mother's car to be brought to her home.

When he returned to his bedroom, he saw his wife sleeping in their bed and for a moment looked at her with a smile.

She looked a lot healthier now, her skin had regained some colour and the dark rings around her eyes were gone too. But right now, it was time for dinner and he carefully sat down beside Marinette and bent over her to place a tender kiss on her lips.

"Mhm!", she muttered and turned to the other side.

The young father to be chuckled and said very softly:

"Time to wake up, M'lady! Except you want to miss dinner!"

"Just let me sleep now, Adrien! There's no chance, that it's already that late!", the female complained and tried to pull the duvet over her head.

"Oh come on, Marinette!You really need to eat something. There's a tiny baby boy growing inside of you who totally agrees with his daddy!"

"You're playing dirty, Kitty! Fine, I'm up!", she grunted and stretched with a loud yawn, arching her back as she did and made her belly protrude even more.

Adrien smiled at the sight and placed both his hands on the continuously growing bump, to gasp a moment later.

"Did I really just feel that? Did he kick me?", he blurted out, making his beloved woman nod and beam at him widely. She cupped his cheek with one hand and whispered: "Yes, Adrien, you just felt our son for the first time! It's an amazing feeling, right?"

He had tears in his eyes, when he croaked:

"Yeah! Incredible!"

He couldn't stop himself, when he crawled over her and began to kiss her lips with all his passion. Marinette of course, as she was very much under the control of all those little hormones, reacted instantly and wrapped her arms and legs around him, while she started to rub her most sensitive spot along his crotch.

"I thought we agreed on taking it slow, Purrincess! Please do me the favour and eat something first. I promise to tend to your every need as soon as we're back from dinner!
Okay?", he pleaded carefully because for the last couple of days she had been quickly upset.

The already aroused woman groaned disappointedly, but agreed.

"Just because I love this little guy so very much already! Though I am certain, that he loves me just as much and would gladly wait until you made me feel really good!", she whined.

Adrien got to his feet and held out his hands with a grin.

"Come on! After you had something to eat, you'll have a lot more strength and can endure multiple 'good feelings', and won't have to tell me, you can't stand one more orgasm right now, as you did last time!"

The girl rolled her eyes as she took his hands and let him pull her up to then vanish into the bathroom to empty her all the time full bladder.

When they arrived in the dining room, Gabriel sat already in his usual spot, while Nathalie was still walking up and down the table patting her daughter's back repeatedly to get her to burp.

Marinette's mood instantly changed and she beamed widely and held out her hands.

"Hello my little sweetheart. Come to your sister in law and let your mummy eat already. I need a moment to work up an appetite, so....", she cooed and, without letting the older female object, took the baby from her.

"Is something wrong?", Nathalie asked and gave her a stern look.

But the pregnant woman shook her head.

"I'm fine. I just woke up a couple of minutes ago and lately I need a bit of time between getting up and being able to eat. If I tried now, it would come back in an instant, even if I am feeling very well just now!"

The other woman nodded understandingly and patted the girl's shoulder.

"I remember that feeling. Just take your time. And thank you for taking care of Belle in the meantime!"

The younger female gave her an encouraging tilt with her head before she, just like Nathalie before, began to pace through the room, gently rocking the little girl while patting onto her back.

She soon let out an audible burp and spat a bit of milk onto the woman's shoulder.

"Stay where you are!", Marinette called out to Nathalie who had already put down the cutlery and was about to get up and help with that issue. "Just finish your dinner, we'll just wipe that off quickly and then I certainly can eat something too. Right my 'belle amie'?"

The others who sat around the table chuckled and while the older ones continued to eat, Adrien watched his wife dreamily.

"....ien!"

He flinched and looked frantically around, not sure, where his name had come from.

"Finally!", the half Chinese laughed and placed his sister in the bend of his elbow. "Belle wanted to cuddle with her big brother while her sister in law would like to take in some food! Where have you been with your thoughts, Kitty?"

Adrien blinked a couple of times as he took a firm hold of the three months old and grinned sheepishly.

"I was watching my beautiful wife and my baby sister and began to think about the future and how it's going to be, once our own baby will be here. It's going to be so amazing to see you with our son very soon, Bugaboo!", he admitted.

"I love you!", was her only response to that.

With a beaming smile he focused on the baby in his arms, and gave his wife the time to fill her plate and start to eat, before he would tell her that Kagami sent her regards. He however wouldn't even get the chance to do so, all of them being fully unaware of what was about to happen. He had just placed Belle back in her mother's arms, when they heard some noise from the outside, like somebody trying to force the iron gate open.

And less than a minute after they had noticed the first sounds, that was exactly, what happened. A huge vehicle, some sort of tractor or some bulldozer from a construction side, broke through the two winged gate and made it fall to the ground with a deafening thud.

Having ignored the first noise, thinking it most likely coming from a car bumping into another vehicle, they now were startled, and the men abruptly jumped up from their chairs and rushed to the nearest window, while Marinette and Nathalie stayed in their seats, the latter scooting a little closer to the girl to place a hand on her forearm to keep her calm.

"Wh-what was that?" came from the younger woman.

Nathalie shrugged but looked expectantly towards Adrien and Gabriel, hoping they would be able to figure it out very soon. But as soon as they reached the end of the large dining room and gazed outside they both turned deeply red, the veins on their foreheads and necks swelling and becoming visible.

"This is it! I'm just going to kill him!" blurted the young man out and was already about to transform, when he felt his father's hand on his shoulder.

"Wait, Adrien! Don't be hasty now and make the worst mistake in your life! He's not worth it! I don't know how on earth he got here, but if you tried to transform into ChatNoir now you would expose yourself to any sort of danger, because your anger would let everybody figure out your real identity in an instant!" Gabriel pleaded sternly.

"Who are you talking about?" his wife wondered.

The answer came from a very pale Marinette. Albeit her voice was steady and cold as she contemptuously spat, "My so called father!"

Nathalie gasped.

"How did he get out of the prison and made it all the way here? What's he going to do?"

"If I had to guess, I'd say he wants to kill us both this time to pay me back for exposing him. But he won't get very far with that, right, Tikki? I need you to get me the bee miraculous very quickly and give it to Gabriel! I am sure, you'll know what to do with it, right?" Marinette addressed her father in law.

Gabriel nodded.

"Even without having deciphered the grimoire I would have known which power destroyed which of my plans!" he smirked. "Just hurry, he's approaching the entrance doors!"

Giving her kwami a tilt with her head the young guardian sent her off to get the demanded jewel.

Tikki soared straight through the ceiling and returned only a minute later on the regular way, as she couldn't take the miraculous through the concrete and iron and all the other things the mansion was built of, with her.

Eying the little comb for the split of a second pensively Gabriel then pushed it into his hair right above his left ear and as soon as the little bee appeared he called out,

"Pollen, buzz on!"

He knew, he looked ridiculous wearing a yellow and black striped spandex suit and long antennae with fluffy, little balls on their ends. But he had tried to look as harmless as possible to not scare his little daughter, no matter if she could see him or not at her age.

Ignoring how pathetic he was feeling, he took position on the first floor behind the reiling, just above the entrance and said calmly,

"Venom!"

Then he just waited, his weapon aiming at the spot where he expected the baker to enter.

"Nathalie, before he destroys this door too, be so kind and push the button to open it, yeah? I would like to let him walk with open eyes into the trap! He'll certainly think, we will surrender and beg for our lives and feel triumphant and careless, when he comes inside!" Gabriel whisper-yelled to his wife.

The young mother who was holding her daughter close to her chest, reacted quickly and did as she was asked to do.

Just as Gabriel had predicted, the despicable man stomped with his head held high and a contemptuous expression into the mansion.

"Marinette!" he called out with a lilting, vicious voice. "No use in trying to give in to anything now. I am here to end it once and for all. You should have just chosen your family instead of that bastard you were carrying! I am here to make things right and end you and your new bastard child! So stop hiding behind your boyfriend's rich father's defences and show yourself so we can get it over with!"

"Actually," Adrien now said as he stepped in front of Tom Dupain, "it's my wife you're talking about. So this is 'your' last chance to leave the premises or you won't see it coming, Tom!"

The dark haired man who was still wearing the prison suit, cackled.

"And who is going to stop me? You? Do you think, I came unprepared?"

While speaking he pulled a gun from the hem of his pants but at the same moment he aimed it at the teenager, he was hit by the spinning top Gabriel had let go at him and froze in the spot.

While they let the Gorilla tie him up and hand him over to the police, Nathalie had called in the meantime, both couples hugged each other in relief and laughed happily that the nightmare had finally ended and Tom would be locked up better and for much longer in the future, maybe even forever due to his mental state.

"It's finally over! Now we can look forward to a beautiful future for all of us!" Adrien exclaimed later that night as he raised his glass to celebrate their triumph. "Despite just having non-alcoholic-champagne, I want to drink to all our future!"

"To all our future!" all the people surrounding him and his wife called out.

Sabine had cheered along with all of them, but then she had become very quiet and waited for the turmoil to calm down a little bit.

When the moment seemed right, she reluctantly cleared her throat. The last voices stopped in an instant and everyone looked at her expectantly.

"I am not sure how to say this without sounding stupid or self-centered. But I really feel as if this was the right moment to tell you all about the things in my life, that have changed recently. It was really tough, getting over the things, Tom did. I know, it was a thousand times worse for you, sweetheart, but for me it was a hard time too. I lost my husband, my grandchild and almost my daughter or at least her trust. Over all this time there was one person, who helped me through all of that and gave me strength and..." She paused and looked at the people around her, then shyly grasped her best friend's, Nadja Chamack's, hand. "And what none of us had expected, we both found ourselves attracted to each other and this attraction soon turned into more. We...well, we're in love and we will move in together next month. I hope, you can all be happy with us after the first shock... uhm... that's it, I think..." Beaming widely her daughter walked towards her and pulled her into her arms.

"There is no need to get over any shock, mum! We love you and want you to be happy! And honestly, Nathalie and I have a bet going, how much longer the two of you will keep your relationship a secret. Manon told us about you spending the nights together and though she let that drop all innocently, we instantly could put two and two together. I'm really happy for both of you!"

Marinette hugged Nadja now, as did Adrien and Nathalie, while Gabriel just shook both women's hands.

"Now all we are waiting for to make our luck complete, is for you to be born!" Adrien spoke against the skin of his wife's protruding belly.

"Yeah, that and a couple of siblings for him. And for Adrien and Belle!" Gabriel mused and winked at his own wife.

"Actually," Nathalie began hesitantly, while she gazed down at her hand, which was lying on her lower stomach.

She didn't have to say another word when Gabriel dropped to his knees in front of the armchair she was sitting in and cupped her belly with both hands while he started to kiss her passionately.

The End?

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!